Sudbury's top five—Joe Sharpe, Selmi Walli, Arne Maki, E. Walli, and Alti Linamaa—completely dominated the cross country event, sweeping the first five places in that order with less than a single point separating them.

Players Receive Gifts At Campbellford Fray

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 5 — (ENS).—More than 700 fans were on hand at the arena here on Friday evening to honor two veterans of TVL hockey, and to see an excellent game played by the two oldest teams in the league.

Campbellford defeated Stirling by an 8 to 1 count in a thrilling game, not as one-sided as the score would indicate.

This, however, was more than a game of hockey. It was a night the club had chosen to honor their two veteran players, Wib. Blake and Basil (Robbie) Robinson. The two men have been in TVL hockey for more than 10 years each, and Robinson started his hockey career with the Stirling team.

During the intermission between the second and third periods, both teams lined up and president of the Trent Valley League, Art Duncan, addressed the fans and told a little of the history of the two men.

Receive Gifts

He presented each with a Gladstone travelling bag, purchased through donations from the team, the executive, fans and businessmen in the town. Mr. Duncan also handed each player a sizeable cheque, the gift of C. H. (Bud) Davidson of Campbellford. Mr. Davidson has supported the local teams for years, and has provided sweaters and has contributed in other ways to make the team what it is today.

Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason said a few words to the crowd over the public address system. Mr. Mason is the council representative on the Community Arena Board. Mr. George Braham of the Hockey Club executive, and Mr. Joe Smith of the Arena Board also addressed the fans, and thanked "Wib" and "Robbie" for their efforts during the past ten years.

After the game, a reception was held in the Orange Hall for the two men. President of the Campbellford Club, Ross Richardson, introduced Mr. Duncan, president of the TVL. Mr. Duncan paid tribute to the two players.

Peewees Go At Keene

KEENE, Feb. 5 (ENS).—In a pee wee double-header at the Otonabee rink on Saturday, No. 1 team won over No. 3 team by 3 to 1 with Webster, Pete Shearer and Doris scoring unassisted for the winners and Heron for the losers in the first game. The second tilt between No. 3 team and No. 2 team ended in a 2-2 tie, Lorrie Shearer and Heron scoring for their respective teams.

Norm. Godfrey, Lorrie Shearer and Fred Elliott were given the stars.

Team No. 1—Goal, Don McCarthy; defence, Norm. Godfrey, Gary Nelson, Barry Comrie; forwards, Frank Doris, Don Webster, Harry Wismer, Jim Gall, Pete Shearer, Bill Anderson, Bill Shearer.

Team No. 2—Goal, Pete Nelson; defence, Bill Fletcher, Gary Ellison, Mel. Mather; forwards, Paul Houle, Grant Shearer, Paul Nelson, Bill Renwick, Bill Stillman, Paul Dickson, Willis Nelson.

Hawks Edge Bruins

Hawks edged Bruins 3-2 in their peewee puck match Saturday at Riverside in a scrambly, close-checking contest. Murphy had a goal and two assists for the winners, Brown a goal and an assist, with Chesney getting the other marker. McCarthy counted both goals for the losers, with Fitzgerald aiding on one. This pair and Leahy went best for Bruins, as Murphy and Baker stood out for Hawks. Teams:

Hawks: Smillie, Baker, Hotston, Druery, Brown, Stewart, Murphy, Chesney, Olmstead, Haig; Mountney, Tighe.

Bruins: Heffernan, Feeley, Leahy, Ayotte, Fitzgerald, McCarthy, Reid, Lyons, Russelle, Hickey, Morton, Cummings, Cavanaugh.

Children can see an OHA senior "B" game here tonight free gratis. Provided they are accompanied by a parent. It's Queen's vs. Petes at 8.30 in Civic Arena. "Father and Sons Night" they call it, but mothers and daughters certainly aren't excluded. Any boy or girl attending lower or high school gets in free so long as the father or mother is along. This is the last clash of the semester between these clubs as the schedule winds up in three weeks—and that means not many more tilts before playoffs. The fray this eve might be an interesting one, but Petes should win it, barring an upset.

Eagles have a tough one this p.m. in Kingston where they take on the third-place Nylons. But don't start writing Eagles off yet, despite their injuries and loss of players. Belleville Redmen were licking their chops awaiting to take on Eagles on Quinte ice Friday, and look what happened. Without a full team, the Magee men reared to a 6-3 victory, dominating play most of the way. The Reds fought hard, too, but found a stiff-checking squad in front of a hot goalie. Milne, Coombs, Mortimer and Rochetta supplied the main punch for the victors, but they all came up with one of their scrappy displays to spoil the Bentmen's evening.

Red Ready For Bruins?

Page 7 of the February issue of Hockey News has a tribute to three former juniors of St. Kitts. They're Red Sullivan, Norm Corcoran and Jack McIntyre. St. Catharines' scribe says: "St. Kitts TP club is credited with prepping the three for minor pro and to Hershey Bears Coach Jack Crawford goes the say-so of them being a sure-fire line for Boston Bruins." Yes, maybe next year. None of the trio is a native of St. Catharines, though. One of them, George (Red) Sullivan, was born and raised in our Ashburnham, and he plays ball here each summer. He's NHL material soon.

Besides policemen, there are quite a few chaps—many of them war vets—who like to keep up with their marksmanship. So, it might be of interest to know that the Peterborough Revolver and Pistol Club has been re-organized, having a dozen members in at present. K. Bleakley is secretary and will gladly supply info to those interested. They shoot at the Armouries range at eight each Friday eve, four at a time firing. The idea is eventually to get a pistol team to compete with such centres as Oshawa, Toronto and Hamilton. A couple of the local police belong now and others may join. Anyone can. Bring your pistol if you have one, but join in any case—if you like shooting—and sharpen up that eye. With so much defence talk now, it might prove valuable.

Heating Up Cage Hoops

Gord McIntyre's lakeshore intermediate "B" cagers ran wild at the "Y" Saturday eve to smear Port Hope 135-29 for their seventh straight victory. It is a record around these parts in organized basketball, highest before being in '35 when PCVS trimmed a Port Hope crew 99-7. And Gord McIntyre, Jim Thorburn and Doug McPherson were on that team, too. Jim scored 36 points Saturday, Ted Payne had 34, Fred Plato and Rocky Kidd 24 each, and guards Bill Dadson and Doug McPherson 10 apiece. To date this season, Marines have racked up 499 points with 234 counted against 'em. Even the world-famous Edmonton Grads didn't beat the local lasses by that high a score when they played here back in '36.

It was 8-1 for Campbellford over Stirling on Friday eve in the Hydro Town in a TVL tilt on goals by Blake (3), Cole, Herrington, Smith, Robinson and Mason — Cole and Robinson having an assist each. But that was just incidental. These were the two oldest teams in the district circuit and players Blake and Robinson were honored as 10-year performers. Loop prexy, executive and prominent Campbellford citizens, along with the club officials, players and fans, contributed gifts and praise to the two classy veterans. Stirling club thanked the C's for hospitality and invited them to a dinner in Stirling. Prexy Duncan of the TVL plans to have a banquet to bring all 12 clubs together at season's end. He pointed out that the league was considerably enlarged and it now takes 36 refs to handle things each week. Games tonight: Stirling vs. Brintons at Hastings, Norwood at Marmora, St. Peter's in Campbellford.

Eight junior golfers from Ontario will be selected later this year to compete in the United States this summer.

Charles S. Watson, president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association announced Saturday that the Ontario golfers will compete against a team of eight players representing the Junior Golfers' Association of Washington, D. C.

Watson told the annual meeting of the Ontario Golf Association that a return match between Ontario and Washington juniors will be played in Ontario in 1952.

This year's tournament will be played over the Columbia Country Club, Washington, with the tentative date set for the week of July 29. The teams will be composed of two 14-year-olds; two 15-year-olds; two 16-year-olds and two 17-year-olds. The Ontario players will be selected on their showing in the Ontario junior championship scheduled for early July.

Watson confirmed reports that consideration is being given to increase prize money in the Canadian open golf tournament from $10,000 to $15,000.

G. F. Stevens of Toronto Thornhill Club was elected president of the OGA. He succeeds R. D. Young of Toronto St. George's. The new executive:

Vice-presidents, Robert Abbott, Peterborough; W. E. Stead, Toronto Islington; Paul F. Robert, Toronto Rosedale; honorary secretary-treasurer, B. F. Kearns, Kitchener Westmount; governors, Albert Hinton, Toronto Scarborough; J. A. Traviss, Toronto Rosedale; E. A. Rossiter, Windsor Roseland.

Playing what he called "lousy" golf, Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago Sunday won the $10,000 Tucson open golf tournament with an 11-under-par total of 269 for 72 holes.

Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., tied for second with totals of 271.

The Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society, which conducts yearling sales at Toronto's Woodbine Park, has named Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor as its president for 1951.

Reports given at the annual meeting showed James Speers of Winnipeg as the leading breeder for 1950, with Mr. Taylor as the leading owner. Top sire was Bunty Lawless, bred and owned by Willie Morrissey of Toronto.

Johnny Conick, centre for Hamilton Tigers in the Ontario Hockey Association major loop, will be out of hockey for the rest of this season as a result of an injury suffered when he crashed into the boards during a game in Kitchener Friday night. X-ray examinations showed that Conick has a shoulder separation and a chipped bone.

Lethbridge Maple Leafs had their work cut out to beat Berne squad 9-8 in a fast hockey match at Berne, Switzerland, Sunday.

At Mount Tremblant, Que., Andy Tommy of Ottawa, last year's winner of the Taschereau downhill ski race, came through again to win the 16th annual running of the race over the weekend. His brother, Art Tommy, took second place honors.

Marines Beat Ports, 135-29 To Make High Cage Record

By DON GRANT

Coach Gord McIntyre's Marines set a new basketball scoring record for Peterborough Saturday night at the YMCA. The Marines threw out all previous records when they led the Port Hope cagers into camp and slaughtered them by no less than 135-29 for their seventh straight win this season in the intermediate "B" lakeshore league.

This overwhelming victory for the Marines shattered the former high-scoring game record of 99-7 set in 1935 at PCVS. Port Hope High School were then the "lambs" and PCVS the "lions." Three Marines, Coach Gord McIntyre, Jim Thorburn and Doug McPherson were on that PCVS team.

Thorburn Led

Individual scoring was also the highest in the many basketball games played in Peterborough, the six players sank no less than 10 each. Guards Doug McPherson and Bill Dadson drifted in 10 points each. Jim Thorburn, the team's one-hand hook-shot artist, led the scoring parade with 36 points. Ted (Nipper) Payne increased his average a game for this year to 22 by sending home the ball for 31 points. Fred Plato and Rocky Kidd each notched 24 points

This rapid-scoring effort means that the Marines were dropping in 3.375 points a minute throughout the game and that sums it up. Throughout McPherson, Plato and Kidd pulled the Port Hope checkers out of position to set up the Marines' forwards. Kidd and Plato snared nearly all the rebounds at both ends of the court to keep the Marines in possession.

High Scoring

The lowest the Marines have been held so far this season is 55 points. Twice they won by this score, first over Bowmanville 55-40 and then over Oshawa Irish 55-39. Other scores have been: 64-19 and 58-30 over Oshawa Grads; 59-44 over Cobourg Legion; 73-33 over Whitby. The total is 499 points for and 234 against, or an average of 71 points for and 33 against.

With the Marines firmly atop the league, a district winner will have to be declared by next Saturday to allow the OABA playoffs to begin with the Eastern Ontario district. Saturday night's win should be convincing enough for league officials. The second place team must enter the intermediate "C" playdowns. The local schedule runs until March 15.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

We doubt if there will ever be as much curling crowded into two weeks again as there has been in the two weeks just past.

It all began when the ladies held their 3-day 'spiel on Jan. 17, 18, 19. The next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the men had their big 3-day 'spiel. Then on Thursday and Friday six ladies' rinks took in the bonspiel at Lindsay. On Sunday afternoon our ladies left for Toronto to play in the Ontario ladies' tankard, some some of them were there until Wednesday. At the same time our four curling doctors took off for the Quebec international bonspiel.

Our ladies on coming home from Toronto caught the C.P.R. midnight train for the Seigniory Club, Quebec. Along with all this we had time for schedule games. Saturday's local 'spiels and the Neill Trophy. And now today we have the ladies' schedule games and the mens' two games this evening at 7 and 9. We would say that the curling game is quite active around these parts.

The men curlers arrived home from Quebec yesterday afternoon via Port Hope.

The lady curlers came home early this morning from the Seigniory Club.

In a day or two we may have some interesting highlights about these trips.

The winning rinks on Saturday were skipped by J. W. McDermid, R. Williamson, H. Bapties, M. Metheral and B. Grant. At night the winning skips were, O. Steer and A. Ingram.

Lord Layton To Tackle Yukon Eric

Two of the biggest wrestlers who, at the same time, are two of the biggest drawing cards in the game, will be the main bout opponents in the Brock Arena on Tuesday night. Lord Athol Layton, the handsome, 6-foot-6, 258-pound Britisher, will oppose Yukon Eric, the muscular, 276-pound Alaska lumberjack. Both topnotch wrestlers, Layton and Yukon have been packing the arenas for the past several months in Toronto, Buffalo, Montreal and Boston. Their meeting here is expected to be a highlight of the season and draw a record-breaking crowd.

In the semi-final, Seelie Samara, the Negro star, will oppose the mystery-wrestler, the Masked Marvel, in what should prove a humdinger of a bout.

Tempestuous Toar Morgan will tackle Kaye Bell of Los Angeles in the first bout.

Richard Back With Habs, Canadiens Win, Tie One

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The holiday is over for five National Hockey League clubs. The Rocket is back.

The inevitable result is that Montreal Canadiens, a bunch of nice fellows when Maurice Richard is missing from their line-up, won't be letting anyone push them around in the near future.

Boston Bruins, the first club to face Canadiens since Richard recovered from a severe charley horse, had the point demonstrated to them with some clarity on Saturday night when the Rocket fired three goals in less than five minutes. Later he picked up an assist on his club's fourth tally as Canadiens blasted the Bruins 4-1.

Taking fair warning, Detroit Red Wings provided a perpetual escort for the Rocket on Sunday night and kept him off the scoresheet. But Richard saw enough of the puck to set up two Montreal tallies as the clubs played to a 3-3 tie. And while everyone watched the Rocket, linemate Elmer Lach slipped in the third Canadien tally.

Canadiens' win and tie enabled them to improve the tenuous grip on third place by increasing their margin over fourth-place Boston Bruins from one point to three. The Bruins blew a three-goal lead Sunday night and settled for a 3-3 tie against Toronto Maple Leafs.

Leafs Move Up

The Leafs, 6-3 victors over the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks, moved within three points of the pace-setting Red Wings while the Hawks consoled a slim hometown crowd of 7,877 Sunday night by tying New York Rangers 4-4.

Always a marked man, Richard was terrific in both weekend games. His first-period hat-trick in Montreal, a rarity in NHL play saw him score on the only three shots he was allowed to get away in the entire 20 minutes.

His linemates shared the limelight, accounting for every Montreal goal in two games. Bert Olmstead fired a third-period marker in Montreal on passes from Richard and Lach. Ed Sandford's goal for Boston was an anti-climax.

At Detroit, Lach scored twice and Olmstead netted the third, with Ted Lindsay, Metro Prystai and Syd Abel counting for the Wings. Gordie Howe, NHL scoring leader and Richard's rival for an all-star right-wing berth, was held to a single assist.

Have Hard Luck

The hard-luck Black Hawks lost their centre Gus Bodnar and defenceman Bill Gadsby through injuries in their Toronto Tilt. Bodnar suffered a concussion when he fell into the boards after a check from Leaf winger Tod Sloan, while Gadsby aggravated a leg injury. Both will be out indefinitely, along with defenceman Jack Stewart and Lee Fogolin.

Sloan, Sid Smith, Howie Meeker, Cal Gardner, Danny Lewicki, and Max Bentley fired the Toronto goals, while Jim Conacher, Bodnar and Roy Conacher tallied for the Hawks, who were in the game until the Leafs fired two quick goals in the final period while they were shorthanded.

Against the Rangers, a flock without a shepherd since ace centre Edgar Laprade suffered a broken leg a few weeks ago, the Hawks built up a 3-0 lead, then watched it dwindle. Ray Powell, Doug McCaig, Bill Mosienko and Don Morrison scored for Chicago while Reg Sinclair scored twice and Pentti Lund and Don Raleigh completed the Ranger total.

Paul Ronty, Sandford and defenceman Ed. Kryzanowski gave Bruins their three-goal lead against Toronto in the first period, but Lewicki and Smith pared it to a single tally in the second frame. Then Joe Klukay's unassisted marker with four minutes left to play gave the Leafs their tie.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Gordie Howe of Detroit continues to hold down first place in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race, but Montreal's Maurice Richard took the spotlight during the weekend.

Richard, out of the line-up for two weeks with a charley horse, came back with a vengeance to score three goals and a similar number of assists to move into third place, one point behind second-place Max Bentley of Toronto.

Howe has 58 points, Bentley 47 and Richard 46. Richard's 31 goals are tops while Howe's 33 assists are the mark in that department. The leaders:

Howe, Detroit	25	33	58

2 Marlie Teams Hand Irish Double Defeat

By The Canadian Press.

A couple of weeks ago, someone dreamed up the idea of a Sunday doubleheader between the Major and Junior A squads of Toronto Marlboros and Toronto St. Michaels to bolster the flagging Sabbath attendance at Maple Leaf Gardens.

It was a successful afternoon for everyone but St. Mike's, who absorbed a double defeat.

The Junior Marlboros, whose fall from first to third place began with their loss to the Irish, moved within two points of the top rung by reversing the verdict, 2-1. Their big brothers, who have a Dominion title to defend, picked up four points on the front-running St. Michael's Monarchs with a 3-2 victory. They have seven more points to go before they catch the leaders.

The Juniors' victory helped them pick up a point on the alarming Guelph Biltmores, who stretched their current unbeaten streak to five games by tying Oshawa Generals 4-4. The fourth-place Bilts now trail Marlboros by four points.

Upset Teepees

In other junior activity, the tail-end Waterloo Hurricanes upset St. Catharines Teepees 6-5 while Stratford Kroehlers moved into a seventh-place tie with Galt Black Hawks by whipping the Hawks 6-4.

Stratford's Gord Myles was the weekend's individual scoring star tallying three times as the Kroehlers handed Black Hawks their eighth defeat in 10 starts. George Aitken and Roy Leckie got one apiece, and Bob Bailey rubbed it in by driving a last-minute long shot into the empty net when the Hawks pulled their goalie.

Johnny Sleaver, Mike Buchanan, Ken Wharram and Pete Conacher were the Galt marksmen.

Oshawa broke a six-game losing streak in tying Guelph. Down 4-1 early in the third period, the Generals got one tally apiece from each member of their high-scoring line of Lou Jankowski, Alex Delvecchio and Stan Mills.

Ron Murphy tallied twice for Guelph, but nullified the effort by drawing a tripping penalty that benched him for Oshawa's last two goals. Guelph's Herb Dickenson and Ken Laufman and Oshawa's Ted O'Connor were the other goal-getters.

Freddie Pletsch was Waterloo's hero, scoring the tie-breaking goal against St. Catharines with less than three minutes to go. Reg Campbell of the Hurricanes and Teepees' Skip Teal each struck for two tallies.

Don't Look Now Greer Garson Turns Rancher

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5 (AP)—"Howdy, pardner!"

I had to look twice at the lady, but the second glance ascertained that it was Greer Garson.

She sounded much unlike Mrs. Miniver, Mrs. Parkington, Madame Curie or Lady Loverly, her current role. Sounded more like Calamity Jane, in fact.

She explained that her marriage to Texas millionaire Buddy Fogelson has opened a whole new life for her. She glowed about life on their ranch in New Mexico.

"It's a fabulous place," she enthused.

Another Love

Miss Garson has another love—her pure-bred white Scottish shorthorns, which she imported for breeding purposes. The actress revealed that her ambition is to have an all-white branch, including the cattle.

Miss Garson participates in all the ranch activities, even operating the combine on the wheat fields. "It's quite a thrill," she said, "but when I look back and see that huge thing behind me, I get a little bit scared."

The People Best

But the best part of life is the people, she remarkd. "The cattle fraternity is a fine breed. There is a common bond among them, no matter what part of the world they are in. It seems to me this might be a new basis for international understanding."

Rail Strike Effects Spreading In Canada

TORONTO, Feb. 5 (CP)—Effects of a United States railway switchmen's strike continued to spread in Canada today.

A spokesman for Canadian National Railways said Sunday night storge yards over at least 400 miles of track were being used largely to store freight intended for U.S. points but held up because of the strike. At Wyoming, Ont., beween Sarnia and London, 170 cars were stored.

The Canadian Pacific Railway's only remaining connection between Toronto and New York was the Empire State Express, operating between Buffalo and New York.

The CNR said its Maple Leaf, running on the Lehigh Valley line, still was operating.

Discover Man's Body Underneath Viaduct

TORONTO, Feb. 5 — (CP). — The body of a 68-year-old man was found beneath Toronto's Bloor Street Viaduct Sunday and police said they found a letter in his pocket telling him he no longer owned the house in which he was living.

Police said the letter, from a Burks Falls notary public, told the man his wife's will had left all her property, including the house, to a sister.

Princess Dies

MONTREAL, Feb. 5 (CP). — Princess Ben Syab, 62, the former Lesley Wright of Edgbaston, England, died Saturday in a Montreal hotel where she had been living since 1940. She was the widow of Prince Abdul Ben Ayab of Tuhisia who died five years ago.

Ottawa Terms "Ridiculous" UE Petition Urging Baby Bonus Continuation

A petition urging continuation of family allowances is being circulated in Peterborough by the ladies' auxiliary of UE Local 524. Sources close to the government in Ottawa dismiss the petition as "ridiculous". They say there can be no question that the government's intention is to continue family allowances. "The wording of the statement makes it evident that the real reason for the petition has nothing to do with family allowances," Ottawa sources told The Examiner by telephone today.

They went on to say that "every political party represented in the House of Commons enthusiastically endorses the idea of family allowances."

The Examiner received several calls from citizens today concerning the petition.

One woman, Mrs. Violet Williams, 218 London St., said a brush salesman brought a petition to her house. She said "it was a pink sheet of paper with about five names and addresses on it. There was no other writing or printing that I could see."

The petition is mimeographed on blue paper with a statement of its purpose at the top, and the name of the sponsor at the bottom. There are spaces for signatures and addresses.

Wording of the petition follows:

Mr. St. Laurent,
Prime Minister of Canada,
Honourable Sir:

Representatives of Big Business interests verbally and through their daily newspapers, have suggested taking away the family allowances now paid to the many families in Canada.

This shocking suggested attack on the children of our country will, of course, be met with the necessary opposition by the working people of Canada.

Without citing the need for family allowances and why its introduction was so necessary, nor to elaborate on the sinister disregard shown to the working people by such a suggested attack, we respectfully urge you to make sure that the payment of family allowances will be continued in the interests of healthier children in Canada.

The Ladies Auxiliary, Local 524 UE, 450½ George St. N., Peterborough. 23491.

"Sinister Disregard"

The petition speaks in part of the "sinister disregard shown to the working people," and it is addressed to Prime Minister St. Laurent. It claims that representatives of "Big Business" have suggested taking away the family allowances.

C. R. Sullivan, district representative of the UE, referred the Examiner to a Toronto Globe and Mail editorial of January 17, which suggested some "substantial measure of Budget economy, such as the suspension of the family allowances."

The editorial said that $300,000,000 was paid out yearly in these allowances. "That is a large dollop to take off a Budget. And its loss would do harm to no one," it said.

Rhys Sale Speech

The Globe and Mail was commenting on a widely-quoted speech by Rhys M. Sale, president of Ford of Canada, made January 15 in Toronto. He spoke of the need for all-out defensive measures by the government.

Mr. Sale said at that time: "I can't see this policy of business-as-usual, with a touch of defence for flavoring." He said that the government had failed to supply the leadership needed at the present.

The Toronto Star countered this editorial with another which pointed out how much help had been given needy families by the family allowance.

On January 22, the Globe and Mail replied to the Star, as follows, and again in part:

"Perhaps because it chose to, perhaps because its vision was obscured by tears, the Toronto Star misread a reference to family allowantes in these columns as meaning the allowances should be abolished to help meet government costs. Actually what was said was that the Government quickly should consider what can be done to reduce inflation before it becomes strangling."

The Globe and Mail went on to say that "the Star might give a little of its concern to those who have been most hurt by this cycle." The "cycle" was the $300,000,000 being poured into the country's markets and helping to push up already high prices, the Globe and Mail said.

"If family allowances were introduced in 1945 as a great social measure—actually they were brought in because the Government was caught in a tough spot between a rising cost of living and inequalities of its own wage-freezing — then the government since has cheated a lot of people in not increasing them. It is safe to say that today a month's allowance for one child does not meet the increase in the cost of a child's cost between 1945 and 1950," the editorial said.

"The Government, in permitting and even encouraging inflation, is harming rather than helping those who require help. Throwing $300,000,000 indiscriminately into the spending pot certainly does nothing to bring down prices.

"Surely the interests of social welfare are not served by allowing prices and taxes to soar so that those who should be the beneficiaries of such measures can buy next to nothing with their cheques," the editorial concluded.

124 Dogs, 61 Cats Put To Death

An epidemic of distemper caused 124 dogs and 61 cats to be humanely destroyed during January, Gerald A. Dunford, Peterborough Humane Society inspector, reported at the monthly meeting last week. One squirrel was among the animals destroyed.

Mr. Dunford said that nine dogs and four cats were killed on the city streets while three other dogs were picked up, one returned to the owner. One squirrel was reported killed on the street during the month.

Plans were made for the society's annual meeting to be held in the public library in April. The nominating committee includes Mrs. M. Burnham, Mrs. M. Powell, Miss B. Gadside, Mrs. Stanley Shields, Miss June Fraser and Miss Helen G. Lytle.

Skiers Enjoy Best Weekend Of Present Winter Season

Peterborough ski enthusiasts enjoyed their first full weekend of skiing this year at Kemp's hill, Bethany and district slopes. The Peterborough Ski Club's two locations were packed both days and skiers reported excellent conditions.

The busy weekend opened Saturday morning for the local ski club whose members acted as instructors at the ski school at Kemp's hill. More than 150 children received instruction after the school's opening had been postponed four times due to poor skiing conditons. It is operated by the recreation commission and the ski club.

A hill-length slalom course was set up for the students who were taught skiing practices by Toby Westbye, Ken McIntyre, Karl Duffus, Mollie Craig, Jim Craig, Bev. Martin and George Cooke. Smaller groups were formed for special classes for those having difficulties on the slalom course.

"The children were very keen and showed a good grade of skiing," said Mrs. Craig, ski amateur instructor and chairman of the Ontario women's section.

Seventy-five skiers used the Kemp's hill slope Saturday afternoon. Another crowd filled the hill's capacity Sunday afternoon as the conditions remained the same, seven to nine inches of new snow on a one to two inch base.

Skiing at Bethany Sunday was excellent with two tows operating. There were two bus loads from Toronto and one from Lindsay. Another large group was composed of Lakefield's Grove school boys. The snow varied in depth from seven inches on the hill to nearly 12 inches in the bush.

Strong Opposition

PCVS' ski club entrants in the inter-scholastic meet at Huntsville met strong opposition from the skiers of Sudbury, North Bay and Fort William, who swept nearly all the prizes. The boys, Dave Fanning, Ian Blaiklock, Trevor Mitchell, Dave Mitchell, Rod Delaney and Robin Collins, were nearly all making their first appearance in competition.

Night skiing at Kemp's hill this week will be on Tuesday and Thursday between 7.30 and 10 p.m.

Fire Discovered By Small Boy

A two-year-old boy with a keen sense of smell Saturday morning saved two families from what might have been a serious fire. His warning led to a basement fire being snuffed out with only minor damage being done.

Vincent Chase, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Chase, 181 River Street, was playing in the kitchen Saturday when he smelled smoke coming from the basement. Immediately he informed his mother and she investigated.

Flames were shooting from the basement ceiling near some water pipes that had been thawed out by fire shortly before. William Carr, who occupies the upper floor, had been using rolled newspapers as a torch to melt the ice in the pipes.

A spark apparently lodged in the cardboard packing that is used for insulation on the ceiling. After smouldering awhile it burst into flame.

A next-door neighbor, William McEwen, went ot the assistance of Mrs. Chase. He tossed a couple of pails of water on the blaze, and by the time firemen arrived it was out.

Report Car Stolen From Davis Garage

A car was stolen Friday night from the Harold Davis garage at Charlotte and Bethune Sts.

The theft was not discovered until about 7 p.m. Saturday evening when the owner Mike Caravaggie went to pick it up.

While on patrol about four a.m. Saturday morning Constable Harold Andrew discovered the west door of the garage open. When an employee, Joe Clarke, reported to work about eight a.m., he found a window on the east side of the building open.

A single track of footprints in the snow led to the window.

Caravaggie had the car out during Friday evening but returned it about 11.20 p.m. The owner of the garage didn't realize the car was missing because he thought Caravaggie had it.

The car is a 1947 blue Chevrolet with a 1950 licence plate K2363.

Constables Gordon Trennum and Robert Menzies conducted the preliminary investigation.

Enemies For 100 Years Now Both On Same Side

The news that Greeks and Turks are fighting as allies in the forces of the United Nations in Korea is "most important," was the comment of Nick Douros of the Churchill Cafe in reminiscence over a cup of coffee Saturday night. Mr. Douros and Louis Yeotes were recalling the time they packed up and went home to Greece which was then at war with Turkey.

"Enemies for hundreds of years," said Mr. Yeotes. "Always against each other, and now they are on the same side."

"They are only small countries, but if they can come together as they have now done in Korea, what about other countries?" Mr. Douros suggested. "If we had German and French troops also in the same army, wouldn't that be a great thing for united nations. They are old enemies, but Greeks and Turks were enemies far longer."

"Now they are in the same army; I think the world is going to become civilized some day," Mr. Yeotes remarked as if he were mentioning something incredible.

Returned to Fight the Turk

In the war of 1912, the two Peterborough nationals of Greece did not have to go home, but it was the natural call of their native land, attacked by the Turks.

They were both young men stirred by the threat to the homeland they had left only a few years before. Thousands like them responded to the same call, —to take up arms agains' Turkey.

Now the two countries are in the United Nations. The Peterborough men have long been Canadian citizens.

"Forty years are a long time," said Mr. Yeotes, "but we never thought the Greek and Turk would even now be fighting on the same side. This never happened before, and if they can join forces, other people can come in, and the kind of army there is today would keep peace in the world."

Mr. Douros said it was too sad that he probably would not live long enough to see that millennium.

Sunday Musicale Well Attended

Another of the successful Sunday afternoon Musicales was held in the Salvation Army Temple on Sunday when a program of band music, song and piano was greatly appreciated by a capacity audience. Major H. Wood of the War Cry was chairman and he paid tribute to the Salvation Army Band and choristers and also congratulated the Corps on the success of the musicales.

Guest artists were the two-piano team of Gwen Craw and Charles Allen who played the overture to "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart and "The Keel Row" by Austen. The band was heard in the march, Dovercourt Citadel and was at its best in the selection, Songs of Britain. The songsters sang "When I Survey" and "Sweet Refrain" taken from Samson and Delilah. The Junior Singing Company was heard in Children Arise. The Y.P. Band played for 15 minuntes while the audience was gathering and also the number "Junior Melodies" during the program.

TO INSPECT UNITS

Peterborough's two reserve force units, the 50th H.A.A. Regiment, RCA, and the 28th Technical Squadron, RCEME, will hold their annual inspections Tuesday night at the armouries. Inspecting will be: Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, CBE, DSO, CD, Eastern Ontario commander; Brig. H. T. Airey, commander of Headquarters No. 1 Army Group Royal Artillery (anti-aircraft); Major R. H. Noble, deputy assistant quartermaster-general at area headquarters; Major R. C. Lane, area electric and mechanical engineer officer Capt. D. R. Owen, general staff officer, at area headquarters.

Caused Disturbance Two Youths Fined $20

Two youths, Fred Pretty, 22, Toronto, and Raymond Schell, 20, 5 Park St. S., pleaded guilty in police court today to charges of causing a disturbance in a restaurant and were fined $20 and costs each.

"This fighting in restaurants is going to quit", Magistrate W. R. Philp said.

Jim Hum, manager of the De-Luxe Cafe, testified that Saturday night about midnight the two youths rushed into his restaurant "half drunk".

Pretty knocked over a chair and then they sat down at a booth. One of them shouted "I want some coffee".

The waiter was busy and didn't give them immediate attention.

Then one of them swept a catsup bottle and paper napkin container from the table to the floor. The bottle of catsup broke on the floor and spattered the thick red fluid over the floor, the wall and the booth.

Mr. Hum phoned police and the two tried to rush out the front door, but they could make no headway against a crowd of people. They turned and dashed out through the kitchen and were met outside by the police.

The youths said they would pay for cleaning up the board, which may have to be replaced or repainted to cover up the catsup which soaked in and could not be washed off.

Hastings Woman Attacked, Hair Cut Off, Rings Stolen

HASTINGS, Feb. 5—(ENS)—A Hastings woman was attacked in her home by an unidentified man on Sunday morning; her clothes torn and most of her hair cut off.

She told police that the man stole her purse, her wedding and engagement rings. The attack occurred about 11.30 a.m., while her husband was at church.

Her left arm was badly bruised and she said that when the man left he tried to go out the front door, found it locked, and when he passed her to go out the back door, he kicked her.

The man was described as about 35, tall slim, with fair hair, and a front tooth missing.

Lying on Floor

Her husband came home from church and found her hystrical on the living room floor. She told him and Provincial Constable Donald Erskine of Campbellford that she had been in the house when the man entered and assaulted her.

A neighbor who attended her said her hair was cut off "just like a boyish bob. It might have been a man's haircut."

The woman's husband later found her purse in the backyard. Her rings have not been found.

Constable Erskine said he expected to have some results in the case by this evening. Dr. Wilson Ford of Keene attended the woman.

Five Women Aid Mental Patients With Recreation

SELKIRK, Man. —(CP)— Five women headed by Mrs. Walter H. Rice of Winnipeg have developed a program of recreational therapy at Selkirk mental hospital.

"Volunteers in mental hospitals represent something very special to the patient," Mrs. Rice says.

"The volunteer is a concrete symbol of public acceptance. Without this acceptance, the patient must face a peculiarly difficult task upon leaving the hospital, one that is not necessary to people recuperating from other illnesses."

Visit to Kansas

The Selkirk project grew out of a visit by Mrs. Rice to Topeka, Kans., in 1948. There Mrs. Rice became interested in helping mental patients at the state hospital. She gave classes twice a week to patients on finger-painting and clay modelling.

In July, 1949, Mrs. Rice met a group of relatives of patients in the Selkirk hospital. When she found that no volunteers were banded together to help patients, she set to work. Soon she had Mrs. Sylvan Leipsic, Miss Olga Sudoma, Miss Flora McLellan and Mrs. Anne Yarish enrolled.

When the women made their first trip to the hospital with boxes of magazines, books and cigarets, patients and staff were "astonished and delighted," Mrs. Rice recalls. With the approval of the hospital superintendent, Dr. Edward Johnson, weekly visits were begun.

Many Gifts

They took the patients all forms of recreational equipment, including games, records, and a record-player. At Christmas more than 1,000 gifts were donated.

"We work with approximately 100 of the more than 1,100 patients in the institution," Mrs. Rice says. "On alternate weeks we visit 50 men and 50 women.

"I should say we play, not work, for it becomes more and more rewarding as we get to know each other better."

Mr. Rice feels the help of community organization now is necessary.

"We would like to have more volunteers, men and women, but first of all we need an organization to give us some continued practical assistance.

"No hospital has too many recent books and Selkirk is no exception. We could also use records and musical instruments, because there is plenty of musical talent amongst the patients.

Forbidden Foods Now Made Easier For Salt Victims

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE.

NEW YORK (AP).—For people forbidden foods with salt, a physician offers a way of letting them eat almost anything they want.

There are hundreds of thousands of people who can't or shouldn't take salt because of high blood pressure, heart conditions, or kidney troubles. They sometimes can't touch meat, eggs, cheese, fish, beets, celery and other foods that naturally contain large amounts of sodium.

Others must be careful how much of these foods they eat.

The salt can be taken out of these forbidden foods by repeated boiling with little loss of flavor says Dr. George G. Ornstein of New York City. These dishes, and others naturally low in sodium, make up a "palatable, varied and nutritious diet."

Dr. Ornstein developed the method after a stroke forced him to avoid salt. He has described it to scientific meetings, and has a book forthcoming on the method and many sample meals.

Watch Carefully

Salt is sodium chloride and the sodium is the main troublemaker in high blood pressure and heart conditions, he said. On low salt diets, blood pressure comes down, there is less danger of rupture of weakened blood vessels and less hardship on overworked or faulty kidneys.

Some people only have to avoid adding salt to their foods. Others must cut down on foods naturally rich in sodium. But they also should get enough protein from meat and fish, to keep up general health.

Cuts Sodium

Dr. Ornstein said his method gives a person 2,500 to 3,000 calories a day, at least 1½ ounces of protein, and cuts the sodium down to 50 milligrams—about 1-560th of an ounce. The maximum amount of sodium per day regarded as safe in high blood pressure conditions is 150 to 200 milligrams, he added.

The boiling takes out sodium to make forbidden foods safe, cutting the sodium down to 15 to 20 percent of the original amount, he said. Usually it takes three boilings, the first lasting half an hour, the other two only long enough to bring the water to a boil. Each time, the water is discarded and fresh water added.

A simple chemical test of the water after the third run shows when most of the sodium has been removed. It's important, of course, to use tap water low in sodium.

Little Change In Taste

The boiling causes little change in taste, and little loss of protein or fat from chicken, lean beef, or other foods, Dr. Ornstein said. He has worked out recipes for meat dishes, hot tomato sauce, soups and desserts.

Thirty patients learned to prepare these foods and follow the diets. They kept working at their jobs as housewives, advertising agent, contractor, lawyer, manufacturer, sales manager, policemen, shoe salesman, tailor, waiter and other occupations.

In all of them, the size of the heart was reduced, they didn't get tired easily, and blood pressure came down if they stuck to the diet, he said.

The low sodium diet is only part of the treatment to help a person with heart trouble or high blood pressure stay well and active, but it is unquestionably an important part, Dr. Ornstein said.

What's Right

You are invited to a large buffet supper given at a club or restaurant, rather than in the host and hostess' own home, and you accept the invitation.

WRONG: Feel that it won't matter much whether you show up or not, since the party is large and in a public place.

RIGHT: Feel obligated to go to the party—since you accepted—as you would if the party were given in a private home.

Beehive Jackets Feature Paris Fashions

By FLORENCE MILLS

PARIS, Feb. 5—(AP)—Beehive jackets and governess dresses were displayed when Jacques Griffe celebrated the opening of his new salon on the swank Rue Royale—at the old address of Captain Edward Molyneux, who closed down his fashion house last November.

Griffe seems to inherit Molyneux's restrained taste, along with his salon, for most of his clothes this spring have the same sort of simplicity of line and subdued coloring the other designer always favored.

His beehive jackets are waist-length affairs with fulness gathered into a small circular yoke the shape of a Peter Pan collar. Sleeves are hidden amongst all the fulness. Pencil-slim skirts go with these jackets which are are made in heavy linen or black faille.

Reverse Jackets

Griffe's "governess dresses" are mainly reserved for evening and are reminiscent of the type of dress worn by governesses in the early 1900s. They have demure "officer" collars and double-breasted button fastening down a bodice which fits the torso nearly to the knees before winging into fullness.

The up-and-coming young designer, Olwynn, shows one number called 'Pienard" (spinach), in coarsely - woven khaki - colored wool that has extra-wide kimona sleeves decorated with two colossal patch pockets.

Some of the oddities displayed were suit jackets worn back to front. The back of the collar cut sharply across the neck in front and lapels closed at the nape of the neck.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Character, Interest In Recipes

At a garden party last summer (dear old summer — it is five above zero as I write this!) and at a Christams tea, and here at my own house I have noted the same comments on a particular kind of cookie.

They are those layer cookies with a meringue and nut topping variously called "dreams," "squares," "slices," "cuts," "crunchies" and "wonder bars."

Because of their popularity I made batches up from three different recipes yesterday, to have all of the little variations fresh in my mind before passing them on to you.

Everybody knows that the reason they are so well-liked is because they have more character and interest than an ordinary rolled or dropped cookie. Indeed they are half way between cake and cookie in some respects.

I am going to be very sedate and call them squares. No. One is

Caramel Squares—Emem's Own

One-half cup margarine and best shortening mixed, ½ cup white sugar, 1 whole egg, 1½ cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla if desired. Cream the shortening very well, then cream the sugar into it, then beat in the egg. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together and stir them in with a strong spoon. Add vanilla now if you use it.

While you are mixing the above have on simmering 1 cup chopped dates mixed with ½ cup water. Stew until they are a paste over low heat. When cookie dough is mixed press it into a baking pan. If you use a pan 9 x 14 inches your finished cookies will be one-half inch thick. If your pan is 8½ x 8½ inches they will be one inch thick. These latter cookies cut nicely into one and one-half inch squares and do look a little like a piece of cake. Spread over dough the date paste, hot or cold, it does not matter.

Now beat 2 egg whites until stiff and gradually add 1 cup brown sugar to them and beat until stiff. Add ½ to 1 cup chopped nuts. (I used chopped salted almonds with the skins on because that was all I had on hand.) You can use any kind of nuts, or cocoanut. Spread this over the date paste. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes, then reduce heat to 250 deg. Fahr. until it shrinks ever so little from the sides. While still warm cut into squares or oblongs with very sharp knife, dipping it into hot water as you cut to prevent edges of squares from crumbling.

Fruit Bars

This has the same routine but different ingredients.

One cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ cup soft butter, 1 tablespoon milk, 1 egg. Sift the flour and baking powder and work the butter, beaten egg and milk into it. Spread this out an a pan about 7 x 11 inches and cover with a layer of raspberry jam.

Beat one egg well and into it 1 cup white sugar, 3 tablespoons butter, 1½ to 2 cups cocoanut and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Spread this over the jam. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 25 to 30 minutes. Cut into bars one inch long and two inches wide, when warm.

WIDELY GROWN

Tea is cultivated over a range of 75 degrees of latitude, from Russian Transcaucasia to northern Argentina.

DOROTHY DIX

Consideration and Kindness Most Attractive Virtues

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have finally come to the conclusion that in order to be popular one needs to be beautiful, witty and vivacious. It is not necessary to be considerate of others, and so on, as you have said. I have found that people who are the least considerate of others, who are selfish, who never regard any one's pleasure but their own, who say catty things and who never entertain others are the most popular and have the most invitations to other people's parties.

ONE WHO HAS THOUGHT

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: Well, my dear, if this is the result of your thinking, I don't think you have reached the right conclusion. At any rate, not for the great majority of women, nor for the long pull.

You are quite right in thinking that if you are extremely attractive you will be sought after. You will be invited about, no matter how selfish and inconsiderate of other you may be. At least, you will for a time and while your attractiveness lasts, but if you will observe you will see that the glamor soon passes, and that the popularity which is built upon just a surface never lasts long.

Beauty's Not Everything

We all admire beauty, for instance. We are all attracted to a girl who is a feast to our eyes. We like to have her around just to look at. But if we find that she is dull and stupid to talk to, or that she is obsessed with vanity; if she monopolizes all the men; if she is never willing to do what other people want to do, how quickly her attractiveness vanishes!

Likewise, we all admire a vivacious and witty girl. We laugh at her sallies and we like to be in her company. But only so long as she is good-natured and considerate of others. The minute her wisecracks have malice in them, the minute she begins holding up people to ridicule, the minute she begins clawing other girls, we become afraid of her. Many and many a girl cuts her throat with her own sharp tongue.

So it all comes back to the homely virtues that you despise. If Nature turned you out a headliner, you may have a brief popularity because of a pretty face or a clever line, even if you are mean and selfish and little-souled.

But in the end the things people are going to like you for, the qualities that are going to bring you real friends who will stick to you year after year, are consideration for others, and kindness and doing unto others as you would like them to do unto you

DEAR MISS DIX: About six years ago I was in love with a girl who turned me down when I asked her to marry me. I persisted until I got discouraged and married another girl and now have a young son. The girl married another man and also has a child. But the trouble is that we are madly in love with each other in spite of our being married to others, and we don't know what to do. Shall we go to her husband and my wife and tell them the truth?

J. D.

ANSWER: Why lovers' tiffs so often result in their marrying strangers, nobody knows. Whether they think they spite each other by tying themselves up for life with someone they don't care for, or whether they think that marriage is a sort of poultice that will take the sting out of their wounded affections, is a mystery, but it is a fact that anybody can catch a heart on the rebound.

Certainly it is a foolish and vain thing for a man who is in love with one woman to marry another in the belief that it will solace him. And it is a cruel thing to do because it ruthlessly sacrifices the woman who has a right to expect from her husband the affection that he has given to another.

However, your mistake has been made and it seems to me that the fairest thing would be for you and your former sweetheart to make a clean breast of it to your mates. Perhaps they would not be as unwilling to give you up as you anticipate, because living with a husband or wife who is in love with someone else and feeling marriage a prison cannot make for a very satisfactory union.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Although my wife and I are both working, our income is just enough to live on, with a little left over to save for a future day, but from the beginning of our marriage my wife has been giving a great deal of her money to her mother. So much, in fact, that we are now in debt, even though we have cut out all amusements and are economizing on our food. If her mother needed the money, I should not complain, but she has an income twice as large as ours. How can this situation be handled tactfully? JOHN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: This is no place for tact. It is one for forthright speaking and reading the riot act to both women. Make the mother see how unfair she is in taking her daughter's hard - earned money when she does not need it, and make your wife see how disloyal she is in enslaving you to her mother's greed.

Pensioners Claim Large London Estate

LONDON—(CP)—A claim to the "Angell millions," a vast estate in industrial London, has been made on behalf of 83-year-old Mrs. H. Abrahams and her pensioner husband.

Nearly 30 years ago the Angell estate was valued at £60,000,000 (about $180,000,000) with an annual rental income of approximately £1,000,000.

In 1889, Mrs. Abraham's father, William Angell, spent his life's earnings in an effort to establish his claim to the property, which has been vested in the Ecclesiastical Commissioners for more than 100 years. He died before sufficient evidence could be gathered.

Now her son, Arthur, aged 59, claims to have traced the family back to the original owner of the estate, John Angell, who died in 1784. Like his father, Arthur has spent most of his time and savings seeking official recognition of his claims.

Wants Family To Benefit

"I don't want any millions myself," Mrs. Abrahams said. "We are quite happy with what we have, but I should like my family to have the money if the claim is true." She said her son was hard-pressed to carry on his fight owing to the high cost of the legal action.

The "Angell millions" last came into prominence in 1928 when 82-year-old William Allery, who spent 50 years in pressing his claims to the fortune, seized two houses belonging to the estate. A syndicate subsequently subscribed £10,000 to support his claim, but he died before it could be brought to court.

Canadian Mines Seek Workers From Europe

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

It is expected that 1,200 to 1,500 new employees will be needed in Canadian mines in the coming spring and summer months.

The Canadian Metal Mining Association hopes that a good proportion of these may be recruited from Germany, Austria and the Scandinavian countries, and Harlow H. Wright, of the association's staff, has left for Europe to co-operate with officials of the Departmen t of Labor and Immigration in the selection of suitable men.

An illustrated booklet prepared by the association is being circulated in the countries concerned, telling prospective immigrants of the qualifications required, and of what they may expect here.

Here are some of the qualifications: age 18 to 35, with under 30 preferred; weight, approximately 150 pounds or more; physique, capable of manual labor; eyesight, average or better; chest, freedom from TB or other lung weakness; marital, single men preferred but married men accepted if willing to come to Canada in advance of their families. Experience is not necessary though preference will be given to men with farming, lumbering or heavy industry experience.

Jobs are available in gold mines and base metal mines producing nickel, copper, lead and zinc.

Work 18 Months

Each man accepted must undertake to work for his employer as an underground miner for at least 18 consecutive months; and the employer undertakes to hire him for that period. The man will repay his transportation costs by monthly deductions from his pay, but inland Canadian transportation to the mine will be refunded after 18 months' employment.

The requirements for capable work are plainly put, but, once established here, the prospects for a happy life are shown.

"Canada," says the booklet, "is a large country with great resources. Vast stores of minerals are still in the ground. It is going to take hard work to make Canada's potential a reality. Much of the work has already been done by pioneers from Europe who came to Canada and made their homes in the mining centres.

"These immigrants, many from your country, have settled in the Canadian northland and are raising families. If you are qualified, the opportunity is yours."

Last Of Seven Die For Rape

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 5 —(AP) —The State of Virginia closed the book today on the "Martinsville Seven" with the electrocution of the final three in the State Penitentiary here.

A last-minute plea to a United States Supreme Court justice was futile and the three men walked to their deaths in the basement execution chamber in the space of 45 minutes between 7:30 and 8:15 a.m.

Their four companions in the mass rape of a Martinsville white woman were executed Friday morning. There, too, lawyers had made an 11th-hour plea to save the negros from the electric chair.

Just as Friday's executions were carried out, the three today were in an atmosphere of dispassionate calm. None of the demonstrations that marked clemency efforts for the seven throughout the United States and abroad was in evidence.

Thus the State carried out the directive of the Circuit Court of Martinsville, first handed down May 3, 1949. In the 20-month interim, five reprieves were granted while the case was carried through the State and Federal courts— four times to the U. S. Supreme Court of one of its justices.

The men were executied in this order today John Clabon Taylor, 24, James Luther Hairston, 23, and Frances Desales Grayson, 40. Executed Friday were Joe Henry Hampton, 22; Frank L. Hairston, 21; Booker T. Millner, 22; and Howard Hairston 21.

Demand For Radon Requires New Plant

OTTAWA, Feb. 5—(CP)—A step-up in demand in Ontario for radon, a short-lived radio-active gas used in the treatment of cancer, will be met by the construction of a new $18,000 radium plant in Toronto, the Health Department announced today.

Used extensively in the treatment of cancer near the surface of the body, radon reduces the amount of highly-expensive radium required in cancer-control programs.

The costs of the new project will be divided between the federal and provincial governments.

Jury Decides Death Accident

MADAWASKA, Ont., Feb. 5.—(CP). — A verdict of accidental death was returned Friday by a coroner's jury who inquired into death of 10-year-old Ted Rose. He was found dead in a shallow grave last Oct. 25 with a bullet wound in his head.

Alex Yankovitch, 13, told police he tripped over a stone and his rifle discharged accidentally Oct. 22 while on a hunting trip with Ted. The bullet hit Ted in the head. Hankovitch dragged the body to a depression in the ground beside a log and covered it with earth and leaves.

The body was discovered three days later by one of several hundred men searching for Ted. When Yankovitch returned from the hunting trip that day of the shooting, he said that Rose had decided to continue hunting before returning home.

He told that story until after the body was found. Then he said he had been afraid to tell the correct story at first because he thought he would have to go to jail.

The coroner's jury recommended that in view of the actions of Yankovitch after the shooting that he be examined by a psychiatrist and that he be placed in the care of the Children's Aid Society until 16 years old.

Pay Difficulties Over On Sioux

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 5 (CP) —Lt.-Cmdr. Mel Adamic, of Leduc, Alta., and Vancouver, paymaster of the Canadian destroyer Sioux, gave a big sigh.

"Well, I shouldn't have that difficulty for a while," he said.

The difficulty he referred to was that the Sioux, which arrived home Sunday, had nearly run out of money.

The worst time was in late November and December, when the destroyer was out on patrol for 43 straight days.

The men had no place to spend their money and so didn't change their Canadian dollars for American military script. The Canadian money lay in big heaps in the men's pockets and the ship couldn't get it back.

It was nip and tuck whether there'd be enough cash to pay the men the next few paydays.

The situation is well in hand now, however. The men go on leave in a few days' time.

Obituary

MRS. R. B. TURNEY

The death occurred at Grand Rapids, Michigan, on Monday, Jan. 29, of Margaret McGrath, wife of Robert Blake Turney.

She was the daughter of the late James McGrath and Elizabeth Sanderson, and was born in the township of Alnwick, Northumberland County.

Her early life was spent in the village of Westwood, and all her married life in the city of Grand Rapids.

She was a dressmaker by trade and was of noble Christian character. Her kind and loving disposition won for her a host of friends.

She leaves to mourn her loss besides her sorrowing husband, two brothers and two sisters: Charles of Norgate, Manitoba, Richard of Peterborough, Annie of Lindsay and Mrs. William Staples (Agnes) of Apsley.

The funeral was held in Grand Rapids on Thursday, Feb. 1.

Protest Shooting

JERUSALEM, Feb. 5. (AP)—Israel protested Sunday night to the Mixed Armistice Commission that an Arab Legionnaire sniper fatally shot a Jewish immigrant here Sunday, the second such killing in 10 days. Jewish authorities complained that a Jordan border patrol member, perched atop the old city wall near Damascus gate, fired into an abandoned house in no-man's-land recently taken over by three families. The bullet killed a young Jew.

Pats Get 1st Hot Meal Since Start Of Operation

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Feb. 5.—(CP). — Sure-footed Koreans scaled a steep 1,400-foot slope in midnight darkness to bring Canadian troops their first hot meal since the start of Operation Maple Leaf.

But there was no let-up in the weekend exercise, designed as a final test of their readiness for action.

The "enemy," under Lieut. Rick Constant of Calgary, chose the defenders' meal time for a try at penetrating their positions on a mountain commanding a vital stretch of a main supply route.

To the delight of Lt.-Col. J. R. Stone, battalion commander, three "enemy" patrols were frustrated and one, led by Constant himself, was captured.

In the five-day scheme, the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, represents the right flank of a brigade which is fighting a withdrawing action to deny the enemy the use of the supply route.

No Ammunition

Stone released his "enemy" prisoners, considering their activities equivalent to drawing the defenders' fire to establish the location of their positions. The exercise is being carried out without ammunition.

The battalion's concealment was perfect. As far as this observer was concerned, it might have been in Pusan for the weekend until the night activities established its presence on the mountainside.

A convoy of trucks with food, pack rations, mail and the first issue of the battalion's mimeographed news sheet, the Maple Leaf, was led into the area after dark by Captains Gordon Turnbull of Toronto and Del Harrison of Calgary.

Lights Banned

They went ahead with handkerof the research council; the dechiefs tied to their weapons. Lights were banned, since the area is theoretically a front line.

Two of the convoy's vehicles came to grief toppling off a narrow lane and overturning in a paddy-field six feet below. The most serious casualty was the rum issue for the company commanded by Maj. Bill Stutt of Calgary and Edmonton. Its earthenware gallon container was in smithereens.

The convoy had a rendezvous with Maj. Pat Tighe of Victoria, the Patricias' second-in-command, who had organized a carrying party of 60 Koreans from nearby villages.

The unit's chief interpreter, Lee Jung Ok, 21-year-old refugee student of Seoul University, had drilled the Koreans in the night's pasword—the only English term they knew.

With hot ration containers, water cans, cartons of pack rations and mail strapped to their backs, they trudged straight up steep slopes where the rifle companies were located.

CQMS. Ed Morris of Edmonton plans to acquire a pair of the Koreans' rope shoes.

"With 175 pounds on their backs, they climbed better than I, who was just guiding them," he said.

Stout-hearted Pte. Andy Gray, Stutt's company cook, who is fighting his third campaign, also made the climb to isue the hot stew he had prepared for the men.

Launch Drive Orangize Mines

SUDBURY, Feb. 5 CP) — An immediate drive to organize gold mines in the Kirkland Lake district will be launched by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.). This action was decided upon at the third annual Canadian conference here of 14 of the Union's locals during the week-end.

The conference resolved to ask the federal government to maintain the gold assistance act at its 1949 standard and free gold mines from the restrictions placed by the American monetary fund.

The organizing drive at Kirkland Lake will be started by officers of the International Union present at the Sudbury conference.

"The committee urges that the utmost consideration be given to all details of this campaign so that success may be assured and the underpaid, overworked mine worker employed in the gold mining industry achieve decent and proper working conditions, decent and proper standards of living and a decent, militant and honorable union," the resolution said.

U.S. Guarantee Given To Japan

TOKYO, Feb. 5—(AP)—Authoritative sources said today the United States is prepared to offer Japan this guarantee; after she regains her sovereignty through a peace treaty.

Any attack on Japana would be considered an act of aggression against the U.S. itself such an attack would result in a U.S. attack against the "root of aggression".

The U.S. plan means that, if Russia attempted an invasion of Japan, Russian targets could expect to feel immediately the full power of American might—possibly including the atom bomb.

The proposal represents the first offer to extend to an Asian country the kind of guarantee which the U.S. has given its Atlantic Pact allies.

Labor Federation Charges CP Neglecting News

TORONTO, Feb. 5 (CP)—The Ontario Federation of Labor charged Saturday that The Canadian Press was so anxious to squelch union activities in its editorial staff that it was neglecting to cover vital news.

A resolution passed unanimously at the federation's annual convention said that CP "in a move to defeat union organization of its employees" had "depleted its staff and ceased providing direct coverage of the United Nations."

The resolution specified only The Canadian Press in its condemnation of press opposition to the American Newspaper Guild, a CIO-CCL affiliate, but speakers said the motion should be broadened to include "all the "press lords of this country."

Throughout the history of the United Nations organization, The Canadian Press, co-operative news agency of the Canadian Daily Newspapers, has provided comprehensive coverage of the U.N.'s work. CP's reports comprise those of The Associated Press—the worldwide co-operative serving United States newspapers—and of Reuters news agency, the British Commonwealth co-operative, in addition to coverage by CP staff representatives assigned as necessary to events of particular Canadian interest or significance.

Find Many Teen-Agers Now Drug Addicts

OTTAWA, Feb. 5 (CP)—Narcotic addictions among Canada's younger set, including teen-agers, is causing some concern among officials charged with stamping out illicit traffic in this country.

Federal health department officials note that until a couple of years ago addicts mainly were in the 28-to-45 age group. But in the last two years there has been a noticeable lowering of the age. Prosperity, a large supply of illicit heroin on the market and the search for new thrills are blamed by officials for the increase.

Praise Decision

TORONTO, Feb. 5 (CP).—An Ontario government decision to enact legislation abolishing racial and religious discrimination in employment was praised in a resolution passed Sunday at the closing session of a two-day conference of the Canadian Jewish Congress. The Congress also approved the Ontario government's stand on equality of service in licensed public facilities.

Drug Habit Among Teen-Agers Spreading Fast In United States

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 —(AP)—Drug addiction among teen-agers is a menace in some parts of the United States, an Associated Press survey shows.

New York City, fountainhead of the illicit traffic in drugs, recently discrovered addiction widespread among its school children. In the first two weeks of January more than 250 narcotics sellers and buyers were picked up by police.

A California State narcotics official estimates 15 of every 100 teen-agers arrested there are addicted to one or mor drugs.

Chicago reports a serious increase in drug addiction—the city's crime commission calls it "tremendous."

Detroit authorities and federal narcotics men in Michigan say there is an "alarming" increase of teen-age addiction.

A number of communities report that teen-age addiction is not a problem but a Federal Narcotics Bureau spokesman cautions that statistics and information usually lag behind events.

A federal attorney charged in open court at the arraignment of a suspected drug peddler that rejections for the armed forces because of narcotics use have become high.

The US Public Health Service hospital for drug addiction at Lexington, Ky., reported last November that in the first 10 months of 1950 it received 209 addicts under 20 years of age. In 1948, it received 13.

Parents have told of their children pawning family effects, prostituting themselves, refusing to attend school or having large sums of money they could not explain.

In most cases arrested teen-age addicts have become criminals to get money to buy drugs. This is characteristic of addiction.

Poor Treatment

Addicts are committed to jails and hours of detention where the only treatment available is "cold turkey"—sudden withdrawal of drugs.

An alternative is returning young addicts to their own homes with some sort of part-time supervision or sending them to the federal hospital at Lexington, available only to addicts over 18.

It is impossible to estimate the number of known addicts in the US. In pre-war days the Federal Narcotics Bureau said there were about 50,000. Currently, it believes new addicts are being created at a much faster rate than old ones are dying off. An official, but off-the-record, estimate put the New York total alone in the vicinity of 30,000.

Seize Plane After Record Flight

LONDON, Feb. 5 — (AP) — Claiming unpaid customs duty, Britain Friday night impounded the plane in which Capt. Charles Blair broke the New York-to-London speed record Wednesday.

Customs officials explained that all planes arriving in Britain on unscheduled flights must pay a 20-per-cent duty if they stay more than 48 hours.

Blair, a 41-year-old Pan American pilot, made the 3,500-mile flight in a converted Mustang fighter plane in seven hours and 48 minutes.

(Arriving in New York early Saturday by Commercial Airliner, Blair said his plane was being held "only on a technicality." He added: "There really wasn't any trouble. I'd like to take the heat off the British customs officials. They were very co-operative.")

Reconnaissance Jet Plays Tag With Fighters

TOKYO, Feb. 5 —(Reuters)— Capt. John D. Monaghan of the United States Air Force made 15 to 20 Communist jet fighters look like babes when they tried to play cat and mouse with his unarmed reconnaissance jet Saturday.

Monaghan was cruising at 10,000 feet near the Yalu River, North Korea, leisurely taking reconnaissance shots when the Russian-type MIG jets swooped down.

They tried to box him in.

But Monaghan wasn't such an easy kill. With a few twists and dodges he slipped through their ranks and shot away south.

The MIGs pursued him for 100 miles—then gave up the chase over Pyongyang, North Korean capital.

He said two Canadians, Brock Chisholm and Prof. Otto Klineberg, had made an outstanding contribution to world social science.

Dr. Line urged members "to give leadership in the affairs of men," and suggested improved service to mental hospital patients and public support of child guidance clinics as two objectives.

Dr. Line is professor of psychology at the University of Toronto.

Early Detection, Treatment Best Anti-Cancer Weapon

Early detection and treatment is still the greatest anti-cancer weapon medical science possesses states the Canadian Cancer Society in a National Health Week message.

The society, with its provincial divisions and local units, has one of the most comprehensive lay educational programs of any country in the world, but unfortunately many cancer patients still do not seek medical advice while the disease is localized—and most likely to respond to treatment. A greater saving of lives would result if more people heed early warnings of the more comomn forms of cancer.

It is estimated that the number of new cancer cases in Canada in 1949 was 28,000 while the number of deaths attributed to cancer in 1948 was 16,258. Cancer was responsible for 13.5 per cent of all deaths in this country and was preceded only by diseases of the heart—33,894— in the mortality tables.

The incidence of cancer has a direct relationship to age and the number of persons aged over 70 in Canada has almost doubled since 1931, from 344,000 to an estimated 675,000 in 1951. This fact plays a significant part in the increasing number of cancer deaths per year, because there has been no increase in cancer death rates in any one age group.

The Cancer Society's statement emphasizes that heed should be paid immediately to any of the following symptoms:

1—Any lump or thickening, especially in the breast, lip or tongue.

2—Any irregular or unexplained bleeding, especially from body openings.

3—Any sore which does not heal, particularly about the mouth, tongue or lips.

4—Any persistent change in normal elimination habits.

These symptoms do not necessarily indicate cancer—but they do make a visit to the family physician desirable in any case.

57,000 Casualities In 13 Days For Reds, U.S. Says

TOKYO, Feb. 6. (AP)—Powerful Allied tank-infantry columns piled into the main Chinese defence line south of Seoul today and fought a day-long pitched battle. The Chinese celebrated their New Year's Day with the first show of Red Tanks in this phase of the Korean war. The fighting raged almost to the outskirts of Seoul. The Chinese tanks duelled with the Allied columns. Artillery thundered and United Nations planes roared down on the Red forces.

Chinese anti-aircraft fire knocked down one Marine Corsair over the front lines.

The Chinese were bringing reinforcements across the frozen Han river and mounting what appeared to be a big effort to halt allied jabs. In 13 days the allied thrusts have killed or wounded 57,000 Red troops.

Down To Business

The Chinese possibly even were launching their own long-expected offensive against the allies south of Seoul. If so, they were striking on the opening day of the year of the rabbit.

"There no longer is any doubt about the whereabouts of the enemy," said an allied intelligence officer. "They are right here where we are."

The fighting flares five miles northwest and two miles northeast of the deserted village of Anyang. The village is nearly nine air miles south of Seoul.

Hills overlooking the valley running north from Anyang were alive with Red troops. Korean Communists were mixed with the Chinese.

AP correspondent Jim Becker said Red resistance was so bitter that only the western column of two allied task forces made any progress Tuesday. This column drove five miles northwest of Anyang, for a gain of three miles over its Monday thrust when it ran into a Red tank trap.

Lie In Wait

Chinese tanks skulked in the paths of both allied columns. The allied eastern column was trying to drive up the main road north of Anyang toward Seoul.

On the central front, American troops blasted a hole through a Red battalion on the Hoengsong-Hongchon road. Then South Korean regulars rolled through the gap to a point only 25 miles from the old parallel 38 border.

This was the northernmost thrust of Allied forces since they regained the offensive in Korea 13 days ago.

The Americans locked in battle with an estimated 1,000 Reds at mid-afternoon Tuesday on the northern outskirts of Changbong. This is a village 52 air miles due east of Seoul.

The allied troops in the west were forced to retrack over much of the ground they ranged Monday in the biggest tank assault of the Korean war.

The powerful United Nations armored columns—one of which prowled within five miles of Seoul—had withdrawn Monday night south of Anyang. During the night, Chinese Reds firing small arms and mortars infiltrated the allied lines. But the allied tank-infantry task forces regrouped at dawn in deserted Anyang and probed north and northwest out of the village.

Says MacArthur Urges Using Chiang's Army

TOKYO, Feb. 6—(AP)—Gen. MacArthur is believed to have recommended to Washington that Chinese Nationalist troops be used against the Communist Chinese forcs in Korea and elsewhere.

He consistently has believed that Chiang Kai-shek's army should be used in broadened warfare against the Chinese Communists, informed sources said today.

The informants indicated MacArthur believes the Nationalists should be supported in a thrust against the Chinese mainland as well as being used in Korea if desirable.

It is believed here that Chiang Kai-shek's original offer to send Nationalist troops into battle against the North Koreans was declined in order to avoid giving the Chinese Communists an excuse not to enter the campaign. That reason, military men say, is no longer valid.

Opinion Divided

Assessment of Communist strength in South China ranges from a contention that the Nationalists could walk ashore to a belief that the Reds are rebuilding their southern forces.

In any case MacArthur is understood to feel that even the threat of a Nationalist attack against the mainland would draw off sizable Communist forces from the northeast. This in turn would proportionately reduce the pressure on Allied forces fighting in Korea.

No responsible officer has said that, with the present manpower strength, the Allies can regain all of Korea or even a substantial portion of it north of Seoul. The Chinese still have a vast superiority in number.

It would be consistent with MacArthur's strategy to bolster his forces with Nationalist troops who are available and to use them as a diversionary or feint threat to pull apart the concentration of most effective Red power.

Has 125 Million Mrs. Wilks Dies

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(AP)—Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks, 80, daughter of the fabulously-wealthy Hetty Green and, in her own right, one of the world's richest women, died Monday night in New York hospital.

A tall, austere woman, Mrs. Wilks shunned publicity like her famous mother who at her death in 1916 had amassed a fortune estimated at $100,000,000. Mrs. Wilks' own fortune was estimated at $125,000,000.

She was the widow of Matthew Wilks, great-grandson of the first John Jacob Astor. Before their marriage, Mrs. Green made her future son-in-law sign a waiver to her daughter's vast estate.

In youth, Mrs. Wilks was guarded closely by her dominating, money-minded mother. And after 17 years of marriage to Wilks which ended in widowhood in 1926, she became a virtual recluse.

Since Mrs. Wilks and her brother Col. Green, both died childless, the huge concentrated fortune now must pass out of the immediate family. The nearest relatives are cousins.

Charles 'Gabby' Street Ex-Ball Player Dies

JOPLIN, Mo., Feb. 6. (AP) — Charles (Gabby) Street, former major league baseball player and manager, died in hospital today. He was 68.

Street, manager of St. Louis Cardinals in the early 1930's, had been in a weakened condition since an operation last summer.

Street, first man to catch a baseball dropped from Washington monument, went to the hospital after returning from a trip to St. Louis and Peoria, Ill., for an old timers baseball meeeting.

Gabby had a wide acquaintance in the baseball world. Late in his career he was a radio commentator and announced St. Louis Cardinal games over a midwestern network.

In baseball for nearly 50 years, he considered his association with Pitcher Walter Johnson and the Cardinal pennant of 1930, when he managed the team, the two big highlights of his career.

Suitor Takes Hammer, Hits Fiancee

Discover Man's Body 2 Hours Later In Newmarket Creek

NEWMARKET, Feb. 6. (CP) —The body of Charles Ward, 60, of Toronto, was found early today in a foot deep creek here two hours after Ward allegedly attacked Mrs. Mary Wolfe, 52-year-old widow, with a hammer. Newmarket is 35 miles north of Toronto.

Mrs. Wolfe said she and Ward had planned to be married in March and to buy a roominghouse in Toronto.

She told police she and her suitor were seated on a kitchen couch in her second-floor apartment on main streeet about midnight while her daughter, Rosemarie, 10, slept in a nearby bedroom. She said that, when she resisted his advances, he struck her with the hammer. She suffered cuts and bruises to her face and head.

"He suddenly raised a hammer and, without a word, rained blows at my head," Mrs. Wolfe told police. "I shielded myself with my arms and the blows glanced off. I pleaded with him to stop. I screamed, but he kept hitting me."

Forced To Flee

The commotion aroused Rosemarie, who struck at Ward with her fists and feet and forced him to flee to the street. Barefoot and clad only in a nightgown, the girl pursued him to the street and sobbed out to a passer-by, Harvey Gibney:

"That man tried to kill my mother."

Gibney took up the chase and other citizens joined in.

Ward eluded pursuit by running south on Main Street and then darting along the creek bank. He apparently stumbled down an embankment and fell, or collapsed, in the water.

Constable Jim Leeder found his body 20 ft. downstream from the spot where his footprints in the snow ended. He said the body apparently had been carried along by the current.

Afraid For Daughter

At the start of the pursuit, Mrs. Wolfe, fearing for her daughter, staggered down the stairs from her apartment and collapsed on the sidewalk. She was covered with blood from her head wounds. She kept screaming, "A man tried to kill me," and "Where is my daughter "

Soviet To Call U.S. Aggressor

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Feb. 6—(AP)—Russia will try today to have the United Nations tag the United States an aggressor against Communist China.

The move is doomed to failure—it is highly doubtful if any but her four satellites will vote with the Soviet Union—and western diplomats have labelled it "transparent propaganda".

The charges before the 60-nation political commitiee are that President Truman's order to the U.S. Seventh Fleet to seal off Formosa and bombing in Manchuria by American planes constitute aggression.

Railmen Return To Work In Many Centres

CHICAGO, Feb. 6—(AP)—Railroad switchmen returned to work in many important centres today but there was no general back to work move.

The crippling "sick-call" strike ended in the New York area.

Switchmen went back to their jobs in large numbers at Philadelphia, Boston, Washington, Baltimore, Chattanooga, Buffalo and other large cities.

But the walkout kept a stranglehold on much of the United States war-geared economy.

Idle switchmen still let war supplies and other goods pile up in Chicago's vast freight yards, the biggest in the world.

Many other cities also noted no back-to-work trend despite defence mobilizer Charles E. Wilson's plea to the workers Monday night.

Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem. Minn.) said in Washington he has good reason "to be optimistic a settlement of the rail strike may be imminent."

The Defence Transport Administration took action to make sure that highway truckers give mails and vital freight first priority.

The DTA ordered motor freight carriers to put demands on their services from the armed forces, the Atomic Energy Commission and the mails ahead of everything else.

Some of the back-to-work calls were reported by carriers after an appeal to the strikers from mobilization director Charles E. Wilson, in a broadcast from the White House, said the country's defence effort was being handicapped by a "creeping paralysis" of the railroad transportation system.

Speaking with President Truman's approval, he told the rail workers that the walkout could hurt the United States "more than all the Communist armies in Korea put together."

HOLD UP BANK

JOLIETTE, Que., Feb. 6—(CP) —Three armed bandits today held up the Banque Canadienne Nationale branch at St. Felix de Valois, 30 miles north of here, and were captured shortly afterward with their loot of about $10,000.

$300,000 Fire Razes Granite Club In Sudbury

SUDBURY, Feb. 6. (CP)—The $300,000 Sudbury Granite Club was destroyed by fire early today. There was no one in the building. Cause of the fire has not yet been determined. Nearby residents said they were awakened shortly before 4 a.m. to find the upper portion of the building on fire. By daybreak there was nothing but a pile of smoking ruins.

Ron Ripley of Timmins, C. M. Neiman of Toronto and Tom Stevens of Sudbury said they were passing the club shortly before 4 a.m. when they noticed a puff of smoke and fire as windows on the second floor were blown out.

A few minutes later they heard the fire reels coming. Both shifts of firemen were called out to battle the stubborn blaze in weather 20 degrees below zero. Almost two hours after the alarm was turned in, flames were still leaping through the roof, although several streams of water were being played into the building from all sides.

The first fire truck was delayed for several minutes when it was blocked by a train at the railway spur line crossing to downtown streets.

A dance was held in the club Monday night. It ended about 2 a.m. Two draws in a club bonspiel had been held earlier in the evening.

A dozen Granite Club rinks are at Sault Ste. Marie for the annual Northern Ontario Curling Association Bonspiel.

Since its erection two years ago, the club had become one of the centres of social life in Sudbury, with a large lounge, dining room, snack bar and several other rooms for meetings.

The first curling game was played at the club Jan. 9, 1949. The structure was built with the help of members, who pitched in to do much of the work on a voluntary basis.

"There was a blinding flash which lit up all our windows and cut off the lights. Then the Granite Club seemed to go up in flames all at once," said Mrs. F. Carruthers, who lives nearby.

Canada Attends Rubber Parley

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP).—Canada, as a large producer of synthetic rubber and a big consumer of the natural product, is an interested participant in a 10-country rubber conference which opened in London Monday.

A trade department spokesman said two officials from Canada House, London, are officially representing Canada at the talks to review the supply and demand position of the natural and synthetic rubber.

Jack Nicholson, a vice-president of Polymer Corporation, the government - owned synthetic rubber producing plant, has gone to London to act as an adviser to the Canadian delegation. He has been joined there by a representative of the Canadian Rubber Manufacturers Association.

The meeting was convened in London by Britain following consultations with France and the United States. The possibility of shutting off rubber supplies from Communist nations is believed one of the aims.

Request Public Bridge Inquiry

QUEBEC, Feb. 6. (CP)—Liberal Leader George Marler today gave notice of motion in the Quebec legislature calling for an impartial public inquiry into the collapse of the Duplessis Bridge at Three Rivers last week.

The Liberal House leader said such an inquiry by "persons of unquestionable capability and impartiality" is needed to establish the cause of the collapse of the $5,000,000 bridge which cost four lives.

In two other motions of which he also gave notice Mr. Marler asked the government for copies of all reports made to the government last year about damage suffered by the bridge in Feb., 1950.

He also called for copies of all correspondence or communications last year between the government, its officials and Sufresne Engineering Company Limited or Dominion Bridge Company Limited about the Duplessis Bridge.

New Five-Year Plan Likely For Russia

MOSCOW, Feb. 6—(AP— The Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R., Russia's Parliament, was summoned today to meet March 6.

Western diplomats said it is likely the legislative body might be presented with a new five-year plan, the Soviet Union's fifth

The fourth five-year plan ended with the calendar year 1950. Vice-Premier V. M. Molotov in a speech a year ago said another five-year plan would begin in 1951 but gave no details.

Westerners in Moscow consider it possible the Supreme Soviet also may consider and pass a law making war-mongering an offence similar to laws passed by the Communist governments of East Germany and Hungary.

(Under the East German law the offence is punishable by death).

Spend 5 Billion On Defence In Three-Year Plan, Other Forces Increased

Plan Immediate Creation of Advisory Council On Canadian Manpower; To Withdraw Second-Mortgage Housing Aid

OTTAWA, Feb. 6. (CP) — Canada is embarking on a $5,000,000,000 three-year defence program with the main emphasis on an Air Force of 40 squadrons and 3,000 planes. The bill is more than one-quarter of the cost of the Second World War to this country. A 15-point defence program, bared to the Commons Monday night by Defence Minister Claxton, far overshadows anything peacetime Canada has known. It means Canada will become the third air power in the Western World under the division of responsibilities among the 12 Atlantic Pact Powers. Only the United States and the United Kingdom will rank ahead.

Eleven of the 40 active and reserve squadrons—there now are 19—will be posted to Europe with some 800 jet planes as an air division that will be Canada's main fighting contribution to Gen. Eisenhower's integrated force.

In the next fiscal year, starting April 1, Canada proposes to dispatch to Europe a fighter wing—three squadrons—and an army brigade group of about 6,000 men along with hundreds of millions of dollars worth of arms, including thousands of wireless sets, radar, anti-aircraft guns and other equipment.

Other Plans

Two other segments of the unfolding government program to meet the emergent international situation were disclosed to the Commons Monday.

They were:

1. Immediate creation of a national advisory council on manpower to help the government make the best use of this resource in the growing labor shortage.

2. Immediate withdrawal of second-mortgage housing assistance to persons wishing to build their own homes, a move aimed at curtailing building of private homes with a view to keeping both labor and materials directed to essential projects.

The three government disclosures took the spotlight from a throne speech debate which produced expressions of both approval and condemnation for Canada's actions in the recent United Nations debate over Red China's intervention in Korea.

Gordon Graydon (PC. Peel) foreign affairs spokesman for the Progressive Conservative opposition, said Canada was right in supporting the United States resolution branding Communist China as an aggressor in the Korean war.

Cobourg Choir Poisoned By Bus Fumes

KINGSTON, Feb. 6 (CP)—Four young girls of the Cobourg Collegiate choir, who arrived here Monday night to take part in the International Rotary Music Festival, were admitted to hospital shortly afterward for treatment for carbon monoxide poisoning they had contracted on the bus coming down.

They are expected to return home today.

With the other members of the choir and their conductor, Eldred A. Winkler, all of whom suffered effects from the gas, they went on stage and sang two numbers. The four collapsed later. Though they lost out to Kingston Collegiate Glee Club, they received high praise for pluck.

The girls are Jean Waldie, 15, of Fenella, Margaret Mulhall, 14, of Baltimore, Dorothy Spleger, 17, of Cobourg, and Margaret Drumm, 16, of Cobourg.

Mr. Winkler said Monday night all members of the choir—34 girls and eight boys—were ill when they went on stage. He thought some of those who did not receive hospital treatment were as ill as the four admitted but recovered earlier.

The choir girls said no one knew they had been gassed until after they got off the bus when a few collapsed.

The choir received marks of 74 and 71 for their singing of two numbers.

Says Reds Use Secret Weapon

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—Russia's deadliest secret weapon is the cold-blooded principle that it is easier to make men slaves by snuffing out free thought than by force of arms, Rhys M. Sale today told the annual convention of the Ontario Retail Hardware Association.

"The last thing the Communists want is to have the people of Canada aroused to a sense of danger and made ready to fight for their freedom," the president of the Ford Motor Company of Canada declared in his second public denunciation of Communists in recent weeks. Such preparation by Canada or any other free country upset one of the basic principles of Soviet planning.

"The mind-stealers of Russia are busy right now in every country outside the Iron Curtain," he said.

Canada had her share. "Some sit in public office, making no secret of their Moscow affiliations. Some actually control a few of our labor unions, openly or behind the scenes. Some have a voice in organizations which pretend to champion the cause of the masses."

Dominion Envoys Given Higher Status

LONDON, Feb. 6—(Reuters)—Commonwealth envoys in London will soon be given the same status and privileges in Britain as foreign ambassadors, including the important right to diplomatic immunity, it was learned today.

A bill conferring these rights on the high commissioners will be introduced in the House of Commons soon.

The Commonwealth high commissioners won some less-tangible privilges two years ago after a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference which agreed to rank them with foreign ambassadors on ceremonial occasions and accord them the same title—excellency.

5th A-Blast Shatters Many Windows

Fireworks Show Different Appearance To Hundreds Lining Roads

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Feb. 6—(AP)—Windows shattered early today in this southern Nevada city as two separate shocks from the fifth atomic test in 11 days rocked the city.

Police reported big show windows in two automobile agencies splintered by sound waves.

There were no reports of injuries, residents having been forewarned of the possibility of glass-breaking shocks.

The white light was seen in Oakland, on the edge of San Francisco Bay, where one witness described it as terrifying. Oakland is some 450 air miles from Las Vegas.

An irregular sort of white cloud appeared over the horizon to the northwest, above the Frenchman Flat area where the atomic tests are being conducted. It was different in appearance from any seen in the previous four tests seen and heard here.

Two distinct shocks were felt, following by about 5½ minutes the now-familiar blinding white flash in the pre-dawn sky.

Leave Homes

The Atomic Energy Commission, in an unprecedented pretest announcement, had warned residents to stay away from windows. Highways were lined by hundreds who left their homes for a clearer view and to escape possible danger.

Clusters of watchers on street corners called "there it goes" as fireworks spread over the northwest sky at 8:48 a.m. EST.

There is much speculation over what is being tested. Most theories have inclined to atomic weapons of some sort.

But Julian Hartt, aviation editor of The Los Angeles Examiner, said he had learned that the experiments involve a "trigger" for the H-bomb. The Atomic Energy Commission began work on the hydrogen bomb more than a year ago but has said nothing of its progress.

Hartt said that the H-bomb itself will be tested in the Pacific within nine or 10 months. Experts have agreed that the H-bomb could be set off only by an atomic explosion.

Chinese Fortune Tellers Do Rush Business Year Of Rabbit To Bring Less Trouble

HONG KONG, Feb. 6. (AP)—Chinese fortune-tellers did a thriving business today as the Year of the Rabbit was ushered in by the traditional rattle of firecrackers.

The soothsayers disagreed on just what the new year would bring, but they did agree:

There would be trouble, but not as much as last year, which was the Year of the Tiger.

The fortune-tellers made a lot of forecasts.

Some predicted more war. Others said less. None predicted peace.

The 2,000,000 Chinese in this British crown colony welcomed the new year joyously. But in Communist China the Reds are trying, as the Nationalists did before them, to abolish the old calendar.

Things like firecrackers and paper dragons are beginning to disappear from China in the interests of a "greater future" and austerity for the Communist government.

Rock Blast, Not Bomb Jars Ottawa Folk

OTTAWA, Feb. 6—(CP)—An explosion shook a 30-mile strip of ground on Ottawa's right flank Monday night and scores of startled persons rushed to telephones, fearing a Canadian version of Nevada atomic blasts.

It proved to be the dynamiting of 15,000 tons of rock on the Trans-Canada highway project near Cumberland, Ont., about 15 miles east of Ottawa.

At Orleans, five miles east of Ottawa, a large plate glass window in a general store was shattered and dishes and windows rattled in Ottawa east, but no further damage was reported.

$4,000 In Can Lost In Fire

SIMCOE, Feb. 6—The Red Star Inn, a huge, sprawling structure in Langton, valued by its owner at $70,000, was destroyed by fire early Monday night.

The owner, Floyd DeVilder, had $8,000 hidden inside. Half the cash was saved by Charles Ebertt, a Langton tinsmith, who smashed a window in a smoke-filled bedroom, then kicked in a locked dresser drawer and grabbed a cigar box containing the money.

The other $4,000 was hidden in a coffee can in the kitchen and was destroyed.

The Red Star Inn housed in a single stucco structure a dance hall, a 12-room house, a lunch counter and a service station-garage.

Almost everything was lost except a big refrigerator and some household furniture, hauled from the blaze by neighbors.

It was the owner's wife who directed Ebertt to the exact spot where the $4,000 was hidden in the bedroom. The tinsmith was watching the fire when Mrs. DeVilder ran to him and asked him to break into the bedroom.

RCAF Rescue Planes Do 252 Operations

OTTAWA, Feb. 6—(CP)—The RCAF's search-and-rescue organization carried out 252 operations, including 137 mercy flights, during 1950, the Air Force announced Monday.

The air force flew more than 4,667 hours, or nearly 200 days, on search-and-rescue work.

One of the operations included the RCAF's furthest-north mission, a flight from Edmonton to the weather station at Eureka Sound on Ellesmere Island, 2,000 miles north of Winnipeg, to pick up a civilian requiring immediate medical aid.

Frost Gov't Wins Division Forced Over Adjournment

TORONTO, Feb. 6. (CP)—The Ontario Legislature, with the first division of its three-day-old session on the books, settles down today to the Throne-Speech debate with the prospect of more political sparring in the near future.

Monday's division, won by the Government on a recorded vote 55 to 22, was forced by the CCF Opposition on a motion to adjourn for the day.

The legislature also saw introduction of a bill by Labor Minister Daley to implement some of the recommendations of the Roach Royal Commission report on workmen's compensation.

The division on the government's motion to adjourn Monday followed a government decision to postpone debate on the principle of several bills.

Need More Time

E. B. Jolliffe, CCF leader, had protested against considering the bills and said legislature members had not been given enough time to study the bills. They had appeared in printed form only 10 minutes before the afternoon sitting began, he said.

Attorney-General Porter, who was guiding the bills, said the government did not want to force consideration of them without giving opportunity for study, and withdrew his motion for second reading of the bill before the house—to provide an additional judge for Wentworth county.

Highways Minister Doucett then moved for adjournment and was opposed by Mr. Jolliffe, who said there was still some business left on the day's order paper. He was referring to a motion by Reid Scott (CCF-Toronto Beaches) to extend provincial voting rights to municipal elections.

The legislature voted on the adjournment, and the sitting ended after one hour and 15 minutes.

Mr. Jolliffe and Premier Frost reached agreement more easily on another question — that of forming additional standing committees to deal with such government businesses as the Hydro Electric Power Commission, the Ontario Northland Railway and the Liquor Control Board.

The Premier said he was considering such committees, but the opposition leader urged immediate decision. Mr. Frost said that if the government reached no decision on the matter, he would allow Mr. Jolliffe to put the question before the house.

A committee was formed to settle on the membership of 12 regular committees which will deal with special phases of legislature business during the session.

Used Five Tank Columns

In Monday's action, five tank columns jabbed deep into Red-held territory, shot up Communist strongpoints and killed hundreds of Red troops before pulling back.

An Eighth Army officer said allied ground forces killed or wounded 7,365 Reds in Monday's flaming action. This brought to nearly 57,000 the number of enemy casualties claimed since the allies launched their limited offensive Jan. 25.

Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Eighth Army commander said allied forces have inflicted casualties at a rate as high as 100 to 1 since late January.

Ridgway said the allies have the power to push a strong column deep into enemy territory. But he asked rhetorically what could be gained by that.

Ridgway described the American, British, Turkish, Greek, French, Dutch and South Koreans in the United Nations forces as top-flight, self-reliant soldiers. He said they know how to do a job and they are doing it.

The General was in the front thrusts of his tank columns.

Position Weak

The 13-day-old limited offensive has wedged large numbers of Chinese forces south of the Han river. Military men said the Reds are in an untenable military position from Yoju, 40 miles southeast of Seoul to the Yellow Sea.

They predicted that the next 48 hours should show whether the Reds plan to try to fight their way out or pull back to the north bank of the frozen Han River.

Allied mortars, artillery and the guns of infantrymen blazed a path for the tank columns on the western front.

A naval task force steaming off Inchon, 20 miles west of Seoul, threw the weight of its big guns to support of the western armored column.

"You could see those big babies plop in," said a general officer of the naval shells. "They really threw some lead around."

East of the Suwon-Seoul road, Puerto Rican infantrymen gained nearly two miles. They seized three important hills without resistance.

Captured equipment indicated the Chinese Reds have rushed up anti-tank weapons as a result of recent successes by Allied armored task forces. These included a Chinese-made recoil-less rifle, the first captured on the western front, and anti-tank shells.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Feb. (CP).—Mayor J. A. Mongrain of Three Rivers said in a radio address Sunday night that "three or four investigations were being carried on simultaneously here to determine the cause of the Duplessis bridge collapse last Wednesday in which four men died.

Charge Cruelty To Camp Horses

BRANTFORD, Feb. 6 (CP). — Lumber-camp operators in the Algoma district are accused of widespread cruelty to working horses, in reports compiled by two inspectors of the Ontario Humane Society.

"Conditions today are 100 per cent worse than they were a year ago," said Leslie Leivers, a member of the society's executive. He and Col. George Reid, head of the society, will see Agriculture Minister Kennedy in Toronto next week to lay the information before him.

"Mr. Kennedy asked us to come back with the facts. . ." Mr. Leivers said. "I doubt whether any other part of the province has such a cruelty record as many of these lumber camps."

The reports cover visits made to 28 camps. Eleven of the camps were described as in bad shape as far as care of work horses was concerned. Two horses were ordered destroyed. One owner will be brought into court on a cruelty charge this week.

At five camps, the horses were without food, and one owner had no blenkets for his animals. In three camps, harness had been repaired so often with haywire that the wire was cutting the horses. Twice collars were found choking animals. In another case an owner abandoned two horses in the bush.

"If these are the conditions that exist in the camps we are able to reach, one can only imagine what conditions are in those camps we can't get into, due to limitations on our finances," Mr. Leivers commented.

"The government gets revenue from these lumber companies and should give some support to our work. We intend asking the government for financial assistance."

Spend 5 Billion

Percy Wright (CCF-Melfort) said Canada was wrong in giving that support because the resolution was premature and of little value unless supported by punitive action.

Other speakers in the debate included Joseph Dechene (L-Athabaska), John Blackmore (SC-Lethbridge), Wilfrid Lacroix (L-Quebec-Montmorency) and Maj.-Gen. G R. Pearkes, V.C. (PC-Nanaimo).

Word of the creation of an advisory council on manpower came from Labor Minister Gregg. The body would suggest plans for "the mose effective utilization in the national interest of present and potential man and woman working force in Canada."

It will consist of 27 members, representing labor, employers, government, agriculture and veterans. Their names will be announced shortly. Co-chairmen will be Arthur MacNamara, deputy minister of labor, and Norman Robertson, clerk of the Privy Council.

Mr. Gregg said the greatest care will be taken to see that the available working personnel, particularly in skilled trades, are distributed in the most effective way among the armed forces, defence production and civilian activity

No Conscription Yet

He already has announced that compulsory direction of manpower is not planned at this stage of the world emergency.

Resources Minister Winters announced the move to curtail house-building activity. Under it, loans under the National Housing Act will be limited immediately to 80 per cent of the lending values prevailing in January, 1950.

This means the suspension of a provision by which an additional one-sixth of the original loan could be obtained as a second mortgage under the Act. The provision was authorized in 1949 to help home-builders meet rising costs which had boosted the amount of required down payments.

However, housing still will get a priority second only to the defence effort, Mr. Winters said.

Boost Forces

Mr. Claxton's speech forecast great acceleration of the defence program.

The highlights:

1. The forces, now 63,000 strong, will be built up to 115,000, and it should be possible to do so if current recruiting rates—3,000 in January—hold up.

2. The RCAF will expand to about 35,000 men from 20,000; train 3,000 Canadian and European air crew in a year; spend more than the other two forces put together; stress regular fighter squadrons in creating 21 new squadrons as fast as jet planes become available.

3. The navy will have 100 ships—it has about 30 now and about as many more on order—and double its present strength of 10,000 to handle convoy and patrol duties and defence of the Canadian coasts. Its build-up, although overshadowed by the RCAF, is of big importance.

4. The army will continue to keep up to roughly a division in combat strength—a division has 18,000 men—which is what it now has, but will organize some new units, particularly anti-aircraft.

Arms For Europe

5. Canada will turn over to Europe enough British - type armament for about four divisions —she has sent enough for one to Holland—and replace it with American-type gear made here and in the U.S.

6. About one quarter of a joint Canadian-American early-warning radar screen will be built in Canada, using the most modern and powerful apparatus.

7. It will cost $64,500,000 in the next fiscal year to foot the bills for the RCAF's big air training program, one that will train 1,900 Canadian and 1,000 British and European airmen annually. The money will be spent to open airfields, buy many Harvard training planes and hire instructors.

8. Dispatch of ground troops to Europe should start within the next few months unless the troops —from the 10,000-man special force—have to go to Korea. They will be rotated with no man staying overseas longer than a given period, probably a year.

Mr. Claxton's speech was a major declaration of policy, highlighted by announcement of the historic decision to stake Canada's defence emphasis heavily on air power.

The 40 squadrons compare to the 48 Canada fielded in the Second World War. Twelve of them will be part-time reserve squadrons, the rest mainly regular-force fighters, each with roughly 25 jet fighters, either short-range F86 Sabres or long-range Canucks.

Only Move

In the throne-speech debate, Mr. Graydon said the United Nations would have set up differing standards for determining aggression as between big and small powers if it had failed to brand China as an aggressor in Korea.

He noted that there had been no hesitancy about declaring North Korea an aggressor last June, and added:

"A display of great courage when little nations are involved, and conversely, a demonstration of hesitancy and 'pussy-footing' when big powers are implicated would have meant that the United Nations was betraying the very principles for which it was instituted."

Mr. Wright suggested the US.. resolution lost sight of the fact that Russia was the real aggressor. He doubted whether the resolution could be followed up by sanctions because that would make it difficult to avoid a spread of the conflict.

Is It Ale In These Cases? Lawyer Asks Crown Attorney

Judge S. L. Smoke today reserved judgment in two appeals—one from the Nov. 23 conviction of taxi-driver Kenneth Thompson on selling liquor illegally, and one from the Jan. 10 conviction of Geoffrey Feeley on a charge of offering liquor for sale.

Main point in both cases was the question whether bottles in a case labelled "ale" contained a form of liquor.

W. J. Arthur Fair, K.C., representing Thompson, first argued that there had been no proof that the case contained anything intoxicating.

"To this day we don't know what was in it. They (witnesses for the prosecution) say it's a case of beer," he said. "The onus is on the Crown to establish what is in the case."

Prima Facie Proof

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, K.C., argued that an unopened bottle or case was prima facie proof of the contents. He pointed to the case labelled "ale" on the table before Judge Smoke.

There are holes in both ends of the case and bottles can be seen in it. "Both ends are open," said the crown. "you can see what is in it."

"That still doesn't prove it's intoxicating liquor," Judge Smoke said.

"This exhibit speaks for itself," said Mr. Bradshaw.

"There might be water in the bottles," countered His Honor.

"Assuming that Your Honor is right, then an analysis would have to be made in every case," Mr. Bradshaw said. The crown went on to say that during his two years as crown attorney, he didn't think there had been one analysis of what was believed to be liquor.

"We may have been doing the wrong thing for two years," he said.

Representing Feeley, Gordon Farquharson argued that the crown in that case had failed to show there was an offering for sale, either by Feeley or Thompson.

Thompson and Feely both received two months when they were separately convicted by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

The charges arose out of an alleged sale of a case of beer (the one in question) by Thompson, who was driving a taxi owned by Feeley.

Thompson walked into a River Rd. house on November 3 last with the case in his hands, was asked how much, and said $10. Provincial Constables John McKendry and Clive Naismith, who were concealed in the house, arrested him.

2 Men Attacked By Pack Of Dogs

LINDSAY, Feb. 6—Two men were attacked by a pack of dogs at two separate times in the village of Haliburton recently.

Harold (Bud) Thayer was walking along Mountain St. when a band of eight dogs rushed at him. He battled the dogs alone for a few minutes when a young lad with a stick came along and the two were able to drive the dogs away.

The next day Tom Roberts had a similar experience on the same street. This time the pack was made up of seven dogs. Mr. Roberts was able to fight them off with his cane.

Neither of the two men was bitten, but the dogs did get their teeth into their trousers.

Constable Dovell, village law enforcement officer, says he was notified of both incidents and has issued an appeal for all dog owners to keep their dogs tied up if they suspect them to be cross. He attributes the two attacks to a couple of vicious leaders among dogs which would probably otherwise not attack a man.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6 — (AP) — Grains were mixed at the opening of today's Board of Trade session but soybeans showed a firm tendency.

Traders said there wasn't much new in the market other than a federal allocation of $2,000,000 to Britain for purchase of wheat to be shipped before July 31.

Wheat started ½ cent higher to ¾ lower than yesterday's close March $2.56⅛, corn was ⅛ higher to ¼ lower, March $1.81½, and oats were ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, May 99-99¼. Soybeans were ½-1½ cents higher, March $3.35¾.

UE 524 Ladies Continue Petition

The ladies' auxiliary of Local 524, United Electrical Workers, are continuing their circulation of a petition that protests the ending of family allowances. A government spokesman on Tuesday dismissed the petition as "ridiculous".

"Every political party represented in the House of Commons enthusiastically endorses the idea of family allowances," said the spokesman.

He said there was no doubt the government intended to continue family allowances, and he added: "The wording of the statement makes it evident that the real reason for the petition has nothing to do with family allowances."

Mrs. Erie Seppala, president of the ladies' auxiliary, indicated that her organization was not impressed with the spokesman's disclaimer.

"We are aware that many promises that are made in respect to the retaining of social services and advancing them are drastically changed—particularly between the opening of parliament and the closing."

"With the greatest respect for the assurance from Ottawa . . . our organization will continue to have the people register their support for continuing and advancing this very necessary means of social service to the public."

The petition claims that "representatives of big business interests, verbally and through their daily newspapers, have suggested taking away the family allowances now paid to the many families in Canada."

Protest UE Rejection To Quebec Labor Board

Jean Pare, Canadian vice-president of the United Electrical Workers, Monday announced he has protested to the Quebec Labor Relations Board over the rejection of the UE application for certification.

He said the union sought certification as bargaining agent for 1,200 employees of the Montreal and Longeuil plants of Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., but was refused.

A rejection of a UE application for the same plants was made a year ago.

Jacques Perrault, Quebec labor lawyer who presented the UE case, has sent a wire of protest to the chairman of the Quebec Labor Relations Board, Judge Pelletier.

"I'm of the opinion that your decision is contrary to the Labor Relations Act," stated Perrault. "And that your commission has erred in its interpretation of By-law No. 1 of your board."

He said it had refused to recognize "the real and legal majority of two-thirds of the employees." And he asked that the application be reconsidered.

Brick For Barn

The $385 bid of Sheehy Construction Co. for relaying the top seven rows of brick in the altering of the horse barn on Townsend St. was accepted by the council last night. It was recommended by a subcommittee composed of Aldermen Gillespie and Miller and City Engineer Chalmers. The new layers are to be of the same kind of brick as that which was laid in the rest of the east and west walls. Originally the top section was concealed by the eaves of the roof, now being removed, and was of different appearance from the wall material.

Town Employees Given Raises At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 6 — Salary increases for town employees occupied much of the regular meeting of Campbellford town council on Monday evening. Mayor J. E. Ayrhart presided, with all council members present.

Clerk J. F. McGregor and treasurer Eldon Ibey had their salaries increased from $1250 a year to $1600 a year. In addition to this they received a small bonus at Christmas time.

The salaries of Chief Constable George H. Hardy and Constable W. E. Cargin were raised from $1900 and $1800 respectively to $2300 for the Chief and $2100 for the constable. In addition to his regular salary. Chief Hardy receives an allowance for his car of $17 per month.

Councillor F. M. Rutherford of the Police Committee recommended the increase on the grounds that the government grant of $1200 for the police force would be increased another 25 per cent by the hike in wages. This fact, coupled with the high cost of living prompted council to act on his recommendation.

Other Raises.

Councillor Maybee suggested that town workmen be paid 70c per hour, instead of the 60c per hour now paid. This will go into effect on the first of Febrruary. Other raises granted town officials will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1951.

The salary of the town foreman, Wib. Blake, will remain at its present level until Mr. Blake has been in the employe of the town for a period of one year, at which time it will be reviewed again.

The by-law providing for the changing a number of street names in town received its first and second reading, and will be turned over to the Department of Municipal Affairs for approval after which it will receive its third reading, if approved.

A request from a property owner, for the town to turn over the deed to a lot purchased from the town some time ago was discussed, but council will take no action on this until the legal committee investigates the conditions of all lots purchased from the town since the passing of a by-law in 1946 providing for construction on lots purchased to start within a specified time.

Building Inspector.

A by-law naming the town assessor, Harry Townsend as building inspector received its third reading. The property committee was granted power to authorize issuance of permits, except in extreme cases where there is is a direct complaint from a citizen concerned in the matter, in which case the matter will be taken up with the entire council.

Craig Beattie, whose cereal mill burned with a loss of about $30,000 recently addressed council, complaining that the firemen could have saved one portion of the building, which had just recently been constructed. He said he asked repeatedly to have a line of hose played on this part of the structure, instead of the front portion, which was already doomed. He said, the firemen, who responded quickly to the call, were unable to operate a nearby hyrant, and had to return to the fire hall to procure more hose to attach to a hydrant further away. The hydrant in question turned out to be one of three in the town with a left hand thread. These are scheduled to be changed in the spring to the right hand thread variety.

Mr. Beattie said that while a number of citizens has urged him to sue the town for the poor fire protection, he said he did not want to do that, and in fact, was not asking for any compensation. He said he merely wanted to bring the matter to the attention of the council.

Mayor J. E. Ayrhart, said he could sympathize with Mr. Beattie in this case, as did the majority of the council, but he did not know what action could be taken until the town solicitor looked into the legal aspects of the matter.

A tax abatement of $2.80 was granted Harry Simpson.

Councillor MacMillan brought to the attention of council that workmen from the Public Utilities Commission had piled brush indiscriminately at the town dump, and that this should have been thrown into the ravine part of the dump or burned. Mayor Ayrhart then described the proper method of disposing of brush, by fire, and added that he did not want to antagonize the public utilities people, because they had co-operated so well with the town fathers in the past. A suggestion to have the commission send a couple of men down to the dump to dispose of the brush was acted on, and the mayor will take up the matter at the next meeting of the Public Utilites Commission.

Council adjourned after passing the pay sheet.

Queen's Park And Municipal Costs

The Legislative Assembly of Ontario, now in session, can deliberate few things more urgently important than the high cost of running municipalities and operating their services today. The only way villages, towns and cities have of raising money to pay their bills is by direct tax on property-owners. The tax rates are now very high, and they will be higher this year. It is obvious to anybody having anything to do with municipal government that provincial grants are not keeping up with the pace of mounting costs and services which the municipalities have to provide, often at the order or request of Queen's Park.

* * *

Let us cite one example. The Ontario Government a few years ago encouraged towns and cities to set up Recreation Commissions. It has a departmental branch and staff officers overseeing "Recreation." Peterborough set up a Recreation Commission. This year, the Commission has a budget of $23,500. It has sent this budget to the Council. The Ontario Government gives a grant for Recreation Commission work. This grant, in Peterborough, totals $3,500. That is the maximum the Commission can receive under the present scale of grants. The City Council, that is, the ratepayers, are asked therefore to provide the rest of this large sum of $23,500. Is this a fair division of costs of a project which is operated at the behest of Queen's Park?

The Navy In Town

Naval officers and staff have come to town and set up until Wednesday evening a recruiting depot. Young men who want to see the world in blues and in so doing serve their country and draw good pay for it, are invited to present themselves for elementary tests of qualification. Naval service has a curious attraction for inlanders. The number of men from the prairies and from Ontario places like Peterborough who volunteered for the navy in the last war is quite astonishing, considering that most of them had, before enlistment, never seen the sea or a sea-going vessel. We expect that the fascination of riding the waves and wearing eye-taking uniforms will continue to impel young men from this district into the Royal Canadian Navy. Now, of course, the Canadian navy is so large and varied, relative to 1914-18 days, that it encompasses all sorts of trades, techniques and ways of life: beach patrol in Bermuda, tooth-pulling in Trinidad, secret filing in an Ottawa skyscraper or policing in Piccadilly. A varied, as well as roving life the navy now promises its recruits.

Being Dogmatic About Controls

An official of the Canadian Congress of Labour accuses us, in a letter printed on this page today, of reaching three "dogmatic conclusions" about controls. We said in the editorial to which the writer refers that "wage controls must come with price controls." Perhaps that can be considered a dogmatic statement; we call it axiomatic.

Prices cannot be controlled or fixed if wage rates are not pinned to them. Suppose, for instance, that a ceiling is put on the price of rubber stamps, but the wage rates of the men involved in making rubber stamps are not pegged. The men in the factory making the stamps demand and get a wage increase. This rise is accompanied by rises in the wages of employees processing the rubber, in the wages of woodworkers making the handles, and perhaps in the pay of men producing the crude rubber. So everything that goes into the cost of making the rubber stamp is free to rise except the selling price which is the way the manufacturers find the money to pay the wages. It does not take much imagination to realize that no company would be able to buy the materials, pay the employees, and finally, produce the goods under such circumstances. In fact, we should soon be without rubber stamps.

Perhaps the C.C.L. could do without manufactured rubber stamps. However, the sequence we have described would apply to every article produced, from turnips to tanks. If the farmer has to double the hired man's wages and yet continue to sell his turnips at their former price, he would stop farming. If the factory making tanks has to give a ten-cent-an-hour wage increase yet keep the selling price of tanks stationary, it would stop making tanks.

Merely because the C.C.L., the Canadian and Catholic Federations of Labour, railway unions and the like want prices controlled but not wages is no proof that this can be done. Nor would it be proof that wages could be controlled and prices left free if the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and every employer in the country wanted that kind of control. Wages cannot be pegged without pegging prices; prices cannot have ceilings without ceilings on wages. They are two weights on opposite sides of a balance.

There is one way that the labour unions or the manufacturing associations could have one set of controls without the other; that is, by government subsidies. If only wages were controlled, the government could subsidize wages to keep them in balance with prices. If only prices were controlled, the government could subsidize the manufacturers to keep costs in balance with prices. Perhaps this last is what the C.C.L. wants. But we see no reason why every taxpayer in the country should be asked to give money to help manufacturers to pay their employees. Subsidies are artificial props under one or other side of the balancing bar. There is no possibility of a true balance. When the country's commerce and industry are put under government subvention, terms like wages and prices become meaningless. The reality then is the amount of taxpayers' money the government hands out in subsidy.

The writer of the letter has asserted that we are dogmatic also in the statement that Canada is not involved in economic and military turmoils to the same extent as the U.S.A. That sort of statement is not based on dogma; it is observable fact. Nor do we see anything dogmatic about not wanting Canadians snarled in a fishnet of controls and exhausted by a 25-year "all-out effort". Any man or nation attempting to make an all-out effort over 25 or 50 years will be all in before half that time is passed.

One Flesh

An interesting judgement was handed down in London, Ont., recently when Judge Seymour Collins dismissed a charge of assault brought by a woman against her husband; she was separated from him, and when he waited for her outside a theatre and tried to kiss her she brought action against him for assault; Judge Collins dismissed the charge, saying that the couple were "still one in law until there is a legal separation order and how can you assault yourself?" Good law, perhaps, but a confusing judgement for the layman.

Where does assault among married couples cease to be self-abuse and become serious enough for the law's attention? If a man beats his wife insensible —or if a wife does the same thing to her husband, as sometimes happens — do they continue to be one flesh in the eyes of the law? And if a woman poisons her husband, is she to be charged with a half-successful suicide?

The notion that man and wife are one flesh is primarily church law; in the civil courts it appears to be a source of confusion.

Children—For Or Against?

The Brockville Recorder and Times recently published an editorial which suggests that many young couples remain childless as a matter of choice, because they think that raising a family will cost money, limit their freedom and perhaps bring them unhappiness. Our contemporary urges young couples to put such ideas behind them, to be fruitful and multiply.

We are, for the most part, in agreement with the Brockville paper. We think that young couples should have children, if they can. But as it has been our observation that they do have children in virtually every possible case it has never occurred to us that any urging on our part was necessary.

On the other hand, we would not dream of telling young couples that children will not cost them money, will not limit their freedom, and will not bring them some unhappiness, for we know perfectly well that children will do all these things. But as our parents made sacrifices in order that we might get a start in the world, we owe a debt to posterity to take on the same burdens with regard to our own offspring. Most people have children because it is the natural and inevitable thing for married couples to do. And most couples get at least as much pleasure as grief from the parental state.

We have sometimes wondered, in our misanthropic moments, whether it would not be better for the world if fewer people had children. The world has doubled its population in the last 150 years, and the increase goes on at an alarming rate. And as our national populations grow bigger we have increased problems of feeding, clothing and housing, and we have bigger wars involving bigger armies. And it must be pointed out that, as always happens when breeding is uncontrolled, the least able groups in the population breed faster than the more able, so that we are getting greater numbers of people in the world who are mediocre or less in their capacities, whereas the physically and intellectually superior types reproduce at a slower pace.

Instead of urging indiscriminate breeding, we think that the Brockville paper might be wiser to launch a campaign for selective breeding.

Two Thousand Years Of Paris

by ROBERT STEPHENS

PARIS is this year celebrating its two thousandth anniversary. The birthday really occurred last year but its celebrations will be on a modest scale, as there is not much public money to spare at the moment. They will take the form of special balls, pageants and exhibitions illustrating the history of Paris and spread out through the "high season" of the capital from April to July.

Two thousand years sounds a venerable age, although cities like Peking and Damascus were already celebrating their bimillenaries when Paris was still a huddle of mud huts inhabited by Gauls wearing skins. In fact, Paris today does not strike one as an old city. It does not give one that feeling of history and the passage of time that one experiences in Rome, Constantinople or even in parts of London. It is not picturesque. It is simply beautiful, perhaps the most beautiful city in the world. And its beauty does not depend, like that of Stockholm, Venice or Jerusalem on its physical setting, but on itself, on its qualities as a city.

ITS beauty is classical and urban, made by man and not by nature, composed of light, space and fine proportions. In its architecture and its atmosphere it is the consummation of the three most prized virtues of the French spirit; order in the planning of its streets and open spaces; harmony in the contour of its buildings, and the dominant colours of the city, soft grey stone, slate-blue roofs, the black of tree trunks, lamp standards and work-a-day clothes, the smooth green of the Seine, relieved by highlights of orange sun blinds, dark red taxi-cabs, the glittering gilt of a statue or shop-front, the white foam of a fountain; lively humanism in the variety of its inhabitants, in their talk and gestures, their respect for the arts, their energy in pursuit of pleasure as well as in work, in the sense of intimacy and a coherent human society which in monster cities like London tends to become crushed under the weight of numbers and dissolved by great distances, but which Paris, in spite of its growing size, has somehow managed to preserve.

✧ ✧ ✧

PARTLY because of this achievement, Paris, although not old in spirit, is perhaps lightly old-fashioned. In many ways it has a late Victorian or Edwardian air, reflecting again a characteristic of the French, but one which foreigners notice less easily, namely their innate conservatism. Its mixture of elegance and shabbiness, of comfort and inconvenience; the gas lamps in the stone-paved streets, the archaic Metro, buses and taxi-cabs, the tenacious institution of the concierge; the survival of red plush and gilt, of polished leather and mahogany, of profuse ornaments and bric-a-bric in many interiors, both public and domestic; the vast numbers of small shops and street markets, the still sharp division between the working class and the rest of society, and the contrasts of formality and Bohemianism in social life—all these seem echoes of a period which in some ways is almost as remote for us as the Middle Ages, the period of the "Forsyte Saga", the lost time which Marcel Proust sought, found and recreated as he lay on his sick-bed in his darkened room.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT Paris was not always so. Much of the picturesqueness of the medieval city of narrow streets and crowded crooked houses survived until the nineteenth century. Fifty years before Proust was born, another great novelist, Balzac, lamented the gradual passing of this old Paris under the picks and hammers of the town planners and commercial builders. Nearly all of it was finally swept away in the great replanning of Paris which took place under the Second Empire in the 'sixties of the last century. Although many of Paris's fine buildings today date in the present form from the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, their splendid setting of spacious avenues, gardens and squares, which gives full value to their harmonious architecture, was completed less than a century ago. For this work, Baron Haussman, then prefect of the Seine department, was chiefly responsible. His critics say that military and political reasons played as big a part as aesthetics in Haussman's replanning of the city. Long straight broad streets and big open spaces round public buildings made it easier for the army equipped with artillery to deal with the popular insurrections which have so often marked the history of Paris. The terrible struggle and repression of the Commune in 1870 showed how the dice had been weighted against the traditional insurrectionary tactics of ambushes and street barricades. Whether or not such reasons were in Haussman's mind, military considerations have played a big part in the way Paris was developed. The concentric rings of boulevards which run through and round the city mark successive defence lines of the city against siege. The word "boulevard" itself has the same origin as the English word "bulwark" or fortified wall.

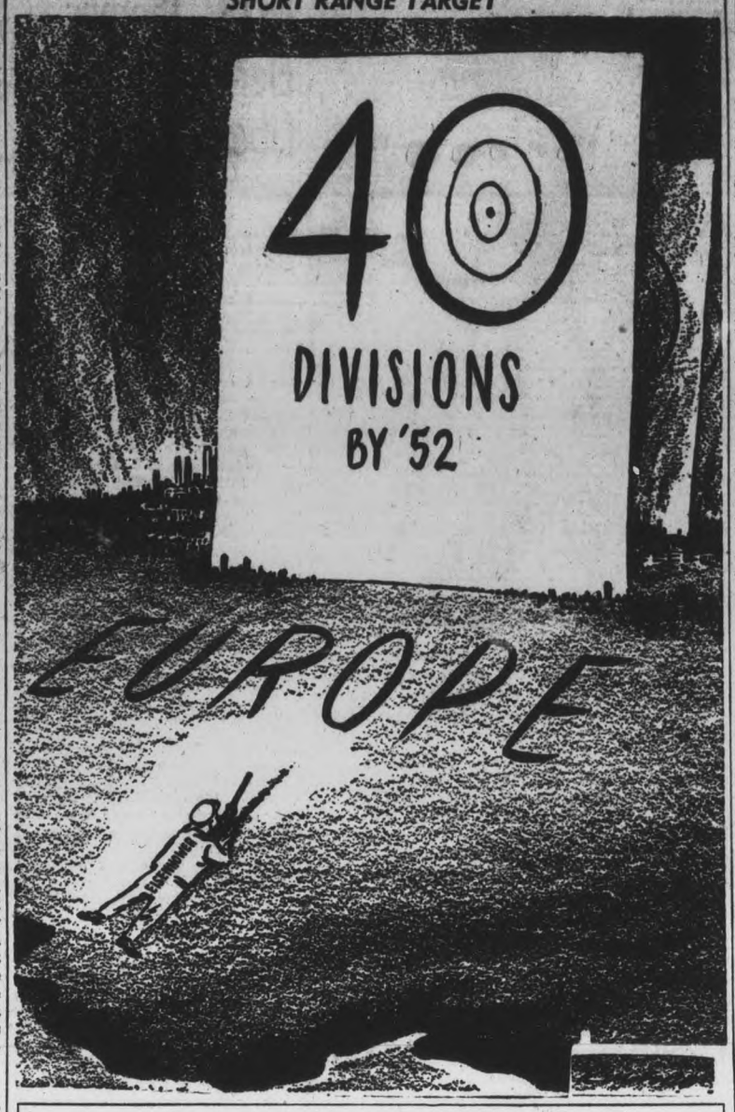
✧ ✧ ✧

INDEED, Paris first appears in history as the site of a battle in 52 AD between the Romans and rebel Gauls under Cumulogenus. In those days it was called Lutetia, although the tribes which inhabited the area were called Parisii by the Romans. It was not until the fourth century that the name Paris became current for the town. Lutetia began as a small fortified village of fishermen and traders on a series of small islands in the river Seine. Its centre was what later became known as the Ile de la Cite on which now stands the Cathedral of Notre Dame, the building of which was completed in 1360 after a hundred and fifty years of uninterrupted work.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS island was for centuries the heart of Paris. From it the city spread out on to each bank of the river. The Romans built mostly on the south or left bank, but each bank "left" and "right" gradually took on certain characteristics which are still to a certain extent preserved today. The right bank was the centre of commerce and industry and there you will find today the stock exchange, the banks and business firms, the craftsmen and artisans, the great fashion houses, big stores and wealthy middle class residential districts. The left bank was the home of learning, religion, leisure and intellectual society. There still today is the University which since the twelfth century has been one of the world's great centres of scholarship, the Academy and other learned institutes, the districts frequented by students, writers and artists, the magnificent mansions of the Faubourg Saint Germain, once the centre of the fashionable world, and now mostly housing government ministries or embassies.

✧ ✧ ✧



MUCH of the charm of Paris lies in this variety of functions, this blend of business and pleasure, art and industry. Its great diversity which nevertheless forms a harmonious unity, a unique urban personality, is a reflection of the simultaneous diversity and unity of France as a whole. It is often said that knowing Paris does not mean knowing France. That is, of course, true. Yet Paris represents more of France than perhaps any other capital city does of its own country.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT is a city of the elite, a magnet for all that is most ardent, ambitious, original and enterprising in the youth of France. And there perhaps is the secret reason why in spite of two thousand years of history behind it, the heart of Paris, perpetually refreshed, still beats with the pulse of youth.

CONTROL PRICES, NOT WAGES

Sir: Your leading editorial of January 24th discusses the matter of controls. This is a matter in which the membership of our own organization, The Canadian Congress of Labour, and the other large central organizations of Canada is vitally concerned, and in which we find ourselves at issue with some of the statements made in your editorial.

In the opening paragraph of the editorial you refer to an address made by Mr. Charles E. Wilson as Defence Mobilization Director for the United States. You quote Mr. Wilson as saying, with regard to inflationary trends, "there is only one answer—controls." And at another point you refer to Mr. Wilson's declaration that "we must proceed with courage, speed and forthrightness."

Later you turn to the Canadian situation and draw three rather dogmatic conclusions —that "wage controls must come with price controls"; that "Canada is not involved in economic and military turmoils to the same extent as the U.S.A."; and that controls worked "fairly well" during World War II but Canada is not now at war, although we are in a stage of "tension and drain on resources which may continue for twenty-five years or fifty."

The first conclusion is one on which the Canadian labour movement of more than one million members in the Canadian Congress of Labour, The Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labour, and the Dominion Legislative Committee of the Railway Transportation Brotherhoods disagrees completely.

This is a jingle which has been repeated from one end of the country to another and we are convinced it is not based on facts. Admittedly, if there were run-away rates they could have serious economic repercussions. But certainly that is not the case in Canada today. Wage rates are already controlled by the necessity every worker faces to argue for, negotiate, conciliate, and even arbitrate wage increases. They do not come easily.

As to your other conclusions, it is, of course, true that Canada has not yet mobilized either its military or its industrial strength to the same extent as the United States. This should not, however, lead to any inference that we have not the same responsibilities with regard to the grim struggle which faces the democratic world.

Your own admission that this struggle may last twenty-five or fifty years is surely an argument for us to move, as Mr. Wilson suggests, "with courage, speed and forthrightness" in order that we may do our full part. In so girding ourselves surely we should not hesitate to make an all-out effort. The control of inflationary trends is basic to such an effort and price controls are essential to controlling inflation.

You question whether Canadians want to live under controls for a generation or two. Unfortunately, it now seems very clear that we are going to have to face many conditions some of us do not like for many years to come. As Canadians surely we are big enough to face these conditions and accept measures which are essential if the already increasing burden is to be shared equally by all citizens.

JACK WILLIAMS.
The Canadian Congress of Labour,
Ottawa.

A TENANT'S VIEWS ON RENT CONTROL

Sir: I see by the Toronto papers, the property owners are asking the Provincial Government to give them three months to come to an agreement with their tenants before taking over rent control. They advance the argument they have to have more rent in order to make repairs.

It would be of interest to hear from their tenants how much repairing has been done with the present high rents they have been receiving, and I do not see them doing any if rents go up again, as any landlord I have had any thing to do with will do nothing as long as he can rent the property. Many of these landlords could not wait for the controls to be taken off. In many cases they have already been saying what they were going to do as soon as the controls were off. I myself have had my rent raised three times in two years, amounting to 100 per cent. with the consent of the Rental Board.

Mr. Jameson Bone suggests they set up a fair rental board in each municipality. I can tell you how that works; at least under the present Federal law. About every six months you get a letter from the Board, saying your landlord has applied for the right to raise your rent, and it gives you 30 days to accept or get out. Then Mr. Abbott gets sorry for them and gives them 18 per cent raise on top of that. As tenants we are not organized as the property owners are, so cannot do a thing.

Just get a postcard and let your member, the Hon. Harold R. Scott know how we feel about freezing rents at their present levels and do this right away.

A great number of emigrants are coming to Ontario this year. Have you any idea what you will be paying in rent a year from now without controls?

Thanking you for your space.

OBSERVER.

THE IMPERTINENCE OF KURT MEYER

Sir: May I through the medium of your paper say how shocked I was to read of an appeal from kurt meyer (I only use capital letters for gentlemen). Such a thought must send chills into the hearts of all whose boys never came back. Imagine this fiend asking for pity because of his wife and five children. "God pity them with such a father". Did he show any to our boys? To think just now when we are on the verge of another war there is talk of turning this beast loose to go back to his wholesale murder business. On Sunday, January 28, Albert Huise, a Provincial Command officer of the Canadian Legion spoke in the Legion Hall on a preparedness program and mentioned how strong the Legion was. If this is so let them get together and kill this appeal; remember "in unity there is strength". Prove it now Legion men, or turn meyer loose to these mothers whose boys did not return.

Thanking you for the privilege of being able to express our thoughts in your paper.

Sincerely,
"A MOTHER".

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no god formed, neither shall there be after me. (Isa. 43: 10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many,) but to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him. (I Cor. 8: 5, 6.)

But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither thave entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searheth all things, yea, the deep things of God....

Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God. Which things also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth, comparing spiritual things with spiritual.

But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. (I Cor. 2: 9, 10, 12-14.)

✧ ✧ ✧

But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory even as by the Spirit of the Lord. (II Cor. 3: 18.)

Christian Names

(Windsor Star)

Time doesn't bring much change in the names of people. Over in England there is a chap who reads The Times of London avidly, especially the advertisements with which its front page is covered. He makes careful note of the Christian names given to children whose births are announced there.

He finds the same old favourites still or near the top. John leads for the boys, almost doubling the figure for David, second in line. Others in the top ten, in order, are Richard, Michael, Peter, Charles, James, Anthony, Christopher and Andrew. He notes, however, that Anthony and Andrew have replaced William and Robert in the select group. And Nicholas, in the past four years, has been trying to edge its way into it.

For girls, Ann (or Anne) leads, followed by Mary, Elizabeth, Jane, Margaret, Susan, Caroline, Sarah, Jennifer and Frances.

Most of these names are quite common to Canada also. In fact, most of them, in varying forms according to languages, are to be found in other European countries, or other countries peopled by European stock. When it comes to naming children, few parents show much originality.

MUCH STRONGER

Recently a fine old gentleman was celebrating his one hundredth birthday with a company of friends, all of whom, save one, were endeavouring to cheer him on for another century.

But this lone dissenter would have no part in such foolishness.

"Jake," said he to the jolly old century plant, "I don't suppose you'll live to be another hundred?"

"Dunno, Horace," replied the life of the party, extending his glass for another shot of hard cider. "I feel a dang sight stronger starting my second than I did the first."

Expect Largest Sugar Crop In History

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

The world is expected to produce 35,386,000 tons of refined sugar in the crop year 1950-51.

This, if realized, will be the largest production in history and compares with 32,055,000 tons in 1949-50 and an average for the five-year pre-war period of 29,-137,000 tons.

The figures are given by Sugar Facts, published by Canada and Dominion Sugar Co., Ltd., Chatham, which quotes the New York brokerage firm of Lamborn and Co., Inc.

The brokerage firm cautions that despite large world output, "no one can tell how sugar from various production areas will be distributed." This would depend on availability of dollars and monetary or bartering relations between countries, as well as the international situation.

Not Guilty

British government circles plead "not guilty" to a charge of circulating an order which has been hailed as the ultimate in government double-talk.

The denial comes from "This Is Britain," a monthly news letter issued by the United Kingdom information office in Ottawa.

According to stories appearing in North American papers an order was issued reading as follows:

"In the nuts (unground) (other than groundnuts) order, the expression 'nuts' shall have reference to such nuts, other than groundnuts, as would, but for this amending order, not qualify as nuts (unground) (other than groundnuts) by reason of their being nuts (unground)."

Says the news letter:

"Britain's Ministry of Food have since been bombarded by telephone and letter for the name of the statutory letter in which the sentence appears. Their legal department has made extensive enquiries. The result . . . No such sentence ever appeared in any statutory order ever made.

"The ministry have an uneasy feeling that when all the genuine statutory orders have been long forgotten, this one that was never made will still be remembered."

Threat To TTC

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP) — Strictest interpretation of contract terms on the part of 4,500 employees of the Toronto Transportation Commission will begin next Monday if interim wage demands of the Street Railway Employees' Union are not met, it was learned Monday. "Letter-perfect" interpretation of its terms may be a threat to TTC and Gray Coach Line service, since many employees normally work overtime or are required to man rush-hour routes.

Bunks Prove Success

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 6 (CP)—The Canadian Navy destroyer Sioux, first Commonwealth ship to have bunks for all ranks and a cafeteria style of messing, has proved herself a "magnificent success" as an experimental vessel, Cmdr. Paul Taylor, her captain, described his destroyer when she returned to her Esquimalt, B.C. base Sunday.

Oppose Suggestion

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—The Toronto Board of Trade—representing 6,000 business men—announced Monday it has sent letters to Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Frost of Ontario opposing suggestions that provinces be allowed to levy an indirect sales tax of three per cent. The board said any such amendment of the British North America Act would be inflationary and discriminatory.

To Decide Seaway

TORONTO, Feb. 6 — (CP).—Robert H. Saunders, Ontario Hydro chairman, said Monday the fate of the St. Lawrence seaway power project will be decided this year. Mr. Saunders, back from conferences with the US defence mobilization chief, Charles E. Wilson, in Washington, said: "It now has the best chance ever of being carried out."

Education Too Costly

OWEN SOUND, Feb. 6 (CP)—Mayor E. C. Sargent of Owen Sound, vice-president of the Ontario Association of Mayors and Reeves, Monday urged the Provincial Government to relieve municipalities of education and social services' costs. Mayor Sargent in a wire to Premier Frost said the "situation is urgent."

Ear Specialist Dies

WINNIPEG, Feb. 6 (CP)—Dr. Arnot G. V. Lieshman, 73, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist and former professor of otolaryngology at the University of Manitoba, died Monday. He was born at South Gore, Ont., and came to Manitoba in 1900.

Emigrants May Travel On Big U.S. Liner

LONDON, Feb. 6—(Reuters).—Emigrants to Canada under Canada's government-assisted passage-loan scheme may travel from Britain in the 29,629-ton Washington, world's largest one-class liner.

Owned by the United States Lines, the Washington is to call at Halifax. She will make her first trip under the scheme Feb. 23.

Another is scheduled for March. A spokesman for the line said Monday night that further calls at Halifax were under consideration to assist to the maximum the Canadian Government's scheme.

"It all depends, of course, on the reaction to the offer," he added.

Prefers Warsaw

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP). — An American-born professor of English has resigned her job at New York University to join the faculty of the University of Warsaw in Communist-ruled Poland. NYU said Monday it has received a letter from Dr. Margaret Schlauch, 52, now on leave in Stockholm, Sweden, giving notice of her plans. Dr. Schlauch was on the faculty since 1924.

Close Work In China

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, Feb. 6 —(AP). — The United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund disclosed Monday that it is closing up its work in Communist China. Maurice Pate, executive director, said the mission is being closed "temporarily," on grounds of economy. Mission offices in Nanking and Peiping are suspended and the staff of three is being brought out, the report says.

Wheat Exports Down

WINNIPEG, Feb. 6— (CP). — Canadian wheat exports in December totalled 10,200,000 bushels, the Board of Grain Commissioners reported Monday. This is a drop of 7,600,000 bushels from November and of 400,000 bushels from December, 1949. During the last 10 years December exports averaged 12,400,000 bushels.

Introduce To Raise Compensation

TORONTO, Feb. 6 — (CP).—A Bill to increase payments under the Workmen's Compensation Act was introduced in the Ontario Leigslature Monday by Labor Minister Daley and given first reading.

The Bill would reduce the waiting period for benefits from seven to five days and increase from $3,000 to $4,000 the maximum annual wage on which compensation can be paid. If passed, these changes would go into effect next January 1.

Some of the recommendations in the Royal Commission report on compensation by Mr. Justice W. D. Roach were included in the amendments proposed by Mr. Daley.

The liability of an employer under the Workmen's Compensation Act would also be increased by the Bill—from 75 to 100 per cent. At present, an employer who is individually liable can apply to have his liability commuted for an amount equal to 75 per cent of the periodical payments.

Boost Burial Payments

Burial expenses of workmen killed in accidents would be boosted from $125 to $200 and no maximum would be set on payment for transportation of the victim's body for burial. The lump sum paid to the widow would be increased from $100 to $200.

A second Government Bill introduced by Forests Minister Scott was given first reading. It would increase the maximum annual charge for fire protection from $10 to $15 for tenants or owners of railway lands. This brings it into line with fire protection charges for Crown timber lands.

C. H. Millard (CCF-York West) proposed a Bill to provide that any municipality not having a local option by-law in force would have to vote before establishment of a liquor, beer or wine store, provided no such store is now established.

MOVES IN COMFORT—Five-year-old Garry Banbury has a smile for the photographer as he is bundled up for the trip to the new Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. Nearly 200 children were moved from the old hospital to complete the transfer of patients.

European Unity Essential-Senate

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP).—Government and opposition leaders warned in the Senate Monday night that the fate of the free world depends on the success in uniting Europe where Communism's challenge must eventually be met.

Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, said during the throne-speech debate that the fate of freedom depends largely on the leadership of the countries of the Atlantic Pact and whether or not they can successfully unite and stay united.

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, said the struggle with Communism would be "fought out in Europe with guns, money and men to save the free world from slavery as it is practiced in Russia at present."

In the supreme test Canada must "stand four-square with the people of the United States" as she did in the U.S. resolution branding Red China an aggressor in Korea. Canada must assure the American people that come what may, she will stand with them to the end.

While Canadians could acknowledge United States "mistakes and shortcomings, we must never forget that fundamentally she believes in freedom and the supreme importance of the individual and we as Canadians have exactly the same belief."

Sask. Legislature Opposes High Prices

By The Canadian Press

High prices, costs of education and a procedural matter provided the main fodder for debate Monday in the legislatures of three provinces.

The three — Saskatchewan, Manitoba an Ontario—were the only ones sitting. Quebec's House, the only other one of the 10 in session, resumes today.

In Regina, the throne-speech debate opened with a plea by Peter A. Howe (CCF, Kelvington) for reimposition of price controls and a rollback of present prices.

Directing his suggestion at the federal government, Mr. Howe said high prices are hitting persons with fixed incomes while big business is receiving benefits in the form of high profits.

He particularly called for action to stop the downward trend of farm prices while the cost of living rises.

"If we exploit those who work the land, that exploitation must be passed on to the land," he said.

Higher Grants

In Winnipeg, Premier D. L. Campbell announced that the Manitoba government will pay $400,000 more in annual grants toward the cost of elementary education.

However, Errick Willis, Progressive Conservative and official opposition leader, said the extra grant still does not "satisfy the needs of education."

Mr. Willis moved a vote of non-confidence in the government—a motion which if upheld would mean defeat of the government—contending it had "failed to make adequate provision for the needs of education." Debate was adjourned before a vote was taken.

Learn Married People Have Fewer Headaches

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP) — Married people have fewer headaches—the literal kind—than the single ones.

This is one finding in a survey of who gets headaches and why.

Educated people get more headaches than the less-educated, it shows. Women have more headaches than men. Young people get them oftener than older persons. Housewives suffer more than salesmen. Farmers get the fewest. Medical students are about the worst off, and lawyers rate high, too.

The headache survey, one of the first thorough studies of its kind, was made by Dr. Henry D. Ogden, clinical assistant professor of medicine at Louisiana State University School of Medicine.

His survey covered 6,000 persons, by questionnaires and interviews. They included hospital employees, salesmen, manual laborers, housewives, executives, physicians and other professional workers, medical students, Roman Catholic priests and sisters.

64% Have Headaches

Dr. Ogden said 64.8 per cent said they suffered from headaches, from severe to minor ones. The pain occurred most often (72.6 per cent of the time) in the forehead. Few had headaches more than once a week. But one per cent had them every day. The migraine type, perhaps the severest kind of headache, was not common (13.2 per cent).

One significant thing was that people with headaches had more respiratory troubles, including colds and sore throats and allergies such as hay fever and asthma, than people free of headaches.

Dr. Ogden suspects that many cases of forehead pain aches are due to swelling of blood vessels. This pain is often relieved by drugs that constrict the blood vessels.

Most people use aspirin and other simple drugs to relieve their headaches. A sizeable number get relief from antihistamines and nose drops. Mental strain as well as colds and allergic troubles apparently play a part in bringing on headaches in some people.

Those surprising Port Hope Panthers are hotter'n the Las Vegas area lately. Knocked off the Oshawa Bees twice in a row within a week to seriously crimp the Bees' chances in the playoff setup of this OHA junior "B" group race. If the Panthers maintain this pace, they might upset the local Oddfellows when these teams clash at 8.30 tomorrow in Civic Arena. It's been a surprising and tight scramble right through the schedule, and the end is near. Shortly, they'll be mixing it in playoffs with elimination the lot of the losers. Tomorrow's tilt might be a right good one.

More and more you hear the expression "scored on a screened shot." That's not just an easy explanation for the reporter — it's too often a fact. Hockey today is very fast and rather scrambly with forward passes all over the place. Any goalie will tell you that he frequently doesn't see the puck leave an attacker's stick; he hears a roar and fishes the disc out from behind him. Some forwards use this deliberately, manoeuvring the puck until one or two opponents or his teammates are between him and the goal and then firing a fast, low shot toward a corner, hoping the goalie won't see it in time. Defencemen who back in too close to the net frequently hamper the poor goalie, too.

Do You Hop Barrels?

Some of the oddest mail comes to a sports desk. Belated accounts of games, squawks, plugs for this and that, questions, advertising, bills, etc. Today we get a letter from New York plugging the "world barrel jump" — of all things! This so-called championship event is Feb. 17 with entries closing Feb. 15. Barrel jumpers wishing to compete should contact Irving Jaffee, National Winter Sports Association, 221 West 57th St., New York 19, N.Y. Now, we've never jumped a barrel either while running (the writer, not the barrel) or skating, but there 'tis if any readers are interested.

Petes rode rough-shod over Queen's here last e'en in their senior "B" puck joust, taking the fat side of an 18-3 count. The boys built up their batting averages nicely, especially that first line of Curly Mason, Jake Wade and Arn Dugan. In on nine points was Mason, with Jake and Arn in on eight each, and even Honey Tompkins on defence picked up five points. It's either a feast or a famine, and this time 'twas definitely no famine—except for Queen's and at the box office. A slim crowd took in the clean but one-sided affair with the Jopling gents always in command, and Queen's trying hard but out-classed all the way. An eahy game for the referee and linesman.

Bees Sting IOOF-ers

Things weren't just as bright from a Peterborough viewpoint in Oshawa last gloaming as the IOOF-ers dropped a 6-3 verdict. The Bees buzzed with Oddfellows in the cooler, scoring four when the Kingdon crew were shorthanded. But that's part of the game. Etcher was top man in this junior "B" struggle with two goals and four assists. Dean West led the losers with a pair of markers and Ray Douglas got the other one. The standing now has Lindsay alone in first place with 27 points, Oddfellows next with 25, then Belleville with 24, Oshawa still being in the hunt with 20, and Port Hope trailing the pack with just eight points.

* * * * * *

The senior "B" standing, in elsewhere, shows the Petes with a commanding lead. Eagles are next by a fairish margin over Nylons, but the big Kingstonites bettered their position somewhat last eve at home by clipping the Magee men 7-3 before some 1200 fans. Injuries certainly have hurt the Eagles lately and they only iced a dozen players in this game. Nylons have eight games yet while the Eagles have but five. Extra man-power made it all in favor of the hungry Nylons, and Ross Nicholls had to be good to keep down the count. Eagles are after a replacement for Bob Parnall, injured in an RCAF crash some time ago. Arguments keep creeping up as to whether Gans' games count or not in this grouping and, with Nylons threatening to overhall the Eagles, a definite ruling should be obtained on that from Convener Lorne Cook.

Oshawa Bees Gain Win Against IOOF

Oshawa Bees snapped out of a recent losing streak to defeat Oddfellows 6-3 last night at the Motor City in a fairly fast though spotty junior "B" hockey fixture.

Bees took the lead midway in the first on a nice effort by Hillman with De Gray and Marshall but Links staged a fine rally in the second frame to tie the score only to see Oshawa come back strongly in the final with four goals to one to take away a well-earned triumph. Penalties aided Bees too, for though evenly divided, no less than four markers were registered with the Kingdon squad short-handed. It was Bees' 10th win against 11 defeats.

Fred Eetcher, leading point-getter of the league, led his mates last night with two goals and a pair of assists in a fine display to take individual honors as the game's top star. His record is now 16 goals and 21 assists. Dean West led Oddfellows with a pair of markers to give him 18 for the season and 31 points while Ray Douglas tallied once and Doris, Morrow, Shearer and Wyatt each drew an assist.

Fairly Even

Play was fairly even on the whole until the final chapter with Bees having a slight edge in the first, a comparatively slow session, and Oddfellows holding a definite edge in a much faster second.

Oshawa took advantage of the breaks as they came their way in the third, however, and after Etcher combined with Chircoski for the tie-breaker in the early seconds, stealing the puck at centre. The Mills' crew played aggressive hockey to gain the nod on the play for that chapter. Etcher scored on an individual rush midway in the frame while Ted De Gray who also starred, clicked two minutes later on a good rush with Brabin.

Two minutes later, Chircoski tallied with Etcher and Lawrence helping while Stewart warmed the coop. Dean West wound up the scoring on a fine close in thrust past Pallister late in the frame as Shearer relayed Wyatt's pass from the left corner.

Oddfellows are in second place one point ahead of Belleville and one game back of Kinsmen as the hot race continues down the stretch.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 6 — (ENS). — A small crowd in the Arena here saw Campbellford turn aside St. Peter's puckists in a TVL tussle, by a 9-2 score.

Australia Set For Another Win

ADELAIDE, Australia, Feb. 6 (Reuters)—Australia, with three test victories to her credit, appeared set for another win when play ended today on the fourth day of the fourth cricket test with England.

Australia batted all day to make their 2nd-innings score 285 runs for five wickets, giving them an over-all lead of 384 runs — and with five- second innings wickets yet to fall.

Only two days are left in the match and England, who will have to bat last, will probably have a hard-enough task to force a draw, let alone win.

Today's play was dominated by two Australian partnerships which put on 99 and 87 runs respectively.

Mighty-hitting Keith Miller, who was concerned in both stands, had the bad luck to hit his own wicket when only one run short of what would have been his second hundred of the series.

With young Neil Harvey, who scored 68, Miller helped to add 99 for the fourth wicket and then put on 87 for the fifth wicket with Jim Burke, who at the close had made 37 not out.

Fires Three Goals In Hundred Seconds

LINDSAY, Feb. 6.—Outclassing Port Hope Barons in every department, Lindsay Hawks skated to a 17-0 win in the opening game of the first round, home-and-home, OMHA Bantam "B" playdowns here Monday night.

Ted Campbell, who turned the hat-trick in 100 seconds, paced the winners with five markers, while Bob Growden fired four. Dean Dawson and Austin Lucas with two apiece, and Lawson Mitchell, Garth Lee, Joe Mills and Tony Lamantia were the other Lindsay marksmen. The return game is in Port Hope Thursday night.

Leafs Likely Charter Planes For U.S. Tilts

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP). — Toronto Maple Leafs will probably charter aircraft to travel between National Hockey League cities if the strike in the United States rules out railway transportation, general manager Conn Smythe has indicated.

Before leaving Florida, where he was on vacation last week, Smythe said the team would fly from its weekend Boston engagement if necessary. Presumably this would apply to other points on the NHL circuit.

As it turned out, however, Leafs were able to get out of Boston by train.

Queen Mary Wins

Queen Mary seniors of the School Hockey League edged out a 2-1 victory over King Edward yesterday at the arena. It was a fine fray with both goalies, Curtis and Deck, outstanding. Don Sutherland went well on defence. Deal and Brady scored for Queen Mary, with Brown having one assist. Hobart counted from J. Sutherland for the losers. Teams:

King Edward: Hobart, Chalmers, Curtis, Orr, Robbins, J. Sutherland, J. Phillips, D. Sutherland, Rusaw, Tarkington, McArthur, A. Phillips, Mills, McIntosh, Hill.

Queen Mary: Deck, Brady, Brown, Deal, Dafoe, Morgan, Horton, Boyce, Friar, Putnam, Reynolds, Dubay, Schweier.

Referee—E. Druery.

Short-Handed Eagles Lose To Kingston Nylons, 7 To 3

KINGSTON, Feb. 6.—Nylons, moving up rapidly in the stretch drive, cut Peterborough Eagles' second-place margin as they outscored the wavering Liftlock City team by 7 to 3 last night in Harty Arena. Almost 1,200 fans saw the locals prevail in every period. The while they held a more decisive edge in superiority than the final score indicates. Brilliant goalkeeping by Nicholls prevented a route. The visitors who used only 12 players against Nylons' 14, and only two complete forward lines against three, furnished evidence that they are reeling in the torrid grind and will have their trouble while attempting to retain their clutch on the runner-up berth.

Only 10 penalties were handed out by referee Bill Holway of Belleville who was in a lenient mood except on occasions when severity was mandatory. Sentences inflicted on the Eagles called for misconduct penalties to Rochetta and Doug Mortimer; a major to Lalonde and a minor to D. Mortimer. Bob Londry topped Nylons' offenders serving a minor and a major while Eddie Plumb and Joe Watts each collected two minors.

Fist Fight

The major penalties to Lalonde and Londry were awarded following a fistic battle waged by the pair in the second period. In the opening session Rochetta, who allegedly made some caustic remark to Holway while the former was taking a respite on the bench, was given a misconduct penalty.

Petes Smear Queen's, 18-3 In Senior "B" Puck Contest

The top-platce Petes fattened their batting averages at the expense of the last-place Queen's Combines here last night as they pounded out an 18-3 OHA Senior B victory before a few hundred fans. The Petes were hitting for the fences as they took a 3-1 lead in the first frame and rapped home nine without a return in the middle chukker, having a 6-2 margin in the third period of a fairly fast and quite clean but uninteresting tussle.

The winners had much too much as well as too many for the gallant but ineffectual Combines. The Petes played good hockey, but not a brilliant brand, as they were never extended. Queen's fought back and at times Goalie Ray Harding had to be good to kick some out, but it was a foregone conclusion early in the affair. Later, the home puckists worked fairly hard to build up their scoring averages.

Curly Shone

Curly Mason paced the attack for the Jopling squad with nine scoring points, with Jake Wade and Arn Dugan right behind with eight each. This line was the big factor, though the others turned in a good show, too. Honey Tompkins on defence was good for five points and Junior West was in on four. Jack Mortimer, Fred Garvey with three each, and Don Floyd with two were others who helped build up the lop-sided count. Chum Fryia and Ted Collins had an assist each. Don Murray, Ron Murray and Bender got the Queen's goals, the latter along with Ohlke and Klym having an assist apiece.

There was little to be said for the game, except that it was pretty fast and that they played it in clean fashion. The Petes dominated throughout, despite the odd ganging-up pressure put on by Queen's, with the homesters threatening then on breakaways. Though it was a "Fathers and Sons Night", with children in free, the crowd was quite small, and there was little enthusiasm most of the way in the one-sided tilt.

Queen's: Goal, Boivin; defence, Latimer and Graves; centre, D. Murray; wings, Reid and Wilde; alternates, Ohlke, Bender, Wagar, Klym, R. Murray, Hay and Battochio.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Tompkins and Horton; centre, Wade; wings, Mason and Dugan; alternates, Fryia, Mortimer, Collins, Garvey, West, Floyd, Davison and E. Leonard.

Referee: W. Shannon; linesman, H. Payne.

Bob McFarlane Awarded Marsh Memorial Trophy

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP). — Robert M. (Bob) McFarlane, University of Western Ontario's great football and track star, today was named winner of the Lou E. Marsh Memorial Trophy for 1950.

The 22-year-old native of London, Ont., was the unanimous choice of four judges as Canada's outstanding athlete in 1950 and the winner of the trophy awarded in memory of The Toronto Daily Star's sports editor who died in March, 1936.

It is the third honor bestowed on the brilliant medical student and athlete for his achievements last year. He was recently awarded the Norton Crowe Memorial medal as Canada's outstanding amateur athlete and the J. W. Davies trophy as the Dominion's leading track and field athlete.

The Marsh trophy is open to both amateur and professional athletes. Last year's winner was marathon swimmer Cliff Lumsden of Toronto. Barbara Ann Scott, former world's figure skating champion who won the trophy in 1945-47-48, is the only person to be awarded it more than once.

BOB McFARLANE, 23-year-old medical student at the University of Western Ontario, already boasts a flock of Canadian track records and a roomful of cups and trophies and today he added the Lou Marsh Memorial Trophy as the outstanding Canadian athlete of 1950. McFarlane also played football for Western Mustangs, Intercollegiate champions.

Outstanding Work

McFarlane, a member of Canada's 1948 Olympic team, ran with outstanding success in 1950 to establish consideration for the trophy. He set five Canadian track records and defeated Olympic champions Mal Whitfield of the United States and Arthur Wint of Jamaica. He was a member of three winning relay teams in top-flight meets and competed with distinction in the U.S., Britain, Ireland and Holland.

He played a leading role in helping Western retain its Interlegiate football championship and was an easy winner of the league's individual scoring championship. He was named to The Canadian Press All-Star Intercollegiate team and to the second squad of its Eastern Canadian All-Stars.

The bushy-browed, six-foot-two McFarlane hasn't let sport interfere with his studies. He has led his medical class every year and will be graduated as a doctor in June.

He isn't sure yet whether he'll be able to continue with his running once he graduates. He expects to be busy interning for a career in surgery and plans to marry Pat Henderson, dietitian at a Kitchener hospital, in June.

"Football is definitely out," says Bob. "I don't know about track."

Toronto Looms NHL Threat To Red Wings

MONTREAL, Feb. 6 (CP). — In two jumps, Toronto Maple Leafs have reached a point in the National Hockey League where they are a serious danger to Detroit Red Wings.

Three weeks ago the Leafs were well behind the pace-setting Wings. Two weeks ago they drew to within five points and now they are just three points down.

Leafs combined two wins and a tie last week to bring them up to 65 points. Over the season they have won 27, lost 11 and tied 11 while Wings have won 29, lost 11 and tied 10.

Closing In

Detroit's Gordie Howe, Toronto's Max Bentley and Montreal's Maurice Richard are one, two, three in the scoring race again. Howe has 58 points made up of 25 goals and 33 assists and Bentley 47 points from 16 goals and 31 assists.

Richard also remains top goal-getter with 31, having moved to within one point of Bentley after getting back into action.

The netminders registered no shutouts last week. Detroit's Terry Sawchuk and Gerry McNeil of Montreal remain the best in that department with seven and six respectively.

Toronto took over New York's spot as the most penalized club with 609 minutes but Boston's Bill Ezinicki still is the league's bad-man with 111 minutes in the cooler.

Campbellford Man Leads Scoring Race

TRENTON, Feb. 6.—After five weeks of play in the Trent Valley Hockey League there is a change in the Northern division's top scorer. Benny Mason of Campbellford has replaced linemate, Wib Robinson, as leader.

Mason, who leads the goal scorers with 23, has five assists to give him a point total of 28. This is one more than Robinson, who possesses nine goals and 18 assists. Robinson is well ahead in the assists department. Ken Lawson of Peterborough Brintons is third with 17 goals and eight assists for 25 points.

In the Southern division Bud Courtney still continued to pace the field with 11 goals and 14 assists for a 25-point total. There is a three-way deadlock for second place with Joe Zelaski and Moe Gobeil of the RCAF Flyers and Moe Jones of Trenton all possessing 21 points. Courtney's 14 assists give him a tie with Nickey Sargent of the RCAF Flyers for the leading playmaker while Gobeil is high goal scorer with 14 to his credit.

GOES TO COAST LEAGUE

Defenceman Tommy Manasterski of the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League has been loaned to the Vancouver Canucks of the Pacific Coast League.

Canuck owner Coley Hall said Monday Manasterski will join the team Wednesday. Hall will have him for the remainder of the season and must pay out his $7,000 salary.

Demarco Holds 12-Point Lead

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (CP).—Ab Demarco, veteran centre of Buffalo Bisons, continues to pace the American Hockey League scoring race.

Although he missed three games because of injuries, Demarco holds a commanding lead of 12 points with a total of 80 points on 30 goals and 50 assists.

Demarco's team-mate, Grant (Knobby) Warwick, is second with 68 points on 19 goals and 49 assists, followed by Fred Thurier of Cleveland with 67.

Wally Hergesheimer, Cleveland rookie, maintains his goal lead with 33, although he missed scoring last week. Jack McGill of Providence is tied with Demarco for the lead in assists, each with 50.

Harry Dick, rugged Buffalo defenceman, last week added four minor penalties to his total to increase his total time spent in the penalty box to 146 minutes.

Bodnar Scores Goal But Can't Remember

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—Gus Bodnar of Chicago Black Hawks shot the puck past Toronto Maple Leafs' goalie Al Rollins Saturday night before 13,000 fans, but he doesn't remember doing it, a doctor said Monday.

The 27-year-old Fort William forward suffered a severe concussion when Leafs' Tod Sloan checked him into the boards, Dr. Murray said.

The impact resulted in a temporary blackout which wiped the third period and the goal from Bodnar's memory. He is reported to be in "satisfactory" condition, but may be sidelined for an indefinite period.

Toronto won Saturday's game 6-3.

Congressman Denounces Seaway Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP).—Rep. Daniel Flood (Dem., Pa.) Monday denounced the proposed St. Lawrence seaway as a project that cannot be justified on a national defence or any other basis.

Flood, who represents an important hard-coal section of northeastern Pennsylvania, told the House of Representatives in a speech:

"I had thought it was axiomatic that we cannot have our butter and gune too. Yet that is exactly what is proposed in the president's recommendation for the St. Lawrence waterway-hydro-electric project.

"At a time when we are faced with perhaps the greatest crisis ever to confront this country . . . we are asked to embark upon this fantastic undertaking. . ."

Very Costly

The cost of the project, said Flood, would total more than $1,000,000,000, would cause a diversion of materials and labor needed for other defence purposes and "would bring about an economic dislocation to a great part of our country."

President Truman has urged construction of the waterway. Bills to authorize it have been introduced in the House and Senate and Feb. 14 has been set as date for a hearing by the House public works committee.

Proponents believe that because of the defence emergency political chances for the joint-Canadian-American project are better than at any time since it first came up in Congress 10 years ago. Since then Congress has balked at ratifying the project which Canada favors.

UK Car Exports Up

LONDON, Feb. 6 — (CP) — Britain exported 55 per cent more cars last year than in 1949, and Australia and Canada, were the top export buyers, it was announced Monday. British car makers built 522,515 cars and 262,702 commercial vehicles during the year—a 25-per-cent increase over 1950.

LEAVE IT TO TEXAS — The Texas Rangers, long fabled as rough riders in fact and fiction, now use the latest forms of transportation and communication in their work. Near Fort Hood, Ranger Clint Peoples hands a rough map of stray herds he spotted from his helicopter to Ranger Truman Stone, on an old-fashioned steed.

Refresher Courses

DURBAN, South Africa—(CP)—African chiefs are to have refresher courses on their jobs as tribal rulers. The courses to be held at Eshowe, Zululand, will be designed to improve the knowledge of chiefs and sub-chiefs in administration, hygiene and agriculture.

Gottwald Suspect?

VIENNA, Austria, Feb. 6 (AP)—A Vienna newspaper said today that Czech President Klement Gottwald is under police supervision. It linked the report with the mysterious disappearance of former Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis from Prague. A dispatch from Beno, Czechoslovakia, to the Neue Wiener Tageszeitung said the police action against Gottwald assertedly had been taken on Russian orders because of the president's friendship with Clementis. (There was no confirmation of the report from Prague.)

Using Reserves Keep Operating

DETROIT, Feb. 6—(AP)—The United States auto industry dipped rapidly into dwindling material reserves Monday to keep production going.

Despite some easing of the railroad situation there still were well over 100,000 workers idle or working short shifts and it was another bad day for output.

But the railroad switchmen's strike wasn't all. Hudson Motor Car Company was forced to send home 15,000 employees shortly after noon because a minor fire cut off the power and a strike making idle 11,000 Kaiser-Frazer employees continued.

The best available estimate placed the total of at least partially-idle auto workers across the United States at 134,800.

General Motors, leading the layoff list, reported it had 54,100 employees completely idle in 12 plants and another 29,500 on less than eight-hour shifts.

Costs Less

VANCOUVER (CP). — The guinea pig now is being used in experiments which may save the lives of valuable beef animals. T. C. Wills, of the Kamloops Federal Experimental Station, said guinea pigs will be used in tests of the purple milk vetch, a plant which has spread over many acres and is poisonous to cattle.

Sweden And Canada Hold Same Ideals Of Democracy, Minister Tells Rotary Club

The belief that the peoples of Canada and Sweden are fundamentally alike and that these two nations have the same outlook on many of the important issues of today was expressed by His Excellency Per Wijkman, Swedish Minister to Canada in an address in Peterborough Monday.

The Swedish Minister spoke to the members of the Rotary Club on the topic, "Sweden and Canada, Democracies of the North" at their weekly luncheon meeting.

"Sweden and Canada have the same ideals of democracy and the same democratic form of government," stated the speaker in supporting this belief. "The rights of free vote, free spech and free press are as jealously guarded in Sweden as they are in Canada. Local self-government is as fimly rooted in Sweden as in the English speaking nations."

Further outlining the bonds that have drawn these two countries together, His Excellency explained in detail the growing trade relations between Canada and Sweden that have existed since pre-war years.

Quotes Trade Figures

"The resources of Sweden and Canada complement each other to a certain extent and I believe that we can confidently look forward to a considerable increase in our trade connections," commented Mr. Wijkman.

Quoting trade figures, the speaker pointed out that between 1945 and 1949, Canada imported from Sweden less than $14,000,000 worth of goods, but in the same period Canadian exports to Sweden reach a record figure of close to $43,500,000. Last year, for the first time, Canadian imports from Sweden exceeded Canadian exports to Sweden.

"Trade is an important link between our countries," commented the speaker, "but behind the trade figures are individuals, individual initiative and perhaps most important, mutual trust."

Turning to foreign relations and present day world conditions, Mr. Wijkman explained that Sweden has given full support to all efforts promoting international solidarity. promoting international solidarity. He also outlined the steps Sweden has taken to strengthen its own national defence.

Keep Away From Alliances

"The fact that Sweden has kept free from political alliances outside of the United Nations does not indicate that we are unaware of present dangers in international affairs," he said. "Freedom from alliance is a traditional part of the foreign policy of Sweden. We feel that we have good reasons for this attitude in our part of Europe and we would like to see the United Nations develop into a strong influence for international understanding."

Further explaining the wish of his country for closer co-operation of European countries, the Swedish Minister said that Sweden joined in the Marshall Plan and in the deliberations of the European Council.

Concluding, he said, "We are convinced that our special position is recognized in the same spirit of goodwill that we have shown in these fields."

The speaker, who has been Swedish Minister to Canada since 1943, was introduced by Gordon Monkman and thanked by F.B. Smitheram.

Gerald Brady, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, asked for the suoport of the Rotary Club in the Junior Chamber's drive during the week, which is being marked as Good Government Week.

Tom Taylor introduced the following guests: His Worship Mayor M. J. Swanston, Gerald Brady, George Sorenson, Edwin Howe, Cleveland, Ohio; W. A. Brown, Perce Windrem, Allan Miller, George Fox, Havelock; Rev. Maxwell Dowell, Cleveland, Ohio.

Milk Price Control Asked

TORONTO, Feb. 6 — (CP) — Provincial legislation to control milk prices for householders as well as farmers was urged Monday night by Ted Isley, CCF Ontario Legislature member for Waterloo South.

"The power to set the price of milk should be restored to the Milk Control Board," Mr. Isley said in a speech prepared for delivery over a CBC Ontario network.

The present system "gives the dairies an absolutely free hand to charge the consumer any price they wish, yet gives the farmer no assurance that he will get a fair share of what the consumer pays."

Dairy herds were being liquidated at "an alarming rate" because of rising farm costs, he said.

Lloyd Fell, CCF member for Toronto Parkdale, said on the same broadcast that the cause of farmers and labor was "the equivalent to minimum wage laws, fair employment practices and union security."

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CII. No. 31 — TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1951 — PRICE FIVE CENTS

Tom Hughes Defies City Council

Refuses To Vacate School Site Until Price Met

Though his "notice to vacate" expired February 1, Tommy Hughes, auto wrecker, refuses to budge from his property on Monaghan Road south until he gets the price he asked.

The property, 19 acres including a house, is being expropriated by the city so the new collegiate can be built there by the Board of Education.

"I'm not moving until I get the price I asked," Mr. Hughes told the Examiner today.

At the moment the difference between the city offer and Mr. Hughes' price is $4,600. Unless settlement is reached in the meantime the arbitration case will go before Judge S. L. Smoke on February 13.

First Ask $52,000

Originally Mr. Hughes asked $52,000 for the house and the 19 acres. Garth Braund, valuator for the city, estimated the property at $21,800—$16,000 for the land and $5,800 for the house.

As a preliminary to arbitration Judge Smoke ordered the city to pay $28,600 into court.

(This amount was not a final judgment but an indication of the city's ability and willingness to pay. It doesn't prevent Mr. Hughes from taking his claim to arbitration and it doesn't limit the amount of the award.)

After this initial step had been taken Mr. Hughes reduced the amount of his claim from $52,000 to $28,600.

The city then made him a "cold cash" offer of $24,000, but he still felt it was $4,600 out of line. The case comes before Judge Smoke a week from today.

Two Other Cases

Two other arbitration cases are also pending. They involve two of the properties expropriated in the block where the new city hall is being built.

One is owned by Barry Seabrook, at 494 George St., just south of the former Imperial Oil service station. The other is owned by Miss Marjorie Best, at 501 Water St., immediately east of the service station.

As security the city has paid into court $15,000 for the Seabrook property; and $10,000 for the Best property. Both sums were paid in before possession could be obtained.

As in the Hughes' case, neither the $15,000 nor $10,000 deposits are final figures. They are the amounts ordered paid into court by Judge Smoke as a preliminary to arbitration.

Originally the two "city hall" arbitration cases were to be heard on February 13, and the Hughes' case was to follow. Because of a heavy schedule Judge Smoke cannot complete both and it was decided to postpone the "city hall' arbitrations to March 27.

Daylight Time Commences In City April 29

Daylight Saving Time begins April 29 and continues to Sept. 30. Several Ontario cities have already adopted approving bylaws to conform with the summer schedules of the railways. A motion Monday night by Aldermen Young and Graham authorized City Solicitor Huycke to prepare the usual bylaw which will advance clocks an hour at 2 a.m. Sunday, April 29.

New Kawartha Films

Instead of patching the two "Call of the Kawarthas" films that have travelled far in Canada and the United States on their mission of publicity of Peterborough and its tourist district, city council decided to order two new films at a cost of $315.23.

"Maybe we could get one film from the two old ones for use in the neighborhood," Ald H. N. Young suggested. That salvage was included in the motion by Aldermen Braund and Graham.

The "Call of the Kawarthas" was the camera work of the late Fred L. Roy. Its color photography retains its original charm of scenery, luring many visitors from the United States and Canada to the Kawartha district.

Bylaw Withdrawn

The $300,000 Civic Hospital bylaw which was defeated by the ratepayers in the municipal polling was formally withdrawn by the council Monday night in a motion by Aldermen Miller and Dewart.

It will be recalled that in the financing of the new Civic Hospital the estimated sum for the sale of the Nicholls Hospital was written at $200,000. Council's first quest of bids was disappointingly less than that amount. To complete the payment of final work at the hospital it was realized that the council would have to seek the money elsewhere. They proposed issue of debentures for a loan of $300,000, gave two readings to the bylaw and then submitted it to the ratepayers.

Their rejecting vote at the December elections was: For: 2,543; against, 3,266.

Sale of the old hospital property to the Pentecostal Assemblies will yield $70,000 to the credit of Civic Hospital funding.

Coincidentally, a bylaw introduced by Ald. Hugh F. Waddell, chairman of the property committee, Monday night, authorized the execution of a deed of conveyance of Nicholls Hospital building and nurses' residence to Rev. J. H. Blair, Toronto, representing the Pentecostal Assemblies.

Nutrition Authority Praises Lean Pork, One Egg, The Cow

Enough of the right foods is the foundation of good health for both adults and children, Dr. E. Chant Robertson, associate physician at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto, and a leading authority on nutrition told a meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Health League of Canada Monday night.

The dinner meeting was the first major event in National Health Week in Peterborough.

Many factors affect the health of people apart from proper food.

A child, said Dr. Robertson, cannot be really healthy unless he gets enough sleep and rest, fresh air and exercise, unless he is reasonably happy with his friends and family and unless he is free from infections such as bad teeth or infected tonsils.

All these factors interact and are important. But certainly proper food is one of the most important.

There were some foods, the doctor said, of which Canadians eat plenty and often too much. Canadian men, women and children usually have plenty of meat, eggs, and sweet foods.

Lean Pork, Daily Egg

Sometimes Canadians spend too much of their food money on meat. Lean pork, said Dr. Robertson, was the best of the meats. It was highest in thiamine.

If people drank plenty of milk they could cut down on the amount of meat they eat.

One egg a day or a minimum of three or four a week are needed for a good diet. Rapidly growing teen-agers, expecting and nursing mothers require one a day and everyone would be better for eating one a day.

Margarine Good

Canadians were seldom without enough fat. In this connection, Dr. Robertson said margarine was as good a food as the best summer butter. She suggested that people could color it and use it instead of butter and have difficulty in distinguishing it from butter.

Usually people get too much sweet foods. They eat cake and cookies, candy pop, sugar, syrups, honey and jam in quantities. Sugar, she pointed out, supplied energy but lacked vitamins, had very little protein, fats and starches. It would be better to get energy plus the other food factors such as people can get in bread. If people cut down on sugar they would also cut surplus weight and tooth decay, she said.

Relatively few people get enough milk, Dr. Robertson said. In a survey conducted 10 years ago in Toronto and Hamilton, one-third of the children drank less than half a pint a day. Two-thirds of prosperous adults drank no milk at all.

Children from two to five years of age needed one pint a day, especially if they were not very hungry. Older children and expectant mothers should drink one and a half pints a day. Nursing mothers and fast growing adolescents needed two pints a day.

Skim Milk Worthy

Skim milk, she said, was equally as good as whole or homogenized milk except that it didn't contain fat and vitamin A. There was plenty of vitamin A in margarine and butter as well as in oranges, green vegetables and fruits.

Milk was vital for growing bones and for maintaining the strength of bones in children and adults. Milk's product, cheese, was also excellent food. One ounce of Canadian cheddar cheese was equal to one glass of milk.

Vitamin D was one of the vital requirements for good health which many people did not acquire enough of. The best source of vitamin D was fish liver oil. Children of all ages and expectant and nursing mothers all needed cod liver oil. It was the only vitamin people needed to buy from the druggist.

Thiamine Deficiency

Vitamin C could be obtained from certain fruits and vegetables.

Few Canadians received enough vitamin C and thiamine for their needs.

Sources of vitamin C were citrus fruits, cabbage type vegetables and fresh tomatoes and potatoes. The potatoes should be cooked with their skins on, she warned.

Canadian fruits were valuable for other reasons, but they were low in vitamin C.

Sources of thiamine were liver, kidneys, hearts, lean pork and whole grain products as well as those containing wheat germ.

The best source of thiamine, said Dr. Robertson, was rolled oats. Whole grain cereals were good but refined cereals had lost most of their thiamine which is found mostly in the husks of grain.

The 1951 paving program proposed to the council Monday night by City Engineer Chalmers was passed on to the board of works as follows:

Lock St., from Lansdowne St. to King George St., with storm drain also on Lock St. within the same limits.

Townsend and Perry Streets, from Park St. to Aylmer St.

These three sections of streets were included in the 1950 program which was not completed by Bennett Paving Co.

Also: Weller St. from Monaghan Road to a point 22 feet west of the westerly limit of Manorhill Ave.

Stewart St., from Perry St. to Park St.

Townsend St., from Aylmer to George St.

Aylmer St., from Townsend St. to the C.P.R.

If that work is carried out this year, Townsend St. will be paved from Rubidge St. to George St., providing a paved surface lateral to George St. to assist in the diversion of industrial traffic in the area adjacent to the C.G.E. Co., on Park St., which is congested in rush hours by other traffic from the south and north.

Rev. Kibblewhite, Rector Of All Saints' Church Dies

The Rev. William E. Kibblewhite, B.A., L.Th., died late Monday afternoon in Civic Hospital after a brief illness. Mr. Kibblewhite underwent an operation last week and on the weekend an emergency operation was performed from which he failed to rally. For the past three years he has been rector of All Saints' Anglican Church, coming here in January 1948.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Kibblewhite of Vancouver, and his widow is the former Geraldine Taylor.

Mr. Kibblewhite came to Peterborough from Collingwood where he had been rector of All Saints' Anglican Church. Before that he had been incumbent at St. Timothy's, Agincourt, and curate at the Church of the Messiah, Toronto. He received his education in Winnipeg and Toronto, graduating from Wycliffe College and University of Toronto.

Mr. Kibblewhite since coming to Peterborough has played a leading part in the life of the city. He was prominent in scouting and in his own right was a King's Scout, the highest rank. Last year he was presented with the long service medal, awarded for his years of leadership in scouting. He served on the executive of the Peterborough Association and took a very keen interest in the scouts and cubs of his own church. Interested in films he was president of the Peterborough Film Council and was largely responsible for the organization of the film festival last fall and the film workshop a year ago.

He was recognized as one of the foremost leaders in Canada in the religious film field and was one of the instructors at the first national film workshop held in Hamilton.

Greatly loved by his congregation he was noted for his work among the young people and his three years at All Saints' are regarded by the congregation as one of the most successful rectorships in its history. Last year the church was completely redecorated and rewired and he had great plans for the future success of All Saints.

Mr. Kibblewhite was a member of the Kiwanis Club and Royal Arthur Lodge A.F. & A.M. and when in Collingwood had been a member of the Progress Club.

REV. WILLIAM KIBBLEWHITE

He took his part in the Ministerial Association and was greatly loved by the other clergymen in Peterborough.

Once Noted Athlete

In his earlier years he was noted as an athlete and in 1928 was a member of the Canadian Olympic team which went to Amsterdam. He was a runner and was entered in the 5,000 meter race. This was the time when the great runner Paavo Nurmi of Finland was setting records and he won the race and set a new world record. Mr. Kibblewhite also played hockey, soccer and basketball.

He is survived by his widow and parents, two children, Billy and Donny, a sister, Mrs. G. (Rev.) Duncan Wilkie (Evelyn), Saskatoon; and two brothers, John S. of Edmonton, and Robert G. of Vancouver.

Funeral service will be conducted by the Right Rev. A. R. Beverly, Bishop of Toronto, at All Saints' Church on Wednesday at 3 p.m. The body will lie in state at the church from noon Wednesday until 2.30 p.m. Prior to that, it will be at the Comstock Funeral Home, Rubidge St.

Assisting Bishop Beverly will be Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's, Canon J. D. Patterson of Toronto, and Rural Dean the Rev. Walter J. Gilling, of St. Luke's.

Burial will be in Mount Pleasant cemetery, Toronto, at 3 p.m. Thursday.

Pays Tribute

"We are stunned by the loss to the Church," Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church said. "The Rev. Wm. Kibblewhite was one of those young men who seemed destined to rise to high office and leadership in due time. We senior men regarded him as an expert in modern methods of religious education. We valued his advice on the use of visual aids. He had a knowledge of Scouting such as can be acquired only by having gone through the whole program from Cub to Rover. He was a long distance runner and served on an Olympic team. Outside our association in church affairs he was a valued companion as a keen angler. Sometimes in the early morning, or in the evenings after work, we went together to nearby waters, not for the number of fish to be taken, but for the sheer pleasure of the quest. His charm of personality won a wide circle of friends. They were not confined to his own communion. At any hour on Monday during his illness the Ministerial Association could have held a meeting on the fourth floor of the Civic Hospital—a quorum was present."

10 Break-ins Youth Gets 2 Years

Sentenced Same Day Parole Ends For Previous Offence

On his pleas of guilty to 10 charges of breaking into cottages on Eel's lake in December and stealing blankets, food and cottage equipment of all kinds, Charles Trout, 18, Toronto was sentenced in police court today to two years less a day definite and eight months indefinite in the Guelph reformatory. (Eel's lake is north of Apsley near the county's northern boundary.)

A week ago Trout pleaded guilty to eight of the charges and was remanded for sentence. Since then two more charges were added. One of them involved his breaking into a cottage owned by Game Warden Robert H. Trotter.

Trout's companion in his vandalism was a 15-year-old juvenile who is being dealt with in juvenile court.

Considerable Damage

Provincial Constable Bert Howden said the two boys had done considerable damage to every one of the cottages they entered.

As well as taking blankets, food and other articles, they stole two radios, and clothing. The constable said since he had started investigating the breakins he has found a number of articles thrown along the shore. He expects to find more.

Of the things he has recovered some were recognized by the owners of each of the cottages from which Trout was charged with stealing. Two boats were used and left in the lake to be splintered by the ice next spring.

Was On Parole

March 1, 1950, Trout was sentenced in Toronto to six months in reformatory on a charge of breaking and entry. August 1, he was released on parole. Today his parole period was up.

Trout said he had been working in the bush in Anstruther township about five weeks before he was arrested. He had come to the township because he intended to live in a cabin owned by his brother-in-law in the area.

He said cabins were not winterized and were very cold. There was no lumber camp where he was working.

Council Approves Rise In City Bus Fares

Increase in the local bus fares, recommended by the legal committee, was approved by the council Monday night.

Adult fares will be three tickets for 25c, instead of the present four for 30 cents.

Ald. Young, chairman, suggested that some consideration should be given by the Bus Company for tall children who should be issued juvenile tickets on the basis of age and not of height.

"Some children of nine years are taller than others of 14 years," Ald Young said, "but the practice of the company is to charge their fares on the basis of height. Some consideration should be given if age can be proved."

Bread Price Up Cent In Most City Stores

Another cent was added to the cost of living in Peterborough Monday and today with a rise in bread prices. Peterborough housewives are being asked for an extra cent for a loaf of bread.

Bakeries are now charging 17 cents for unsliced bread and 18 cents for sliced.

Wonder Bakeries Limited and Trent Valley Baking Co., local bakeries, raised their prices Monday and the other bakeries who ship bread into the city added the extra cent today.

This increase has also been added to local chain stores' bread with prices now at 14 cents sliced and 13 cents unsliced.

The increase it was said was necessary because of the general rise in the cost of ingredients and labor.

INSPECTOR McNEILL

McNeill Named Inspector Of District No. 8.

Staff Inspector Edwin V. McNeill is returning to Peterborough to resume his former office of provincial police inspector for No. 8 district. Though not indicated officially, the appointment is believed to be a temporary one.

He succeeds Carl W. Farrow, recently appointed police chief of Windsor.

Inspector McNeill and Inspector Farrow have been exchanging offices for the last 18 months.

After 18 months as district inspector in Peterborough, Inspector McNeill was promoted on September 1, 1949, to staff inspector at Toronto headquarters. Inspector Farrow succeeded him here.

Chief Resigned

Three months ago Windsor police administration was upset when there were charges of unchecked gambling and racketeering in the city. After inquiries into irregularities on the force Police Chief Claude Renaud and Deputy Chief W. H. Neale were fired.

Inspector McNeill was picked as temporary Windsor chief until a permanent chief was selected by the police commission.

The eventual choice was Inspector Farrow who begins his duties next Monday.

Now Inspector McNeill has retraced his steps during the last year and a half and is now back as head of No. 8 district. He will remain here until a permanent choice is made.

The inspector won't mind the change after his hectic three months in Windsor. Besides his home is in Peterborough. His daughter, Betty, is Mrs. Clare Galvin.

"Twelfth Night" Next Week

So far as can be discovered Shakespeare's comedy "Twelfth Night" has never been performed in Peterborough. However, it is familiar to hundreds of people who have studied it in school, and they may be surprised to see it in action when the Peterborough Little Theatre produces the play in the PCVS auditorium on February 15, 16 and 17. It is one of the most entertaining and lively of all Shakespeare's plays, and it has always been a favorite on the stage.

It was in 1949 that the Little Theatre produced "The Taming of the Shrew," a production which won high praise in the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival, and went on to win the Louis Jouvet Award for the best piece of production as such, in the Dominion Drama Festival. It is part of the policy of the Little Theatre to attempt a Shakespearean production from time to time, for opportunities to see Shakespeare performed are still infrequent in Canada, and sometimes the fact is forgotten that Shakespeare wrote for the theatre and not for the classroom.

Production Began October

The forthcoming Little Theatre production has been tackled with the enthusiasm which is characteristic of the group. Since October last, work has been in progress on the stage setting, and the costumes for the play, all of which are on the somewhat elaborate scale which marked the production of "The Taming of the Shrew." The costumes have been designed by Miss Maralin Munro, and are being made by a committee under the direction of Miss Dorothy Shannon. The scenery is designed by Jack Hamer, constructed by Arnold Olmstead, and painted by Jack Hamer and Miss Gertrude Cox.

The play was first produced in 1599, but the Little Theatre has chosen to present it in costumes which are nearer to the fashions of 1660. There is, after all, no reason why a Shakespearean play should be dressed in the period of its first production. It is expected that the performances, for which seats are now on sale at the Public Library, will please the same audiences who so generously supported "The Taming of the Shrew."

Council Split On Sale Of Hospital

Pentecostal Church Purchases For $70,000 Old Nicholls Hospital

City Council divided 8-2 Monday night for the proposed sale of the former Nicholls Hospital properties to the Pentecostal Assemblies of Eastern Canada for $70,000.

The recorded vote was: Ayes—Aldermen Miller, Dewart, Gillespie, Waddell, Young, Burrows, Rehill, Braund.

Nays—Aldermen Anglesey and Graham.

Mayor Swanston was not called upon to vote.

As reported from a "hand-out" summary of a recent meeting of the committee of the whole, the sale of the old Civic Hospital property was recently revived by the increased bid of the Pentecostal Assemblies.

Boarded With Windows

Council had decided toward the end of last year to board up the windows of the hospital building and nurses' residence and take other protective steps for the winter.

Interest in the possibility of selling was recently revived by an offer from Pentecostal Assemblies It is understood that information was sent subsequently to Braund and O'Toole, realty agents, informing them on the fact of the offer. They had previously submitted a bid on behalf of Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough.

As a result of that information, it is reported, Braund and O'Toole submitted a new bid of $75,000.

The minutes of the committee of the whole mentioned that the Pentecostal Assemblies sent $10,000 with their bid of $70,000, the remainder of the purchase price to be paid by June 1, 1951.

Bid Of $75,000

The bid of Braund and O'Toole, representing Bishop Berry, for $75,000 requested provision that the 12-foot right-of-way around two sides of the grounds of the nurses' residence on Argyle St. be closed and conveyed to the purchaser.

The recommendation accepting the Eastern Pentecostal bid also instructed the Assemblies as purchaser to consult Mr. John Hornal, representing the Board of Governors of Peterborough Civic Hospital, "with respect to acquiring title to the furnishings and fixtures remaining in the buildings".

The report was read by Ald. Doug Miller, and its adoption was moved by him and Ald. J. A. Dewart.

Ald. P. J. Anglesey said that the report of the committee meeting which apparently had been given to the press mentioned that the requested closing of the right of way at the nurses' residence would reduce the net amount of the bid from Braund and O'Toole by some two or three thousand dollars.

From experience in the closing of streets and rights of way, Ald. Anglesey said, the only expense involved was the advertising of necessary legal procedure, and that it should be only a small amount. He said he was the only one in committee who opposed the motion to accept the smaller bid, because he thought it was only good business for all citizens to accept the larger tender. If there was some historic reason for it, that should have been stated.

Ald. Anglesey said the council has only recently decided that the buildings were not for sale, but since then bids were received on a limited basis instead of again offering the properties in the open market.

As Good As New Industry

Mayor Swanston said the main reason for the committee's recommendation was that the Bible College of the Pentecostal Assemblies would bring to Peterborough between 150 and 200 students and staff. In aspect of business it was as good as a new industry to the city. As to the conditional widening of the road at the nurses' residence, the council did not know whether that could be done, His Worship said. It was estimated that the bid indirectly from Bishop Berry would net between $71,000 and $72,000.

Ald. Miller made the further explanation that this latter bid also covered the fixtures in the two buildings. Ald. Anglesey remarked that the Braund and O'Toole bid did not.

Pencil Point Dresses Paris Fashion

By FLORENCE MILLS

PARIS, Feb. 6—(AP)—Slender "pencil point" dresses that get narrower towards the hemline, wide lapels and "illusion" coats, were among the spring fashions displayed Monday by Robert Piguet.

The "illusion" coats looked like a suit from the front view and a loose box coat from the back. They were simply belted jackets that had panels falling loose from the shoulders at the back.

Outsize lapels—only one lapel to each model—were shown on narrow box coats, and tight-waisted coat-dresses.

Most of the lapels are in glazed white linen but one coat-dress in black faille had its lapel in white spotted taffeta to match gloves worn with it.

For evening he showed a frilled crinoline in white nylon. To illustrate how pliable it was, the mannequin wearing it carried a small packet in which the dress could be packed.

Mock-Tunic Frocks

Piguet's "pencil point" line was seen on slender tunic and mock-tunic dresses.

The mock-tunic numbers looked plain, slim dresses from the back but had two stiff panels falling from the waist to evoke the look of a tunic from the front view.

He uses the "pencil point" technique for hobble evening dresses.

Fashions shown by Gres, whose designing has a sturdy reputation for making fat women look slim, were in direct contrast to those shown by other courtiers so far.

She shows a great deal of Grecian drapery in fine wool, silk jersey or chiffon. Her skirts look quite slender but in reality have blocks of fanpleats or bias fullness displaced at the back or front.

There were 40 miscellaneous prizes given out, two special prizes, a table lamp and a beautiful plant, and two lucky chair prizes. This was made possible by the generosity of local merchants and the soft drinks were also donated.

The lucky chair prizes went to Miss Alice Curtis and Mrs. H. Dulmage. Other prizes were drawn for by Mrs. Lyda Telford and Miss Esther Thornton and winners were as follows:

Listing social studies, English, mathematics, he explained how the theme of co-operation and mutual dependence on one another was woven into the studies and good citizenship thus taught by what he called the "pervasive approach".

DOROTHY DIX

Catching Mate Cheating Raises Ticklish Problem

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: I have caught my husband making love to another woman. What should I do? Should I act indifferent, say nothing to them but just leave their presence and act as if nothing had happened? Or should I let them know that I know and make a scene? Or should I blame it on the woman and tell my husband that I do not blame him; that it was the woman's fault, and make believe I trust him? Or should I try to make him jealous by having a flirtation with another man? WIFE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: No woman ever confronts a more difficult problem than does the wife who discovers her husband making love to another woman. Her whole future and that of her children is at stake. In no other crisis in her life will she need calmness and sureness of judgement with wisdom to guide her in making her decision as to what to do about it. Yet how can she when her vision is clouded by jealousy and when her heart is broken with the knowledge of her husband's disloyalty?

Is He Serious?

Reviewing the suggestions that this wife makes as to the different lines of conduct a wife might take, I should say that whether or not the wife acted indifferently when she caught her husband making love to another woman would depend on how seriously she thought he meant it. Many men who really love their wives are philanderers by nature and they can no more help making love to any good-looking woman who is handy than they can help breathing.

I have known many women with husbands like that who were able to view their husband's flirtations with an amused eye, and who were certainly better off and happier than they would have been if they had broken up their homes, divorced their unstable husbands and half-orphaned their children.

In any event, a wife makes a mistake in making scenes when she catches her husband making love to another woman. Her tears and reproaches and recriminations only drive him farther away from home and her and to the woman who makes things pleasant and gay for him and who flatters him instead of accusing him of being a criminal.

Equally foolish is it for the wife to try to rouse her husband's interest in her by making him jealous. Two wrongs do not make a right and because the husband goes on the loose is no reason for his wife doing so. And, anyway, the children should at least have one parent whom they can respect.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a rather successful singer and am engaged to be married. If I marry I wish to continue my career, but my fiance objects. Thinks it will ruin our happiness. If I cannot continue my career, I don't think I will be happy. How can I make him understand that all women cannot be happy with just a husband and home? ETHEL M.

ANSWER: I am afraid you will find that you cannot have your cake and eat it, too, and that you will have to decide which you care most for—your man or your ambition. Alas, for women careers and marriage no more mix than oil and water for the very conclusive reason that no woman can make a success of being in two places at the same time and holding down two jobs, each one of which takes all of the time and energy and intelligence she possesses.

A man may marry and add the inspiration of a wife and the comforts of a home to his career. In fact, if a man marries the right sort of a woman, she helps him to succeed. But when a woman marries, the case is entirely different. She is handicapped by her household duties, by child-bearing, by her husband expecting her to be as good a housekeeper and as much of a companion to him as if she had no outside interest. He resents the calls her career make upon her.

Perhaps these things shouldn't be, but they are. Of course, there are a few men who are big enough to sympathize with their wives' ambitions, and other men who are willing enough to live on their wives' earnings, but you will find that most of the ladies who have careers have also two or three divorces.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widow in my seventies. A man in his thirties wants to marry me. Would it be wise for me to consider matrimony with a man so much younger than myself? I am financially independent and healthy enough to be able to go out when I please, but I am still lonely. PUZZLED WIDOW

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Don't be puzzled about that any longer. You know perfectly well that no man in his thirties wants to marry a woman in her seventies for anything else but her money.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Rosy Red Desserts For St. Valentine's Day

More times than I care to admit, when I see that my dinner plate is nearly empty I quickly think of what is coming for dessert. Is it special enough to compensate for the empty plate that is facing me? Most families are dessert-conscious. Ours is dessert-crazy.

For instance, tonight I knew I had to provide something pretty special in the way of a last course, because, sad to relate, our meat was to be the tail end of a roast of pork and the pickings were skimpy. The vegetables were all right: buttered brown rice and green peas, but dessert still had to do a lot of face-lifting.

Furthermore, I had to do some beforehand cooking to get a column ready well before St. aVlentine's Day.

Raspberry Chiffon Pie did both tricks. This is a dessert I seldom make because I think it is fussy—what with the Graham cracker crust and all. But it did not take so long. Anyway it scored a hit.

Of course, it has the double advantage for working mothers of improving when made well ahead of time.

✧ ✧ ✧

Raspberry Chiffon Pie

Use either frozen or canned berries. If canned measure out 2/3 cup of the juice and add 2/3 tablespoon gelatine. If frozen let them thaw, drain off what juice you can and make this up to 2/3 cup with water and add gelatine to it. Place over boiling water when gelatine is soaked, then stir until it is dissolved.

Mix 3 egg yolks with ½ cup sugar and shake of salt and beat these into the gelatine mixture, stirring until thick. Remove from heat and add at least 1 well-packed cup of strained canned berries or just-thawed frozen berries. Add 1 or 2 teaspoons lemon juice and sufficient red coloring to make this quite rosy red. Cool. Fold in 3 stiffly beaten egg whites to which you have added 3 tablespoons sugar. Pour into:

✧ ✧ ✧

Graham Cracker Crust

Mix together ¼ cup melted butter, ¼ cup sugar, and 1 cup well-packed Graham cracker fine crumbs. Press onto sides and bottom of buttered pie plate, reserving a few crumbs to sprinkle over top of pie.

Of course, as usual, most people like it with a little extra whipped cream on top when served. In fresh berry time you could top the cream with a large fresh one.

✧ ✧ ✧

Strawberry Sponge

A favorite with children on St. Valentine's Day.

One tablespoon gelatine ¼ cup cold water, ½ cup hot water, 1 cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup canned strawberries plus some juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ cup cream or evaporated milk whipped, 2 egg whites. Mash berries, add sugar and allow to stand. Soften gelatine in cold water, then add salt and hot water and stir until dissolved; stir in strawberry mixture and lemon juice. Cool, and when it begins to congeal, fold in whipped cream, and the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into parfait or other stemmed glasses to chill. Serve garnished with halves of berries and whipped cream. OR line parfait glasses with sponge cake or lady fingers before pouring sponge mixture into them. Serve very cold.

Tale Of Ski-ing Goes Back Many Centuries

By C. H. IRESON

The popularity of ski-ing affords a reason for checking into the story of this sport. According to old Norse sagas, skis were in general use long before the Christian era. Poets of the ninth century refer to ships as "skis of the sea."

The first of which there is any record show them to be elongated curved frames covered with leather. Those of the 16th century were leather shoes, pointed over the toes, some three feet six inches long. Near the back they were thrust up to the ankles. Sweden probably has the first pictorial skis, dating back to the 11th century.

Used mostly in the land of their origin as a means of transportation over the snow, they developed into a method of athletic enjoyment. This was noticeable in Norway about 1860 where it became a national pastime, and spread over Scandinavia in the form of running and jumping for sport. The climax of the season was an international tourney, first held in Oslo in 1892, and later near Stockholm. It spread to the Swiss and later there were ski-ing competitions between Oxford and Cambridge Universities.

Ideal Place

Natural conditions in Canada made it an ideal place for the sport. Early pioneers were said to be University students back from tours in Europe where they saw ski-ing at many resorts.

Lord Frederic Hamilton, brother-in-law of Lord Lansdowne, Governor-General of Canada in 1883-87, claims that when visiting his brother-in-law at Ottawa he brought from Europe the first skis to the American continent. Investigation shows this incorrect as there appears proof that skis were introduced late in the 17th or early in the 18th century.

The writer has seen them used by Scandinavians engaged in railway construction some 45 years ago as a means of transportation. They are used in the Andes Mountains in South America and wherever there is snow. Skis were probably used in England 300 years ago, according to a history of the sport published in 1925, but now it is a sport of the well-to-do and it must have the proper weather. On Jan. 19, 1886, at Red Wing, Minnesota, the first club devoted to furthering ski-ing as a sport was formed, being founded by a group of Norwegians. It was named the Aurora Ski Club. It has since then attained great popularity on this continent.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Most of the National Hockey League clubs will use air transportation to meet schedule commitments if the country-wide railroad strike continues, a survey showed Monday night.

New York's Rangers said they will fly if necessary to Boston for their game against the Bruins Wednesday.

The Bruins have no schedule worries for the next few days. They play at home Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday nights before going on the road.

Detroit said it had no immediate plans but if the strike continues "presumably" the Red Wings will fly to Chicago for a game Thursday night against the Black Hawks.

The Chicago management said the club already has used plane transport twice in emergencies and will continue to do so. The Black Hawks' next game is in Detroit Wednesday night.

The 1951 Ryder Cup matches between the top 10 professional golfers of the United States and Britain were awarded Monday at Pinehurst, for the first week of November.

Delivering Dollars when needed most!

IN 1950, The Great-West Life delivered $28 millions—much of it urgently needed—to policyholders and beneficiaries. These dollars helped older people to retire, happily independent. They provided much needed ready cash and continuing income for widows and their children. Mortgages were paid off. Young people were aided in getting an education. Hospital and surgical expenses were paid. These tangible benefits were available in time of need because foresight and thrift had provided such protection. In addition, a further $23 millions was added to the funds held to meet future payments to policyholders.

This was but one important phase of the most successful year in the Great-West Life's history.

During the year, Great-West Life representatives arranged for $259,000,000 of new life insurance and annuities on the lives of 57,000 people in Canada and the United States. The total protection owned by our 470,000 policyholders is $1,671,000,000.

The carefully invested assets, which are held to meet all obligations to policyholders, grew by $27 millions during the year and amounted to $385,000,000 at the end of 1950.

The figures, which appear below, are indicative of the development and progress achieved by the Great-West Life in 1950.

Mrs. Sullivan's Statements Admitted As Evidence

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP)—Chief Justice McRuer Monday ruled as admissible three statements signed by Mrs. Marion Sullivan before she was arrested in connection with the Nov. 18 death of her lawyer husband.

In a "trial within a trial," while the 12-man jury was absent from the courtroom, the chief justice ruled that the Crown could enter the statements as evidence in the charge of manslaughter against the 48-year-old woman.

The statements were brief replies to police questioning. In them Mrs. Sullivan maintained her innocence of the crime against her 52-year-old husband.

In the first statement, Mrs. Sullivan told police that she and her husband left their Chateau Laurier hotel room and proceeded to the hotel cafeteria about 6 p.m., EST, on Nov. 17.

In the second statement she said she could not recall any of the hotel staff coming to her room prior to 6:30 p.m. on Nov. 17, and asking whether she wanted the room made up.

Previous testimony by Crown witnesses was to the effect that chambermaids knocked at the door about seven times during the course of the afternoon and evening of Nov. 17, and each time found the door double-locked from the inside.

Answered "No"

Mrs. Sullivan recalled that someone did come to the room at 6:30 p.m. for that purpose and that she had replied:

"No, we are getting ready to go out to dinner."

In the third statement, when she was told by police that she was being charged with murder—the charge later being reduced to manslaughter—she replied:

"I have nothing whatever to say, because I have already told the truth."

The statements were introduced during testimony by Sgt. Albert LeBlanc and Assistant Inspector of Detectives Borden Hobbs of the Ottawa Police Department.

Refused Test

The officers said that during police questioning, Mrs. Sullivan declined to submit to a fingernail test.

"Why should I go through that sort of torture," the officers quoted her as saying.

Finally, when Inspector Hobbs examined her hands, he noticed what appeared to be bits of dried skin and flesh beneath the little finger of her left hand.

When he called her attention to the particles, she replied: "I could have got them when I cleaned his ear."

She said she discovered her husband's body when she stepped out of bed about 1:30 a.m., Nov. 17. She claimed to have spent some time trying to revive him before calling the hotel office for assistance, at about 3:30 a.m.

The police officers said that while the statements were being obtained, Mrs. Sullivan was brought to the police gallery, where she was shown pieces of glass taken from her luggage.

The glass, together with pieces found in the hotel room, were reconstructed to form a soda water bottle, an ash tray and a tumbler.

When asked whether she could explain the presence of the glass in her luggage, Mrs. Sullivan replied:

"Yes, I knew they were there. I put them there when I tidied up the room."

Seek Squirrels

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont, (CP)—The zoo keeper at Idaho Falls, Idaho, asked the Niagara Parks Commission to capture one or two pair of the black squirrels which inhabit Queen Victoria Park here. The commission says this is not "feasible" and besides there might be trouble with the customs.

May Unseat Alderman For Becoming Clerk

OSHAWA, Feb. 6 (CP)—Alderman William Noble may be unseated from Oshawa City Council because he took a job as clerk of East Whitby township.

Noble took the job Saturday and the question of his right to remain a member of the council was raised Monday night by Alderman Finley Defoe.

Alderman Noble said action to amend the Municipal Act was being taken and would clarify his status. He emphasized that he was not an employee of Oshawa but of a separate municipality.

Checkup Too Late

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 6 (AP)—W. A. Caradine found out too late how much damage the storm had done to a 40-foot wooden canopy. The structure, weakened by ice and snow, collapsed and killed the 64-year-old man when he climbed up Monday to investigate.

3 Fishermen Safe

SOUTHMINSTER, England, Feb. 6 (Reuters).—Three fishermen stumbled ashore Monday after 30 hours adrift in a gale-tossed boat while planes and ships scoured the coasts for them. They left for a quiet morning's fishing early Sunday but were swept out to sea in a storm. They managed to get back ashore when the tide turned. They caught no fish.

More Boxcars Badly Needed Papers May Have To Cut Size

MONTREAL, Feb. 6—(CP)—More boxcars! was the plea today from top Canadian newsprint producers. But they said there is no immediate danger of closing down their mills which employ thousands of Canadians.

Immediate reason for the cry of boxcars is the wildcat railway strike in the United States. But the strike is only an aggravating factor to an annual shortage and the failure of United States lines to return Canadian box cars.

An official of Consolidated Paper Corporation, second highest newsprint producer with 700,000 tons, put it this way:

"We should have normally 100 cars a day but we are getting about 35. If this situation of non-return of box cars from the United States isn't altered soon, I see nothing but a cut-down in the size of newspapers as the next development".

President A. C. Price of Price Brothers said there is no immediate prospect of a temporary shutdown of the company's Lake St. John district plants.

Not Worried Yet

Canada's third largest newsprint producer, Abitibi Power and Paper, said: "We are not worried yet, but if we don't get cars back it will be serious".

Among them, Abitibi, Consolidated and Price Brothers produce almost 2,000,000 tons of hewsprint, and most of this goes to the United States.

Price said its warehouses now hold 10,000 tons of newsprint and it will require 58 cars daily to keep the paper moving. Consolidated has another 3,500 tons jammed in its Port Alfred, Que., storehouses and will need about 100 more cars to keep supplies moving from there.

At Consolidated's Grand'mere, Que., and Belgo, Que., plants, another 35 cars are needed.

Officials of the Newsprint Association of Canada described the situation as "grim". They did not think United States consumers would try moving newsprint by truck because it is too costly and difficult during the winter.

Movement on eastern inland waterways also is out of the question, giving western newsprint manufacturers an edge. West coast producers report they are unaffected by the boxcar shortage because most of their shipments go by water. But if the strike continues over a long period, they will begin to feel its effects.

Summing it up from the Consolidated point of view, a spokesman said "we may have to shut down. It's a matter of days now".

Strikes Forbidden

CAIRO, Feb. 6 (Reuters).—The Egyptian government Monday night forbade strikes on pain of imprisonment and fines.

Ballet Concert Great Success

By HERB HILL

HALIFAX, Feb. 6 — (CP) — History was made in this old seaport city Monday night when a ballet performance started a traffic jam and a capacity crowd went home clamoring for more.

Sparkling stars of the Halifax Ballet Premiere were Irene Apine and Jury Gotschalks, young Latvian couple who fled their Communist-dominated homeland some years ago and started a dancing school here.

Halifax theatre—long dormant—appeared making a definite comeback as tickets for the 2,000-seat downtown theatre sold out four days before the opening. It was attended by dignitaries of state, military and church as well as all sections of townsfolk, including many teen-agers who never saw ballet before.

Following the show, police struggled in vain to keep traffic moving along Barrington Street while the crowd waited the departure of the players.

Though this was the first performance for the troupe before Haligonians, the young dancers were acclaimed as one of the three leading ballet companies in the country at the Canadian Ballet Festival in Montreal last November.

They scored with a brilliant interpretation of the poignant "Swan Lake."

Seaway Project's Fate Be Decided This Year

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP). — Robert H. Saunders, Ontario Hydro Chairman, said Monday the fate of the St. Lawrence seaway-power project will be decided this year.

Mr. Saunders, back from conferences with the U.S. defence mobilization chief, Charles E. Wilson, in Washington, said: "It now has the best chance ever of being carried out."

Applications by Ontario and New York State in recent years to proceed with power developments on the river have been refused pending final decision on the joint seaway-power plans by the U. S.

"It now is a straight case of whether the project shall be proceeded with as a joint seaway-power development; the Federal Power Commission in the U.S. and President Truman are supporting the venture," Mr. Saunders said.

Rap Scare Buying

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP) — Stocks of nearly all hardware items in Canada are adequate at present but real shortages will be created if dealers are panicked into scare buying or stockpiling, members of the Ontario Retail Hardware Association were told Monday. Chalmers Forsline of Collingwood, president, in an address to the 46th annual convention, said the greatest contribution retailers could make to the naional welfare at this time would be a firm resolve not to overbuy on so-called "scarce items."

Criminally Responsible

SHERBROOKE, Que., Feb. 6—(CP). — A coroner's jury Monday night found Mrs. Lucien Beauregard, 36, of nearby Windsor Mills, criminally responsible for the poisoning of her two-year-old son Gerard, and suggested that she be subjected to a medical examination. The boy died in hospital in Sherbrooke, January 4, and his mother, two sisters and a brother all were in hospital here for several weeks recovering from the effects of paris green poisoning.

Budgets Really Irk Women Husbands Often Optimistic

By JACK SCOTT

VANCOUVER, Feb. 6—About two-thirds of the letters before me are from women.

The problem of keeping within the borders of a budget seems a more intimate, more aggravating one to women than to men, possibly because so many husbands leave it to their wives to make the necessary economies.

A Mission barrister writes that "to live with any degree of modest comfort costs us $350 a month and any saving is out of the question. Still, I don't think we have felt the pinch too badly."

His wife, who enclosed a letter of her own, took a quite different view.

"My husband states our case in a rather too optimistic manner," she writes. "He doesn't worry much about clothes or food. As long as he doesn't feel cold or hungry and has clothes for his back he is not worried. But I do. And I don't think most men realize the struggle women have in maintaining the standard of living that these times make necessary."

This sentiment is echoed by several other women, but I have a letter from one man, G. H. of Cove Cliff, who has apparently found out what it means. He is a tool and die maker, with a family of two children and a monthly income of $300.

"For a number of years I used to hand over my wages to my wife," he writer, "but about nine months ago because of increasing difficulties, I took over the handling of it. We are still living from week to week without any improvement. My wife is most reluctant to resume the financial management."

Dreary Life

Many of the women who wrote me are convinced (and, I think, rightly) that they have it harder than the men.

"A man at least gets out of the house and sees other people," writes Mrs. L. J. "For the housewife life can jell into a series of days all alike and without hope that things are going to get any more lively."

One housewife ironically describes her life in terms of a classified advertisement:

WANTED: Woman to clean, scrub, and cook 12 hours a day. Must be cheerful, good looking, with martyr complex. Must be able to cook attractive, nourishing meals at 16 cents per person per meal. Must be able to whip up exquisite gowns from old pieces of burlap sacking, old curtains, etc. Must be soul of wit, and brilliant entertainer, able to act as hostess with cracked cups and empty larder. No time off, no holidays, no pay.

This lack of lift in the routine of living seems a major irritant with a great many women. The wife of an assistant manager of a Vancouver insurance company puts it very well.

$65 A Week

"My husband's average weekly income is $65," she writes, "but we can't seem to save anything. Perhaps it's because we have four little people running around wearing out shoe leather, eating gobs of food to store up enough energy to run around some more and wear out more shoe leather."

"If we cut out everything except actual existing perhaps we would be better off," she goes on, "but if you feel you can't afford an occasional show and a splurge on a really good concert, or if you can't offer your friends a hot rum on a chilly night and sit around and talk about the high cost of living....gosh, what's the use of working at all?"

Another housewife, Mrs. D. G. of Peterborough, expresses the kind of shrug-of-the-shoulders attitude toward the future that appears in many of these letters. "We are happy, our children are healthy and our day to day life is complete," she writes. "But where do we go from here?"

The Sacrifice

One sentiment appears over and over through these letters. People tell of their own difficulties and then wonder how the lower income groups manage at all.

"My husband makes $50 a week," writes Mrs. N. O. of Edmonton. "We have a family of two boys and just manage to get by on his salary by living like hermits and cutting our food to a minimum. I dread to think of how people who make less than this are living."

In my original column on this subject I used the hypothetical case of a family with a $300-a-month income. Several correspondents reacted bitterly to this.

Mrs. E. C. B. of White Rock, for example, wrote me. "Have you ever tried to live on $77 a month, feed two children, clothe them, keep them warm and house them, and try to keep up appearances? It's only believing in God and the innermost spiritual belief that keeps me carrying on."

And many of the letters are downright tragic. There is the case, for example, of Mrs. D. A. of North Vancouver, whose husband is a bus driver. They have two children. Mrs. A.'s husband's take-home pay is $72.50 every two weeks. They have found it impossible to make ends meet on this salary and are forced to sell the small home they built together.

'When I look at the house," Mrs. A. writes, "I think of all the nails I've hammered, all the rocks I wheeled for the drains, the roof we worked so hard on, the cold and wet, the laughter and tears that went into our home. We love it. It is our home. But it is for sale.

"I'm tired of counting every penny, telling the children "We can't afford it", of not being able to go to a show or go bowling, of buying soup bones and not roast, of walking instead of riding the bus, of no holidays.

"I'm just so damn tired of existing and not living."

Expert Shows Anger Harms Mental Health

TORONTO, —(CP)— Hostility can bounce right back to harm a person who is hostile, says Dr. J.D.M. Griffin, medical director of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

He gave a gathering of University of Toronto students recently an idea of what happens to anyone who harbors feelings of hostility and suddenly realizes that he has a headache and a pain in the stomach.

He said the Mucous membranes lining the throat and stomach and some other organs are affected. Glands misbehave and the blood undergoes bio-chemical changes. Altogether, he said, hostility is a harmful thing that apparently is flourishing these days.

Dr. Griffin said that during recent United Nations debates on the Far Eastern situation, Canada's representatives displayed more maturity and less psychiatric hostility than those of "some other countries we could mention." Canadians could be "reasonably proud" of the actions of their delegates.

Dr. Griffin also discussed a motion picture, "The Feeling of Hostility," which apparently aroused some hostility itself when shown to Home and School Association groups.

"It was to be withdrawn from general release," said Dr. Griffin. "A lot of people thought it was distrubing. It hasn't the sor of ending that sends everyone home happy, so they can put it out of their minds."

The film showed how hostility grew in the mind of a little girl named Clare, whose father was killed in the Canadian mining country and whose widowed mother made Clare too dependent upon her.

It showed then how Clare took on aspects of rejection and resentment after an unspectacular stepfather appeared on the scene and how she finally turned into a friendless, shy girl who was going to show everyone that even if she wasn't lovable, she was smart.

In the end she became a successful editorial assistant in a publishing house but she spent her evenings alone. There was so much hostility in her make-up that there was no room for love.

GERMAN DIPLOMAT ARRIVES—First appointee to the newly established consulate of the West German Republic at Ottawa, Vice-Consul Dr. Joachim Frederich Ritter has arrived with his wife at Sain John aboard the CPR liner Empress of Canada. On landing Dr. Ritter said he was proud of his posting to Canada "one of the most progressive countries in the world."

Cuffe Is Again Named Assessor

The 1951 road expenditure for Dummer township will be $19,500 or $1,500 more than 1900. This was approved at the last council meeting after a motion by Councillors Gordon Hamblin and John Gallaher.

The expenditure must still be approved by the Department of Highways.

Gordon Cuffe has been confirmed as township assessor at a salary of $1,000. There were indications Mr. Cuffe intended to resign but he changed his mind. Motion by Councillors Allan Olver and Hamblin.

The assessor has been instructed to tax all those with a truck operating with a public commercial vehicle licence. This business tax is not new but until now has not been strictly enforced. Motion by Councillors Olver and Hamblin.

General accounts, amounting to $183.54, were paid on motion of Councillors Olver and Gallaher. And the road accounts of $1,269.50 were paid on motion of Councillors Walter Sloan and Hamblin.

Beginning February 1, all who "own, harbor or possess" dogs are liable for dog tax. It will be paid to the assessor. Motion by Councillors Hamblin and Gallaher.

Belmont Council Rejects Proposed High School Plan

HAVELOCK, Feb. 6—The Belmont and Methuen Council at its meeting on Saturday rejected the proposed plan for financing the new high school to be erected at Norwood because the burden of the debentures to be borne by the municipality at the present time would be too heavy a taxation on the ratepayers. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the Norwood Area High School Board and the Department of Education at Toronto.

A petition from ratepayers asking for improvement on the road from Burnt Dam to Round Lake settlement was filed in order that the matter be further investigated by the council.

Oppose Plan

The council went on record as protesting the plan by H. Dunsford which proposes the closing of 83 feet of the westerly end of the road allowance situated between lots 30 and 31 in Methuen township. The protest was made because the council has always felt that roadways entering local waters should be open to the public and maintained for public benefit.

Two bylaws were passed: bylaw 860 autthorized the council to borrow $10,000 if needed to carry on its business until taxes are received and bylaw 861 authorized the expenditure of $16,000 on the maintenance of roads and bridges for 1951.

The clerk was authorized to purchase 350 dog tags.

Accounts totalling $358.65 were passed.

Movie Column

Bareback Rider Does Movies In Spare Time

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6 (AP).—He was a jolly-looking little man who seemed as if he could be somebody's favorite grandfather. When he spoke, he had the clipped accent of an English drawing-room actor. This was Poodles Hanneford, still the most noted bareback rider in show business.

Poodles seemed strange in an exotic costume which he wears in a fantastic epic called "The Golden Horde." This acting is merely a winter diversion for him. Come Spring, he'll start his broad-backed horses circling around the ring again and hit the road.

The show-business veteran admits to being "in my 50s" now, but still performs his somersaults on and off the moving horses.

"Course I don't do some of the stunts I did when I was younger, like backflips from one horse to another," he admitted. "But I still do my other tricks. My blood pressure is normal, my heart sound and I still have the old pep. So why shouldn't I stay with the act?"

His Share

In his decades in the ring, Poodles has had his shart of busters. "I've broken my ribs, my arms, nearly everything but never my legs—knock wood," he said.

Poodles was somewhat amazed when he found his chair on the movie set marked "Edwin Hanneford." That's his real name, but nobody ever calls him that.

Social Costs

VANCOUVER —(CP)— A total of $8,089,862 was spent in state support of 16,574 persons in Vancouver in 1950. Vancouver and other municipalities, the provincial and federal governments shared in the costs of social assistance cases, mothers' allowances and old age pensioners.

Field Of Dental Health Requires More Research

Since the use of preventive methods, beginning in early childhood, holds out the only hope of overcoming dental disease, the Dental Health Division of the Department of National Health and Welfare devotes itself extensively to public education and research.

In a special National Health Week message, Dr. H. K. Brown, chief of the division, reports that while some useful preventive procedures are known, there is an urgent need for further research, and projects in this field are being aided. The situation in Canada is such that it is physically and financially impossible to meet the existing need for fillings, straightening of irregular teeth, treatment of gum diseases and for dentures.

It is encouraging to note that the importance of dental health is being realized on an ever increasing scale. Five years ago only one province had a dental health division. Today, nine out of the ten provinces have active dental health divisions with qualified directors.

Three out of four Canadians receive no regular dental care, but 99 out of 100 suffer from dental disease sooner or later. Since untreated tooth and gum diseases have serious effects on general health, dental health is a public health problem. Education is of supreme importance, especially amongst the young, and every effort is made to publicize the four essentials in controlling tooth decay—proper brushing immediately after meals, good diet, the avoidance of excess sugar and sweets, and regular visits to the dentist.

Chinese Retreat From Main Lines In Front Of Seoul

TOKYO, Feb. 7. (AP)—Allied ground forces smashed forward today with three powerful tank columns to the last hills guarding the plains of shattered Seoul. American infantrymen drove Reds from a hill three miles west of Anyang. Forty Reds were bayonetted and another 50 shot in the back as they fled. The Chinese and Korean Reds were digging in for a new stand on the ridges just south of Seoul. At their backs was the Han River, still an ice-covered way of retreat for the Reds but now on the verge of thawing.

On the central front, United Nations forces with South Koreans in the lead, pushed northward toward the old Parallel 38 border.

On the east coast, South Korean forces secured high ground three miles east and west and five miles south of Kangnung, a coastal road town 17 miles south of 38. Allied naval power blasted the Reds in Kangnung itself.

Regain Initiative

The whole complexion of the war had shifted once again. The Allies had regained the initiative in their 14-day-old "limited" offensive and the Reds were giving ground.

Allied artillery was in position to pour shells into the old Korean capital of Seoul, abandoned Jan. 4 for the second time in the Korean war by anti-Communist forces.

The drive straight up the centre of Korea was pushed by five columns. It threw off balance the North Korean 5th Corps which had massed along the Hongchong-Hoengson highway for a possible renewal of the Red drive down the spiny centre of South Korea.

Five Striking Forces

The five striking forces fanned out from Hoengsong, about 50 miles east of Soeul. Forward South Korean and American patrols ranged within five miles of Hongchong, a junction 20 miles east of 38.

One reached Pungsuwong, 10 miles northwest of Hoengsong; a second drove three miles northeast of the highway centre; a third was six miles from Saemal; a fourth was 12 miles northeast of Hoengsong near Yudong; the fifth was moving up in reserve.

Allied planes roared down low and artillery thundered, piling up the toll of Red casualties which has passed the 50,000-mark in the 14-day action.

The Chinese, building their new defence line just south of the Han, were rushing reinforcements across the frozen river on plank bridging. All the steel bridges spanning the river that runs through Seoul's southern outskirts were down.

Planes Busy

While the ground forces blazed away at the Communists, allied planes dived in and out among the towering mountains, bombing and strafing the enemy.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force sowed major roads with roofing nails that punctured truck tires and left the bogged-down Communist trucks at the mercy of strafing planes.

AP correspondent Tom Stone reported the 3,776,000 nails

CHINESE RETREAT

Russians Insist German Arming To Be Top Topic

MOSCOW, Feb. 7 (AP).—New Russian notes on a proposed Big Four meeting reiterate that German rearmament is the chief threat to peace, but they leave the door open for talks on other world problems—in the council for foreign ministers as set up by the Potsdam agreement.

(In Washington officials interpreted the call for a "council" meeting as meaning Russia would exclude discussion of far eastern questions unless Communist China was represented since Potsdam included China on the council for such discussions.

(The United States does not recognize the Red China regime and would not agree to its inclusion in the talks, Washington sources pointed out.)

The Russian notes, latest in an exchange with the western big three which began last October, were made public Tuesday night. They were delivered Monday to the United States, Britain and France.

The last western communications had asked if the Soviet Union would discuss, at a meeting of the big four foreign ministers, basis causes of world tension rather than German problems alone

Discussion Possible

Discussion of "other questions," said the Soviet reply, was 'possible"—"by the council of foreign ministers in the composition and manner provided for by the Potsdam agreement."

The note said the Soviet government does not oppose convening a preliminary meeting of representatives of the United States, Britain, France and the USSR in Paris to work out a conference agenda. But at this meeting "consideration of substance questions included on the agenda should not" be discussed, Moscow's note said.

After a careful study of the note, experienced western diplomats here said such a preliminary meeting of the big four now is possible.

Railway Tie-up Seen Easing

CHICAGO, Feb. 7. (AP)—The critical and costly tie-up of United States railroad transportation appeared easing today as more striking switchmen joined in the back-to-work movements which started Tuesday.

There was not a full-cale return across the country marking the end of the "sick call" walkout which started Jan. 30, but indications were that the crippling week-long stoppage was nearing an end in most parts of the United States.

Several bright spots appeared on the troubled rail front following the first major break Tuesday when thousands of switchmen returned to work.

Service was normal on major lines in the New York and New England areas. It was near normal in many other cities, and many carriers expressed hope for normal service soon as the back-to-work movement spread from city to city.

A railroad spokesman in Washington yesterday said that "any idea that the show is over is completely erroneous." He said that for every group that goes back to work "there's another bunch that goes out."

Stork Delays Train On Way To Edmonton

INNISFREE, Alta., Feb. 7 —(CP)—A westbound C.N.R. passenger train from Winnipeg was delayed here Tuesday for 25 minutes because the stork won a race to Edmonton.

A passenger, Mrs. C. A. Wilson of Edmonton, gave birth to a baby girl aboard the train on the Innisfree siding, 85 miles east of Edmonton. Mother and daughter today are reported in "fine" condition.

Conductor Percy Winter of Edmonton reported his train was running "a little late" when the stork caught up with it.

Two nurses were in attendance —one a passenger and the other the wife of the Innisfree station agent.

Hold Husband In Slaying At North Bay

Find Wife's Body Lying In Cellar; Hint Hammer Weapon

NORTH BAY, Feb. 7. (CP)—Edward B. Murphy, 69-year-old retired business man and former director of the North Bay Chamber of Commerce, today was charged with murder in the bludgeon slaying of his wife. He was remanded a week without plea in a brief court appearance.

The body of Mrs. Bella H. Murphy, 69, clad in a fur coat and the head battered, was found by police in the cellar of the Murphy home yesterday. Police Chief John W. Pilgrim said she appeared to have been struck with a blunt instrument.

"We have a weapon which we believe was used to kill Mrs. Murphy," the chief said. He declined to describe it.

Murphy is believed to have reported the crime and surrendered to police Tuesday.

Blood On Steps

Chief Pilgrim said it was not clear in what part of the 10-room house the woman was slain. When police arrived, the upper part of the house was in perfect order but there was blood on the cellar steps. Police believe Mrs. Murphy was killed Monday.

The chief said there was no indication of a struggle.

Neighbors said the childless couple lived a quiet life. Murphy was a well-known amateur horticulturist and his wife appeared to be taken up with her home and garden. They seldom entertained.

The house on west-end McIntyre Street, was purchased 12 years ago when Murphy moved to North Bay from the Ottawa district. Since his retirement two years ago as manager of the North Bay branch of the Keyes Supply Company, he had acted as a part-time liaison officer between Northern Ontario branches and the company's Ottawa headquarters.

Reports centred around the presumption that the crime was committed with a hammer.

Murphy is reported to have "talked easily" with police constables.

Persuaded To Surrender

Chief Pilgrim declined any comment on the circumstances surrounding the arrest. However, it was learned reliably that Murphy confided in a friend Tuesday,

$125,000 Fire Razes Building

KINGSTON, Feb. 7 (CP)—The century-old Toye building, housing a wholesale grocery business, a coal concern and the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery club rooms, was gutted by fire early today with damage estimated at close to $125,000.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was said to have started in the club rooms shortly before 2 a.m. and spread rapidly through the three-storey stone structure.

Firemen fought the flames, fanned by a 20-mile-an-hour wind, for almost two hours before bringing it under control.

Crucial Vote Faces Attlee On Steel Bill

LONDON, Feb. 7 (CP)—With influenza stalking both sides of the House of Commons, the Labor government and the Conservative and Liberal opposition squared off today for another crucial vote on nationalization of the steel industry.

Most parliamentary observers thought the government would survive—by three or four votes—the debate and vote tonight on a Conservative motion to censure Prime Minister Attlee's government for the nationalization. The debate begins about 10 a.m. EST.

The state takes over the industry Feb. 15. The government already has won three votes on the issue since 1948.

But should the current influenza epidemic cut too deeply into Labor's ranks today, the censure motion might carry. Attlee and his cabinet might then resign and a general election probably would be held.

Many Conservatives are ill. So are two of the nine Liberal party members, all of whom have decided to vote with Winston Churchill's forces as they did on previous steel ballots. But parliamentary reporters said there was more illness among Labor members.

If the government survives the vote tonight, it faces another — and probably more serious—challenge in the Commons Thursday over the meat shortage and recent drastic cuts in the country's already-tiny meat ration.

Debate and a vote come then on another Conservative motion, deploring the cabinet's "mismanagement and lack of foresight" in failing to assure sufficient meat for the country.

Some Labor members are known to be fed up with Food Minister Webb's abortive negotiations with Argentina for a new meat contract. They may reduce the usual small Labor majority by refusing to vote on the censure motion despite the threat of party discipline.

Acheson Charges Treaty Broken

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson today accused the iron curtain countries— Russia's satellites — of building up great armies in excess of peace-treaty limitations. He said this is one of the major causes of world tension.

Acheson told a press conference it is the weight of these armies, plus the enormous military power of the Soviet Union itself, which is the prime source of tension and worry in the world today.

He agreed when a reporter suggested that the military build-up by Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary in excess of the Second World War peace treaty limits might well be considered at the proposed meetings of the Big Four foreign ministers.

He also:

1—Confirmed that the US is negotiating for the right to use various military bases in North Africa and the Middle East. He would not give details as to the number or location.

2—Said the subject of a Pacific Pact is one which naturally comes up in connection with a Japanese peace treaty. He said the US policy toward the idea of such a pact is at present one of open-mindedness.

Warden Blames Doukhobors For $20,000 Prison Fire

NEW WESTMINSTER, BC, Feb. 7. (CP)—The prison warden today blamed "rampaging Doukhobors" for a $20,000 fire in a compound at the Federal Penitentiary here. The fire which followed an explosion early Tuesday night swept a one-storey administration building, housing an office and hospital ward. "Doukhobors are obviously to blame," said Warden R. S. Douglass. "I'll hold an immediate investigation."

He said when prison firefighters reached the scene hoses had been sliced in half, and the building was a mass of flames.

About 100 Doukhobors, serving long-term sentences for arson and bombing raids in the Kootenays, were held in the compound.

Douglass said he will investigate the possibility that a time-bomb may have been planted in a storeroom.

Had Access to Room

"The Doukhobors had access to the room during the day, but not at night," he said.

Four patients in the hospital ward were carried to safety by firemen. None was injured.

Twenty of the Doukhobors, members of the militant Sons of Freedom, helped battle the fire while the others were herded against a prison fence under guard.

New Westminster firemen aided prison firefighters in quelling the blaze.

The main penitentiary building housing hundreds of prisoners, was not in danger.

Sabotaged hoses, however, slowed the firemen long enough for the flames to engulf the compound.

Say UK Dockers Losing Strike Enthusiasm

LONDON, Feb. 7 (CP)—Britain's Communist-backed docker strike entered its fifth day today with a slight increase in the number of strikers in the Mersey area. But there were reports that some of the dockers were thinking about a back-to-work movement.

The National Dock Labor Board said the number of men idle in the Liverpool area, centre of the wildcat walkout, totalled 11,987, an increase of 547 compared with yesterday and increased the number of ships stalled at the dockside from 73 to 83.

About 4,000 strikers voted at a forenoon mass meeting to continue the stoppage.

Many strikers, however, were reported to be losing their enthusiasm in the face of a refusal by dockers in London to create a sympathy stoppage, as urged by an unofficial committee leading the walkout.

Uphold Theft Verdict Against Madoc Girl

TORONTO, Feb. 7—(CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal Tuesday upheld a civil judgment of theft against Joan Stockloser, 21-year-old Madoc girl.

A part-time beauty shop operator in Lindsay, Miss Stockloser was sued by Charles Spencer, Madoc creamery owner, for $278 which he claimed she stole from his dairy office over a period of six months when she came to buy butter for her father.

In a written statement, Mr. Justice T. Henderson said:

"No jury properly charged could come to any other conclusion than the jury trying this case."

Navy To Use New-Type Ship

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP).—The Navy is coming up with a new type of small fighting ship as a key factor in defence of Canadian harbor and coastal waters, especially against midget submarines.

The Canadian-designed ship, termed a seaward defence vessel, is an integral part of plans announced by Defence Minister Claxton to bring a 100-ship, 20,000-man navy into being within the next three years, roughly a doubling of manpower and a tripling of existing ship strength.

Fulfilment of those plans would it is believed, rank Canada fourth as an Atlantic Pact sea power, behind Britain, the United States and probably France. In the last war, the Canadian Navy at its peak had 95,000 men and 375 warships.

The core of the expanded peacetime navy will be 25 destroyers and destroyer-size anti-submarine escort vessels. The new seaward defence craft won't be in that league but it will fit nicely into the character of the RCN as a small-ship, anti-sub navy preparing for coastal and convoy protection in war.

There will be no new aircraft carriers or cruisers beyond recommissioning of the Uganda, now in mothballs at Esquimalt, B.C.

Reject Russ Charges Of U.S. Aggression

LAKE SUCCESS, Feb. 7 (AP) —The United Nations Political Committee today overwhelmingly rejected Russia's charges that the United States had committed aggression against China.

Only the five Soviet bloc countries voted to support the charges. 49 countries opposed the proposal. Yugoslavia, Burma and Indonesia abstained.

Russia's charges of aggression were based upon the presence of the U.S. Seventh Fleet in the Strait of Formosa.

Engineer Admits Travelling Twice Authorized Speed, Roars Off Rails At 50 mph

Rush-Hour Crackup Declared Worst In US Since Disaster In 1918; Third Wreck In Area Within One Year

WOODBRIDGE, NJ, Feb. 7. (AP)—Authorities said today that a crowded commuter Pennsylvania train was travelling twice its authorized speed when it roared off the rails here Tuesday night, killing 82 persons. Approximately 500 others were injured in the death-dealing wreck, worst in the United States in more than a quarter century. Middlesex County Assistant Prosecutor Alex Aber, conducting one of half-a-dozen investigations, said the train was high-balling at 50 miles an hour when it plunged off a newly-built trestle.

He said the train's engineer, Joseph Fitzsimmons, interviewed in his hospital bed, admitted he was travelling this speed, although the railroad had ordered a 25-mile-an-hour limit over the trestle section.

Slowed Down

Fitzsimmons was quoted as saying he had slowed down from 60 miles an hour, but had not further retarded his speed because he found no caution signal.

The rush-hour crackup of the Pennsylvania Railroad train was the worst in the United States since 1918 when 115 were killed in a Nashville, Tenn., wreck, and more disastrous than the 1943 accident outside Philadelphia that took 80 lives.

Third Wreck In Year

It was the third major wreck in the metropolitan area in less than a year. A total of nearly 200 died in the three crackups.

In mid-morning, the list of known dead stood at 79, with three bodies still unidentified.

On orders of New Jersey Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, the state's attorney general, Theodore Parsons, started an investigation. He reached the scene early today, and sent an assistant to a hospital to question the critically-injured engineer of the wrecked train.

In Newark, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said it was investigating to determine "whether sabotage was involved."

The railroad conducting its own probe, said it could offer no immediate explanation for the cause of the wreck.

The last big rail disaster in the metropolitan New York area occurred last November at Kew Gardens, N.Y., when 79 persons died in a Long Island Railroad

200 Firemen Battle Gasoline Tank Fire

HOUSTON, Feb. 7—(AP)—A spectacular gasoline fire along the Houston ship channel was brought under control at dawn today after an all-night fight by nearly 200 firemen. About 20 firemen were hurt.

Flames rose 300 feet in the air after a creeping grass fire set fire to a 24,500-gallon gasoline tank Tuesday night.

The tank was in the middle of an oil-storage terminal of 50 huge tanks with a total capacity of 2,750,000 barrels.

For hours the fire threatened oil and industrial plants which have mushroomed alongside the ship channel connecting Houston with the Gulf of Mexico.

Pearson Refuses To Serve On Committee

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 7 (CP).—L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, has officially declined to serve on the three-man United Nations good-offices committee to seek a peaceful settlement with Communist China, informed sources said today.

Nesrollah Entezam of Iran, president of the U.N. general assembly and chairman of the good-offices committee, was expected to announce Pearson's decision later today.

Meanwhile Mahmoud Fawzi Bey of Egypt and Padilla Nervo of Mexico were mentioned as possible choices to fill the post turned down by Pearson.

Made Condition

The Canadian minister had made it known that he would accept the job on the condition Sir Benegal Rau of India would also serve on the committee—provided for in the United States resolution passed last week by the UN assembly branding Communist China an aggressor in Korea.

Sir Benegal declined the post. Sven Graftrom of Sweden was appointed in his place.

Pearson said Tuesday night in Ottawa he was "reconsidering" acceptance of the invitation.

Pearson, Entezam and Rau were the three members of the earlier cease-fire committee which failed in an initial attempt at negotiations with Communist China.

New Cold Wave Sweeping U.S.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7 (AP) — A cold wave, swept along by strong northwest winds, covered most of the central part of the United States today and headed for southern and eastern states.

Temperatures dropped to as low as 23 degrees below zero in the cold belt which extended from Montana to the Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes region.

The weather bureau in Washington issued cold-wave warnings for Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania today. Much colder weather was forecast for the Atlantic states for tonight and Thursday.

Forecasters said the fresh outbreak of cold air was not as "strong or deep" as last week's weather which hit the midwest, sending temperatures to 40 below zero.

Every Man For Himself In Wreck

Fight Like Wild Animals To Reach Doors

WOODBRIDGE, N.J., Feb. 7—(AP)—A bright-red commuter train flashed toward New Jersey's north shore residential area last night. It was making good time.

Then . . . .

A quiet section of town, a temporary wooden trestle and a grinding, tearing crash in the wintry night.

Silence—just a billowing cloud of dust and dirt mingled with searing steam from the Pennsylvania railroad express—followed by piercing chilling cries.

Eighty persons died. Those who escaped considered themselves lucky.

Mrs. Isabella Carlington of Asbury Park is one of these.

"I was thrown out of the window, smashing my face and landed in three feet of mud. A man's leg was lying alongside of me and I got up and fled," she said.

Saved By Dead

Mrs. Josephine Rydon, clutching a bloodied rag to her face, said she was saved "by landing on a pile of dead."

They talked as acetylene torches bit their way through twisted metal in the glare of floodlights.

"It happened so quickly that nobody had time to shield their faces," Leslie Cavanaugh of Sea Grit added.

"I saw many nearly cut in half by glass splinters . . . the man next to me lost his arm . . ."

But, what of those who didn't get out?

Most were business men, tired from the day's work. Others were office girls, secretaries, women shoppers—the same kind of folks you'll find on any commuter train.

But when the crash came:

Like Wild Animals

"Like a bunch of wild animals trying to free themselves from upset cages," was the way Arthur Wissner described his car.

"People were clawing and punching each other to get clear of the wreckage. I saw one woman go down on the floor. I think she was trampled to death."

A pitiful line of wives and mothers and fathers and relatives crowded morgues and hospitals for word of loved ones.

Others—the legion of the waiting, waiting, waiting at home for some word—sat and hoped miles from the scene.

Crashes Barbara Ann's Apartment

Lovesick Man Tries Force Way Into Home

TORONTO, Feb. 7 — (CP) — A tall, smartly-dressed man who said he was "madly in love" with Barbara Ann Scott tried to force his way into the figure skater's apartment here Tuesday night.

Joseph Maconse, 32, of Quebec, was arrested and charged with trespassing and assault.

Other tenants in the building on Toronto's northern outskirts subdued Maconse as he tried to fight his way into the apartment shared by Barbara Ann and her mother after ringing all the doorbells in the building and screaming that he must see Barbara Ann. He was held until police arrived.

Finlay M. MacPherson, who lives in the apartment above the Scotts, went to the door of the building when his buzzer was pressed.

Grabbed By Throat

He said Maconse tried to force his way past. When MacPherson tried to stop the man he was grabbed by the throat and bitten on the arm. Maconse then rushed by him and reached the door of the Scott apartment just as Mrs. Scott opened it.

He managed to get his foot inside the door and remained that way while Mr. MacPherson and other tenants arrived and grabbed him. They held him until police arrived.

North York police said a man had been bothering Barbara Ann for some time. He had been calling her regularly on the telephone asking her to go out with him and even threatening to come and get her.

Once when the world champion figure skater was practising at the Toronto Skating Club a man forced his way inside in an attempt to talk to her. He was ejected, but no police action was taken.

Not First Visit

Mrs. Scott said Tuesday night wasn't the first time Maconse had called the apartment. When the skater and her mother first moved here from Ottawa the man appeared one day and asked to see Barbara Ann, she said. Then I told him she was out of town and he began to use terrible language and didn't want to leave. But he finally did.

"Tonight when he tried to get in he said, 'If you give me my money I'll go'."

Police said later they had been investigating the mysterious telephone calls since Barbara Ann first reported them.

After questioning Maconse, they they said he had told them he was "madly in love" with Barbara Ann. He said he had clipped every picture of her he had ever seen and that they had "been driving me crazy."

Brigadier Notes Poor Support Of Reserve Units

Disappointed at the turnout at the annual inspection of Peterborough's two reserve forces, Brigadier Geoffrey Walsh, CBE, DSO, CD, Eastern Ontario Commander, said Tuesday night that a city of Peterborough's size should give stronger backing to the reserve force units, especially in these days.

Brig. Walsh and Brig. H. T. Airey, commander of headquarters No. 1 Army Group, Royal Artillery, (anti-aircraft), were impressed by the "above average" quality of those on parade in the 50th H.A.A. Regiment, RCA, and the 28th Technical Squadron, RCEME. This was the first inspection of the engineers' unit which was formed two years ago.

Both brigadiers noted the cleanliness of the units during the inspection.

Band Amazes

The 50th Heavy A.A. Regiment's trumpet band was singled out for special recognition by Brig. Walsh after a 10-minute display. He said that he was amazed at the progress made during the past year and congratulated WO 1 Albert Croasdale and the band.

After another display, Lt. J. M. Gayford, Central Command Director of Music, said that to produce the standard as shown in one year was exceptional. He recommended that the band should enter some competitions this year.

After the general salute Brig. Walsh and Brig. Airey, accompanied by Lt.-Col. Maxwell Clarke, officer commanding the 50th H.A.A. Regiment, and Capt. R. R. Asselstine, officer commanding the 28th Technical squadron, inspected both units. The two forces then marched past Brig. Walsh who took the salute in review order and column of route.

Brig. Walsh and Brig. Airey viewed the units during the regular training period. The 28th Technical Squadron was being given a talk on recovery and field organization. The 50th H.A.A. Regiment manipulated one of the 3.7 anti-aircraft guns and the radar equipment.

Other Officers Inspect

Major R. C. Lane, area electrical mechanical engineer officer accompanied the inspecting body ot Peterborough and inspected the activities of the 28th squadron. Major R. H. Noble, deputy assistant quartermaster general at area headquarters, checked the administration of both units while Capt. D. R. Owen, general staff officer at area headquarters, paid special attention to the training of the 50th Regiment.

Resounding Collision At Murray-Water Sts.

A total of about $600 damage was done to two cars that collided about 9 p.m. Tuesday at Water and Murray streets as one was attempting to make a left turn.

The cars were travelling in opposite directions on Water St. Clare Crapp, RR 3, Lakefield, was driving south. Don E. Hendry, 499 Aylmer St. was driving north and was starting to make a left turn into Murray St. when the cars collided.

About $200 damage was done to the right front fender, grill and radiator of the Hendry car. Damage to the left front fender, grill, radiator and frame of the Crapp car amounted to about $400.

Constable Robert Menzies investigated.

Complete Plans For Unified Sea Force

Expect Atlantic Treaty Powers To Name US Admiral As Top Commander

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP) —The Atlantic Treaty powers have virtually completed plans for setting up a unified sea force, such as the combined land and air forces on the continent, with an American Admiral as top commander.

Admiral William M. Fechteler, commander-in-chief of the United States Atlantic fleet, probably will be named soon to head the Supreme Allied Command organization for the North Atlantic Ocean region, it was learned today.

Although the North Atlantic region command is part of the over-all pattern of common defence for the North Atlantic treaty organization countries on both sides of the ocean, it apparently is not intended to be subordinate to Gen. Eisenhower's western European forces. It will have something like co-equal status. A communique issued after last fall's N.A.T.O. sessions here spoke of a "Supreme Allied Command" for the North Atlantic Ocean area.

Upon the command will devolve the task of keeping open the vitally-important sea lanes to western Europe in event of war on the continent. The surface ships, submarines and carrier and land-based airplanes of the combined navies of 10 of the treaty members would be responsible for holding in check efforts by enemy submarines, bombers and warships to cut the flow of reinforcements and supplies to Eisenhower's armies and air forces.

Area Defined

As defined by the treaty, the North Atlantic Ocean area is that part of the sea north of the Tropic of Cancer (a line running slightly south of Florida to a corrsponding position on the North African coast.)

The regional planning group, which has been drafting plans for the sea defence, has a permanent office here. Its membership includes representatives of Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Iceland, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, the United Kingdom and United States. Luxembourg, a tiny country with no sea frontier, and Italy, whose primary interest is in the Mediterranean, are not in the Atlantic Ocean region setup.

The report that an American was in line for the command was not surprising. The United States, with the biggest fleet in the world, would have the greater part of responsibility for protection of the North Atlantic sea lanes.

Committee Asks Extra $19,095

The property committee of the Board of Education is recommending a budget of $152,330 this year—$19,095 more than the 1950 estimate and $30,110 more than the actual expenditure.

Murray Irwin, chairman of property, said one of the biggest items of difference was an extra $11,900 for caretakers' salaries. It includes the pay increase this year and provision for an extra caretaker for the Prince of Wales addition.

The salary item is $64,000.

Last year's long heating season with little carry over plus the rise in the cost of fuel, caused a rise of $2,700 in the fuel estimates. Light, power and water are up $1,600.

Maintenance wages are up $4,600. And repairs are down $2,500.

K. S. Wightman superintendent of schools, was authorized to secure bids from firms so new eavestroughing can be put on May's school. Sometime during the year the May's chimney will also have to be rebuilt.

Mr. Wightman was also authorized to get prices on stovepiping for Central school. On both jobs he is to get tenders as soon as possible.

Big Transport Tips Uncontrolled In Slush

A Wilson transport, driven by Fred Hardcastle, 23, Toronto, ran into the south ditch today and turned on its left side, a mile and a half west of the city, its 10 wheels and undercarriage exposed naked to other highway drivers' view. The transport driver was uninjured. He told provincial police that he was about to pass a car, also going toward Port Hope, driven by S. F. Ballachey, 70, of Paisley. He pulled in close behind Ballachey's car which suddenly slowed. To avoid a serious collision he swung the transport to the left, just clipping the left rear end of Ballachey's car. But the transport went out of control in the slush and ran into the south ditch where it tipped onto its left side. Damage to the truck is $150. $200.

Powers Favors Canada Increasing Air Strength

OTTAWA, Feb. 7. (CP)—Canada's wartime Air Minister told the Commons Tuesday night that he favors the Government's proposal to boost this country's aerial strength. Hon. C. G. Power, who broke with the Cabinet in 1944 over a decision to conscript men for overseas service, said he approves the plan for a 40-Squadron Air Force because supremacy in the air will go a long way towards winning another war.

But he wondered whether the people were satisfied with this preponderance of air power.

He added:

"I say that because during the Second World War, there were persons in this country and in this House of Commons who, notwithstanding the achievements of our Air Force, were not convinced that Canada was doing her part in the war until the casualty lists started coming in from Italy."

Mr. Power's speech highlighted a sagging throne-speech debate.

Before he stepped into the debate, another Liberal—David Croll from Toronto Spadina—warned of the dangers of rearming Western Germany. This question should be approached with the "greatest caution and the still vivid memory of what an armed Germany cost the world in blood and tears not so many years ago."

Reject CCF Motion

As the debate waned, the House by a voice vote rejected a CCF non-confidence motion, standing since the debate opened six days ago. It criticized the government for supporting the United States resolution calling on the United Nations to denounce Red China as an aggressor in Korea.

In a rare occurrence, the CCF did not call for a recorded vote on their motion, which had been widely criticized in the debate. W. H. Herridge (CCF, Kootenay West), calling for reimposition of price controls, revived the debate before action could be taken on a Progressive Conservative motion criticizing the government on various aspects of its preparedness program.

In the debate, Mr. Croll said German rearmament posed these possibilities:

1. This move may prompt Russian aggression; 2. a rearmed West Germany may try to conquer the east to bring about unification of Germany; 3. a rearmed Germany may decide to join the Russians against the Western world; 4. Western Germans may refuse to fight Communist - dominated countrymen.

Germans Unrepentant

The Toronto member, who enlisted in the Second World War as a private and emerged as a colonel, said the North Atlantic powers still are dealing "with a (German) people who are undemocratic and unrepentant, who consider themselves unfortunate and whose object at present is to figure out the winning side and get on it."

Canada surely wanted nothing of "shoddy, left-over" German generals who would produce "a replica of Hitler's army."

Mr. Power said there still are some Canadians who were battery-minded, division-minded and the like. Since the government was launching a $5,000,000,000 defence program, members should give their views because this program passed unchallenged.

Dr. Raoul Poulin (Ind., Beauce) suggested Canada should keep her armed forces at home and use the billions to be voted for defence to bulwark this country's boundaries against external attack. While no Canadian would refuse to defend his own country, there should be opposition to conscription for overseas service.

train wreck. Thirty-two Long Island passengers were killed at Rockville Centre last Feb. 17.

11-Car Train

The 11-car train—"The Broker"—bounced off the tracks with a roar and tumbled into a twisted mass of wreckage early last evening.

It was loaded to the aisles with homebound commuters—mostly from New York—on their way to Red Bank, Long Branch, Asbury Park and other communities on New Jersey's wealthy north shore.

The Pennsylvania, in a statement, said 25-mile-an-hour speed limit was in effect on the new track, opened to traffic less than five hours before "The Broker" cracked up at 5:43 p.m. EST.

The new track was swung about 50 feet from the old one to clear the way for a big highway now under construction.

Six Trains Safe

The Pennsylvania said six trains passed over the new trestle safely before "The Broker."

Mayor August Greiner of Woodbridge said he thought the trestle buckled beneath the train's weight. But the trestle did not collapse.

Ask Signed Statement

Attorney - General Theodore Parsons asked for a signed statement from one passenger, Robert Thaler, who said he saw a burning journal box on the fourth car of the train before it left Newark —its last stop before the wreck.

Thaler told Parsons by telephone this car's undercarriage may have collapsed as it whipped across the trestle.

Alive but injured, the 57,year-old Fitzsimmons said from a hospital cot in an earlier statement:

"The moment my engine passed over the trestle and lurched sharply I felt the rest of the cars would never make it.

"I hit the trestle at about 25 miles per hour and the speed of the train certainly couldn't be blamed for the crash. When I started to sway, I applied the brakes, but it apparently was too late."

Extra Large Crowd

The train pulled out of Jersey City at 5:10 p.m. EST. It was more crowded than usual because another commuter line, the Jersey Central, was knocked out by the switchmen's "sick call" strike. Many Central commuters elbowed in with the estimated 900 passengers who daily ride "The Broker."

It hit the trestle, the engineer fighting the brakes to try to control it.

"I heard him throw on the air brakes three times as she came down a grade and onto the temporary tracks," said passenger Irving W. Teeple.

"He was doing his level best to hold her back."

But the steam engine rolled on across the trestle for about three car lengths.

"It just went bounce, bounce, bounce—and then there was a terrible noise," said another passenger, Norman Merz.

Hits Street

The big engine left the tracks and plunged in an arc to the pavement of a street below, in this city of 27,000 persons 30 miles south of New York.

Behind it, the first five cars of the train went this way and that in a jumble of jagged steel. Some of them turned over in the thick mud of the embankment. Others stayed upright, grotesquely twisted across the rails or along the embankment.

Passengers were tossed about inside the coaches like dice in a cup. Many were mangled to bits under the grinding weight of sharp, broken metal.

Others survived or died in tomb-like crevasses of steel, as some of the cars were bent into a U-shape by the terrible force of the crash. It took about seven hours — until after midnight — to dig and saw the last one clear.

Suggests Code For Use Of Retailers

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

A code for manufacturers and retailers under present war-preparedness conditions was suggested Tuesday by Rhys M. Sale, president of Ford Motor Co. of Canada, Ltd.

Addressing the Ontario Retail Hardware Association in Toronto he suggested the following for manufacturers:

Keep distributors, jobbers and retailers fully and honestly informed about production, availability of raw materials, the effect of war orders or of government controls, and all other facts that may affect the flow of supplies to consumers;

Exercise extraordinary control over production costs in an effort to hold the price line, because runaway prices will harm everyone;

Guarantee fair and equitable distribution of products;

See that the ultimate consumers are not victimized by unscrupulous practices at any point in the chain of distribution from maker to buyer.

Other Advice

And for retailers:

Refuse to take advantage of real or artificial shortages of goods to make unfair profits at the expense of consumers;

Guarantee fair treatment to every customer, whether old or new;

Guard against the temptation to hide scarce goods under the counter for the purpose of favoring one customer against another, or particularly to gain an extra sale such as: "I'll let you have this scarce item if you buy two of these items";

Prohibit sales staff, on pain of immediate dismissal, from employing any scare technique to induce a customer to make a purchase;

Guard against chance remarks that might set off panic buying;

Avoid any type of panic phrase in advertising;

Buy stock in accordance with real anticipated need, not on the basis of speculation, because retailers, as well as customers, can be guilty of hoarding;

Maintain the highest possible standards of service and courtesy.

Fire Guts Garage

COBOURG, Feb. 7 —(ENS)— Several thousand dollars damage was caused by fire at the village of Colborne Monday which gutted the second floor of a garage. The premises house a garage operated by Ed Wangen and an apartment upstairs. The blaze broke out near the roof and due to the fact that it was enclosed by a metal roof and insulation, it developed great heat and kept Colborne and Brighton fire departments busy for two hours before it was finally extinguished. McDonald Urges Senate Reform

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 — (CP). — Senator John A. McDonald (L-Nova Scotia) said Tuesday he for one would support a move to investigate the possibilities of Senate reform.

He told the Upper Chamber he agreed with a motion by Senator Wishart Robertson, Government Leader, to set up a committee to inquire and report on what steps might be taken to "enable the Senate to make its maximum contribution to the welfare of the Canadian people."

The committee, said Senator McDonald, might seek answers to such questions as whether changes could be made in the method of appointing at least a portion of the Senators to the Upper Chamber. Another possibility was the question of an age limit for senators.

$5 With Nine Trailing Zeros

Canada is planning to spend five billion dollars on defence in the next three years: $5,000,000,000. It is a very great sum. Compare it, for instance, with the total national defence budget for 1948, which was $615 millions, or with 1946, the first post-war year, of $126,543,000. Actually, the five billion dollars for national defence in the next three years is equal to the total budget for the Dominion in 1946, ten times as big as the national budget thirty years ago. It is more than Canada spent on the war in her heaviest year, 1944. It works out to $350 for every man woman and child in Canada. This money has to be found through taxes, apart from taxes for all other purposes. There is no doubt that the effect will be heavy and the next budget severe.

* * *

The Canadian plan of defence expenditure for the next three years is not, however, grandiose considering the urgency of the international situation and the plans of other countries. For instance, for the two fiscal years 1951 and 1952 the United States has a defence budget of 140 billions. Canada's military budget is not at all on that vast scale, even making allowances for the fact that the U.S. has more than ten times our population and fifteen times our national wealth. Britain is planning a total defence budget in the next three years of £4,700 millions—about $14,100,000,000. This is almost an eighth of what it cost Britain to wage the last war, six years of it, six years which left her financially prostrate. As a matter of fact, the American $140 billion defence budget for the next two years is approaching half the total military cost to the U.S. of the last war. (It has been estimated that the United States spent, on military costs, $330,030,000,000 in the Second World War.)

* * *

The pity of these new great costs for "national defence" is that they have been made necessary so soon after the last war. Is the world mad or civilization cracking that so much of its wealth as well as energy has to be dissipated in military expenditure?

The Fifth Kiwanis Festival

The syllabus of the Fifth Annual Music Festival sponsored by the Peterborough Kiwanis Club has been available for some time, and although the entries for the many competitions do not close until the end of this month we suggest that anyone who is desirous of entering the festival should make their intention known at once. There is a wide variety of classes, the music chosen by Dr. Healey Willan for the test pieces is of varied interest, and the adjudication is on its usual high level. It looks as though this music festival would be the largest and best that Peterborough has seen.

We consider the Kiwanis Festival to be the strongest single influence for the improvement of music in Peterborough that this city possesses. There is a good deal of musical activity in the city; there are large numbers of piano students, and smaller groups of students who are working on other instruments; the church choirs and some secular choirs keep a tradition of choral music alive; the city possesses a number of able professional musicians. In the Community Concert Association the city has an organization which has brought artists of international renown to Peterborough. But the kind of competition which the Kiwanis Festival promotes serves to put a keen edge on the city's musical activity; it provides a touchstone by which musical excellence may be judged; it gives the competitors—especially children—an opinion on their work which is not that of their teachers, and that is a help which could not be provided for them in any other way We do not suggest for a moment that success in the festival is the be-all and end-all of musical study, or that the opinion of an adjudicator, however capable, is the only possible opinion; but we say that it is good for musical people to experience the opinion of judges from outside the city. The world of music is a very great world and a wide world, and a festival which brings expert judges from abroad to our city does our city a great service.

The festival also serves to bring the musical people of Peterborough, children and adults, together and to give them a sense of unity of purpose, and a sense of the importance and vitality of what they are doing. It also serves to throw open the windows and let fresh air into what can easily become a stuffy realm of activity. It is a remarkable tribute to the spirit of the local Kiwanis Club that it has built this festival up to a point where it is not merely successful in organization and numbers, but successful in spirit — successful not only as a friendly competition but as a tribute to a great art.

"Dear Comrade Tim"

It is a tribute to Canadian liberty, if not a condemnation of its complacency, that Mr. Tim Buck, Canadian Communist leader, was able to speak at a public meeting and that the meeting was permitted to be held. It occurred last week in Toronto. Tim Buck was given a "salute to our leader" on his sixtieth birthday by the Canadian Communist Party Executive, and greeted by a "cheering, applauding crowd" of 2,400.

The Salute was phrased as follows:

"We greet you on this happy birthday, dear Comrade Tim, as a truly great Communist, great Canadian, great leader of our people in French and English-speaking Canada alike! We greet you at a moment when the springtime of humanity is at last in sight, when victory in the struggle for peace and liberty everywhere in the world is drawing near! Under your leadership, our cause will be victorious."

The central resolution accepted by the convention condemned the "shameful deal whereby Canadian boys are delivered as cannon fodder to the Yankee war machine in exchange for profitable war contracts to Canadian corporations."

Really, there is something quite refreshing in the thought that Canadians tolerate this sort of hocus-pocus in these days. Soap-box oratory tolerated in a Toronto public hall, with the police in attendance to see that order is kept.

Crime Is Relative

In some countries it is an offence for husbands to beat wives; in others it is an offence if husbands do not beat their wives. It all depends on the way you look at beating—or wives. Wrong in one set of circumstances in one country is not wrong in another set in another country. When the German war leaders were tried, however, an absolute definition of crime was postulated. They were tried for crimes against humanity, crimes for which, as the Allied courts tried to establish, punishment would follow in any country at any time. It was a very high-minded attitude, a noble view of society. Some of the German criminals were executed. Others went to prison for life or lesser terms.

Now the dead are dead but some of the prisoners are being reinstated into German civil, military and industrial life, together with good chunks of their confiscated estates. It has been realized that they really are not the horrible criminals they seemed to be four or five years ago; and anyway, these men, former leaders, are more useful free and armed with authority than they are imprisoned and idle, particularly in these times of rearmament and wooing of the Germans. Canada has still behind her bars a most able German field commander but he will soon be released, we predict, to help remould German armies.

It is not a matter of making the punishment fit the crime, but of making both fit the times. When the great moral trials were in progress, we had some doubts about the fancy notion of there being an absolute 'crime against humanity'. It depends who the criminal is, when and where he perpetrated what he did, and who has caught him. At the time of the trials there were murmurs that it was lucky for some Allied officers that the Allies, not Germany, had won the war. There were even those who said that, had the Germans set up the courts and predicted the same charge of 'crime against humanity', and given as fair a trial, some of our own war leaders would have lost their skins. Crimes against humanity, even though they exist, are too exalted for any human court to render infallible, eternal judgement upon them. Perhaps in such cases it is better to be forthrightly punitive rather than high-mindedly judicious.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Plough A Curving Furrow, Ontario Ploughmen Told," says a heading in the Toronto morning paper. Alas, the man who ploughed a straight furrow has gone the way of the man who thought the earth was flat.

A London correspondent recently referred to the son of a peer as "a nobleman," which was an error; only the father is a nobleman. There is nothing, however, to prevent the son from showing himself a noble man.

Last year there were 34,000 traffic accidents in Ontario; 792 lives were lost; 15,000 people were injured; property damage was estimated at $10,000,000. This is evidence, we insist, in favour of our often expressed belief that drivers should have to pass a new test every three years.

An enthusiast for the good old days writes: "It is doubtful if better service was ever rendered than in the olden days of the family doctor and general practitioner, who knew and understood all the family he served." Hm! Any volunteers for an appendectomy performed on a kitchen table, with the patient's wife holding the coal-oil lamp, and doubling as anaesthetist?

Adventures, New And Old

OPERATION HEARTBREAK, by Sir Duff Cooper (Clarke, Irwin), & RICHARD HILLARY, A life by Lovat Dickson (Macmillan).

THIS week I had the rare privilege of receiving two excellent books to review and, strangely enough, there was a connection between the author of the first and the hero (he can never be less than that) in the second, so that I felt that since this chance had crossed their paths again it would be permissible to give them a joint review.

"Operation Heartbreak" is the first venture by Sir Duff Cooper into the realms of fiction. Hitherto he has been known as a Poet, Biographer, Diplomat and Cabinet Minister. This, his first novel, deals with soldiering. It is the story of a professional soldier, born of a family of soldiers, whose life's ambition is to see active service, an ambition in which he is singularly unfortunate. He is a soldier without a war, (do I hear cries of impossible?). He was too young for the 1914-18 episode and too old for the last holocaust. The gradual loss of his self-respect and his slow metamorphosis from a charming, enthusiastic and popular officer into an embittered, sarcastic, and utterly miserable man is a magnificent piece of characterization. The ending is both completely surprising and utterly tragic. The book is very short, which is the only fault one can find with it. Writing of this quality is rare, and it is with definite regret that this reviewer closed the book.

THE second book "Richard Hillary, a life" might have well been called "An Appreciation". It does cover Hillary's life from his birth in Australia in 1919, until his death in England in 1943, but it also gives us a chance to see the development of the child into the brilliant and brave author of "The Last Enemy". In his own book Hillary showed us the man, final product of that burning forge that had been his plane; whereas Lovat Dickson, with the aid of relatives and friends, letters and the final pages of his diary manages to recreate the small child, the schoolboy, the playboy and finally the courageous man who went, admittedly afraid, to his death rather than betray a trust he had imposed upon himself.

For the benefit of those who have not read "The Last Enemy", I should explain that Richard Hillary was one of the fighter pilots in the Battle of Britain; he was shot down in flames and rescued, burnt almost out of life and beyond recognition. He wrote his book (which was a magnificent self portrait and chronicle of the times in which he lived) during his long seige of convalescence, between the numerous plastic operations that were necessary to give his head a face and his arms hands that were not just charred bone. Most of this is covered in Mr. Dickson's book and also new facts come to light. For instance Hillary's feelings when, on arrival in the States to lecture at the instigation of the Ministry of Information he is told that he cannot be used after all as the sight of him would possibly damage the war effort and (the United States was not in the war at that time) 'cause the women's clubs to withdraw their support of Aid to Britain for fear of having the same mutilations to their sons, should they also have to fight. The effect of this rebuff on a man, once extremely handsome, who has already reached the limit of physical suffering and was, in any case sufficiently sensitive about his maiming, can be imagined, and Mr. Dickson prints a letter written by Hillary at this time showing his determination to take this cruelty in good part. It was then that Sir Duff Cooper (then Minister of Information and as yet unknighted) stepped in and arranged for Hillary to have another plastic operation while in the States, a lucky chance because he was able to finish his own book and it was accepted and published there first under the title "Falling Through Space".

Sent to the Staff College at Gerrards Cross in England Richard Hillary soon discovered that the RAF wingless wing was not for him, but it was not until he was caught in an air raid in London and helped to dig out an injured woman and her dead child that he realized he could know no peace again until it was all over. After a final operation at East Grinstead he managed to wangle his way into a night-fighter training station and although his hands were so crippled that he could not get his flying clothes on without help, and could not stretch them far enough to press the button that operated his plane's undercarriage, he still continued with his intention to fight again. He admitted he was afraid (which takes more courage than many other deeds of bravery) but he would not turn back because he felt it would be a betrayal of all his friends—every one of them killed in the battle of Britain. In his last will Hillary says "As to whether I am buried or cremated, it is immaterial to me, but as the flames have had one try, I suggest they might get their man in the end."

They did; Richard Hillary was killed in January, 1943, when the Blenheim in which he was making a training flight crashed and burned. There is nothing more than that can be said. The friends of Richard Hillary who contributed letters and reminiscences include Eric Linklater, Arthur Koestler and Eric Kennington, whose portrait of Hillary is included in the book. I recommend this book most highly and especially to those who are at present trying to re-recruit the Veterans; it should serve as a reminder that it is only five years since most of these men went through the flames and although it is essential to have experienced men to train and lead an army, it is a good idea to get an army first.

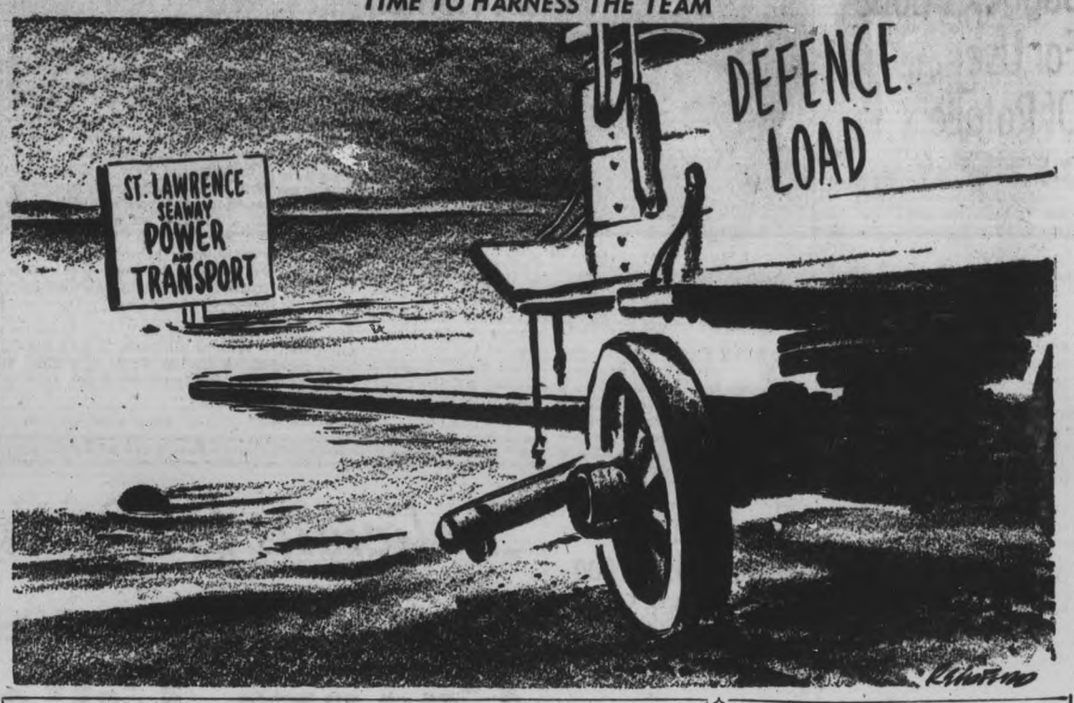
SETTLERS, edited and introduced by John Hale (British Book Service).

THE subtitle of this book is "Extracts from the journals and letters of Early Colonists in Canada, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand"; the editor is a Fellow of Jesus College, Oxford, and his presentation of the material which comprises the book is scholarly without being pretentious or stuffy. The book itself is handsomely got up, being well printed and bound, and equipped with illustrations and maps which greatly enhance the text.



The meat of the book, of course, is contributed by the colonists whose letters and journals have been examined for these extracts. The Canadian colonists represented here are Alexander Henry, Mrs. Frances Stewart, Bridget Lacy, Thomas Need, John Langton and Alexander Hunter Murray; it will be seen at once that Mrs. Stewart, Need and Langton give a good account of the Peterborough district. Bridget Lacy was new to this reviewer; she was an Irish servant-girl in the employ of William Radcliff, and like so many Irish people, high and low, she had a great gift of phrase. Who that has ever known seasickness can fail to respond to her description of the voyage to Canada, when the colonists were reduced to "groaning, and raching, and willy wombling"! Her comments on the likelihood of getting a husband in Canada show a wisdom which suggests that Bridget was no ordinary girl and probably did well for herself.

Although the Canadian writers are of special interest to us they are old friends; it is to the adventurers to Australia and South Africa that we look for novelty. It is not always the disasters and dangers which give us our keenest insights into what the settlers felt, and what sort of people they were. The comments of John Davies Merreweather on the "raking green tea" which the Australian settlers drank, and his suggestion that it whetted their appetite for rum, summon up a whole state of society. So also does John Sheddon Dobie's account of amateur theatricals in South Africa, where the audience was "a noisy, half-drunk set of beasts". The settlers of the Commonwealth who wrote at all appear to have written with an enviable liveliness and economy of style.

The literary settlers emerge from this book as a notable group—courageous, determined, humorous and insatiably curious and alert. We must be thankful for their sketches of pioneer life, sometimes heroic and often rowdy, ill-conditioned and repulsive. It is a pleasure to recommend this remarkable compilation, which does not, I honestly believe, contain a dull word.

Letters To The Editor

REPLIES TO DISGUSTED C.G.E. WORKER

Sir: As one of those who has taken part in the series of programs being broadcast over CHEX each evening at 6:15 p.m. I wish to protest most vigorously at the slanderous letter which appeared in your issue of Thursday, February 1st.

There have, to date, been eight persons who have participated in these broadcasts. Five of these are well known, and I believe highly respected, residents of Peterborough. The other three are trade union representatives who hold responsible positions and who are well known throughout the Canadian labour movement.

The anonymous letter to which I refer termed these broadcasts "lying stuff" and spoke of us as "racketeers". In objecting I am not seeking any special privilege on the ground that I am a woman. This vicious and completely unwarranted attack was levelled at every one of the honest and sincere people who have participated in these broadcasts. It is, I think, significant, that it was phased in the most general terms and failed to cite any evidence which would in any way indicate that these responsible citizens were either "liars" or "racketeers."

I, too, am "A Disgusted G.E. Worker". I am disgusted to think that any person in our plant would adopt tactics of this kind—and I am not ashamed to sign my name to any letter I write.

Yours truly,
THERESA O'BRIEN.

ASPHODEL CRITIC CONTINUES

Sir: Mr. Scott as one of our Council should know the figures better than ony one as he has all the statements in front of him. But we ratepayers pay the bill but get no itemized statement of what goes on, so how could I come at a correct statement? Now I don't think Mr. Scott should try to mislead our ratepayers for he says there are 83 miles of road in Asphodel. But he don't say how many miles out of that is not opened yet, and also that he has never seen so therefore no work is done on them. Mr. Scott seems to think he is in a bad place and gives the impression to the people that this lemon of ours does all the snowploughing but I understand that Mr. Patterson of Norwood does half the ploughing; he goes ahead to open the road when the snow is very bad so the other truck can go through. I think you would be snowed in most of the winter if you depended on this plow to get you out. I don't know what Mr. Patterson gets but the Council will know, not the public. Now Mr. Scott you never saw this truck drawing gravel to build roads in your life as there is no way of getting it on or off.

Why not have a truck big enough to do the following: weed spraying, fly spraying, gravel, draw snow fence and also draw our overseer which you are so anxious to have drawn around at our expense—that would cut down the cost of two or three trucks or hiring other trucks. You say Mr. Dickson will make highways out of our swamps, but not with the outfit we have. You say there isn't 50 feet of road that the grader can't go through with the blade crossways. I can show you miles of those roads that isn't eight feet surface, so why a 12 or 14 ft. blade with both ends doing nothing If this is such a good machine why hire a bulldozer to cut down our hills like you did last summer, and leave our grader idle? I think as long as you keep putting up the mill rate and the public pay it is no credit to the Council to keep clear of debt. I may be a critic as Mr. Scott says, but don't let them kid you as long as they did me.

T. J. CARDWELL.

ORIGINAL SIN A MISCONCEPTION

Sir: Why not ask religious questions and show interest? It is lack of interest in God that He cannot bear. He says through Micah, O my people, what have I done unto thee? Wherein have I wearied thee? Testify against me. Micah 6-3.

Original Sin was and is a mental misconception—a rebuke to God for His way of creating life; to see evil where none is—especially in the nude or naked form; when man learns to behold God in himself he will have forgotten 'Original Sin'—that is my belief. In man's perfection, God will be all powerful.

We can hasten that day by showing interest and constructive (not destructive) criticism. No one should make a 'religion', of endless criticism, it defeats us. A religion is vital, so are our churches. The church is the potential Bride. But the Bride is not above the Bridegroom. The perfect marriage is the pattern. God wants no divided, divorced, inhibitive bride. He wants a sanctified but not sanctimonious, church, bride, marriage In these days it is imperative to support and uphold our churches and ministers, it will be held against us if we do not, I am most sure. I believe God is undenominational, but not averse to baptism or sincere beliefs in 'personal revelation'.

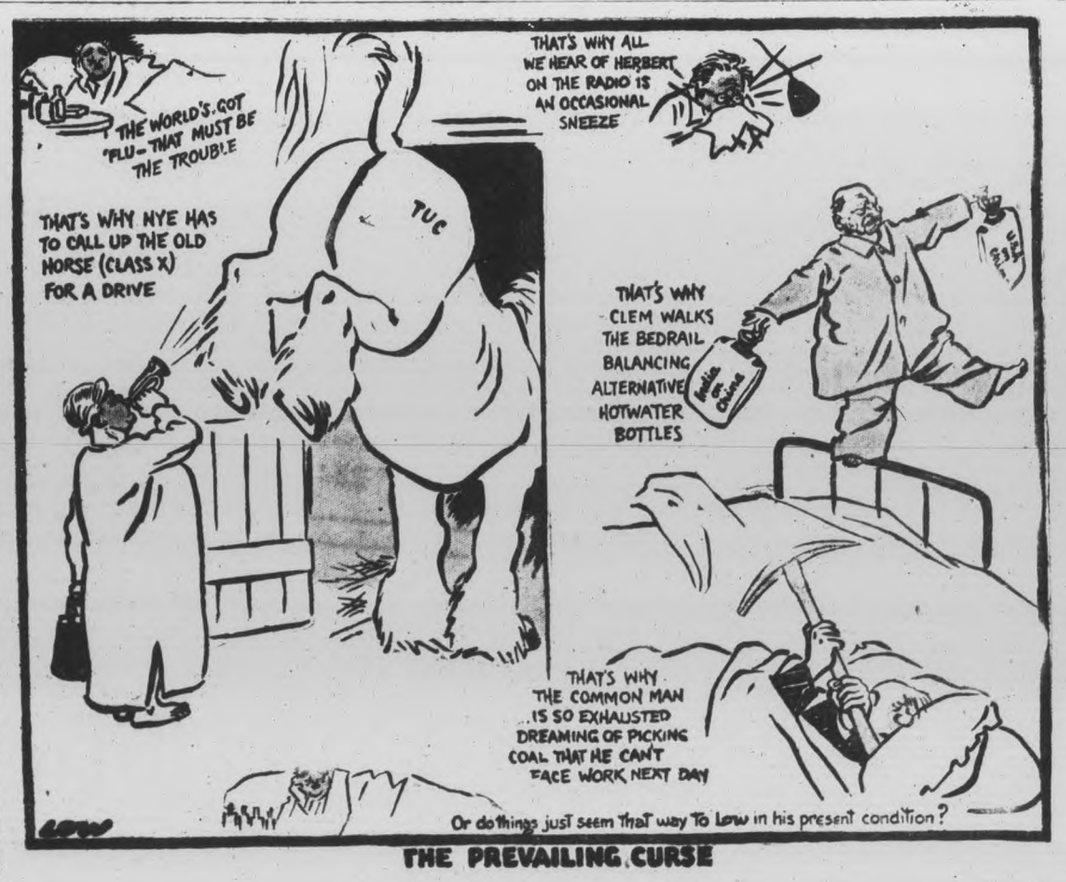
Bible Message



(From the Authorized Version)

Then came to him the mother of Zebedee's children with her sons, worshipping him, and desiring a certain thing of him. And he said unto her, What wilt thou? She saith unto him, Grant that these my two sons may sit, the one on thy right hand, and the other on the left, in thy kingdom.

But Jesus answered and said, Ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink of the cup that I shall drink of, and to be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with? They say unto him, We are able. And he saith unto them, Ye shall drink indeed of my cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with: but to sit on my right hand, and on my left, is not mine to give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father. And when the ten heard it, they were moved with indignation against the two brethren.

But Jesus called them unto him, and said, Ye know that the princess of the Gentiles exercises dominion over them, and they that are great exercise authority upon them. But it shall not be so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, let him be your minister...

Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many. (Matt. 20: 20-26, 28.)

THE PREVAILING CURSE

Special Brigade "Under Fire"

FORT LEWIS, Wash., Feb. 7—(CP). — Members of Canada's Cpecial Brigade were "under fire" Tuesday, and they proved they can take care of themselves.

The soldiers started Monday on a 30-day exercise of simulated warfare, using live ammunition. Col. A. J. Bailey of Duncan, BC, assistant director of manoeuvres, said the operation "went very well."

"The troops were snappy in their movements," he said. "We have a lot of brushing up to do, but after we do this about 12 times we should have it down very well.

"Casualties would have been light for our forces if we were engaged in actual warfare."

Partitipating were members of the 2nd Battalion of the Royal 22nd Regiment. Soldiers of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry will move into the exercises February 11 and 12.

Brig. J. M. (Rocky) Rockingham, Special Brigade Commander, said no casualties marred the manoeuvres.

Cut Weight By Half

BURNIPS, Mich., Feb. 7 (AP) —A 58-year-old widow was recovering today at her farm home from an operation that reduced her weight by half—from 600 to 300 pounds. Doctors said Mrs. Gertrude Levandowski had been suffering for 10 years from an abdominal tumor which caused a secretion of liquid in her body tissue, thus creating excess weight. The operation involved removal of the tumor and draining excess liquids from the tissue.

Opera Flourishing In Toronto Canadian Singers Make Up Cast

By JOHN PATERSON

TORONTO, Feb. 7—(CP)—One of the most demanding of the arts—grand opera—is flourishing in Toronto.

Canadian singers, under the experienced guidance of veteran directors from Europe's distinguished conservatories and stages, are a sell-out attraction at the box office of one of Canada's largest theatres.

The Royal Conservatory of Music's second annual opera festival opens here Thursday night at the Royal Alexandra. Last year was a sell-out. This year tickets for the nine-day presentation in which three operas will be sung, again are scarce. The festival now rivals the most popular touring attractions from England and the United States.

Gay Comedy

The gay Mozart comedy "Marriage of Figaro" starring Windsor's Marguerite Gignac plays Thursday night. In support of the promising young — 21 — Mozart soprano is Winnipeg's dramatic soprano, Louise Roy. Vancouver's Ernest Adams and Andrew MacMillan from Montreal also sing lead roles with Marjorie Hays from Goderich, in support.

"Madame Butterfly" opens Friday with June Kowalchuk of Regina singing the role of the little Japanese maiden Cio-Cio-San. Joan Hall, Winnipeg, plays her faithful servant Suzuki.

In the role of Lieut. Pinkerton is Jimmie Shields of Vineland, Ont.

Next Tuesday Gounod's "Faust" will open with the young Quebec tenor, Pierre Boutet, in the title role. The noted former Czechoslovakian basso, Jan Rubes sings Mephisto.

Mary Morrison of Winnipeg sings Marguerite.

In Supporting Roles

Others in supporting roles in the operas include: Winnipeg's Joan Hall, Virginia Kippert, of Kitchener, Gilles Lamontagne, Montreal, Jean Edwards, Calgary, and Barbara Franklin, Regina.

Head of the Opera School is Dr. Arnold Walter, formerly of Berlin, where he achieved international reputation as a composer.

Stage and artistic director is Hermann Geiger-Torrel, who has directed operas in his native Germany and now divides his time between the Toronto Conservatory and South American opera companies. Conductor and musical director is Nicholas Goldschmidt, formerly of Vienna and the United States.

Edward Johnson, former manager of the Metropolitan Opera, New York, is chairman of the Conservatory.

Testimony Ended

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP) — Testimony ended Tuesday in the five-week perjury trial of William W. Remington, former government economist accused of lying in telling a federal grand jury he never was a Communist. Remington, if convicted, faces a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $2,000 fine.

Canadian Meat Order Sidetracked To Britain

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Feb. 7—(AP). — Five thousand tons of New Zealand meat originally marked for shipment to Canada and the United States, probably will go to hungry Britain instead.

After the last cut in the British meat ration, New Zealand's Cabinet studied the idea of sending the meat to Britain instead, despite a resultant loss in dollars badly needed here.

An announcement approving the proposal is expected soon.

Police Clean Up Juvenile Ring

KITCHENER, Feb. 7 —(CP)—Nine youths were arrested Monday night in what Police Chief John Patrick describes as a clean up of one of the most sordid situations uncovered here in recent years.

Involved in the charges are about six girls, 13 and 14 years of age. The girls, some of whom admitted a series of shoplifting offences, will be turned over to the Children's Aid Society, police said.

Seven of the youths have been charged with having carnal knowledge and two with contributing to juvenile delinquency. They appeared before a Justice of the peace today and were remanded until Friday.

The offences date to last summer, police said. Oldest of the youths is 24 and the youngest 16. In most cases, the charges stem from association of one man with one girl, although in the case of the accused, the charge refers to relations with three of the group.

United Church Plans Appeal

TORONTO, Feb. 7 —(CP)—The United Church of Canada this month will launch "localized financial appeals" for a total of $1,500,000 for the building of 150 churches and 50 manses, it was announced Tuesday.

The Rev. Malcolm C. Macdonald, chairman of the National Committee for Church Extension, said that total needed is $2,288,500. The rest will come from home mission and United Church reserve funds and the missionary and maintenance fund.

The $1,500,000 is to be raised in cities where new churches are urgently needed; major needs are in Halifax, Moncton, N. B., Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Ont., Windsor, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver.

The Toronto objective is $500,000 for 25 new churches. Montreal will seek $500,000 for the building of about 15 churches.

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Randolph Churchill, son of Winston Churchill, was operated on Tuesday for a leg injury he received in Korea. Churchill was wounded last August while serving as a war correspondent.

70 years with one purpose ... policyowners' security

North American Life reports continued financial strength to its 140,000 policyowners at the close of its 70th year. The enterprising Canadians who founded the Company in the horse and buggy days of 70 years ago had but one purpose—the lifetime security of the policyowners and their families. That singleness of purpose has been a guiding principle since 1881.

Every day North American Life policyowners are benefiting from their protection in this Mutual Company. In 1950, policyowners and beneficiaries received $7,812,866, bringing the 70 year total of policy benefits to over $163,000,000. For the future, the Company holds over $144,000,000 in assets to meet obligations to policyowners who own life insurance and annuities totalling over $621,000,000.

The 70th Annual Report at a Glance

New Assurance and Annuities arranged	$ 88,350,772
Net Life Insurance and Annuities in force (Increase $67,652,263)	$621,988,890
Total Premiums Received	$ 17,506,557
Payments to Policyowners and Beneficiaries	$ 7,812,866
Liabilities to Policyowners and Others	$136,611,374

Total Assets (Increased $11,759,505)	$144,030,695

The Company is pleased to associate its life underwriters with this Annual Report. Like good neighbours, they have made their specialized services available to further the security of the Company's policyowners.

Peterborough Bus Lines regrets that it must announce the need for adjusting upwards one of its bus fare rates. The decision to raise the rate for adult riders was reached reluctantly and only after considerable study of the financial position of the company in maintaining an up-to-date system on the city streets. This decision is based entirely on the greatly inceased costs of operation, resulting from higher costs of buses, repairs and wages.

The following advance in fare will go into effect on Thursday, February 8th, 1951:

Adult Ticket Fare – 3 Tickets for 25c

(The former fare was 4 tickets for 30c)

We are pleased to state that all our other fares will remain at their former rate.

This adjustment in the adult fare is forced upon the company by higher prices, particularly for parts, tires and major operating items. For example, your company finds that the average increase in cost of vehicle parts in the last two years has been 40 per cent, while cost of tires has gone up 78 per cent. The increase in wage rates paid our employees is 20 per cent. These facts have compelled us to raise five-sixths of a cent each adult ticket. Our last previous change in fare was two years ago.

The policy of Peterborough Bus Lines continues to be to give Peterborough citizens the best service at lowest costs. Recently four additional new buses have been added to our fleet and every effort will be made in the future to maintain and improve our service.

Layton Defeats Yukon Eric In Main Bout Of Mat Card

Lord Athol Layton won the main mat match at the Brock Arena last night over Yukon Eric, two falls out of three, though the husky Alaskan claimed both his shoulders weren't on the mat at the count. This was probably so, but on the other hand Referee Bert Maxwell gave a quick count on his nibs when Eric won the second fall. The big crowd was divided in its affections for the principals but united in enjoying a real lively scrap throughout.

Layton, at 258 pounds, won the deciding fall in 11 minutes when Eric had a full nelson on him and was pushing him toward a corner. Athol threw his feet up to kick the corner post and flop back on the surprised and slower Eric, holding him there briefly on his back—still locked in the nelson—till the one-two-three count was completed. Each in turn had been nearly counted out in the hot third bout and both sweated plenty.

Evened It Up

The 275-pound lumberjack got the equalizing fall in 10 minutes when he came off the ropes to grab Layton by the legs and dump him for a quick count, Athol immediately rolling over on Yukon but too late. Eric had given his ludship the Alaskan business for a time, with hard smashes, chest rams and body slams, but the taller Englishman with a much longer reach offset this to some extent with his speed and use of judo side-hand cuffs. He was faster and trickier, but Eric was stronger and occasionally roughed it up in a pretty even tussle. Eric showed more speed than before and some ring experience, using an unconscious hold briefly to good effect.

Athol won the opening fall in 18 minutes with a reverse body scissors and some judo to slam big Eric around. He found many of his holds broken fairly easily by the strong Alaskan, but kept boring in and using his long reach to advantage as well as fast footwork. Eric several times had Layton down or in trouble in a corner, but the latter slipped away from his slower opponent and tore in again to keep it a hot match with plenty of noise made by the hefty gallery. The referee was fairly busy at times, usually warning Eric, but it wasn't an unusually dirty match.

Mask A Winner

The Masked Marvel—minus his manager, who is sick—won the semi-final in 23 minutes over 245-pound, coloured Seelie Samara. The Mask, at 243, showed a lot of stuff, much of it rough, and was often in trouble with the refree, while Samara got in some slick stuff at times, too. The Marvel wore a hood and he also wore a lump on the head halfway through from catching head butts from the canny Seelie. They mixed it hard most of the way with each in turn having a run of luck, but Seelie's ran out when his flying tackles ended with a knee to the groin. The Mask then picked him up and used the delayed knee back-breaker twice to flatten him, as the crowd booed the unpopular winner.

Kaye Bell, 242, from Los Angeles, flattened Toar Morgan, scaling 246, in 22 minutes of the preliminary bout. He softened him up with a series of cartwheels and then several flying tackles to pin his shoulders. Earlier, they were in and out of the ring in some rough going, Morgan using a lot of illegal ring stuff to draw jeers, with Kaye also getting in some doubtful work. For the first 15 minutes, Referee Maxwell was kept quite busy warning them and breaking up unethical grips, hair-pulling acts and so forth. It slowed things down at times, but they opened it up later, each in turn being tossed through the hemp, and coming back to fly about the ring in sissling and crowd-pleasing action. The fall was a popular one.

Butler Appointed Pro

TORONTO, Feb. 7 (CP).—Hal Butler, assistant golf professional at Thornhill the last four years, Tuesday night was appointed pro at Oshawa Golf Club. The 24-year-old Butler thus becomes one of the youngest golf professionals in Ontario. Butler, who has been playing golf since he was old enough to walk, won the PGA Canadian golf assistants title at Kingston, the only short-cut to becoming a full professional.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

It's an odd OHA junior "B" race indeed when Port Hope Panthers twice take Oshawa Bees into camp within a week and then the Bees down the local Oddfellows night before last. So now we have the Port Hopers playing the IOOF squad here tonight at 8.30 in Civic Arena, and anything could happen. If the Panthers are as hot as Oshawa found 'em, they might well upset the dope again on local ice and spill the IOOF-ers back into third slot. The top three teams are bunched like grapes: Lindsay, Oddfellows and Belleville. Every game in the short schedule left is quite important, and this one tonight will likely be a heated one.

* * * * * *

While the Petes appear to be home free in top spot in the senior "B" scramble, Kingston Nylons are making a determined bid to hurdle Eagles and finish second. The schedule only has two and a half weeks to go, and Nylons have four more games than the injury-riddle Eagles. Always a good fighting squad, we think the Eagles will drive hard from here in to clinch that second rung. The Petes probably prefer to have Eagles meet them first in playoffs, too, but Nylons intend to make a fight for it. Top two teams fight it out to see which ones goes "A" and into Allan Cup competition, the loser dropping back into "B" group playoffs.

Remember Fred Kelly?

A prominent local citizen — who doesn't care to have his name mentions — recently received a letter from Fred Kelly of London, Ont. Oldtimers will recall when this colored chap played hockey for the Petes a few season around 1913-14, being a fine right-winger and a real clean puckist. He chauffeured for A. W. Cressman, and was probably the only Negro ever to play hockey here. Fred expressed regret at the death of Rollie Glover, and he also mentioned the late Percy Bond and Grover Halpin. Asked about Cyril Giroux, Max Swanston and others, and thought this city must be still a good hockey town to support two senior "B" clubs.

Baz O'Meara of The Montreal Star was discussing television the other day and figuring it was cutting considerably into sports, lessening paid attendance at many games. He said: "So far, Canadian sports attractions have been immune, but when television gets in stride it will pose a problem fraught with headaches. There is an effort in some states to force television on sports promoters whether they want it or not. Until such time as the novelty wears off and television can be harnessed to the promotional end of the game, the same way that they did with radio, it may cause considerable perplexity to sports magnates." But it will probably never affect sports in a centre this size.

Yukon Comes A Cropper

A right hefty crowd took in the grapple bouts last e'en in the Brock Arena, and saw plenty of hard action. His ludship, Athol Layton, won the main go against Yukon Eric in a fine tussle. Layton is taller, faster and with an extra long reach, but Eric has tremendous strength and he's even showing some speed lately and ring savvy. They did some mighty tugging and tossing around before the ref counted Eric down, the Alaskan arguing after that both his shoulders weren't pinned. But 'twas a lively bout, in any case, between two head-liners. The Mask spread colored Seelie Samara in the semi-final but nursed a nasty headache for his efforts after a head butt that called for aspirin in sympathy in various parts of the house. Kaye Bell won the prelim o'er Toar Morgan. A good grapple card throughout.

Oshawa scribe expresses elation at the recent junior "B" puck win for Bees over Triple Links in the Motor City. They're trying to jockey for playoff positions now with the schedule ending a week from this Friday. First and third teams meet while second and fourth tangle in three-of-five semi-finals, the finals then being four-of-seven to be over by March 23. Having had little luck this season so far against Belleville Rockets, the Bees would like to by-pass that team in semi-finals, though admitting that Peterborough and Lindsay squads are no soft touches, either. The Kingdon crew is here tonight in a game, goes to Port Hope next Monday and winds it up Feb. 16 with the Lindsay Kin here.

Filchock Signs As Eskimo Coach

EDMONTON, Feb. 7 (CP). — Frankie Filchock, star quarterback with Montreal Alouettes for the last two years, Tuesday signed a one-year contract as backfield coach of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Manager Al Anderson made the annauncement Tuesday night. Negotiations between the club and Filchock were completed in Eastern Canada. No details of the contract were divulged.

It is understood that Filchock was signed as the eventual successor to Coach Annis Stukus, already signed for a third season. Stukus has repeatedly said he wishes to return to his former sports-writing job in Toronto after the 1951 season.

Filchock is not expected to see much action this season unless Lindy Berry, here last season from Texas Christian University, does not return.

The Montreal club had previously announced that it was willing to release Filchock provided he bettered his position by taking on a coaching job.

64 Top Horses Eligible For Preakness

BALTIMORE, Feb. 7 (AP). — Sixty-four top three-year-olds are eligible to enter the $50,000-added Preakness Stakes set for May 19 at Pimlico, the Maryland Jockey Club announced today.

At the top of the heap are Battlefield and Big Stretch, impressive sophomores last year. Missing from the list is Uncle Miltie, an early favorite for three-year-old honors this year, but he still can be entered as a supplementary nomination.

Battlefield stood out in last summer's campaigning with victories in the Hialeah Juvenile, the youthful, Tremont, Sapling and Hopeful Stakes as well as the Saratoga Special and the Belmont Futurity.

Big Stretch was an impressive second to Battlefield in the Belmont Futurity and drew a big following by taking the 1 1-16-mile Pimlico Futurity after encountering interference twice.

Only one filly was nominated for this running. It was Belair stud's Vulcania, second in the Demoiselle and the Selima last fall to Duval Headley's champion two-year-old filly, Aunt Jimmy.

The Preakness, bracketed by the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes to make up the traditional triple crown, carries only half the pocket money of its running mates.

Prominent eligibles other than Battlefield, Big Stretch and Vulcania include S. B. Mason's To Market; Mrs. Sarah Choit's Lord Putnam; Brownell Coomb's Bernwood; King Ranch's Black Douglas and Mazinga, full brother to Assault, 1946 Preakness winner; L. S. McPhail's General Staff, third in the Pimlico Futurity; Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Good Loser; C. V. Whitney's Mameluke; Woodvale Farm's Away Away, and Sam E. Eilson's Bugledrums.

Mrs. S. Lowe, Mrs. R. Morgan, Mrs. E. Welbourne and Mrs. H. Hamblin motored to Kitchener today to take part in the bonspiel sponsored by the Kitchener Ladies' Curling Club.

We're not sure of this, but it did look as if the bonspiel committee were quite busy last evening. No doubt making preparations for the big all-week open mixed bonspiel, March 12 to 16.

A number of mixed rinks from Bobcaygeon are coming down on Saturday evening for a friendly game.

Birch of Lakefield and Wilcox of Cobourg counted in the middle heat, as Blewett, Henry, Smith and H. Cane drew an assist each. Hunter and Hogan got penalties.

It was rough in the third with Birch, McMillan and Wilcox getting major penalties, as Conlin with two, Quigley, McMillan and Wilcox were given minors. CANADIAN SPORTS PARADE

WITH the country-wide lamentations over the loss of Canada's "old-fashioned" winters still ringing in our ears, I'm happy to note the frantic planning and actual construction of artificial ice rinks, now going on in several of our cities. Changing seasons, resulting in milder weather, have caused a major crisis for the game of hockey, due to the lack of natural ice. Facilities for practice and play have been generally limited, resulting in a serious drop in hockey interest, thereby endangering the game.

New Rinks the Answer

In many Eastern and Western cities, youngsters have turned their loyalties and energy elsewhere, with the result that basketball and other games have benefited.

Following the example set by several American cities, Toronto presently plans four artificial rinks, the first (Alexandra) due to open in two weeks time. According to Alderman William Davidson, Chairman of the Parks Board, the four rinks (each consisting of a skating surface and hockey-cushion) will cost nearly $400,000. Ultimately, the plans call for direct revenue from the users of the rinks, to enable the Toronto Parks Board to broaden their scope of operations. All in all, a worthy project—the most cheerful news in years for hockey lovers with an eye to the future.

Racing's Slot-Machine Bill

Currently, the United States Senate is deciding if the "Johnson Bill", calling for sweeping prohibitions against the transmission (across State lines) of any kind of racing news, will turn out to be a worthy weapon to help eliminate the syndicate bookmakers and their illegal betting. If the "Slot-Machine Bill" goes through, the repercussions will affect Canada simultaneously. According to Frank Armstrong, editor of the Daily Racing Form (Toronto), the Bill would strike a heavy blow to his publication and to the other racing mediums (radio, etc.) transmitting legitimate racing facts and figures. Mr. Armstrong states: "It is my opinion there is no syndicate bookmaking in Toronto. Anyway, where could a man bet a thousand dollars around here and be sure of a pay off?"

If the Bill becomes law, Canadian racing enthusiasts may have to drop all interest in American tracks, and even racing classics such as the Kentucky Derby will suffer accordingly. The Sport of Kings may suffer, for the sins of the few!

Argo Plans—1951

President Bob Moran of the Dominion Champions tells me that most of the 1950 players will be back in the line-up when the gridiron calls again.

Frank Clair will coach, Al Dekdebrun will return as Quarterback and the Double Blue will parade with Krol, Curtis, Whaley, Toogood, Westlake and the rest. The Argonauts are seeking just three American imports for next season—two linemen and a backfielder. If the imports are good enough to supplant the regulars, they'll play. If not, the Oarsmen will carry on in the victorious 1950 pattern.

National Health Week

Nowadays we are all so much on the go that most of us are apt to give too little attention to the finest asset we possess—our good health. We don't eat properly, we don't take the right amount of rest and fresh air, and in many other ways we fail to look after that delicate mechanism, our body. That's why National Health Week right now is a timely reminder of just how important health is, not just this week but all year round. Below are some valuable health rules suggested by the Health League of Canada. Let's follow them closely. Remember . . . "The First Wealth is Health."

- Eat right for health—follow a balanced diet.
- Get at least eight hours sleep daily.
- Exercise moderately in the open air—unless your physician advises otherwise.
- Avoid becoming over weight, but if dieting is necessary, diet only under the instruction of your physician.
- See your physician and dentist regularly for complete examinations.

Barrie Flyers In Top Spot Down St. Mike's In 4-3 Tilt

By The Canadian Press.

Barrie Flyers winged into first place in OHA Junior A standings Tuesday night by downing Toronto's St. Mike's 4-3. The win gave Flyers a one-point edge on Windsor Spitfires.

Toronto Marlboros moved into a tie for second place by taking Waterloo Hurricanes 4-2, while Galt Black Hawks chalked up their up their third home game victory in whipping Oshawa Generals 6-4, thereby staking an uncontested claim to seventh place.

The three scrambles saw the big ten's leading scorer, Generals' Lou Jankowski fatten his average with three goals, even though Galt was running closer to early-season form, Ken Wharram, Pete Conacher and George Gosselin grabbing a pair each. Alex Delvecchio got Oshawa's fourth.

A seesaw featured the Barrie-St. Mike's clash, with first Flyers and then Toronto ramming in three goals in rapid succession. Barrie's Jerry Toppazzini shattered the deadlock after the Jack White-Doug Towers-Real Chevrefils lead was matched by the Duke's Hal McNamara, Ed Plata and Willie Marshall.

Freshman goalie Bud Smith's efforts, smart as they were, failed to block Marlies' Parker MacDonald, Ron Stewart, Eric Nesterenko, and Ron Hurst, while Fred Pletsch was the only man on the last-place Waterloo gang to find the net.

Hurricanes' marked superiority in the first two periods faded after Marlies began to open up.

No OHA major games were played Tuesday night. Toronto's St. Mike's seniors tangle with Hamilton Tigers and Toronto Marlboros meet Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen tonight. Guelph's Junior A Biltmores play Stratford Kroehlers tonight as well.

MANITOBA 'SPIEL OPENS

Manitoba's 63rd annual bonspiel, with its 348 entries, got under way Tuesday with only one upset in the open draw.

The highly-regarded Cliff Hudson, of Winnipeg Strathcona, dropped his opening game, 13-12, to S. Britton, of Headingley, in the Birks competition—one of the two major events in 'spiel.

Louis Favored Over Cuban

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7 — (AP)—Joe Louis, as trim-looking as the fearsome Brown Bomber of a decade ago, is favored to knock out Omelio Agramonte of Cuba in an early round tonight and move a step closer to a return heavyweight title match with Ezzard Charles.

It is even money here the 36-year-old former world champion will stop the 190-pound Cuban in four rounds or less in their scheduled 10-round fight at Miami Stadium. The bout will not be broadcast or televised.

An attendance of 15,000 and a gross gate of $50,000 was forecast by the promoters.

Board Decides Phibbs Eligible

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 7 (CP)—Bob Phibbs has been declared eligible by the board of reference of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union.

The Western Mustang basketball star, whose eligibility was questioned by the University of Toronto, following a Western cage victory over the Blues was given a clean bill of health by "The Supreme Court" of intercollegiate sport.

Phibbs, who is taking a post-graduate course in business administration, was graduated from Western in 1949. Last season he played basketball with Tillsonburg Trojans. While completing his business course at Western this year, he has part-time employment is director of the Alumni Association and secretary of the Western Ontario Secondary Schools Association.

Professor N. C. Hart, president of the board of reference, said that Phibbs was okayed by a majority vote of the board of reference which consists of representatives from Varsity, Queen's, McGill and Western.

Jockey To Be Given Geo. Wolff Statuette

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 7—(AP)—For outstanding ability as a jockey, wee Willie Shoemaker will be given the annual George Woolf statuette at a public ceremony at Santa Anita Monday.

The honor was voted by the Southern California Turf Writers' Association. The 19-year-old rider won the co-championship for national riding honors last year, tying with Joe Culmone with 388 winners apiece. Their feat equalled the 44-year-old record held by Walter Miller.

Mrs. Genevieve Woolf-Cayer, widow of the turf's famed "iceman," a former western Canada rider who was killed in an accident here several years ago, will present the statuette to Shoemaker. The award is a miniature of the life-size statue of Woolf which stands at the paddock at the track.

Referee Jostled Open Inquiry

MONTREAL, Feb. 7 (CP). — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League Tuesday opened a full investigation into an attack on referee Hugh McLean in Toronto Saturday night in a scheduled clash between the Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks. Toronto won the game 6-3.

The exact nature of steps to be taken have not been made public.

McLean banished Chicago's Jim Conacher for slashing in the third period, touching off a loud Chicago protest.

When the outcry became too vigorous, McLean ordered Chicago coach Ebbie Goodfellow to leave his team's bench, Goodfellow refused and McLean then penalized the Hawks for delaying the game unnecessarily.

Hawk players and officials then swarmed on the ice en masse. In the ensuing scuffle, another player, Roy Conacher was accused of striking McLean and was banished with a game misconduct penalty and an automatic $50 fine.

Port Hope Redmen Trip Muskies 10-3

PORT HOPE, Feb. 7—Port Hope Redmen fortified their hold on second place in the OHA intermediate "A" loop Monday night when they downed Lindsay Muskies, 10-3.

Bill Rowden paced the winners with three goals while Norm Kelly and Harvey Gordon each accounted for two. J. Lewis Sr., B. Lewis and Abercrombie were the osing marksmen.

Frost Doesn't Agree Curbing Of Housing Loans

TORONTO, Feb. 7 (CP)—Ontario's Progressive Conservative government comes under fire today for the first time this session when opposition leader E. B. Jolliffe launches the throne speech debate.

It is expected the CCF leader will conclude his address by moving a vote of non-confidence in the government. Premier Frost will reply for the government. A vote on Mr. Jolliffe's motion, however, will not come until the end of the throne speech debate, which is expected to extend beyond a week.

The legislature Tuesday:

1. Heard Premier Frost express "entire disagreement" with a federal government decision to curb housing loans.

2. Was told by the premier that the government's horse racing controls were hampered because it had no jurisdiction over gambling at race tracks.

Mr. Frost termed a "retrograde step" the 20-per-cent reduction in building loans under the National Housing Act announced by federal Resources Minister Winters on Monday.

"Of all things to cut back, I think housing should be the last," the premier said. The federal government should have instituted a priorities system, rather than reduce housing loans.

Lack of Jurisdiction

Premier Frost said that lack of provincial jurisdiction in both gambling and communications facilities was a main problem in controlling operations of race tracks and bookmakers. The cure to the problem lay with the federal government, he said during debate on a bill to amend the Racing Commission Act. Principle of the bill was approved.

Federal controls over communication systems such as telephone, telegraph and radio made it difficult to strike at illegal bookmakers. As well, the federal government decided what legal gambling would be allowed at race tracks, he said.

The premier referred to last summer's provincial police probe of gambling in Windsor, where he said police found some places with 50 or 60 telephones.

"We may investigate, track down and take action, only to have the communications services restored," he said.

Would Widen Powers

The bill unuder discussion would widen the racing commission's powers over all phases of race track activity and allow it to take administrative, rather than legislative, action.

J. G. White (P.C.-Kenora) who made the motion in reply to the throne speech, asked for establishment of a new government department to deal with northern Ontario affairs. He suggested that it could act as liaison for northern Ontario districts, which depended more on government supervision than did southern Ontario counties.

O. F. Villeneuve (PC-Glengarry), who seconded the motion, called on the province to press for an early start on the St. Lawrence seaway and power development.

Mr. White said the former Ontario Liberal government had "fairly well scuttled" regulations which required that soft woods cut from crown lands should be manufactured in Ontario.

Cancelled Concessions

One of the first jobs of the Progressive Conservative government after it took office in 1943 was to cancel seven pulpwood concessions made by the Liberal government of Mitchell F. Hepburn, he said. The concessions, covering 13,729,280 acres, permitted extensive export of pulp wood.

Mr. White "approved to the full" the present policy of stopping this export for a limited period pending the report of the forest inventory now being made by aerial photographs.

He added, however, "I should not favor at the present time any policy which would prohibit the export of manufactured pulp, for we have to be realistic in such matters. For instance, we manufacture newsprint which enters the United States duty free."

One result of the government's 1943 cancellation of the seven pulpwood concessions was the construction of two new big paper mills at Terrace and Marathon.

"I have no doubt that when our forest inventory is completed we will find there will be a surplus of timber in our far north which, if not utilized, will remain a wasting asset," he said. The surplus was too isolated for economic use by existing lumber mills.

If this surplus was found, the government could consider relaxing its ban on export of raw pulpwood but leave the way open to reimpose the ban when expansion of present mills and construction of new mills was feasible.

No Evidence Other Bets Being Taken

Charge Dismissed Of Keeping Betting House

A charge of keeping a common betting house against Charles Griffin at the Glen Lunch, King St., was dismissed in police court today.

"The evidence is such," said Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., "that I am prepared to find there was a placing of bets by Constable Miller with the accused."

However the magistrate said there must be other evidence that the premises were kept open and used for taking bets.

There was no other evidence of bets being taken or paid off other than the evidence of the officer. On that ground he said the court should follow the precedent set down by a higher court and dismiss the charge.

Griffin was arrested by members of a provincial police anti-gambling squad who carried out a series of raids Jan. 13.

Provincial Constable John Wesley Miller testified that Nov. 25 about 12.30 p.m. he entered the Glen Lunch. He handed Griffin a $5 bill and asked Griffin to place $1 to win and $1 to place on Seaward in the seventh race at Bowie racetrack near Baltimore.

He said Griffin put the bill in his pocket and handed back $3. He said he then phoned and said to someone on the other end, "Hello Murph, one to win and one to place on Seaward."

Nov. 27 about 5.15 p.m. he went to the Glen Lunch again and the accused handed him $1 and a $2 bill saying "I owe you $3."

Placed Second Bet

Dec. 2 he went in and placed another bet on Blue Fedora. This time Griffin wrote nothing down and made no call. About 5.30 p.m. Dec. 5, he went back to the lunch counter and Griffin handed him $2.90.

The constable said he placed another bet Dec. 9. Asked if that horse won him anything, the constable said "No, the horse ran out."

Jan. 9, Corporal J. Cronin met him in the vacant lot beside the bus terminal on King St. and in a car gave him two $1 bills of which they kept the serial number.

The following Saturday, Jan. 13, when the anti-gambling squad moved into the city and made a series of raids, Constable Miller went back to the Glen Lunch. He gave Griffin the two marked bills and asked him to place bets for him on Your Sun.

Notes In Notebook

This time Griffin phoned again, but the constable was too far away from the phone to hear what the accused said.

On none of these occasions, he said, was there anyone in the lunch bar that he knew or recognized by sight. He knew little of the circumstances of placing the bets except for what he had ten down in his notebook.

Questioned closely about when he made the notes, the constable said he made them the first chance he had in the privacy of his room. Sometimes it would be within an hour after being in the Glen Lunch. Other times it could be about five hours. He could remember no exact details of when he made the notes on any one particular occasion.

Two of the days he had notes of visits to other establishments. But he said in neither case did he make the two entries at the same time. Both times he made his notes concerning one episode before he moved on to the next.

Constable Miller said he was 22 years old and had been on the police force 11 months. He said he came to Peterborough Nov. 10 and within a week started to work at the CGE. He roomed at the YMCA as John Wesley.

He said he was not sure what the ruling was about keeping the money he earned at the CGE, but so far he had kept it. He said he was paid a salary by the province of Ontario.

Denies Constable's Story

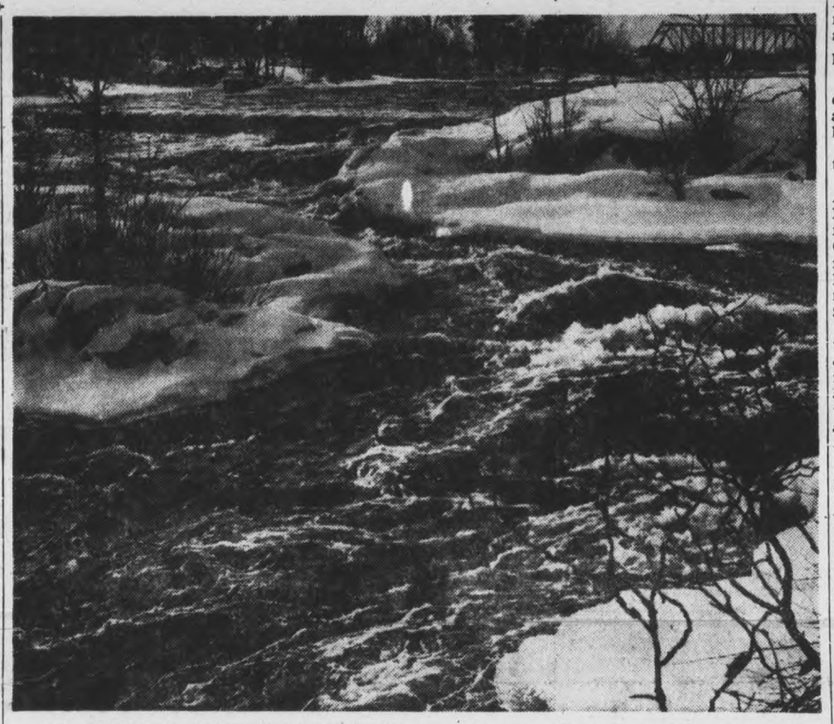
Griffin said he had seen the constable in his lunch counter "on a few occasions." He said he always bought some sort of lunch, but "never had any conversation with him about horses."

He said he had never received any money from the constable as a bet to be placed on a horse, had never placed a bet for him and had never paid the constable any proceeds of any bet.

Jan. 13 the constable came into his lunch counter and bought a cup of coffee and two doughnuts. He paid for them with a $1 bill. He put the bill in his cash register.

His assistant told him the till was low in nickels. He got a roll of nickels from another part of the small building and put them in the till. To keep the cash register balanced he took out two $1 bills.

One of these he put in his wallet and the other in his pocket so he would have money handy to buy beer when he went off duty a few minutes later.



While in the beverage room he received a phone call from his assistant and returned to the lunch counter to find two anti-gambling squad officers waiting for him.

They asked him to turn out his pockets and in his pants pocket he still had the $1 which matched the bill that he had given to Constable Miller a few days before and a $5 bill.

The $5 bill had been to buy something for the lunch counter, not for beer, he said. The three glasses of beer he drank in the hotel, he had paid for with some change he had in his pocket.

Fancy 1950 Plate Not Russian At All

The 1950 rear licence plate on the new-model car purring along George St. this morning was stared at. The big car was American type, but the lettering on the plate looked slightly Hungarian or even Russian. An Iron Curtainer in our midst?

But no, there was the Peterborough call-letter 'J' followed by four numbers, and above, the word 'Ontario,' the crown, and the '1950.'

The explanation for the odd-looking 9 and other figures was: the plate was home-made. A good copy, too, if not quite professional in the lettering.

Whether the law allows home-made licence plates or not is a matter for the police. But probably the car owner lost his original rear plate only a few weeks ago, and thought it wasn't worth getting a new one, when the 1951 plates were available so soon.

When will he get the '51 plate? The authorities have not yet laid down a deadline beyond which carrying a '50 plate, homemade or otherwise, will be an offence under the law.

Old Hospital Furnishings Bring $3,000

Will Open School On October 1 To Accommodate 200

The sale of the Nicholls hospital property to the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada was completed Tuesday for a total of $73,000.

Included in the sale are the five-acre tract of land, the old hospital proper, the nurses' residence, and the laundry—valued in all at $70,000. An additional $3,000 is for the furnishings and other contents, a separate item of sale.

The property will accommodate the new Eastern Pentecostal Bible College, now in Toronto. It will be a school for 150-200 Pentecostal students. Residence will be on a semi-permanent basis through the seven-and-a-half month school year.

Pentecostal Assemblies have already submitted their bid cheque of $10,000, promised immediate payment of the $3,000 for furnishings and other contents, and payment of the remaining $60,000 by June 1.

Monday night city council split 8-2 in favor of the sale. Aldermen Miller, Dewart, Gillespie, Waddell, Young, Burrows, Rehill and Braund were in favor; and Aldermen Anglesey and Graham voted against it.

Decision Explained

A rival bid of $75,000 was made on behalf of the Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Archbishop of Peterborough.

Council decided not to accept this bid for several reasons.

1. Dealings with Pentecostal Assemblies were direct, but the Bishop's bid was through the realty agency of Braund and O'Toole. By the time the usual five-per-cent commission was lopped off this would bring the net offer of the Bishop down to $71,250.

2. The Bishop's bid required the closing of the 12-foot right-of-way around two sides of the nurses' residence on Argyle St., and this was to be conveyed to the purchaser. There was no similar request from Pentecostal Assemblies.

3. Councillors pointed out that in the original call for tenders there was a provision that the would-be purchaser must state what use he would make of the property. There was no mention of future use in the Bishop's bid.

4. While it was not mentioned specifically, it was assumed that the Bishop's $75,000 bid included furnishings and other contents, a separate item of sale. In a previous bid of $50,000 this was the understanding.

5. The influx of some 200 people, living here on a semi-permanent basis, would be almost as beneficial to the economy of the city as a new industry.

Bought Furnishings

On Tuesday representatives from Pentecostal Assemblies clinched the deal with John Hornal, Civic Hospital superintendent, selling them the furnishings and contents — including beds, dressers, refrigerators, and other fixtures—for $3,000.

Representing Pentecostal Assemblies were the Rev. J. H. Blair, Toronto, president of their Toronto Bible College; the Rev. C. B. Smith, Toronto, general superintendent of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada; and the Rev. W. H. Found of Montreal.

"It seems an ideal location for a school," said Mr. Blair. "And the building seems suitable for our purpose. We appreciate the kindly feeling of the city officials toward us."

He and his colleagues said that the school year would start October 1. Some renovations would have to be made—painting and redecorating and changing some partitions.

Accommodate 200

It is too soon, they said, to outline exact plans. But some 200 students will likely be accommodated, half of them women. There will be a permanent staff of 10 as well as some part-time instructors. The college will be completely shifted from Toronto to Peterborough.

Most of the 67 rooms in the old hospital and the whole 24 rooms in the nurses' residence will be for dormitories. Present plans call for three or four classrooms.

It will be a three-year course for the students. Only theological studies will be taken.

When they are graduated the men will be student ministers but they will have to complete two years of field work (summer ministry work, Sunday school teaching, etc.) before they can become ordained ministers.

The women students when they are graduated will also do field work. Eventually they will become deaconesses.

Interviews at the Navy's first mobile recruiting unit at the city buildings Tuesday dropped from the opening day's 45 to 26. Instructor Lt.-Cmdr. L. M. Picard said that the results are still "better than expected".

A. McClellan Appointed Census Taker

Canadian Nose Count Beginning June 4 To Be Speediest Yet

Arthur J. McClellan has been appointed Census Commissioner for the federal riding of Peterborough West by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The actual work of taking the ninth census of the people of Canada will not begin until June 4, but Mr. McLellan said today the local preparations will be under way in the near future.

Population of Canada, including Newfoundland, has increased by about 20 per cent since the last census in 1941. Mr. McClellan was the local commissioner at that time.

Intention of the Bureau of Statistics is to obtain the "most complete, accurate and speediest census in Canadian history." The "count of noses" every ten years was authorized by the British North American Act of 1867, and the first census was taken in 1871. The rules then drafted have one effect in the adjustment of provincial representation in the House of Commons.

M.P.'s Based On Population

An amendment of 1946 provides that the number of member of the Commons shall be 255, and the representation of the provinces is to be determined by the dividing total population of the provinces by 254, and by dividing the population of each province by the quotient so obtained.

Membership of the Comomns was increased from 254 to 255, including one member from the Yukon.

Representation of Quebec was increased by the 1947 adjustment from 65 to 73 members, Ontario from 82 to 83, Nova Scotia from 12 to 13, British Columbia from 16 to 18.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan each lost one seat, the new representation of Manitoba being 16 and Saskatchewan 20 members. Three other provinces were unchanged: at New Brunswick 10, Prince Edward Island four, Alberta 17. Seven seats were allotted to Newfoundland on its entry into Confederation in 1949, raising the total membership of the House to 262.

Outside Pupil Charges Upped

Increased cost of education in Peterborough is going to mean increases to boards with which the city Board of Education has agreements if the recommendations of the finance committee are approved. At a meeting on Tuesday night it was decided to recommend that the S.S. No. 1 board of North Monaghan be charged 73 cents per pupil per day the cost to the city ratepayer and that any other student from outside attending the city schools be charged the same rate. Kindergarten pupils are an exception.

The charge to non-resident pupils attending PCVS other than those paid for by country and High School boards will also be upped commencing Sept. 1.

The committee recommended the appointment of Charles Ray as insurance broker.

Camera Club Show Stolen By Port Colborne Pictures

"Are these photos or drawings?" one lady asked another as they looked at the pictures now on display in the Public Library gallery—the annual exhibition of the Peterborough Camera Club. The question was a tribute to the technical skill, for instance in printing, of some of the exhibitors.

E. W. Glover's photograph of the Lift Lock is developed with line-drawing and brush wash effects; P. Lonseth's "Sands of Sable Island" has an unique montage effect; P. Astle prints (e.g., his good beech glade) have an Edwardian print tone. That such a question should occur implies also a slight asperity. A photograph is a photograph, and photography is supposed to be an art in itself. It should not, except as a tour de force, ape painting, engraving or any other of the visual arts.

The show as a whole is as good as last year's, and there are individual advances. One notes an annual someness in the printing techniques already mentioned. One might yearn for something fresh that gives the viewer a new experience; even something startling. If photography is an art, not a skill, it must have artists.

The Glover photographs are, as usual, exceptionally competent, sufficently varied, and pleasing, but the palm goes this year to C. Selby Rickards. His compositional technique is excellent, his eye alert and there is no overstudied air. There is a good sense of texture, for instance, in his flowers and his winter scenes.

Jackson Park View

William J. Harrison has a fine study of azaleas, and a recollective picture of the centennial fireworks over Little Lake. George de Long shows a graceful, surprisingly beautiful aspect of Jackson Park: the pond at the pagoda in early morning light. R. Williams has an arresting portrait. N. D. Seaton has several pleasant things, rather conventional without justification of the convention. There is a good Seaton portrait study. W. H. Staffen is not conspicuous in the show. A. Humphrey has one item of note.

The show is stolen by a well-displayed, obviously select wall of prints from Port Colborne club. The Peterborough club is to be commended for inviting this excellent group to exhibit with it. Individually, the Colborne photographers may not be better than Individually, Port Colborne photo-club, but the total effect is better due to such things as the cyclamen design by F. White, the tone of the village church and the butterfly on the twig by F. Leach, the birds and winter bullrushes and the habor scene by G. B. White, the spontaneity of the two children in a mud pile by McKellar.

Local professional photographers are exhibiting by invitation. Garfield, Myers, Choate and Roy studios have taken advantage of the invitation. This gives accomplished amateurs the opportunity to stack their work against the professionals, and it gives the professionals a chance to show what they can do apart from stereotype wedding and funeral and baby pictures.

Anybody who likes pictures will enjoy this show. It hangs until the 16th. Members of the club are exhibiting their colour films (or slides) a week from Friday.

Life Of Small Wage-Earner Greatest Untold Story

By JACK SCOTT

VANCOUVER, February 7 — To properly assess the effect of today's prices on the so-called Average Canadian you must ignore the statistics (although they are deeply disturbing in their own right). Concentrate on the warmer story of people.

Listen to the reflections, for example, of a Peterborough electrician. He makes $45 a week and finds it not enough to keep his family decently. What does the cost of living mean to a worried electrician in Peterborough? Here's what he says:

"It means that you lie awake at night trying to find a way out of the endless squirrel cage of eat to work and work to eat.

"It means advertising for odd jobs to do at nights after regular working hours and thanking God that you're handy with tools and have been able to make most of your furniture.

"It means shelving that pet project dreamed about for years because material would cost too much.

"It means watching the want ads for a cheaper house to rent.

It means seeing your wife's clothes grown worn and shabby and feeling sick inside because you can't buy new ones.

"It means staying at home when you'd give your eye teeth to go to the local pub with your friends for one cold glass of beer.

"It means watching the cars roll by and knowing bitter envy because you can't afford a battered jalopy.

"It means sitting and watching your small infant son at play and swearing to yourself that he'll have at least an adequate education to cope with a rough old world. Above all else it means that each night you thank God to have a wife who doesn't complain and nag and has a reassuring word for every turn of the road."

When you read that kind of thing in letter after letter you begin to grasp what life is like for the small wage-earner, the nation's greatest untold story.

Frayed Nerves

Another typical case: A New Westminster couple, each approaching 40, with three school children and nothing in the bank. He is a civil servant with an income of $190 a month. He writes:

"Our meals are wholesome and abundant, but plain. Our meat consists of pot roasts, hamburger, stew, sausage and occasionally liver. Fortunately my wife is a very versatile person. She is an expert at fixing left-overs.

As for the future . . . I don't know. We need a new washing machine, stove and practically all the furniture in the house. My son, 13, is starting to talk university, but what hope is there on my wages?

"One thing is sure. We are missing a lot that we should be having. Tempers get a little frayed and nerves on edge and the kids can't always understand why things have to be as they are."

Or consider the familiar, undramatic facts in a letter from Mrs. V. F., of Vancouver, who has three children and a husband whose take-home income is $166 monthly plus $16 family allowance. (Almost every letter mentions the family allowance as if it were some sort of unexpected prize.)

Here are some excerpts from Mrs. F.'s letter:

"We dress in rags and hand-me-downs. The boys both need winter coats, but they will have to wait. We get our shoes mended so many times I'm ashamed to take them to the cobbler. My husband owns one three-year-old $25 suit. He's still using his army shirts and socks . . .

"Entertainment? Don't make me laugh. If we want to go to a show we have to figure $3.50 at least, counting baby sitter and carfare. We do most of "going out" separately . . .

"The niggardly, cheese-paring measures with regard to food are what hurt me the most. My children are growing up without knowing the taste of a thick, juicy steak. Pot roast is the best they ever taste and that not often . . .

"Under this regime we can't even think about saving. We have only just enough in the bank to cover our checks. We're always broke before payday . . ."

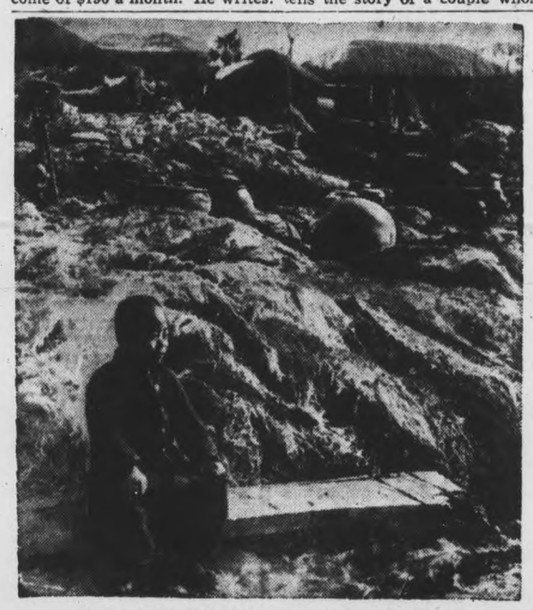
Young Couples

Today's high costs affect well-established households and they affect the homes of younger married couples.

A Mrs. F. W., of Vancouver, tells the story of a couple whose marriage was born of the high cost of living. Her husband is a school teacher with an income of $3,000 a year. "We had intended to wait a year to save money," she writes, "but we were both paying so much for board and room separately that we thought it cheaper to go right ahead."

Mrs. W. describes a period of opulence while she worked, but when a baby came along they found themselves involved in that old, familiar struggle to keep out of debt. "We are not exceptions," she writes. "Most of the young couples we know are having an equally tough time."

A somewhat similar struggle is described by Mrs. R. H. W. They are a young married couple without children. Her husband is in an electrical firm. Makes $45 a week. "On this salary we are just able to keep our heads above water," she writes. "We have to dig into our savings for any major purchase of clothing, any unexpected item such as new glasses, and for holidays, if any."



She describes ome of the concessions they've made:

"Things like never being able to buy an interesting new novel when it appears—or a favorite record album. Thinks like having to watch every slice of a roast, when we infrequently have one; or deciding that we really can't go to that first-run theatre downtown because the admission and carfare add up to more than we can really spare, what with payday still five days off. Know what I mean? It's not that we're really in need — but golly, life could be an awful lot fuller if there just weren't a continual gnawing complex that there's no money to be even a little bit careless with!

"The net result is that, whether we like it or not, I've got to go back to work for another indefinite period. Our hopes of raising a family will just have to be postponed a while longer."

ANDY HARROLD, of St. Augustine in Florida, shakes snow from a palm that was covered when a two-inch snowfall blanketed the old city for the first time in over 40 years as a cold spell held many of the southern states in its grip.

A KOREAN YOUNGSTER sits in the smouldering ruins of his home in the Suwon area Saturday after the house had been destroyed by fire. Native water jars are the only possessions recognizable in the ruins of other native homes in the background.

Watch Prices Gordon Warns

MONTREAL, Feb. 7 (CP) — Donald Gordon, chairman and president of Canadian National Railways, said Tuesday night that there are dangers associated with runaway prices and that any form of controls must be appropriate to the economic conditions of today and the foreseeable future.

Controls can only supplement and not supplant the process of holding civilian demand within the range of available civilian supply, said Mr. Gordon in his address, as a private individual, before the ninth annual conference of the Canadian Retail Federation.

Comunist fifth columns would rejoice at an upward jump in prices and would "work diligently to speed up the whirling spiral of wages and prices if it gets started."

The burden of lost purchasing power would fall on "the weaker and unorganized elements in our society and on those who have been prudent and thrifty.

At the same time, "dogmatic statements either for or against government controls of whatever degree during a period of emergency are not conducive to clear thinking."

"Runaway inflation is so destructive that any method of stopping it, no matter how difficult and clumsy it may be, is surely the lesser evil."

Health Of Immigrants Worrying Senator

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 — (CP) — Senator F. W. Gershaw, a doctor from Medicine Hat, Alta., said Tuesday in the Senate he had heard that many immigrant displaced persons had been taken to hospital soon after arrival in Canada.

He said he did not know how thoroughly displaced persons were examined before being accepted. But he would urge that they be given a most careful medical screening.

He had heard reports of many found to have tuberculosis and other chronic diseases. They had gone to hospitals, thus aggravating the country's shortage of hospital beds.

HASTINGS, Feb. 7 —(ENS)— Group II of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church met at the home of Mrs. D. E. Scriver, with Mrs. Cecil Oliver in charge of the worship. Two humorous poems by Miss K. German and reading by Mrs. M. Rymerson were well received followed by social hour and tea.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Allan Tucker played piano duets. The sum of $11 was realized from the evening's entertainment. Lunch was served.

Reach All-Time High

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP)—Production of electric energy by Canada's central electric stations reached an all-time high of 50,795,294,000 kilowatt hours in 1950, the Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday. Ontario advanced to 13,437,351,000 kilowatt hours from 12,166,042,000.

Refused Reward

FORT ERIE —(CP)— When Mrs. Arthur Wisbey unwrapped some ribbon purchased at a local store a diamond ring fell out. She returned it to the owner, the proprietor of the store, and refused any reward because she said it was her duty to return it.

The musical drama, which has been staged in the leading capitals of Europe with a cast including several Canadians, is presented by Moral Rearmament Incorporated, an organization sponsored by the Oxford Group.

Broadhurst, who made personal appearances in Canada in 1938, also wrote the lyrics and collaborated on the score.

What is Canada's Largest Flesh-Eater?

The Orca, or killer whale, is Canada's largest carnivorous mammal.

Strange as it may seem, it is true. This mammal is thought to live entirely on the flesh of seals and other warm blooded creatures. The diet of most other whales is comprised of certain types of tiny marine life.

Nothing is stranger than nature . . . and nothing is more enjoyable. We must all help protect it by promoting conservation within ourselves, and amongst others.

Demand Equality In Arms Burden

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The economic co-operation administration told western Europe Tuesday to "distribute the burden of re-armament" fairly among all income groups to maintain popular support for the west's defence effort.

"If the cost of re-armament is to sacrifice the economic gains of the past 2½ years, re-armament may become highly unpopular in western Europe," it said.

The Marshall plan agency gave this advice to the 16 participating governments in its 10th quarterly report to Congress on recovery in western Europe

The nearly $10,000,000,000 the United States has given to western Europe under the Marshall plan, it said, has accomplished "the most difficult part of the reconstruction task."

To preserve the "remarkable gains" achieved through the Marshall plan, it said western European governments must "take prompt and effective action" to adjust their national economic policies.

Chinese Twist Shown In Paris Styles

By FLORENCE MILLS.

PARIS, Feb. 7 (AP).—Long hemlines and fashions with a Chinese twist to them were displayed when style-setting designer Balenciaga unveiled his spring styles here Tuesday night.

So far, hemlines have been stabilized just above mid-calf level, but this Spanish designer drops them on slender suit skirts about an inch below this point. The last word, however, won't be given until Dior shows his spring styles.

The Chinese influence is mainly in loose, coolie-style jackets and coats of anything from rough piled wool to taffeta, fine velveteen and crisp white pique.

Balenciaga introduces Jerkin-suits, slender skirts topped by jerkins that have to be pulled off over the head, as they have no other opening. Most of them have large, round neckholes rimmed with a narrow cuff, notched at the sides to give the appearance of lapels.

Rounded Look

Suits, for which this designer is famous, have a definite rounded look at the shoulders for, besides using no artifice whatsoever, he also sets most of his sleeves in at a line well below the shoulder. His jackets fall only about eight inches below the waist—shorter than most other designers.

Balenciaga uses a tremendous amount of white pique. He employs it for revealing little blouses to go with his suits, for dresses, jackets and coats.

Balenciaga's color scheme is gay to an extreme. He pairs palest blue with cafe creme, sky blue with tea rose, lime green with stark orange. He favors mustard, golden brown and emerald green for his long coolie coats.

AN OVEN-SUPPER dish to fit nicely with your hurried winter schedule is this: Rice baked in condensed tomato soup and topped with well-browned little sausages.

The soup gives a good moistness to the rice. And there's flavor a'plenty from the smooth tomato sauce, savory sausage, and onion. You'll dish it all up in no time, once the family gets a taste of this combination.

DOROTHY DIX

Business of Marriage Not Economic Arrangement

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Is marriage simply an economic arrangement? Is a man a good husband if he is a good provider? Should his wife be satisfied if he has given her a comfortable home, food and clothes, and sufficient amusement and recreation? Likewise is a woman a good wife just because she is a good housekeeper and cook and has kept a man's home clean and livable? If marriage is nothing but a business proposition, why should a person marry? He can provide for his physical needs much more easily and cheaply by living at a club or hotel and not be bothered by the idiosyncrasies of a woman.

Dorothy Dix

A PUZZLED MAN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The average man considers himself a good husband if he provides his wife with a nice home and pretty clothes and a good car, and if he is reasonably easy to get along with. And if these are not enough to make her happy he shrugs his shoulders and says that women are queer creatures and nobody can understand them and there is no satisfying them.

For the life of him he can't see why a woman who has a mink coat should still long for a little warm affection from her husband.

And many women consider that they are good wives when they are merely good housekeepers. In those sad cases in which middle-aged husbands forsake their wives for "the other woman" the deserted wife always calls upon Heaven to witness how well she did her duty; how she pinched pennies and worked to help her husband get a start; what a good cook she was; what a thrifty manager; how tightly she kept his buttons on and how neatly she darned his socks.

Ignores Spiritual Side

But she never tells of giving him any spiritual sustenance. She never tells of how hard she tried to understand him; to enter into all of his hopes and plans; of her studying and reading to make herself interesting to him; of her being gay and tender and loving. Maybe the reason she doesn't is because the women who feed their husbands on the bread of life don't lose them. Maybe it is only after men have starved along on husks that they jump the bars and go out hunting forbidden fruit.

Of course, in one sense marriage is a business proposition because it is a partnership in which a man and woman invest their all, and it is bound to be a failure if the man is not a good provider and the woman is not a good housewife. But it has to have something more than that to make it a success. It has to have lolvel landl slylmlpathly and und love and sympathy and understanding and comradeship. It has to have angel's food as well as bread and butter.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a sophomore in college and want to finish my course. For the last three years I have been going with a girl with whom I am very much in love. She tells me that she is I marry her very soon she will tired of waiting on me and unless not marry me at all. When I tell her that I can't support her and go to school she says that I don't support herself. I don't want to have to support her, that she will support her and because she do that because I know I should would also have to help me support my mother. This girl also believes a report about my being married to another girl. What can I do about it?

R.D.

ANSWER: Your love affairs are altogether too involved for a schoolboy to handle, so I advise you to cut out romance for a while and give your mind to your studies. It will get you farther.

No lad in college should think about marriage. He is too young. His tastes are too unformed. Besides, if you tie yourself down with a wife to support before you have got a start in the world you are hanging a millstone around your neck.

Anyway, any girl who tries to bulldoze a boy into marrying her when he knows he shouldn't do it isn't the type who will make a good wife. She will be unreasonable and selfish and you should thank your lucky stars if she does go off and marry somebody else.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: How can we cultivate a feeling of love, appreciation and respect for our parents who have never taugt us these things? They are good to us. We have almost everything we want and do as we please, but we seem to have no feeling for them. Is it all our fault that we are this way?

TWO SISTERS

ANSWER: No. Your parents are to blame. You are as they have made you. All children have to be taught the amenities of life. Many parents through ignorance or indolence ignore this.

The love of a child for its parents must begin in the cradle, but surely you can cultivate an effection for your father and mother by remembering their kindness to you, and you can show some appreciation of the generosity that has followed you all of your life.

For Bad Winter Cough, Mix This Syrup Yourself

If you want a splendid cough medicine, mix it at home. It costs very little, yet the way it takes hold of distressing coughs, giving quick relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with a 2½ ounce bottle of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) It's no trouble at all and gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps to clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a very reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Special Menu When Budget Is At Low Ebb

Pardon my frankness today. Nobody's slip is showing but I'm puzzled about how some people manage their finances.

I personally know some folks who have steak and mushrooms or lamp chops, or chicken or calves' liver or pork tenderloin seemingly one dinner right after another —and what's more I know what their income is. The simple reason for that is that the wife tells. She is telling it to boast. Some of her listeners think it is prety puny peanuts.

Now this inevitable mention of last night's menu might be conversational razzle-dazzle. (But I often wonder about such things as whether they carry any insurance.)

One thing I can be sure of we —the Moores—have to space those luxuries and dine in between on hamburg and omelettes and boiled dinners, to keep our financial ship on even keel.

I tried what turned out to be a low-cost slick trick one night when our meat ran low. All that was left on the meat shelf in the refrigerator was much less than a pound piece of sweet pickled back bacon.

I was going to the groceteria anyway and while there I spotted some thin-cut lamb chops. (When I'm having a lamb-chop dinner though I like them cut two inches thick don't you?). For each one of us I bought one thin lamb chop. My idea was to have a mixed grill. It looked and tasted like company stuff, but required very little in extra cash.

Each member of the family had: 1 half-inch lamb chop, 1 thick slice back bacon, one-half tomato, - large mushroom. All of them were broiled at the same time. To make this feasible I took the big grate away from the broiler pan and replaced it with a trivet from the roaster and put the lamb chops in the centre and the bacon on the sides. This left space on the bottom of the pan for the vegetables, at the sides. They sizzled in the meat juices and tasted wonderfully.

The family enjoyed the variety and change, and yours might too. so remember a mixed grill when supplies have to be stretched.

Other Mixed Grill Combinations

(1) Crumbed, parboiled, sliced sweetbreads with pineapple rings. (Try to get beef sweetbreads sometimes; they are half the price of calves' and very good.)

(2) Sausages, apple rings, cooked potato slices covered with grated cheese.

(3) Baby beef, calves' or chicken livers, side bacon and thinly sliced sweet onions brushed with French Dressing.

(4) Thin meat cakes on toast rounds and cooked carrot slices brushed with butter or French Dressing.

(5) Lamb patties with parsnip slices brushed with butter or French Dressing.

(6) Pickerel fillets with halved tomatoes crumbed or buttered.

P.S. The rest of my grill meal consisted of a large dish of scalloped potatoes, head lettuce in wedges with Pink French Dressing and Bavarian Cream in individual moulds with cold black cherry sauce.

P.S. No. 2 Watch next week for some attractive gelatine desserts.

Britain To See Canadian Styles

TORONTO, Feb. 7—(CP)— The British fashion world will have a look at spring styles from Canada.

At the suggestion of the British Board of Trade, a group of Canadian models will fly the Atlantic with creations of 40 designers for a showing March 10.

They are to take along women's, girls' and children's garments of sheer woollens and opaque nylons which they expect will be new to the British trade. In addition, they will display high-style shoes, bathing suits, sports wear, negligees, nightgowns and jewelry.

Plans call for Queen Elizabeth to attend the showing.

Included will be the work of designers from Vancouver, Toronto, Montreal and the Maritimes.

Bishop Stresses Parent-Child Relationship

The pre-school period when children spend the greater part of their time with their parents is extremely important. When you are dealing with children, you are doing a job that will last for life. In an adress on "Child Psychology" before the combined Parent-Teacher Associations of the city, held at St. Mary's Hall Tuesday night, His Excellency Bishop Gerald Berry emphasized these points and stated that children's minds "open up" at an earlier age than what is popularly supposed.

"The first trick a child plays on you is a sample that the child is using his brains and, since he planned it, he has indicated that he has judgement and intelligence."

Bishop Berry went on to outline the difference between psychiatry and psychology—a difference which perhaps is misunderstood in some cases. Psychiatry is a science which deals with problems from a medical standpoint and with so-called mental cases. Psychology on the other hand is a study of man in his spiritual operations — the combined "body-soul" and all the things that underlie.

Learning Through Emotions

Children learn through emotions and parents should be alert to the child's needs. And, since their first learning comes through emotion, love is the main bridge by which the learning is transmitted to them from their parents, he said.

"We have all seen adolescents whom no one could reach emotionally. When they were ready to respond as children, quite likely there was no one there or they were brushed aside. A 'do nothing' attitude can be very harmful. What happens in early childhood can, in many cases, be reflected years later in the behaviour of grown-ups."

Fear is also an emotion and the child may show the effects for a long time, stated Bishop Berry. However, having respect for one's parents was important. "I have talked with some parents who stated they had never raised a finger to a child but we do know that some parents have the ability to discipline their children with the 'eye'."

Social Learning

A child learns sooner or later how to get along with brothers and sisters and later with an enlarged circle of friends and relatives under the guidance of the parent. He soon realizes that he must establish a means of getting along with others. Children can be innocently taught prejudices and parents can limit a child's socialization by taboos. The speaker again emphasized that what happens in early childhood can be a predominant feature in the adult.

Children are not as alike as two peas in a pod, said Bishop Berry. They are not naturally compelled to love each other. Heredity has very little to do with their action. Children may adopt the visible characteristics of a parent but, as to their intelligence and temperament, little can be traced to their father or mother. "Some of the most noted revolutionaries that ever walked across the face of a continent received their training in a family circle," audience

Bishop Berry reminded Association members.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. F. J. O'Sullivan, introducing the speaker, informed the Parent-Teacher Associations that Bishop Berry was giving the first in a series of lectures on the subject of "Child Psychology". Bishop Berry was thanked by Bill O'Toole. The next lecture by Bishop Berry on the same subject will be held at St. John's parish next Tuesday evening at 8 p.m.

English Team In Bad Shape

ADELAIDE, Australia, Feb. 7 —(Reuters)—England with her three star batsmen out, her captain a doubtful starter because of a road smash, and still needing 389 runs to win, was in bad shape today at the end of the fifth day of the fourth cricket test against Australia.

Australia, which has already clinched the series with three straight wins in the best-of-five series, carried their second innings to 403 runs for eight wickets before declaring, leaving the Englishmen to score 503 runs in just under eight hours on a wicket giving help to the spin bowlers.

England got off to a promising start, scoring 74 runs before the first wicket, that of Len Hutton, hero of England's first innings, fell.

Then England slumped. Cyril Washbrook was out soon after Hutton. Denis Compton, once the mainstay of England's batting, was out to the second ball he received without scoring.

Compton, who captained the side in the absence of Freddie Brown, thus becoming the first professional to captain an England test side, has scored only 31 runs in six test innings in Australia.

Brown, who had five stitches in his knee after a car crash Tuesday, said he intends to bat somehow Thursday.

Australia also had a casualty today. Jack Iverson, their chief spin bowler, had an ankle injury and Sam Loxton substituted for him.

City Carpetball

The league schedule for the week of February 12 is: St. George's No. 10 vs Quakers No. 4; LOL No. 2 vs Glens No. 6; SOE No. 8 vs Fire Hall No. 9; Legion No. 3 vs Legion No. 7; and Legion No. 5 vs St. Luke's No. 1.

League games last week provided some upsets which proved costly. Quakers at home against the LOL team captured both games. The first was won by scoring the most singles and the Full-o-Pep team emerged ahead 9-6. The second game was all King Billie until the 6th frame, then the Quakermen applied the pressure and held their opponents scoreless for the balance of the game and scored sufficient themselves to take it 15-6.

At the Legion Hall the Firemen met Legion No. 7. The Smokeeaters were leading 10-5 going into the 11th frame with one ball on the kat and five opponents' balls scattered around. Then the Big Bens' skip took aim, and the score was tied and the bewildered Fire-laddies failed to score in the last frame, losing it 12-10. The second game was 5-0 for the Big Bens before the Fire-fighters recovered from the previous game but they had enough left to take a very close one, 10-9, from the Big Bens.

At the "Old Citadel" with the Sons fighting against the attack of the Glens and, although SOE were holding them 9-6 going into the 10th frame, the Glens outflanked them by scoring 3-3 and 4, to take the game 16-9. The second was a hard-fought battle, but again the Sons went down to defeat 10-8.

St. George's at home against St. Luke's received the biggest surprise of the week. The first game saw St. George's come from behind in the 11th to tie it up at 11-all and then scoring a single in the last frame to sneak a 12-11 victory. The East City Midgets cames from behind in the 4th end of the second game to tie it at 3-all and were never headed off from a 13-7 victory over the Southenders.

Legion No. 5 were hosts of the Legion No. 3. And the "Old Sweats" dropped both games to Legion No. 3 by scores of 11-19 and 6-11.

The President's Cup game between St. Luke's and LOL was a rip-snorter of a series and was a tough one for the loser. In the first game LOL had to come from behind to tie it at 5-all thus causing two extra ends, and the Midgets scored in both to take the game 10-5. The second game was won by LOL in the early frames and they tied the series up by their 9-6 victory. The final game saw the Midgets leading 10-1 going into the 5th end, but again the Orangemen came from behind and scored a big 5 in the 8th frame to deadlock it at 10-all. In the first extra end St. Luke's scored but in the next end the LOL gang came through with a 4 to eliminate their opponents 14-11. Good going, St. Luke's.

The first heat of the doubles first round was played last Wednesday and LaPlante and O'Donoghue were defeated by Lundy and Cummings in two straight although extra ends were required in one game. Scores were 9-8 and 7-6. Nice and J. Wilson took the third game to eliminate Craig and Bartley by score 5-9, 9-4 and 14-10. Gimblett Jr. and Sorrie lost the third game to McLean and Hopgood and were thrown out by scores of 9-3, 9-11 and 9-7. Three games were again required before McPhee and Robinson eliminated Thackery and A. Pilling by scores of 11-5, 5-8 and 11-4.

Doubles to be played: Wednesday, Feb. 7: Nicholas and Gimblett Sr. vs Page and Parsons, also Metcalfe and Honour vs Harrison and Whitehead at 7 p.m. sharp; Varty and Rumary vs James and Foster, also Rusaw and Douglas vs Price and Sims at 9 p.m.

Doubles schedule for Wednesday, February 14: No. 17 vs No. 18, and No. 19 vs No. 20 at 7:00 sharp; also No. 21 vs No. 22 at 9:00 p.m. No. 23 bye into next round.

The second round of the President's Cup draw is St. George's No. 10 vs SOE No. 8.

An executive meeting was held Sunday and it was decided to sponsor the Happy Day minstrel group for two nights at the Collegiate in March or April.

League stading, February 3:

	W	L	T	P	A
Glens No. 6	17	11	0	34	53
Quakers No. 4	15	10	3	33	54
LOL No. 2	14	9	5	33	52
St. George's 10	15	11	2	32	55
Legion No. 3	13	10	5	31	51
SOE No. 8	14	12	2	30	52
Fire Hall No. 9	13	11	4	30	51
Legion No. 5	13	12	3	29	48
Legion No. 7	10	16	2	22	45
St. Luke's No. 1	3	25	0	6	38

The standing shows new leaders with the Glens in top spot and still only five points behind is 8th position.

All winners of cups and trophies last season should turn same in now, so the executive can have them replated and ready for the new winners.

New Wave of Floods

ROME, Feb. 7—(AP)—A new wave of floods and avalanches has taken six lives and caused widespread damage in northern Italy. Rail and road communications with Austria were broken by slides on the roads through the Brenner and Tarvis passes. The railroad from Venice to Bologna was cut by the floods of the Reno river.

Out Of Tune

CHINGFORD, Essex, England (CP).—Chingford's women were holding a concert and they had just reached the line "and glory shone around" when all the lights went out. It was an electric power cut.

BBC Listeners Still Getting Gloomy News

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, Feb. 7 (CP).—When Britain's radio bosses announced the names of a group of newscasters, humorists in pubs across the country reacted as one man.

"It seems to me," they said sagely, "that what this country needs is not so much new announcers as new news."

The news was certainly grim. Black January saw extra gravediggers called out to deal with influenza victims; beef-eating Britons reduced to weekly servings of meat the size of a matchbox; a coal crisis crippling train services and electricity supplies in a country that is "sitting" on coal; and a new defence program which calls for close to £3,000 (about $9,000) a minute for the next three years.

Calamity, in short, seemed just around the corner. So much so that politicians such as Toronto-born Beverly Baxter, coming back to Britain from North America, said they felt entitled to a medal just for daring to return to this embattled island.

Is it really as bad as all that? Is the average Briton as hard hit as newspaper headlines may lead overseas readers to believe? Well, the domestic shortages are real enough, and there are signs that they have had a sharp effect on public opinion.

Stalemate Broken

A few months ago the country seemed pretty well divided between the Labor government and the Conservative opposition. Now it is confidently asserted that the political stalemate has been broken, and that Winston Churchill's Conservatives would return to power if a general election were held.

Most independent observers are convinced that Labor election experts agree with this analysis. Therefore, it is argued, Prime Minister Attlee will try to stay in office until next fall, hopeful that this winter's depressing developments will be forgotten if the days ahead are brighter.

That seems a doubtful hope. Whatever government is in power Britain will have difficulty superimposing her expanded defence program on an already-taut economy. Although it was announced several weeks ago that recovery corner had been turned at least, that the country was finally paying its way and that Marshall-Plan aid would be suspended, the success story is still in search of an ending.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Walter Brown, general manager of the Boston Garden, said Tuesday that "Connie Smythe doesn't know what he's talking about when he says hockey isn't promoted properly in Boston."

Smythe, president of Toronto Maple Leafs, said at a press conference Sunday that Boston hockey interests weren't making the most of the big area from which crowds might be drawn.

"I don't believe there is a city in the world that can equal Boston in the promotion of hockey," Brown told a hockey luncheon.

"I don't think Smythe knows what he is talking about. I think we here in Boston do a great job of hockey promotion, and what's more we are not going to stop promoting it as long as I have anything to with it. Boston, in my opinion, is one of the world's greatest hockey cities."

Stan Musial said Tuesday he expects "somewhere in the neighborhood" of $100,000 to swing his bat for St. Louis Cardinals this year.

The 1950 National League batting champion was coy about naming any specific figure which might embarrass his negotiations with Cardinal owner Fred Saigh.

But asked about reports that he is demanding $100,000, Musial replied: "Well, somewhere in that neighborhood."

Veteran pitcher Dick Fowler became the 21st player to join the Philadelphia Athletics' 1951 roster when his signed contract was received Tuesday.

Fowler, a native of Toronto, retired from active playing the middle of last season, suffering from bursitis of the arm. His record shows he won one, lost five. He had a 15 and 11 record in 1949.

A week ago President Truman, in his congratulatory letter to the National League on its 75th anniversary, voiced the hope "may the sun never set on baseball."

Tuesday the National League announced its 1951playing schedule containing a record number of 208 night games with St. Louis Cardinals setting the pace with 53 arclight tilts.

Santa Anita's epidemic of mishaps added another name Tuesday when jockey Ray York was thrown from his mount, sustaining a fracture of the collar bone.

The 18-year-old rider was thrown heavily at the start of the sixth race when his mount, On the Spot, stumbled. The horse was not hurt.

Last month Goetz' Your Host, insured for $250,000, fel l and broke a leg. It ended his racing career.

Miss Wilson was born and educated in Emily township. While still a child, with the rest of the family, she moved to the farm north of Omemee, now owned by her brother Wesley. And she lived there the rest of her life.

Hastings Juves Get Win Over Havelock

HASTINGS, Feb. 7 (ENS). — The Hastings juveniles beat Havelock 10-4 to open their best-of-three OMHA series here last night. A good crowd saw a fast, rugged game. The line of Stevenson, McMillan, and Herrington shone with Isaacs solid on defence, the whole team going well.

Herrington and McMillan scored in the first, Stevenson twice helping, while Laing and Pollock got Havelock's goals, Bales aiding on one. In the second, Colby, Dodd, Cobbledeck, and McMillan hit the mark, Stevenson assisting on three and Isaacs on one. McMillan, Dodd, Condon, Stevenson scored in the third, the latter aiding on three, and Herrington on one. B. Laing from J. Laing, and one by Ruttan from Chase were the Havelock counters. Teams:

Hastings — Goal, D. Montgomery; defence, R. Isaac, B. Chambers; centre, P. Stevenson; wings Jack Herrington, A. McMillan; alternates, W. Dodd, B. Cobbledeck, D. Condon, L. Gummer, V. Colby.

Havelock—Goal, J. Southward; defence, P. Kumpf, B. Pollock; centre, B. Laing; wings, R. Pollock, J. Laing; alternates, Gordon Bales, J. Chase, G. Heath, J. Thompson, A. Patterson, J. Ruttan, Charles McLean.

Manitoba Fifth To Handle Rent Controls

By The Canadian Press

Manitoba has become the fifth of Canada's 10 provinces to decide on legislative action to control rents when the federal government abandons the field April 30.

Provincial Secretary Charles E. Greenlay said in the legislature Tuesday that rent control legislation will be brought down before the end of the present session. He gave no details.

He spoke just before the House was to deal with a resolution by Donovan Swailes (CCF, Winnipeg Centre) asking the government to consider imposition of provincial controls.

Previously Quebec, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Ontario had either passed or promised legislation.

One Exception

A sixth province—Newfoundland—is an exception since it has had its own rental controls in effect since before it united with Canada in 1949.

In Regina, Liberal leader Walter Tucker moved a want-of-confidence motion in the CCF government. He contended government proposals to aid municipalities were inadequate because they did not include taxing of commercial Crown corporations or abolition of the two-mill public revenue tax.

Vote Held Later

A vote will be held later on Mr. Tucker's motion which came at the close of a 140-minute address in the throne speech debate.

In Quebec, Colonization Minister Begin said the provincial government is having difficulty interesting people in settlement of farmland in newly-developed territories.

He said his department has available for settlement 12,000 to 15,000 colonization lots which have been classed as suitable for farming. But despite such inducements as $3,200 premiums to each settler and construction of houses and clearance of land there was apparently a reluctance to become pioneers of new territory probably because of the attractions of high wages in established parts of the province. Mr. Begin spoke during debate on a bill to extend for two years a $16,000,000 government settlement program.

Millions In China Said Facing Starvation This Winter Under Reds

(Editor's Note: M. Sivaram, Reuters and Press Trust of India correspondent, recently spent several weeks in Peiping studying the new Communist China at first hand).

By M. SIVARAM.

BOMBAY, Feb. 7 (Reuters). — The Chinese people today work harder than ever before, yet remain poorer than ever.

That paradox sums up the economic scene in the new China after a year under the Communist regime. One foreign critic sums it up: "The rich people are poor, and the poor people are poorer."

Millions are facing starvation this winter. Unofficial reports speak of acute famine conditions in Anhwei, Kiangsu and Shantung Provinces in East China, in Hopei and Pingyuan Provinces in North China, and in several districts in the southwest. The number affected is estimated at nearly 100,000,000.

Yet, according to official statements, China has a large food surplus, despite two bad crops following floods and drought. More than 1,000,000 tons of food grains and flour went to Russia this year and it was said in Peiping that China had another 1,000,000 tons of rice to spare if India was prepared to exchange it for jute.

Fund Collection

The famine and distress is not mentioned by Chinese officials nor the official Chinese press. But millions of government workers are contributing a sizable share of their meagre salaries to the national famine relief funds.

In "pre-liberation" days, China imported nearly 2,000,000 tons of rice a year from Thailand and Indo-China. Even so, there were periodical famines. Today, those imports have ceased.

Food grains are transported to the cities to feed China's 90,000,000 urban population. But while there are stacks of foodstuffs everywhere in Peiping, Tientsin, Shanghai, Nanking and other cities, villagers living a few miles away haven't enough to eat.

On the labor front, official propaganda says the Chinese have come into their own. Factory workers sit at a conference table with employers and are able to buy essential requirements at government-controlled prices. But earnings have dwindled because factories and workshops produce less, make less profits and are faced with a slump in business, complicated by government controls.

In those provinces where land reform has been completed, peasants who received small plots of land have found cultivation difficult and uneconomical. Surrender of a large share of the crop in tax to the government is compulsory.

Even in the rich plains of Eastern and Southern China, peasants produce only just enough to feed themselves and keep the tax collector away.

Salaries and wages are calculated in terms of the cost of food grains—which in practice enforces rigid austerity on every one.

An average government official above the clerical grade, gets a starting salary of about 200,000 JMP (Jim Min Pao—people's money—about $8.40) a month. Half of this is usually deducted to cover boarding and lodging. Chinese clerks employed by foreign concerns receive as much as 10 times the government scale of pay.

In Peiping, a well-dressed man or woman is rarely seen on the streets. And any one who goes out in an expensive dress acquired in the days before the "liberation," receives a call from the police, accompanied by searching questions regarding the wealth they suspect he has hoarded away.

THIS WAS A PLANE—This is all that was left of a civilian Beaver aircraft after it crashed into Lake Tessier, 200 miles north of Ottawa, killing all four aboard. The wreckage was found after a four-day search by the R.C.A.F.

Havelock Sponsors Girls' Club

HAVELOCK, Feb. 7 (ENS) — The Havelock Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Bert Jewell on Monday afternoon with the second vice-president, Mrs. Harry Pollock, presiding.

Mrs. F. Bennett, the assistant leader of the Girls' Club, reported that five girls have purchased the material and patterns for costume slips. The needlework part of the club program is under the direction of the leader, Mrs. William Copp, with Mrs. Bennett looking after the record books each member is required to make. Miss Jean Noble of Bowmanville is expected to attend the club meeting next Tuesday to inspect the garments made by the girls, which are to be displayed on Achievement Day, March 31, in Peterborough.

Started In January

The Girls' Club started to function the beginning of the year. Their officers are: President Lois McKay; secretary Dorothy Graham; treasurer Darlene Hadley; lunch convener Beverley Bennett; press reporter Jean Kennedy.

A letter was read from Mrs. G. MacPhatter, secretary of the Central Ontario Area Women's Institute, informing the branch that quilt competitions should be sponsored in all districts this year to be judged at the district annual meeting, the specifications for the size, material, etc. to be the same as last year.

The treasurer reported a bank balance of $80.68 and that $23.50 had been realized from the sale of tickets on the quilt and $23.50 from the tea held recently.

Mrs. F. Bennett presided for the program period when Mrs. Gerald Buchanan gave a reading "The Legend of St. Valentine." Miss Beverley Bennett gave a demonstration in rug making, and Miss Shirley Jewell danced the sword dance in Scottish costume. Mrs. H. Pollock was the accompanist for community singing and Mrs. F. Bennett entertained with several piano solos.

Sharm. Douglas Takes Job In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7 (AP)—Sharman Douglas has abandoned the international social whirl for a $150-a-week job in Hollywood.

Not long ago, Miss Douglas was the glamor girl of the United States Embassy in London, where her father, Lewis Douglas, was ambassador to Britain. Today she lives alone in an apartment near Hollywood and is intent on a career as a public relations counsellor for RKO studios.

"Of course, I don't know whether I'll end up a career girl," she remarked. "That depends on how I like the job and how it likes me. But it certainly is interesting and I'm anxious to make a go of it."

Liaison Girl

Miss Douglas' official title is "liaison between the Gabriel Pascal unit and RKO." Producer Pascal is going to make the film version of George Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion."

"I just went to work last Thursday and I'm not quite sure what I'm supposed to do," she admitted. "I do know that I am going to work with Jean Simmons, who is starring in the picture. I will help her meet people out here and assist in her publicity."

The success of Martin and Lewis' "At War with the Army," despite knocks by the critics... The general uptrend in movie business, thanks to better product and the war boom...The Elizabeth Taylor-Stanley Donen handholding, right out in the open... The continued excellence of the Tallulah Bankhead air show... And is Jack Benny, who opposes it on another network, worried?

Ontario's 1950 Liquor Sales $196,790,174

TORONTO, Feb. 7.—Ontario drinkers downed $88,816,669 worth of liquor during the year ending March 31, 1950, according to the report of the Ontario Liquor Control Board tabled in the legislature Tuesday. Total sales of spirits, beer and wine amounted to $196,790,174, of which $102,800,000 went to the federal, provincial and municipal governments.

Sales of spirits, beer and wines were up 7.1 per cent over the previous year. Sales of beer through brewers' retail stores totalled $103,590,232. Sales of wine totalled $4,383,273.

The report shows the commission's total net income was $39,780,787, with the revenue from permits and fees totalling $11,416,780 of this. The commission's net trading profit was $28,304,007 which went to the government.

The sale of domestic beer showed an increase over last year of $3,198,001, a jump of 3.2 per cent. Imported beers increased 38.8 per cent in gallonage. Domestic wines showed a drop in both sales and gallonage.

Besides the revenue it earned for the Ontario Government, the Liquor Control Board also paid $31,276,092 to the federal government in customs and excise duties.

Federal coffers were also enriched by $31,000,000 for malt duties and taxes on domestic beers and wines.

"Therefore," the report states, "the grand total of revenue payments received by the federal, provincial and municipal governments was $102,800,000 as a result of levies on alcoholic beverages."

Nine liquor stores were built during the year, bringing the province's total to 158. Eleven brewers' retail stores were opened in that time.

The report shows 814,566 persons in Ontario or about one-sixth of the population held liquor permits and 95,590 permits were issued to non-residents. In addition 2,600 special permits were issued to druggists, doctors and hospitals.

During the year 4,116 persons had their permits cancelled, 20 by judges' order; 1,213 for drunk driving; 806 for breaches of the Liquor Control Act, and 2,077 for other reasons.

Work On Saturday Or Lose Jobs Army Tells Railmen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. (AP)—The United States Army served notice on striking railway men today that they will be dismissed unless they report for work by 4 p.m. EST, Saturday, or can prove they were physically unable to work. At the same time, the Army placed in effect hourly wage increases effective as of last Oct. 1, for men who have had no increase since September, 1948. Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr., announced the order shortly after President Truman had instructed that the Army take necessary action for full operation of the railroads. Truman told a press conference striking railroad workers had run out on an agreement like a bunch of Russians.

The Army said the wage increase would be of an interim nature pending final setlement of the dispute between railroad management and unions over wages and working conditions.

The wage boosts provide 12½ cents an hour more for yardmen and five cents an hour additional for employees in road service.

Recommend Legislation

The army order said the army will recommend Congressional legislation to assure resumption and continuance of normal rail service if the unions and the operators fail to settle their differences "within a reasonable time."

The army order is based upon authority received from Truman last Aug. 25. The army took technical control of the principal railroads at that time to end a strike.

The army order said the work stoppages which began in December and broke out again Jan. 30 are "the unlawful actions of a relatively small group."

Pending at this time are contempt-of-court actions against the Brotherhood of Trainmen, based on allegation the union has disregarded court orders against a strike.

Truman volunteered his remarks on the rails situation.

He opened his conference by reading a prepared statement which said he had been "gravely concerned about the interference with essential military and civilian railroad transportation".

Intolerable Act

"It is bad enough in other times; it is intolerable in an emergency".

He paid tribute to "the vast majority of railroad workers who have stuck to their jobs in spite of their grievances" and to "the strikers who returned to work when advised of the dangers of the tieup".

However, Truman added, "there are still some ill-advised or irresponsible men who are disregarding the emergency needs of their country".

Heavy Snowfall In W. Ontario Ties Up Traffic

By The Canadian Press

A snowstorm whipping southeastward off Lake Huron and Georgian Bay today continued to make highway travel difficult in the western portion of Southern Ontario, especially in the London and Stratford areas.

Provincial highways in those sections were reported "heavy," with a high wind causing drifting in the wake of the plows, while many roads in rural areas were blocked.

Elsewhere in the province, the weather was clear and cold. Moderation was forecast for southern areas by late Friday or early Saturday, with the outlook for continuing cold in the north east and west.

A few hours after the storm started late Wednesday, railway plows went into action in the Stratford district for the first time in more than a year. At times through the evening, highway plows halted when the swirling snow prevented operators from seeing their way.

Deep Drifts

Eight inches of dry, powdery snow fell in the Stratford area. The wind speedily swept it into deep drifts. At the same time, the temperature dropped to about zero.

School buses serving the Stratford Collegiate Institute completed only part of their regular runs Wednesday night. Drivers set out today, but expected to make partial trips again. Many rural students spent last night in the city.

Provincial and county snowplows resumed their battle with the drifts at dawn.

All rural mail carriers started out on their routes today, but few expected to reach all the homes on their usual rounds.

Traffic tie-ups on No. 4 Highway kept a busload of Westminster Hospital patients from London from seeing a hockey game in Stratford. The bus in which they set out from London broke down. Then, on their way again, they found their way blocked by a transport truck that was sprawled across the highway.

Becomes Snow

Weather observers at Malton, near Toronto, said the north-west wind was picking up moisture from open stretches of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay and carrying it to heights at which it became chilled and fell as snow.

The storm today did not extend to the Niagara Peninsula or to the Board Rejects Railway Appeal

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP).—The Board of Transport Commissioners today dismissed an application of the Canadian railways to have the Supreme Court of Canada review the circumstances under which the board granted a 20-per-cent increase in commuters fares in 1950.

The railways, through the Canadian Passenger Association, applied for leave to have the Supreme Court consider whether the increase was sufficient to cover out-of-pocket expenses incurred by the railways in transporting suburban train travellers.

The board declined to grant this leave, considering that this expense had been covered by a judgment issued when the increase was granted in October, 1950.

Lunar Occultation Of Venus Observed

TORONTO, Feb. 8, (CP).—That "big diamond" many western Ontario residents saw hanging on the moon Wednesday night wasn't a chunk of the earth blown skyhigh by atom bomb tests.

Dunlap observatory said the unusually big star was a "lunar occultation of Venus" caused when the moon came between the earth and Venus at 5:39 p.m. Immediately before this Venus looked particularly bright and very near.

The observatory spokesman said lunar occultations were fairly rare and that another could not be expected this year or next with Venus. It might happen with several other bright stars, however.

3 Killed, One Badly Injured When Train Plows Into Car

3 Casualties Reported From Toronto

One Other Woman In Hospital, Crash Near Manilla

MANILLA, Feb. 8. (Special)—Three Toronto persons were killed and another injured today in a level-crossing collision near here. Manilla is 16 miles west of Lindsay.

Police said the four were on their way to a funeral when their automobile was struck by a Canadian National Railways Lindsay-to-Midland train hauled by a Diesel electric locomotive.

The dead were tentatively identified by police as Newton Gostlin, 77; Tim Strachan, 75, and Mrs. Strachan, 73.

The injured person, Mrs. Carrie Gostlin, 75, was taken to hospital at Lindsay, with bruises and shock. Police said she was in the front seat with her husband, believed to have been the driver.

Hit At Intersection

The train was made up of a locomotive and combined baggage car and passenger coach. It struck the eastbound car at the intersection of Highway 7 and carried it along on its cowcatcher for about 100 feet.

The body of one man was found tossed out of the wrecked vehicle and lying beside the tracks. And the bodies of a man and a woman were found in the back seat.

The cowcatcher of the train was damaged but none of the train crew was injured.

Trunk Torn Off

G. F. Nixon, Manilla garage operator, said "the trunk was torn right off the car. Apparently the car had almost made it across the tracks when the train hit."

H. McCabe, driver of the lococotive, said he applied his brakes when he saw the car approaching the crossing. He said the operator of the car apparently saw the train a split second before the crash and tried to swing around in front of the engine.

The car was hurled through a fence and landed about 100 to 125 feet down the tracks.

Plant Explosion Kills 9, Injures 40

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 8 (AP)—Nine men, and possibly more, were killed today by an explosion that roared through the minerals building of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company.

More than two score other persons were injured, some of them critically.

Bodies of six victims were brought from the scene to the Ramsay county morgue. Three other victims were dead on arrival at Ancker (City) Hospital.

It was reported that three more bodies had been removed from the wreckage. Whether they were among those at the morgue could not be checked definitely.

Cause of the explosion was not determined.

An early report from the Ramsey county coroner's office gave the number of dead as 15. This report said there were "eight dead in hospitals and six or seven more bodies that we can't get out."

A supervisor said there were 60 men in the six-storey building when the blast came as the shifts of workmen were being changed. Several workmen said they had heard there was a gas leak in the basement just before the explosion.

The company manufactures, besides "Scotch tape," industrial abrasives and undercoating materials for automboiles.

Bodies Mangled

Bodies of some of the dead were described as "mangled."

An emergency infirmary was set up in the nearby general offices of the firm to treat those with lesser hurts. Those more seriously injured were taken to Ancker (city) and private hospitals.

Two hours after the blast Ancker Hospital reported its supply of blood for transfusions was exhausted and emergency calls for donors were made.

Fire that broke out was quickly brought under control and extinguished by most of St. Paul's firefighting equipment called to the scene.

The blast broke several thousand windows. The explosion was felt two miles away.

FACE SCALDED

A three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Cuddahee of Lindsay was treated for a scalded face yesterday after she pulled a hose from a washing-machine.

Denies Fall Caused Injuries

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP) — Dr. Max Klotz today stated that few, if any, of the more than 60 injuries found on the body of Francis J. Sullivan could have been suffered in a fall.

The Ottawa pathologist continued to give testimony for the Crown in the Ontario Supreme Court trial of Mrs. Marion Sullivan, 48-year-old Toronto woman, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of her 52-year-old lawyer husband.

Describing the many bruises and abrasions found on the body, Dr. Klotz stated:

"The wide distribution of the injuries and the large number of them causes me to wonder whether any of them could have been self-inflicted."

Continuing, Dr. Klotz said he believed it probable that injuries to Mr. Sullivan's head were mainly responsible for fatal haemorrhaging in the left cerebellar hemisphere.

Believe Mao May Become Tito Of Asiatic World

BELGRADE, Feb. 8 (Reuters)—Yugoslav Communists believe that Mao Tse-tung, leader of Communist China, may one day become the Tito of the Far East.

Already, they believe, Soviet Russia and Communist China do not always see eye to eye.

Foreign Minister Edward Kardelj, in a recent speech to the Yugoslav People's Assembly, spoke of a "germ of controversy" having manifested itself "in the struggle between Russia and China for influence and hegemony in Asia."

The Yugoslav line of thought is manifest in an analysis of events in the Far East published in the semi-official Yugoslav Review of International Affairs.

The Review argued that Russia deliberately set out to stir up trouble between China and the rest of the world and to obstruct her entry into the United Nations because she had become uneasy about her great neighbor.

For the same reason she decided upon a more-active policy in the Far East to reassert her influence there.

Kardelj said Russia chose precisely the moment—at the end of 1949—when it appeared that the Peiping government might be generally recognized and admitted into the UN to put her spoke in the wheel.

The Russian UN delegate "put the question of the unconditional recognition of the new government in the form of an ultimatum," he wrote.

"This ultimatum and the boycott which followed its rejection could only have the effect of making it practically impossible for the United States government immediately to give recognition to the Peiping government."

Shell Blast Kills Five Workers

ST. PAUL L'ERMITE, Que., Feb. 8—(CP)—Five munitions workers died here in the first fatal accident at the Crown Arsenals Ltd., plant in seven years but, plant officials said today, work was resumed an hour later by the expressed wish of employees themselves.

The explosion occurred about 2 p.m. Wednesday when a 5.5-inch shell went off in a small wooden shop.

Edouard Vezina, 61 Angelbert Fortin, 47; Alfred Krem, 38, whose home is at Vancouver and who was working as an inspector; Norbert Desrochers and Norman Charbonneau, 25.

J. D. Chisholm, manager of the plant, told reporters:

"We are very proud of the people who work here. After the explosion we asked them whether they wished to resume work. They went right back".

The plant manager said it will be difficult to establish the exact cause of the explosion which rocked this community about 15 miles east of Montreal proper. An official investigation by government experts is under way.

"We have never had an accident of this particular type in any shell-filling plant in Canada and during the war and since we have filled millions of shells", said Mr. Chisholm.

Reinforcements To Leave Soon

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP). — Posting of the first Canadian army reinforcements to Korea is imminent, it was learned Wednesday.

The reinforcements, a small group of 40 to 50 infantrymen from the special force at Fort Lewis, Wash., are slated to join the 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry after flying across the Pacific.

Arrangements have been made to keep a flow of reinforcements going to Korea while the Patricias are in action. The battalion is expected to go into action soon.

The first group of new men will be used to fill gaps that have occurred in the battalion since it reached Korea a few months ago and began intensive training.

Bandit Holds Up Bank Escapes With $1,474

MONTREAL, Feb. 8 (CP). — A lone gunman held up the Peel and St. Catharine Street branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia today and escaped with $1,474.

Witnesses said the bandit was unmasked, but had his face "painted up" and wore a handlebar moustache.

Bank officials said the loot included $495 in mutilated bills which were to be turned back to Bank of Canada for destruction.

Teller Robert B. Plante told police that the man shoved a revolver through the wicket and held out a paper bag, demanding "all your money."

US Tanks Shelling Seoul Red Resistance Crumbling

TOKYO, Feb. 8. (AP)—US tanks shelled Seoul's blackened ruins today and howitzers, wheeling into easy range, plastered Chinese positions north of the frozen Han River tonight. Puerto Rican infantrymen seized a commanding height only 4½ miles south of the former Korean Republic capital. The entire Allied line advanced another mile or more toward Seoul. The eighth Army said:

"Destruction of Communist forces in the pocket south of the Han in the Western sector, the objective of the current phase of the limited offensive, is proceeding and may sum up as a sizeable victory in terms of enemy losses.

"No further implications should be attached to the present situation."

Cool Appraisal

That was a cool military appraisal of a two-week series of armored punches and bayonet charges that have rid the snow crusted ridges and valleys of thousands of Chinese on Seoul's approaches.

The Eighth Army has estimated more than 57,000 Red casualties most of them in the western sector. Now the Chinese had their quilted backs to the Han.

Red resistance was crumbling. In some sectors there was no opposition.

U.S. 25th Division tanks shelled Seoul at noon Thursday. Howitzers of the veteran American 3rd Division rolled into position after nightfall and sent shells screaming over the Han into Chinese positions. The 3rd Division was identified on the 25th Division's right flank, southeast of Seoul.

A field dispatch reporting the artillery barrage was heavily censored.

The Chinese Communists had their quilted backs to the iced-up Han River by the fire-gutted city. A staff officer said they may try to make a stand, but that it appeared likely they would pull out to the north bank.

Red resistance in the west was crumbling. It was stiffer on the French Count To Be Deported

MONTREAL, Feb. 8 (CP) — The federal government is expected to announce shortly the denial of the appeal of French Count Jacques de Bernonville against deportation for illegal entry into Canada, a highly placed source said here today.

The case has been hanging fire more than a year and dates back to 1947 when the 52-year-old French nobleman entered Canada illegally under an assumed name from the United States.

This application failed and he was ordered deported almost a year ago but lodged an appeal which has been under consideration by the immigration department.

It was learned here that the decision on de Bernonville which is expected to be announced is based on the fact that the peoples' court, which originally sentenced him, now has been abolished.

Hint Cease-Fire

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 — (CP) — There is speculation in Ottawa that an undeclared military ceasefire might develop in Korea if the United Nations troops do not cross the 38th parallel and Communists refrain from further offensives.

Observers say this could have a decidedly favorable effect on diplomatic negotiations through relaxation of the present tension.

The observers speculated on the possible developments as a result of the northward advance of the UN forces, now within 17 miles of the 38th parallel, the old line dividing north and south Korea.

They said the unified command of the UN, though it has authority to cross the parallel, might order the forces not to cross. However, it was understood here that so far there had been no discussion on this point.

38th Parallel Grave Matter Pearson Warns

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today that the question of United Nations forces again crossing the 38th Parallel in Korea, if and when they reach it, should be treated "with care."

He declined to state what Canada's position might be in the event the 38th Parallel was reached by UN forces, but said it was his understanding that UN forces have authority to cross the Parallel under a resolution previously endorsed by the UN.

He told a press conference he hoped that the collective measures committee of the United Nations would "proceed very carefully" before making any recommendations regarding sanctions against Red China.

Canada's position was that the committee should hold up any recommendations until all avenues of negotiations through the good offices committee of the UN had been exhausted.

Costly Contribution

Mr. Pearson, who said he expected to remain in Ottawa for some time, made these other points:

1. Canada's contribution to the Colombo plan for the rehabilitation of Southeast Asia will run into "millions of dollars" and the United States also probably will shoulder a portion of the plan.

2. Canada and the United States will send observers to a Paris conference Feb. 12 to consider formation of a European army. Germany also will attend.

3. The possibility of Canadian-U.S. agreement on the St. Lawrence seaway project seemed nearer than for some time with introduction of a favorable resolution by 23 senators in the U.S. Congress.

4. Canada has considered the possibility of aid to Yugoslavia but "we can't spread ourselves too thin—Canada is going to be doing an awful lot in the next year."

Inspect 421 Squadron

ODIHAM, Hampshire, Feb. 8—(CP)—Britain's Air Minister Arthur Henderson and Dana Wilgress, Canadian high commissioner, flew to this RAF station today to inspect members of 421 (Red Indian) RCAF fighter squadron.

Won't Apply Sanctions Yet

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Feb. 8—(CP)—The chances of the United Nations adopting or applying sanctions against Communist China appear small.

The United States has not abandoned its original proposal for a study of possible economic and diplomatic sanctions, but is not pressing for an immediate meeting of the 14-member collective measures committee, of which Canada is a member.

The group may meet next week, informed sources say, when all members have designated their representatives. Canada will be represented by R. G. Riddell, head of the permanent Canadian delegation.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie is expected to have all the names by next week, to call them into the meeting provided for in the American resolution adopted last week by the General Assembly which branded Communist China an aggressor in Korea.

The Canadian view is understood to be that the Collective Measures Committee can act as a brake rather than a spark to any rash sanctions moves.

Workers Remove Last Of Wreckage

WOODBRIDGE, N.J., Feb. 8 (AP — Railroad workers today dug into newly-fallen snow—frozen solid by biting cold—to remove the remaining wreckage of the Pennsylvania commuter train crackup as authorities expressed belief all victims had been found.

Police Chief George Keating said the death toll from Tuesday night's disaster—the third major rail wreck in the New York metropolitan area within a year—probably will remain at 83. Eleven persons still in hospital are in critical condition.

He said there had been no reports of anyone missing and added that workers did not expect to find any more bodies as they dragged away the debris.

Meanwhile, separate investigations into the cause of the derailment of the crowded express were slated by the Interstate Commerce Commission and Middlesex county authorities.

UN Troops Fight 2 Battles Feed Starving Civilians

ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Feb. 8 (AP)—Only a few miles behind the front lines where United Nations soldiers are battling Communists, the Allied army takes time out each day to fight another enemy—hunger.

Korean civilians, flocking back to their homes as fast as the UN troops free them from Reds, are being fed by an American army detachment.

The detachment, headed by Maj. R. T. Shugart, is located in Yoginaye, a ramshackle Korean village about five miles east of Suwon.

"Civilians come from miles around to get rice from us," Shugart said. "We are feeding 10,000 of them right now and the number increases daily."

The milling lines of these hungry victims of war begin forming each day at dawn. Until dusk they file by tables where their names are checked. Then they are handed enough rice for two days.

"We give the adults a pound and the children a half pound," said Shugart.

The rice is trucked in each day from Chonan, 20 miles to the south, where the army is operating a rice milling plant to process the food staple of the orient.

Whole families wait patiently in the lengthy queues, bundled up against the chill winds.

Many of these pitiful, helpless people have returned in the wake of advancing Allies only to find their homes reduced to rubble and their rice fields pock-marked with the debris of war.

Expect Wreck Claims Total $75,000,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 8. (AP) — Claims and lawsuits totalling $75,000,000 probably will be filed against the Pennsylvania Railroad as a result of Tuesday night's disastrous train wreck at Woodbridge, NJ, in which 83 were killed.

The eventual pay-off is expected to amount to an estimated $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, most of it borne by the railroad itself.

Legal circles here said that part of the money would be paid by Lloyd's of London but that the bulk of it would come from the Pennsylvania Railroad since, like most public carriers, it is self-insuring.

The amount of the policy with the London insurance house was not disclosed.

No Radical Change In Education Premier Frost Hints

TORONTO, Feb. 8. (CP)—Major proposal of the Royal Commission on Education dealing with the revision of the school system into three levels with a resulting curb of separate school jursidiction will not likely be implemented. This was hinted by Premier Frost in the Legislature, Wednesday. Leading off the Throne Speech debate for the government, he set out the policy for dealing with the 300 recommendations on the much debated Hope report.

The Legislature, he said, should consider "broad subjects" on which commission members reached agreement. But no radical change was needed to improve education in the province and the government felt itself "in no way bound" by the commission's recommendations.

Avoid Disagreement

He suggested no action on education policies where commissioners had shown "sharp disagreement."

Government policies had made great improvement in education, Mr. Frost said, and nothing indicated "that a radical change now would enable us to do better than we are now doing and will continue to do."

The Premier said that many of the commission's recommendations, however, are worthy of consideration, although they may not be implemented for some time because there is a limit to the citizens' tax-paying capacity.

"As I have said, in some points the report is unanimous. I should like to deal with these two phases and I shall first say something about the parts of the report which are not unanimous. Among the commissioners there was very sharp disagreement extending in some cases to a number of points of view. There was lack of unanimity. In this Assembly there would no doubt be the same lack of unanimity. This would also be true of the reactions among our four and one-half million peple. It has been said that Ontario, with its wide territorial expanse and different points of view, is and has been difficult to govern. This is quite true.

No Improvement

"There is certainly nothing to indicate that a radical change now would enable us to do better than we are now doing and will continue to do. In the last half dozen years we can say with surety that we have made the greatest and most forward changes in education in all of our history. These changes include huge alterations to our grant systems, raising the grants from about $8,000,000 to over $42,500,000 this year. There have been changes in the curriculum, in the position of our teachers, in the accommodation of our pupils, in furthering the great cause of equality of opportunity.

"In doing all of these great reforms we have not created division among our people. We have been walking on the same side of the street and proceeding with amity in the certain knowledge that we have been making the greatest progress in our history. I am sure that this must make us all realize that the way of experience which we have been following and under which we have made such spectacular progress in recent years is the path to follow.

"Concerning those parts of the report which are very extensive and upon which there is unanimous agreement on the part of the commission, there are subjects which deserve the utmost consideration. Indeed, we should not permit those things in the report upon which there are disagreements to obscure the very broad subjects upon which there are agreements."

Shotgun Charge Strikes Boy 17

BRONTE, Feb. 8—Jack MacDonald, 17, was still alive Wednesday night after taking the full blast of a 12 gauge shotgun in the abdomen.

Taken to Hamilton General Hospital, the boy underwent an operation. His condition was reported critical. At least 30 pellets lodged in his abdomen.

MacDonald was out hunting fox and rabbit with two uncles and three friends in a field a mile north of the Queen Elizabeth Highway.

He was climbing over a stump fence when the shotgun caught on a twig and discharged. Bronte Fire Chief Freeman Bray ran for a doctor while the other hunters gave first aid.

The boy's uncles, Norman and Douglas MacDonald, wrapped him up in a blanket and watched for Bray to return with a doctor and an ambulance.

They acted like a bunch of Russians. They went back on their signatures.

Oliver Ready To Answer Frost Charges

TORONTO, Feb. 8 (CP). — Farquhar Oliver, leader of the Legislature's 13-man Liberal group, is scheduled to enter the throne speech debate today to answer charges made by Premier Frost.

The Premier, in a strongly-worded speech Wednesday, criticized recent statements on education by Liberal spokesmen, and attacked the forestry policies of the Liberal administration which went out of office in 1943.

Mr. Oliver may also voice a motion of non-confidence in the government, to add to the motion of censure made by CCF opposition leader E. B. Jolliffe in Wednesday's throne speech debate.

Mr. Jolliffe's motion—an amendment to the reply to the throne speech—said the government had failed to meet municipal tax needs, promise improved farm marketing legislation, disclose a remedy for the "breakdown" of the Dominion-Provincial housing program or halt waste of natural resources.

Bad Management

Premier Frost echoed charges made Tuesday by J. G. White (PC-Kenora) that the former Liberal government had permitted wide export of unprocessed pulpwood from northern Ontario. His government intended to protect forests but faced the problem of "100 years of good and bad forest management—mostly bad."

The Premier said present Liberal policy varied on the question of the Hope education report. The provincial Liberal platform had promised to implement it but the Liberal member for Brant, former Premier Harry Nixon, wanted his party to disclaim responsibility for it.

Mr. Frost said his administration had reduced debt per capita from $123 under the Liberal government to $112 at present. Hydro resources had been increased from 2,000,000 to 3,750,000 horsepower since the war.

Denies Charge

The premier denied Mr. Jolliffe's charge that the throne speech contained no promise of legislation to help the farm population. The government planned wide improvements in both rural telephone and hydro service, he said.

Mr. Jolliffe criticized "belated" action by the Ontario government to assume federal rent controls, scheduled to expire April 30. The housing program, inaugurated a year ago with federal, provincial and municipal co-operation, was "rapidly approaching breakdown." New home building was far behind the required 53,000 new units annually.

Ontario had "failed miserably" in building hospitals in post-war years when material supplies were good, the CCF leader said. He also criticized the government for having Dana Porter hold the cabinet posts of Attorney-General and Education Minister.

Mr. Jolliffe urged action to develop St. Lawrence river power projects and said that if the development were not made by 1956 or 1957 industrial expansion might be "checked at the most critical point."

The government had failed to realize that inflation affected municipal government income, which depended on taxes on property, far more than it hurt provincial government income. He urged a provincial-municipal conference to reach a new agreement on taxation.

On High Level

Premier Frost told the legislature that administration of justice was on a high level in the province and he deplored some of the recent criticism against law-enforcement agencies.

"We very carefully scrutinized the situation in Windsor," he said, referring to last year's investigation of law enforcement in the Border City.

The investigation showed that some people were "complacent" but that "nothing was fundamentally wrong," the premier added. "Basically it was not dishonest."

Correspondence outlining the efforts of provincial and federal governments to control illegal bookmaking syndicates by striking at their communications systems was tabled in the legislature by Premier Frost.

Copy of one letter, by federal Justice Minister Garson, referred to discussions by the Ontario Attorney-General's Department, his own department and officials of the Bell Telephone Company and the two Canadian telegraph companies.

Mr. Frost said an answer was being sought to the question of how police could stop illegal use of communications facilities without implying interference with freedom of communications.

Watch Construction

The premier also told the legislature that his government would not proceed with the construction of liquor outlets at the expense of building material needed for housing.

Replying to a question by W. H. Temple (CCF—Toronto High Park), the premier said applications for new liquor licences will be closely scrutinized in view of steel and other shortages.

"I have asked Judge Robb of the Liquor Licence Board to grant no licences for buildings that require construction or alteration that would in a substantial sense, take materials needed for housing purposes," Mr. Frost said.

POWER OF THE SUN

Although the thermometer still stood at eight below at noon, water was dripping to the sidewalk below from icicle-fringed eves on buildings on the north side of Charlotte St.

U.S. Tank

central, and east-central fronts—but there, too, the Allied Chinese-killing drive ground forward. Warships and planes supported the advance.

Tanks of Task Force Dolvin rumbled over mined roads to within four miles of Seoul and shelled the city at noon Thursday. The fronts of the tanks had been painted to resemble fierce tigers to frighten the superstitious Chinese Communist peasant soldiers.

After pumping shells into Seoul, Task Force Dolvin pulled back for the night. The forces behind them had moved up to within 5½ miles of the dead city.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker, with the armored column, said Lt.-Col. Tom Dolvin, leader of the task force named for him, stood on a summit during the plunge northward, and observed: "If it wasn't so hazy you could probably see Seoul today from where we are standing."

Nearest Approach

It was the nearest ground approach to Seoul by the Allies since they abandoned the city Jan. 4. Most of the capital's 1,500,000 population has fled, and the city now is regarded as of no military significance.

Task force Dolvin was one of three punching at Chinese south of the Han. Also pressing hard on the Reds were ground troops of Britain, Greece, Turkey, France, Puerto Rico and South Korea.

They hammered the enemy at a dozen places along a 75-mile front stretching inland from the Yellow Sea, in the west, to Changpyong in the east-central sector.

On the left flank of Task Force Dolvin and west of the main road to Seoul, Puerto Rican infantrymen advanced 2½ miles without opposition. They occupied three important hills littered with abandoned Chinese equipment.

Almost Wiped Out

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton said a staff officer estimated the Chinese 149th Division in the Puerto Rican sector had only 1,800 effective troops remaining of an original force of 10,000.

It was this staff officer who said the Reds most likely would retreat north of the Han.

The Eighth Army estimated Red casualties Wednesday at more than 4,700, of whom 2,674 were on the western front. It brought to more than 57,000 total enemy causualties claimed since the Allied "limited" offensive began Jan. 25.

In the west, the push was slowed mostly by mine-fields. Correspondent Swinton said the Reds had planted new mines during the night in holes left by mines carefully dug up Wednesday by Allied engineers.

The Chinese also were using Russian-made hand grenades and bangalore torpedoes in a futile effort to stop the tanks.

Heavier Resistance

On the central front, the Allied sweep north of Hoengsong encountered heavier resistance. AP correspondent John Randolph reported Korean Reds nonetheless were driven back five miles Wednesday and Wednesday night. Some of the battles continued into Thursday.

South Korean troops smashed eight miles northwest of Hoengsong toward Hongchon, some 50 air miles east of Seoul. Other South Korean elements captured Changpyong, 12 miles northeast of newly - won Pyongchang. Changpyong is 25 miles east of Hoengsong, and in the east-central sector. The allied advances in these sectors have carried to within 20 air miles of the 38th Parallel, old boundary between North and South Korea.

The U.S. battleship Missouri shelled Kangnung with 16-inch guns Wednesday and left the town a smoking ruin. Other Allied fleet units pounded Red lines ahead of the task forces on the western front.

Aerial reconnaissance showed that the Chinese were trying to build up for a stand somewhere across the rugged peninsula. The Far East air forces reported spotting 1,350 vehicles on North Korean highways Wednesday night.

Expect New Censure Vote On Meat Shortage, Third Attack In Week

Report Outcry Over New Ration Causing Attlee Government Anxiety; Steel Industry Taken Over By February 15

LONDON, Feb. 8. (AP)—The Conservatives, seizing on the unpopularity of Britain's almost-meatless larder, today sought a parliamentary censure vote on the Labor Government's handling of the present critical meat shortage. It was the third attack against Prime Minister Attlee's government in a week. Winston Churchill's Conservatives failed by 10 votes on Wednesday night in an attempt to overthrow the Cabinet on the issue of steel nationalization. Last week Labor withstood a Tory attack on the current coal shortage.

Conservative strategy apparently is based on a belief that if the government, holding office by only a slim majority, can be unseated and new elections held, the temper of the electorate will favor a Conservative victory.

Attlee's Socialists, confident after victory on the steel nationalization ballot, predicted they also would win on the meat issue.

Causing Concern

However the national outcry over the fresh meat ration, sharply cut recently to eightpence (about 10 cents) a week a person, is causing admitted concern at Labor Party headquarters.

For weeks Britain's newspapers have lashed the government for failure to provide enough meat. Housewives and butchers have staged demonstrations and petitioned the government.

Supplies from Argentina — Britain's chief meat source — tapered off last June. The two countries have been haggling ever since over prices.

The independent Times, in an editorial typical of the national clamor, said: "The ministers would be more than foolish if they merely tried yet again to justify the inexcusable miscalculations which have brought the meat ration to the lowest level yet endured in this country."

Labor mustered 308 votes in the House of Commons Wednesday to the opposition's 298 on the steel nationalization issue. It was the third time in 11 months that the thin Labor majority squeezed out a narrow triumph on the long-debated issue.

By the vote, the Conservatives apparently lost their last chance to block the measure in parliament. Some 92 iron and steel firms are due to pass into government hands Feb. 15.

Gelinas Hoping Broadway To Like Play

By JOHN TRACY

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—(CP)—Gratien Gelinas, Canada's top theatrical star who has brought his "Ti-Coq" to New York, looks on the play's opening Friday night as "a terrible responsibility".

Between rehearsals, the little French - Canadian actor - author stopped to tell of his hopes and ambitions in the theatre.

"It will not only be my first appearance on Broadway," he said, "but it will be the first time a whole Canadian company has played her. It is an honor but also a terrible responsibility, for many in Canada have placed their hopes in us.

"Even if the thing goes big, I'll never forget where I came from and I'll be back there as soon as I can. But if Broadway does not accept it, I hope that Canadians who have liked the play wil not think they have been fooled".

Successful Run

Gelinas brings his play — its name means "Little Rooster" — to Broadway after a successful fortnight's run in Chicago, where it had its American opening.

The New York opening will play to $6 tops in the 1,100-seat Broadhurst Theatre, where Arthur Milne's adaptation of Ibsen's play, "Enemy of the People" has just closed.

The playhouse is smaller than Toronto's 1,500-seat Royal Alexandra, where "Ti-Coq" ran for a week in January. But it lacks the cosiness of Montreal's Theatre Gesu where the French version opened nearly three years ago and kept the 900 seats filled for more than 200 performances.

DR. VLADO CLEMENTIS, former Czech foreign minister, shown here with his wife when they sailed from New York, Dec. 7, 1949, may have fled from his homeland to avoid arrest. Prague diplomats speculated, that he may have left Czechoslovakia on hearing that his highly-placed protector was in disfavor with ruling circles. He resigned as foreign minister in March, 1950, and some two months later was accused of "bourgeois nationalism" and enmity towards the Soviet Union dating back to the Stalin-Hitler pact in 1939.

Two Youths Held As Car Thieves

COBOURG, Feb. 8—(ENS)—Two alleged Mimico car thieves were rounded up in short order late Wednesday afternoon in Port Hope as a result of the successful combination of the efforts of a Port Hope garageman and the police. While on traffic duty at a funeral near Port Hope, Provincial Constable Cy Meadows of Cobourg noticed a car proceeding east bearing a license number which had only been listed two hours before as stolen. He jumped in the police car and took after it but the car had too great a start and he lost it in Port Hope. However he had in the meantime radioed the detachment at Cobourg and provincial police cars soon had the town's traffic outlets bottled up.

The two in the fleeing car decided to abandon it in Port Hope and swinging up McCaul street skidded to a stop at Bert Carcaud's garage. Suspicious of their hurry, Mr. Carcaud grabbed one of the occupants when he got out. The other one got away but was spotted on the run by Constable Don Woods of the Port Hope police dept. as he passed the constable's dwelling. Woods promptly got his man and the pair were taken to the police station. The driver was a 15-year-old Mimico juvenile and his companion gave his name as Donald Welch, age 19, Mimico.

Permanent Fire Department Taking Form In Cobourg

COBOURG, Feb. 8 — (ENS) — The volunteer system of a fire department for Cobourg, which has been in effect since the earliest days of the town, will be replaced by a permanent fire department, if present plans of the Fire, Water and Light committee materialize. Already under consideration is a proposed rural-urban fire fighting hook-up, which if it goes through, will require another fire pumper. In view of the growth of the town in the past 10 years, there has been a growing feeling that Cobourg should have a full-time fire chief and re-organization of the fire department with some of the firemen on the permanent staff. Accordingly the town will advertise for a full-time fire chief and will ask for tenders for a class "A" fire pumper.

Religious Prejudice And Nicholls Hospital Sale

When the Council discussed the sale of the Nicholls Hospital property it faced a problem which was not simply one of business. One of the bidders for it was the Roman Catholic Diocese of Peterborough; the other, by a coincidence, was a Protestant group desirous of establishing a school. It was inevitable that under these circumstances Peterborough people should think again of a prejudice of long standing, associated with that hospital and its founder; and we think that it was entirely proper and wise that one of the aldermen should ask that if there were any trace of that historic prejudice in the Council's decision to sell to the Protestant group, it should be frankly stated.

* * *

We are convinced, however, that the Council's decision was made upon no grounds save those of good business. Although the lower bid was accepted, the conditions attaching to the higher bid appear to have lessened its actual value. We can find no evidence that the Council was moved by any desire save that of making a sound business deal. We feel that it is important that this should be made clear, for it would be a sad corollary of this sale if the final disposition of Nicholls Hospital strengthened the antagonism between Catholic and Protestant which the hospital itself once occasioned.

* * *

It is not possible to live for long in Peterborough without hearing many legends about its great benefactor, Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls. Many of these legend are without foundation in fact. So far as we have been able to discover, the story of bitter prejudice which she is said to have nourished against the Roman Catholic part of the population has very little truth to back it up. The history of Nicholls Hospital, and the foundation of St. Joseph's Hospital, is a long story, and we do not intend to rehearse it here; it may be found in our files by anyone who wants to know it. It is enough to say that we do not think that Mrs. Nicholls was so powerfully prejudiced as were some of those whose task it was to administer her estate; it is not difficult to attribute the prejudices of the living to the dead.

* * *

Nicholls Hospital is no more, and the Peterborough of Mrs. Nicholls' day has ceased to exist. This is now a city too big for village quarrels and the nourishment of nineteenth century hatreds. We have two hospitals, both of which we need, and which work together in the warmest amity. There is no prejudice in either one against physicians or patients of any faith. We suggest with all the strength of which we are capable that the time has come to forget any prejudice which may have been associated with either hospital, and to concentrate upon the greatly improved tolerance and common sense of our own time.

Fit Peterborough Men

At the time of writing, some 75 men, prospective city and district recruits for the Royal Canadian Navy, have been interviewed locally by a recruiting staff in town for three days. These men are going through the preliminary stages of volunteering for naval service. It is a good number to have turned up in two and a half days, from an inland city and district. More remarkable is the health of the men thus far tested. Not one has yet been found medically unfit for service. Admittedly only nineteen of the seventy have had, at the time of writing, their complete medical examination, but it is a good showing so far.

What Remedy For Over-Population?

In a letter which appears elsewhere on this page a reader comments upon some remarks which we made in these columns on Tuesday, in which we suggested that the world's future course might include some form of selective breeding. Any such suggestion is bound to be offensive to great numbers of people, who consider that selective breeding is theologically indefensible, or that it is democratically indefensible. Indeed, we feel that there is unlikely to be any strong move toward selective breeding for a century or two, if indeed it ever comes at all.

So far as we can judge, however, something of the sort must come if world chaos is to be avoided. As we pointed out before, the world has at least doubled its population in the past 150 years, and it has managed to keep its supplies of food in line with this increase. But it cannot be argued that there is enough for everybody in the world at present, and as the population mounts the record of privation will mount with it. We in Canada are very lucky in our country, which is underpopulated and produces a surplus of food, but countries like ours are few. Over-population is a great problem in Asia, and is soon to become a desperate problem in Europe. It takes little imagination to foresee the outcome of such a situation. It must be remarked also that careless and prodigal use of the soil in the Western world has decreased the productivity of many of our populated areas, although science is coming to the rescue as fast as it can.

It is possible for the world to have too many people. Can anything be done to forestall such a situation—anything, that is, short of great wars and plagues? A program of selective breeding might do so, though we cannot of course give any final answer to such a problem.

Highly developed and intelligent peoples dominate lesser peoples; this is observable at all times in history. If the world becomes over-populated it will be the better-bred races—in the true sense—who will come best out of the situation. But how this better breeding is to be achieved under present democratic regimes cannot be foretold now. Perhaps the character of democracy will change, as it has done before.

"Lightnings In The Splendour Of The Moon"

An American pilot named Captain Charles Blair flew on January 31 from New York to London in seven hours and 48 minutes. His average speed over the 3,500 miles was about 450 miles an hour. The plane is named Excalibur the Third. How startled must have been the early morning stars as this gasoline-propelled brand hurtled through the night seven miles above the earth it had left! When Sir Bedivere finally threw King Arthur's Excalibur into the lake, as Tennyson says,

> "The great brand
> Made lightnings in the splendour of the moon,
> And flashing round and round, and whirled in an arch
> Shot like a streamer of the northern morn
> Seen where the moving isles of winter shock
> By night, with noises of the northern sea.

The fiery brand which early Wednesday morning shot like a streamer across the northern sea was no bejewelled sword; it is a "flying gas tank," which has been modified from standard Mustangs to hold 865 gallons of gasoline. But the Arthurian magic touches even the engine; it is a Rolls-Royce Merlin.

If the flight had been made from London to New York, and not west to east against the sun's path, and if the wind conditions had been the same, the pilot would have arrived, New York time, only two hours and 48 minutes after he left London's clocks, since there is a five-hour difference between Greenwich time and Eastern Standard. He could, for instance, have left a London breakfast of kippers and tea at seven and been in New York for a breakfast of doughnuts and coffee at 9:48. How time flies these days!

We Confess To A Background Of Bias

In an article about lying recently published in Saturday Night Dr. W. E. Blatz, the well-known Toronto child-tamer lists four types of falsehood in common use; one of these is the "psychological lie," and, in the opinion of the learned Blatz, newspaper editorials may be classified under this heading. The reason? Because editorials are written from a background of bias and prejudice.

If Dr. Blatz hopes to astonish or anger us by such a statement he does not understand our intellectual composition as well as he thinks he does. Of course we write from a background of prejudice and bias; we have never pretended to do anything else. Our method of work is simple: when a problem in the public realm seems to us to call for comment we do some thinking and reading about it; we read whatever we can lay our hands on, for or against it, and we try to get opinions from people who are well informed on the problem, if any are nearby. And in the end we discover that we have formed a bias toward one side of the question or the other, and we have acquired an intellectual prejudice against the side which we judge to be the mistaken one. Then we write whatever we have to say. That is our prejudice and our bias.

What does Dr. Blatz do? How does he make up his mind? And, even more interesting, how does he change it—for he has changed it a few times during the last twenty years, during which we have watched his work with interest? We suspect that he does exactly what we have described above—he tries to find out whatever he can about a subject, and then makes up his mind in favour of the point of view which seems best to him.

It is as unwise to suggest that all newspaper editors are liars as it would be to suggest that all psychologists are quacks.

An Austrian has been jailed for kissing a girl so hard that she became unconscious. This is unfair, for she may have been an impressionable girl who keeled over at the first mild peck.

Too Much Talking

by IVOR BROWN

DEMOCRACY, we know, thrives on discussion as babies on milk. But it is possible to overfeed the baby and I am beginning to wonder whether we are not overworking our ears. Is there not in progress a flight from the voice?

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR nearly a quarter of a century films, in whose flickering presence we used to sink quietly to rest, have been squawking and screaming at us. The car with amplifier bellows at our once tranquil homes in election times or at any time to announce some saleable goods. Railway stations resound with megaphonic information which is usually so badly amplified that, half-deafened, we have to ask a porter in the end.

✧ ✧ ✧

ABOVE all, the wireless set is the greatest chatterbox of all time. It is true you need not yourself turn it on if you do not want to, and so invite its wisdom and its wise-cracks, its entertainment and its eloquence. But somebody else in the household will; or, if not in your home or flat, then next door, upstairs, or downstairs. Even in illness our eardrums are continually assaulted with this tattoo of palaver and with volleys of vocalism. I recently spent a week in a hospital, and never would silence have been more golden. But silence there was not. Just speech and song, speech and song.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE B.B.C. does not wish us to be all-day and all-night listeners. We should make our selections and have our silences. But we do not; or at least others do not. So there we are listening to Focus on this, Forum on that, Quiz, Query and Argument, word without end. However well done, it is, none the less, a form of din. A little of this may be excellent, but quite a little is enough for my aural feast.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT there are certain signs that people are wearying of all this chin-wag. In November a silent film—one of those old, forgotten, far-off things—was put, rather nervously, into the West End of London. Wasn't this too old-world, too hush-hush? It was Chaplin's "City Lights", a revival, a return to supposedly dead yesterdays. In February it is still there, drawing five crowded houses a day and Chaplin "silents" are reshown, following this lead, all over the place.

✧ ✧ ✧

I FIND it a delicious change to be looking and not listening. I felt the same when I saw the magnificently presented panorama of "King Solomon's Mines". This has not much to do with Rider Haggard's original on which it only claims to be "based"; but it is a wonderful picture in colour of a journey through floods and deserts and amid all the monsters, reptiles and stampeding livestock that you ever heard of or Africa ever possessed. There is very little dialogue and what there is does not matter. Mostly Stewart Granger and Deborah Kerr are just struggling through infinite wilderness with no time or energy left for small talk about the torments and perils of their astonishing excursion. Both keep their admirable looks and their old-fashioned virtue. Both are frequently speechless. Result, enormous and delighted crowds.

✧ ✧ ✧

AGAIN, ballet, which used to be the joy of the precious few, in both senses of the world precious, has become the delight of vast multitudes. No silence here, of course, but music in richness and abundance. But no prattling, no debate. The human ear is spared the human voice. Nobody gets up to tell you all about it. And I am sure that there is a deep satisfaction obtained from the mobile mutes upon the painted stage. We are so surfeited with discussion and declamation that to sit back and let the spectacle enchant is a great relief.

✧ ✧ ✧

I AM sure that Miss Fonteyn, Miss Shearer and their colleagues can be highly and intelligently articulate. But do we want them to abandon pirouette for palaver and suddenly start a Forum on Footwork for our intellectual information?

✧ ✧ ✧

THE enormous vogue of ice shows in which dialogue is a trivial element, is another sign of the times. Pantomime on ice, in which the emphasis is all on the grace and speed of motion and on the enchanting view of mass-glissades, is drawing gigantic crowds in London. And the circus, though certainly made noisy by the powerful brass of its orchestra, is not a conversational diversion. The clown's jests are physical, his drollery is dumb-show. Though I do not myself regard circus-clowns as wildly funny, I find the toss and tumble of this ringcraft a happy change from the yapping and scrapping of the cross-talk comics on the air.

✧ ✧ ✧

"AND nation shall speak peace unto nation". Usually it speaks nothing of the kind. The air is super-charged with animosity as well as with argument. Silence, at least, is not a conveyor of abuse. Its blessings have been overlooked in the mad flurry of inventive science. Perhaps those blessings are already being rediscovered. I would like to think so.

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

Unfrocked

(Times and Tide, London)

In the Normandy village of Saint-Georges there was a rebellion the other day which could be the cloud no bigger than a man's hand. Tax-men called to investigate a report that a farmer was committing the unforgivable sin of making apple-brandy from apples which he had grown.

The church bells rang to warn the neighborhood. Two hundred farmers turned out to deal with the representatives of the state. They did not use violence. They merely stripped them naked and chased them away. Authority minus its trousers is not impressive!

All France chuckled over the episode. Some day we shall take the trousers off Authority and in the gust of ensuing laughter realize the freedom which we once loved, but have lost awhile.

Letters To The Editor

A BALLAD OF ASPHODEL TAXES

Down the street yelling Hello!
Drives Rendle with the new Fargo;
Grinning happily as a boy
Who has received a brand new toy.

There stands Tommy at his gate,
Thinks things have got in a terrible state;
Then to his old pal Fred he said—
While scratching his poor old bald head:

"The Council has been on a spending spree,
We'll soon end up in poverty;
It's up to me the taxpayers to tell
What's been happening in Asphodel.

My taxes, boys, they are too high,
But I'm sure I know the reason why;
For now gas bills we have to meet
To give Rendle a free ride on his seat.

You know we have a great big truck
As useless as a baby duck;
Fifteen thousand cost our grader
And our side roads will not take her".

Says Jim, "This letter I will ignore,
I'll leave it to the other four".
Walter, Jim and Bruce Graham,
They all say we'll do the same.

Then up there stands our brave Max Scott;
He proved himself Tommy's stumbling block;
"Give me pen and paper, Ruth my dear,
A letter in the Examiner will appear.

I know that my taxes too are high,
But we are out to get that fly;
We thought to buy a truck would be best,
To put an end to that warble pest.

When our roads are snow-piled high
It sure looks good to see that truck fly by;
Our maintainer looks just right,
Grading anywhere day or night.

These statements, friends, are matters of fact,
Information from me you'll never lack,
Our township, boys, is out of debt,
And few can say that you can bet".

Tommy he sits there having fun galore,
He's got the Council in a great uproar;
And we the people read the paper each day
To see what more these men will say.

A TAXPAYER.

CRITIC OF THE BUS FARE INCREASE

Sir: According to a report published in your paper a few days ago, it would seem that our City Council are going to allow the local bus company to increase the prices of their tickets. Before they do so I think they should consider the following points as to whether we, the citizens of Peterborough, are receiving the service that we should from a company such as this where they have a monopoly on the business.

1. They may be endangering the lives of the passengers that they carry every day—due to overloading.

2. They do not adhere to the time schedules which they have published in the paper. (Only last week I waited 18 minutes on a route where the buses were supposed to be running every ten minutes.) (After I got on the bus I looked out the back window and the bus that was supposed to follow 10 minutes later was only two blocks behind.) This is caused mainly because some drivers leave the centre of the town late and drive their route slowly and the next bus leaves early and drives the same route at a high rate of speed, thus disrupting the time schedule.

3. They should teach their drivers courtesy and kindness to the old people especially.

4. They should put on a five minute service or at least extra buses during the rush hours. Frequently I have had to wait while two or three buses went by loaded.

5. The drivers should ensure that everybody is off before starting up. Several times I have seen elderly people carried on to the next stop due to the fact that they were not able to jump up in time before the driver figured he should start off.

6. Some drivers drive at an excessive speed and hog the road. (Ask a lot of car drivers in the city.)

7. Other than to take the money for tickets etc., the drivers should not be allowed to engage in long conversations with passengers as they cannot pay proper attention to their driving while talking.

8. For the sake of the safety of their passengers there should be a maximum rule of not more than five passengers standing.

If it is necessary to do so the Company should put on more buses to take care of the extra people that may be left behind. I am sure that this policy would pay as I personally know several people that would rather walk a mile up town rather than wait five or ten minutes on a bus and then be squashed like a sardine when they do get on.

I am a regular rider on the buses and feel that at the present rate (I pay something like $100 per year in fares), we are not getting the service we should.

Some of the drivers are very good and are not guilty of the offences listed above but others are terrible and should not be allowed to drive a public conveyance.

As a remedy, I think that the present City Council should put up their cars for a month and ride the buses several times a day to different parts of the city at the public expense and then at that time decide if a raise in rates should be approved. I think there would be some improvements before the month was out.

Sincerely,
A BUS-RIDER AND TAXPAYER.

WHERE IS THE JUNK YARD?

Sir: In looking at the Feb. 1 edition of the Examiner I was interested in the police court case of Nick Peconi where he sought to open up a used car lot at Downer's Corners. In the evidence it was mentioned that a junk yard operated in the vicinity.

I do not know of any junk yard which can be so classified and licensed operating at Downer's Corners. I might also add that Mr. Peconi also failed to mention that a beauty parlour and barber shop are also situated in the vicinity.

DOWNER'S CORNER'S CITIZEN.

HOW CAN IT BE DONE?

Sir: In your editorial "Children—For or Against" you conclude by suggesting a campaign for selective breeding.

Though I am in accordance with your suggestion it appears impossible for this to be put into practice. Adolf Hitler instituted sterilization in Germany; but in a democracy how would you prevent the sub-normal from breeding if they did not consent to sterilization?

Requesting you to enlarge on this subject.

Yours truly,
VIRGO.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when Jesus was come into Peter's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, and sick of a fever. And he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and she arose, and ministered unto them.

When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick. (Matt. 8: 14-16.)

✧ ✧ ✧

When Jesus came into the coasts of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I the Son of man am? And they said, Some say that thou art John the Baptist: some, Elias; and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets.

He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.

And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven.

And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. (Matt. 16: 13-18.)

THE IMPORTANT THING

Mr. Forsythe was vividly distressed as he staggered into the clubhouse. "What's the matter?" asked a member sympathetically.

"I've just killed my wife," said Forsythe.

"Good Heavens! How did you do that?"

"I was over on the practice tee and didn't see her coming up behind me. I took a back swing and hit her on the head. She dropped dead."

"That's tough," said the other member. "What club were you using?"

DiMaggio, Kell End Holdout, Sign Contracts

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP). — Joe Dimaggio, the million-dollar centre-fielder of the New York Yankees, and George Kell, brilliant third-baseman for Detroit Tigers, have signed their 1951 contracts, but many of baseball's stars remain out of the fold.

Dimaggio Wednesday accepted his third straight $100,000 contract via telephone from his San Francisco home. Kell, after turning down two proposals, came into the fold at Detroit for an estimated $40,000, a $7,000 raise over his 1950 salary. Kell is the highest-paid Tiger player.

The capitulation of Dimaggio leaves only Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox and Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals among the upper-bracket players unsigned. Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh is working on the last half of a two-year contract calling for $65,000 a season. Williams is expected to sign at the same terms he worked under last year, a reported $125,000. Musial is said to be angling for $100,000.

Other stars in the gilt-edge brackets who have not signed include Johnny Sain of Boston, Preacher Roe of Brooklyn, Andy Pafko of Chicago, Larry Jansen of New York, Del Ennis of Philadelphia, Wally Westlake of Pittsburgh and Howie Pollet of St. Louis in the National.

In the American League, such stars as Dom Dimaggio of Boston, Bob Lemon of Cleveland, Hal Newhouser of Detroit, Yogi Berra of New York, Ferris Fain of Philadelphia, Ned Garver of St. Louis and Eddie Yost of Washington have not signed.

The Cardinals continue to encounter difficulties lining up their veteran crew. Ted Wilks, portly relief pitcher who pitched only 24 innings last year, balked at signing a conditional contract calling for $1.

Louis Pleased With 10-Round Ring Decision

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 8 (AP). — Joe Louis, obviously pleased with his 10-round decision over Cuban heavyweight Omelio Agramonte, leaves for San Francisco today to fight Andy Walker in what he hopes is the last stepping stone to a title fight.

The 36-year-old brown bomber, lacking the viciousness that earned him the world's championship over a decade ago, failed to stop the elusive Cuban with a knock-out blow, but finished 10 active three-minute rounds in good physical condition. Louis weighed 209; Agramonte 187.

His disappointment of not kayoing the Cuban was offset by the fact he was able to turn on full steam in the final round and still feel fresh.

Agramonte, figured to hit the canvas in four rounds or less, gave the ex-champion a surprisingly-good fight and managed to hang on as Louis pounded him in the fourth and 10th rounds in knock-out attempts.

Ready For Kill

In the fourth Louis came out for the kill. He hit the dancing Cuban with rights and lefts and in mid-round the Cuban staggered under a vicious left to the head. When it appeared Louis had his victim, the bell ended the round and Agramonte came out in the fifth to strike back hard.

Louis tried again for the knock-out in the eighth. His short jabs to the Cuban's mouth drew blood and Agramonte's right eye began to swell.

It was then that Agramonte took up his retreating tactics, running from Louis and when cornered, throwing his arms about the brown bomber until separated by the referee.

Louis fully intended to kayo the Cuban in the 10th but was hamstrung by Agramonte's clinch methods.

Later in the dressing room, Louis, admitting that his timing was a little 'off', insisted he was "just about ready" to meet champion Ezzard Charles in a title match.

IOOF Puckists Tie For Top With Win Over Port Hope

Bun Kingdon's flying Oddfellows came through again in fine style last night at Civic Arena defeating Port Hope Panthers 5-3 in a hard and fast junior "B" hockey struggle.

It was the fourth win in five starts since January 22 for the colorful local squad who are now perched atop the league with 27 points, tied with Lindsay. The latter have a game in hand with three to play, prior to play-offs and a possible first-place tie looms in the offing. Kinsmen meet Links here Friday, February 16 in the final struggle.

Scored First

Panthers opened the scoring last night early in the first frame as Flesch drilled a high hard one from the attacking blue line that zinged past Wasson through a maze of home help. Links fought hard to hold the Hodgett crew, and began to outplay them in the latter half of the period and fired home three doozies from the sticks of forwards Lefty Doris, Ray Douglas and Ab Buckton with Dean Wasson and big Jim Shearer drawing assists on a pair.

Play increased in tempo in a fiery second with both teams giving their utmost and play roughened up considerably. Oddfellows' defence with Dean Wasson outstanding, and ably supported by Shearer, Bigford and Clapper, handed out a few heftier body checks than Panthers could show as the fur flew. Brian Robinson notched his 14th goal and Dean West his 19th with Morrow and Wyatt assisting to outscore the lakeshore boys in this chapter with Pillsworth from Flesch the only Hope tally.

A Hot Third

Ray Douglas and Bernie Flesch livened a red-hot final frame with some fisticuffs while five others drew minors as the hectic battle drew to a close with play fairly even. Wilcox scored the lone tally on another long screened shot at 12:20. It was a good game from a spectator's standpoint with every man on both teams giving his level best. Both goalies performed in excellent style, too.

Port Hope: Goal, Ashton; defence, Hansen, Harnden; centre, Wilcox; wings, Freeman, McKeen; alts., Campbell, Medhurst, Downey, Pillsworth, J. Fisher, Lawless, Goody, Flesch.

IOOF, Goal, R. Wasson; defence, D. Wasson, Bigford; centre, West; wings, Morrow, Wyatt; alts., Stewart, Floyd, Douglas, Doris, Clapper, Shearer, Buckton, B. Robinson.

Referee, J. Calhoun; linesman, Art Heal.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Let's look at the local basketball situation for this week. Two tilts were run off betwixt SPS and PCVS "B" teams last e'en in the Collegiate. The intermediate Marines are off to Port Hope this p.m., and we feel rather sorry for the Ports. PCVS girls go to Cobourg tonight, too. A flock of Friday frays. Two girls' jousts at the YW, starting at eight. Three boys' senior "A" scraps at Oshawa, bantam, junior and senior. Three Lindsay "B" boys' teams tangle with Collegiate crews that eve in the Collegiate here, while St. Peter's seniors are at DeLaSalle. Saturday sees the Marines away to open OABA playdowns, as Bruins are at East York.

* * * * * *

Hey, girls and boys, it's free! We mean the OHA senior "B" tussle betwixt Queen's Combines of Kingston and the local Eagles at 8.30 tomorrow night in Civic Arena. All femmes and fellows of school age, whether accompanied by parents or not, can walk in free to this game. Don McGillis Sr., sponsor of the Eagles, will pay the shot for them all—a mighty generous gesture. Eagles expect to take this tilt and they'd better, as Nylons are breathing down their necks in the race for second position which Eagles presently hold. It might prove an interesting enough scrap, too.

* * * * * *

Try That Back-Hander

As pointed out in the Hockey Handbook, just released by Sports College, the average puckist neglects his backhand shooting. Tennis and badminton players of course realize the importance of this phase, and some star hockeyists do, too, but many others just don't bother practicing it. How often have you seen a player in front of the net taking a passout but unable to get his shot away as a defenceman drapes over him? But you've also seen some of the smarter cookies swinging part way around and backhanding the burnt biscuit into the oven, haven't you? If often pays off, as all goalies know to their sorrow.

* * * * * *

The foregoing para is put in there simply to remind young hockey players that there's always room for improvement. If you want to be a success at the game—or at anything else, for that matter—keep working at it every spare minute. Learn the fundamentals first, and then start polishing up. You just can't get too much practice, not only for conditioning but for all-around improvement. Rocket Richard didn't just happen to be one of the greatest, he works at it like a rookie in his spare time. That's why he seemingly scores goals when practically standing on his head after a thumping bodycheck. There's no royal road to learning—it's constant hard work.

IOOF-ers Take Ports

While Belleville were edging Oshawa Bees last p.m., the local IOOF-ers downed Port Hope Panthers 5-3 in a tidy OHA junior "B" joust here. That leaves the Rockets, Oddfellows and Lindsay Kin all bunched up like bananas at the top of the pile as they come thundering down the stretch to mix metaphors. The keen contest at Civic was a bit rough the last half, sparked by a fight between Ray Douglas and Bernie Flesch. Goals for the Kingdon crew were by Doris, Douglas, Buckton, Brian Robinson and West, while an assist each went to Wasson, Shearer, Buckton, Douglas, Doris, Morrow and Wyatt. When the scoring is well spread around like that, it shows depth in a team. Oddfellows' next game is Monday in Port Hope.

* * * * * *

Latest AHL bulletin arrived this morn, and shows Ab DeMarco of Buffalo still leading in scoring with 80 points in 47 games. George (Red) Sullivan of Hershey is fifth with 63 in 49 games, and has served 34 minutes in penalties this season. Don Ashbee has 52 points and 44 minutes in the penance pew. Hershey is second to Buffalo in the eastern standing, Cleveland leading the western division. Establishment of overtime play in the AHL this year has cut the tied games in half. Joe Lund, Finnish-born defenceman for Cleveland, is considered the handiest guy in the loop with his fists, we're informed, in case you're interested. John McCormack of the Leafs is wearing Pittsburg livery whilst honey-mooning.

Major Club Owners To Pick Commissioner

CINCINNATI, Feb. 8 (AP)—Major league club owners were called Wednesday to meet March 12 in Miami, Fla., to select a commissioner of baseball.

A. B. Chandler, the present commissioner whose contract was not renewed last Dec. 12, issued the call at the request of Will Harridge and Ford Frick, presidents of the American and National leagues, respectively.

Chandler's seven-year term, for which he is being paid $65,000 annually, expires April 30, 1952.

He still plans to be a candidate to succeed himself, despite the setback late last December.

Cage Playoffs Arranged For February

One Peterborough team, the Marines, will enter Ontario playdowns in basketball this weekend and next weekend the high school teams and Clappers' Bruins start down the playoff trail.

The Gord McIntyre-coached Marines, local entry in the lakeshore league, has been officially selected as the team to enter the intermediate "B" playdowns with the Eastern Ontario winner. The first game will be Saturday either in Brockville or Belleville in a two-game points-to-count series. The return game will be February 17 in the YMCA gym.

Next week Clapper Bruins will begin their playoffs in intermediate "A" with the Hamilton and district winner. This team will be one of three. Latvians, St. Anthony's or the Mormons. The return game of that points-to-count series will be in Peterborough on February 24. Last year the local team, then the Marines, went to Ontario finals.

High School Playoff

The lakeshore district high schools also begin their playoffs in the semi-final series in a week's time. The district was divided into four this year and each must declare winners in the senior, junior and bantam brackets by February 16.

The group, including Whitby, Uxbridge and Port Perry, will meet the winner of Cobourg, Port Hope and Bowmanville on February 16 in the eastern league's home town. The return game of this series will be on February 23.

Before February 16, the lakeshore "A" league which includes Oshawa Central, Oshawa CVI and PCVS will have to declare a senior winner. PCVS meets OCVI Friday night in Oshawa to complete this schedule and a win for the senior Garnet and Grey is likely. This will mean a senior sudden-death playoff between Central and PCVS.

PCVS teams in the junior and bantam "A" seem destined for at least semi-final playoffs, undefeated to date. If all PCVS teams win this grouping, they will meet the winner of the PCVS "B", St. Peter's High and Lindsay group, Lindsay likely in all three, on February 16 in Lindsay and returning to PCVS for the return game on February 23.

The lakeshore finals will be played on March 2 and 9, the final COSSA games in Toronto on March 17.

TCS Seconds Keep Unbeaten Record

NEWMARKET, Feb. 8.—Taking command with a three-goal third period drive Trinity College Schools Seconds kept alive their unbeaten record by defeating Pickering College here Wednesday afternoon, 6-1, in a Prep School exhibition hockey contest.

Defenceman Dick Bonnycastle and winger Brian Mowery paced TCS with two goals each, Bob Church and Bob Arnold shooting in singles. Don Sears with Bob King supplying the pass, connected for the Pickering College tally.

In another game Pickering College Thirds were nosed out, 3-2, by TCS, while Pickering College Preps defeated Bradford, 6-1.

Flyers Bowl Over Hornets In 5-1 Win

By The Associated Press.

The St. Louis Flyers, rolling along at a rapid clip, still are in last place in the American Hockey League's western division. But they won't be for long at the rate they're travelling.

Only two games separate the Flyers from second place after they bowled over the Pittsburgh Hornets Wednesday night at St. Louis 5-1. It was the sixth straight home victory, and seventh in their last eight starts.

Indianapolis, idle Wednesday night, and Pittsburgh are tied for second place, with the Cincinnati Mohawks in third place, a game ahead of St. Louis. Cincinnati snapped a five-game losing streak, pouring in four goals in the opening period, and blasted the leading Cleveland Barons, 5-3.

Leafs Blast Habs 3-1 As Wings Wallop Chica

By MEL SUFRIN.
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The form players had a field day in the National Hockey League Wednesday.

All six teams were in action and the results went according to a pattern clearly outlined in previous games this season.

The league-leading Detroit Red Wings once again made life miserable for Harry Lumley, who used to tend goal for them until traded to Chicago Black Hawks this season. They buried Lumley under a barrage of goals as they blasted the last-place Hawks 11-3 for the highest-scoring game of the season.

In Toronto, the second-place Maple Leafs maintained their mastery over Montreal[illegible] the third-place Canadie[illegible] setback, their ninth in 11[illegible] at the hands of the Leafs this season.

In Boston, it was another old story as the fifth-place New York Rangers and the fourth-place Bruins, two teams with the most tie games to their credit this season, wound up in a 2-2 deadlock.

Rocket Didn't Click

About the only thing that might be described as unusual was the fact that Maurice (Rocket) Richard failed to score a goal.

Toronto's Sid Smith was given the job of shadowing the league-leading goal-scorer and did an effective job. What's more he got two of Toronto's three goals to the delight of 14,083 fans in Maple Leaf Gardens.

The forward line of Smith, Teeder Kennedy and Tod Sloan looked after the Toronto scoring. Sloan got the first Toronto goal before Normand Dussault tallied for Montreal in the first period. Kennedy assisted on Sloan's first-period goal and the one by Smith in the third.

No Penalties

In Detroit, 10,182 fans saw the teams stick strictly to hockey, even if it was rather one-sided. Referee George Gravel didn't hand out a single penalty in the high-scoring affair.

Gordie Howe, pace-setter in the league scoring race, accounted for two goals and assisted on another, while defenceman Red Kelly, rookie Glen Skov and Gaye Stewart got two each. Jimmy Peters Bob Goldham. Ted Lindsay got the others. Roy Conacher, Ray Powell and Ernie Dickens scored for the Hawks.

Lumley, with virtually no defence in front of him, made 41 saves in a futile effort to stem the Detroit scoring tide. Terry Sawchuk in the Detroit nets had a comparatively easy time, handling 25 shots successfully.

The 6,602 Boston fans were the smallest crowd there of the season. It was the sixth tie in 12 games between the two teams this year.

Alex Kaleta and Pentti Lund, the latter saving the tie with his goal late in the third period, scored for New York. Veteran Woody Dumart and Johnny Peirson got the Boston goals.

Only one game is scheduled for tonight, the Red Wings visiting Chicago.

Irish, Tigers Deadlocked, Wild Scramble

By The Canadian Press

As usual when Toronto St. Michael's and Hamilton Tigers meet, extra-curricular activities played a prominent part in Wednesday night's Ontario Hockey Association major game.

The final score was 4-4 but the game was livened by a wild scramble involving players, police and patrons.

In the third period one fan was ejected from the rink for grabbing the stick of Gord Hannigan and refusing to let go. Two policemen stepped in before things broke loose.

Jack Meldrum scored three goals for St. Mike's, whose first-place margin was narrowed to five points. Bill McCracken got the fourth. Murray Comfort, Harvey Fraser, Tom Smellie and Ab Conick scored for the Tigers.

The Bengals were without centre Johnny Conick, who will be sidelined for five weeks with an injured shoulder.

St. Mike's iced minus Peanuts O'Flaherty.

Battle Weather

Elsewhere fans battled the weather to get to games. In Waterloo, Dutchmen lost another home fixture, this time to Toronto Marlboros. Marlies rammed in four goals in the third period to triumph 5-2 in the OHA Jr. "A" event.

Al Buchanan with a pair, and Bob Hassard, Jack MacKenzie and Ed Staniewicz delivered for Toronto, and Billy Klick and Dick Behling got through for the last-place Dutchmen.

In the single Junior A game, the fourth-place Guelph Biltmores scored a 6-4 victory over eighth-place Stratford Kroehlers in Stratford.

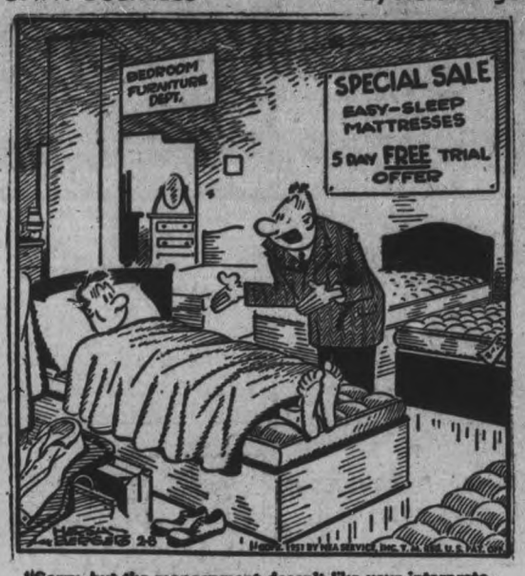
Ed Laufman of the Bilts moved into the league point leadership with a pair of goals.

Chuck Henderson with two, and Andy Bathgate and Herb Dickenson with one each were the other Guelph scorers. Gord Myles got two and Larry Lemenchik and Ray Ross one each for the Kroehlers.

Last Night's Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Gordie Howe, Gaye Stewart, Red Kelly and rookie Glen Skov, all of Detroit, whose two goals apiece set Wings up for an 11-3 trouncing of Chicago.



Sid Smith, of Toronto, who tallied twice as Leafs defeated Montreal 3-1.

Pentti Lund of New York whose last-minute goal in the final frame salvaged a 2-2 tie for Rangers with Boston.

New Drug Helps

NEW YORK, Feb 8 — (AP)—The American Heart Association reported Wednesday night that a new drug known as tromexan has been found superior in the control of blood clotting disorders, including coronary thrombosis. Atomic research at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory shows tromexan "has a quqicker, more transient effect and less apparent side effects" than any drug previously available, the association said.

May Shorten NHL Schedule

DETROIT, Feb. 8 (AP)—President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League disclosed Wednesday night that the league's board of governors, worried by a decline in attendance, is considering shortening the 70-game schedule.

Campbell, here for a Detroit-Chicago game Wednesday night, said a late survey showed Chicago is down 25 per cent over last year's turnout while Boston and New York each have declines of 15 per cent and Detroit eight per cent.

"We are not convinced that the 70-game season is the perfect answer for the schedule and we are still trying to find a solution," Campbell declared. Any action would not affect this year's schedule.

Campbell added that a full study is being made to find reasons for the box office decline. He said some critics feel the 70-game season should be shortened by 10 games.

Campbell headed for Chicago where he will confer Thursday with Bill Tobin, owner of Chicago Black Hawks. Subject of the discussion will be the conduct of Coach Ebbie Goodfellow in Saturday's game at Toronto.

Referee Hugh McLean was reported to have been roughed up by some of the Chicago players and Campbell is conducting a personal investigation.

Russians Attack Said Unlikely

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP) — A Montreal senator said Wednesday the prospects of a direct Russian attack in Western Europe seemed unlikely but warned the Soviet might try to goad satellites into overrunning the dissident Communist state of Yugoslavia.

Senator A. K. Hugessen (L—Quebec), 59-year-old son of a British peer, told the Senate the free nations should make clear that an attack on Yugoslavia would mean war with the west.

Speaking in the throne-speech debate, he defended the Far Eastern policy of the United States with regard to Korea as "right and courageous" and deplored certain public figures and publications, particularly in the U.S., which had been critical.

He did not think Russia would launch an all-out attack in Europe in the near future for several reasons. She feared the atom bomb. She was inclined to think democracy would collapse if she waited long enough, though it must seem strange that the democracies were getting stronger instead of weaker.

There was the question of how far the Kremlin could push the weary people of the Soviets in an aggressive war. Russian policy seemed to be to use, not her own forces, but those of satellites in aggressive military moves.

Nail Shortage In Ont. With No Hope Of Early Relief

Peterborough along with the majority of other centres in Ontario is suffering a current nail shortage. Local hardware retailers questioned this morning stated that this nail shortage has been existent since early last fall and no hope of relief.

The present supply of nails in the city is far below the demand and orders are piling up. However one hardware retailer stated that the situation is not so serious that building should be stopped or even slowed down.

One store has received shipments totalling 56 kegs since October, whereas another has only been able to get 10 kegs.

Despite the shortage the retailers report that the price of nails has remained steady.

Farmer's Forum Against Control

HAVELOCK, Feb. 8 (ENS)— The Trent River West Farm Forum decided that as farmers they did not want government control of agriculture production.

Meeting Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Simpson, they expressed the views that controlled production might easily result in a shortage of food for Canada.

If weather, diseases, insects, shortage of farm help were abnormal in any one year, the crop, already cut back by controls, would be insufficient for the country. The result would be that agricultural Canada would have to import foods.

The forum members were just as suspicious of price controls of all essential commodities. If they were imposed, they should be set on a "fair" basis and accompanied by control of wages.

They believed that farmers did not get fair treatment in World War II price controls. They were afraid of getting same sort of deal again.

The forum submitted the following question to the National Forum as a topic for discussion: "Why was 1939 chosen to base the cost of living on as at that time farm prices were lower in proportion than those of other goods and services."

A social time spent in the enjoyment of euchre followed the discussion period.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Simpson assisted by Mrs. Harl Miles.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Barrie.

Mrs. Earl Waldie was in charge of the program period and Grant Waldie in charge of recreation. Readings were given by Mrs. F. G. Lewis and Mrs. Earl Waldie.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

10 Per Cent Increase Given School Caretaker

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 8 —(ENS)— The February meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board was held on Monday evening with chairman A. G. Buchanan, trustees Mrs. H. W. Wilford, Mrs. Reg Doubt, Stanley Richardson, Charles Hunter and Dr. Reg Campbell present.

It was decided to give the school caretaker a 10 per cent raise in salary as requested.

At a special meeting held previously a 10 per cent increase had been given the teaching staff for 1951 based on the present salary schedule.

The board discussed the necessity of having supervision at noon at the school, as a number of children took their lunch. Mrs. Buchanan contacted Principal E. G. Sloan and Mr. Sloan stated he will discuss this with the staff.

Stanley Richardson was authorized to see about new valves, etc., required for pipes in the basement, and also to enquire about cost of changing the principal's room.

Farm Livestock Prices Decidely Firm

Demand for sheep is increasing sharply, but supply of available stock is low, as reported in the weekly survey of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Prices of sheep, swine and cattle, even horses, are decidedly firm. On the other side of the sheet is a scarcity of seed grain that is causing concern.

Prince Edward County says: "The rise in the local hog prices has forced the market for weanlings from $12 to $16, depending on age. One farmer receiving more than $200 for two sows for slaughter.

Dufferin says young pigs are selling around $13. Grade cows in Grey reached an all time high of $375; sheep are close to the $50 mark (a Peterborough man reported even up to $70 and $75), feed is plentiful.

Grain and pasture fields are carpeted with protective snow. More than 13 inches fell on the level in sections of weste n Ontario.

Brant County reports young boars and bred sows are in active demand at $100 each. Also "Farmers are ordering the largest quantity of fertilizer for winter delivery in the history of this county."

Middlesex: "Live stock is selling at high prices with good loads of beef cattle bringing over $30 per cwt. Many grade cows at auction sales bring over $300, and young pigs are up around $15 each. Seed grain is being shipped in large quantities to the United States."

These county glimpses reflect far sounder farm conditions than were visualized at this time last year.

Even Muskoka says farmers are culling their low producing milk cows which are bringing prices ranging from $275 to $350.

A Northumberland heifer weighing more than 1,800 lbs. recently sold at auction for $450 "which is something of a record in these parts." Horses are a bit better, and a promising calf brings $25.

Interest in weekly auctions is reported from three eastern counties.

Harvey Appeals On Assessment

Judge S. L. Smoke has upheld two decisions of the Harvey Court of Revision on assessment appeals. On another he reduced the assessment. All three appeals were made by Wallace Shearer of Buckhorn.

One appeal was against an assessment of $150 on 160 acres of "wild land," Lot 18, Concession 7. Previously the assessment was $75. Judge Smoke confirmed the Court of Revision's finding.

The second appeal was over part of Lot 10, Concession 8. It is a parcel of land with a cottage on it. The cottage was formerly inhabited. Previous assessment was $25 on the land and $25 on the building. This was raised to $75 on the land and $250 on the building. Both valuations were confirmed.

The third appeal was on a parcel of land, Lot 9, Concession 8, that has an old cheese factory standing on it.

Nelson Windover, Harvey assessor, raised the assessment on the land from $25 to $150. And the assessment on the one-storey wooden-frame building from $100 to $400.

Judge Smoke upheld the valuation on the land, but reduced that on the factory to $200. He reduced it because it is now vacant and because of comparable assessment on similar buildings.

W. B. Gordon was counsel for Mr. Shearer and Stewart G. Sparling, county assessor, represented Harvey.

CCF Renews Price Control Demand

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 — (CP). — The CCF Party put a growing demand for reimposed price controls before the Commons Wednesday in the form of a motion of non-confidence.

The motion, criticizing the government on the specific issue of living costs, was introduced by W. H. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) and quickly won support from the other CCF members, Stanley Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre) and R. R. Knight (Saskatoon).

It was the second CCF non-confidence motion thus far in the week-long Throne-Speech debate. The first, defeated on a voice vote, criticized the government for supporting the United States resolution calling on the United Nations to denounce Red China as an aggressor in Korea.

Raps Action

While the CCF group plumped for price controls, a front-rank Progressive Conservative, Howard Green (Vancouver-Quadra), criticized the government's handing of the Korean crisis as "one of the most disgraceful episodes in Canada's history."

He called for dispatch of the entire 10,000-man special force training now at Fort Lewis, Wash. to Korea to help end the fighting there. Canada also should press for the development of a Pacific defence organization.

Other speakers included Raymond Bruneau (L-Prescott), Arthur Laing (L-Vancouver South) and Auguste Maltais (L-Charlevoix).

In the Commons, Mr. Green suggested Canada had not yet pulled her weight in the Korean War with the statement that "there has been very little in the events of the last six months about which Canadians can be proud."

One of the trained battalions of the regular army should have been sent to Korea at the outset of that conflict. Canada had missed an opportunity to stand beside the US, the country upon which she would have to depend if she were attacked.

While the CCF members called for controls, Mr. Laing said he believes that reimposition of full and complete controls "could well be the end of free enterprise in Canada."

Youth Ministry

Mr. Bruneau suggested the payment of a pension to the disabled and the establishment of a "youth" ministry which would constitute a vocational guidance school for youngsters with ability but without the money for training.

Mr. Maltais called for the adoption of a national flag and said Canada must play her part in the international crisis.

Mr. Green urged:

1—Canada send the 10,000-man special force now training in Fort Lewis, Wash., to Korea to help end the fighting there.

2—Canada press for a Pacific defence pact, similar to the North Atlantic Treaty.

3—Action to strengthen the reserve army.

4—Steps to inaugurate a contributory old-age pensions system.

5—Prompt action to deal with the cost of living and inflation.

Mr. Green said he sometimes considers the rising cost of living and inflation as serious as the war situation. The government's statement that it would ask for stand-by legislation to impose controls, if necessary, had simply had the effect of driving prices higher.

Hope To Halt Prices

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said Wednesday the cost of living in the United States probably will rise for "a few months" but can be halted by the middle of the summer. He told a press conference that how long the mid-summer price line can be held will depend on whether the country achieves a balanced budget, tightens credit controls, and increases production.

Approve Naval Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—A $2,740,092,000 program for building up the United States' Navy's fighting power won the unanimous approval Wednesday of a Senate Armed Services Sub-Committee. Senator Harry Byrd (Dem. Va.), chairman of the group, said the legislation providing for the vast naval construction and conversion effort should be ready for expected Senate passage next week.

Education Conference

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 8 (CP).—Educators from many parts of Ontario will gather at the University of Western Ontario Saturday April 14 for a university-sponsored guidance conference. The conference will be attended by secondary school inspectors, principals and guidance officers. University faculty members will also be present.

Suspend Union Work

LAKE SUCCESS, Feb. 8 (AP).—Free Trade Unions told the United Nations in a document made public Wednesday that the Russian slave pattern and abolition of genuine trade union activity have been forced on countries living under Soviet control. The International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, a world group which represents the CIO, the AFL, and other unions in UN consultations, made the survey. It said its information is based on reliable sources, "mostly of Soviet origin."

Actors Organize Christian Group

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 8 (AP) — This week a different kind of banquet was held in Hollywood.

Cocktails weren't served. No awards were given. In fact, nothing occurred that would evoke headlines in the newspapers.

The event was the second annual banquet of the Hollywood Christian Group.

It was founded in July, 1949, by "certain Christian entertainers" with the purpose "to provide Christian fellowship for artists of the entertainment world and to unite them in witness to those of their profession who lack a vital relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ."

The group is non-sectarian and inter-denominational, meeting every Monday night for religious discussions. Those directing the group's affairs "are understood to adopt a scriptural attitude toward intoxication, profanity or immorality." Founders included Jane Russell, Connie Haines, Porter Hall and Colleen Townsend.

Greeted By Rogers

Guests were greeted by cowboy star Roy Rogers, who introduced Hall. The character actor offered a prayer in which he asked "God's help to avoid the pitfalls we face in our profession."

After dinner, Ronald Reagan opened the program. Although not a member of the group, he expressed his interest, citing that "a generation ago, actors couldn't be buried in the churchyard." He scored publicity which he said made actors appear "crazy, immoral and not like the rest of the world."

Rogers added that it's too bad "people never hear the good things about actors." His quartette sang "Steal Away" and then he and wife Dale Evans joined them in "It Is No Secret What God Can Do."

Singing star Connie Haines then sang "I'd Rather Have Jesus Than Anything."

Guests at the event included Marie Wilson, Gordon MacRae, Irene Dunne, Chill Wills, Scott Brady, Peggy Dow and other film industry officials.

One of the group's founders, Jane Russell, explained a purpose of the event: "Every other group, including the Communists, is organized, so why shouldn't we?"

Canada Needs 125 Churches Meeting Told

United Church Plans Year's Campaign To Raise $1,000,000

The United Church of Canada needs 125 new churches in this country, the Rev. J. C. Torrance told approximately 65 ministers and laymen at the morning session of the Peterborough County Presbytery meeting held in Mark St. United Church Thursday.

Mr. Torrance is home missions secretary for Eastern Ontario.

The speaker went on to explain that the majority of these new churches were needed in the cities and larger towns because of the rapidly increasing urban population.

Money for these churches will be collected through a fund-raising campaign for $1,000,000 which Mr. Torrance announced will begin this month and will be carried out during the remainder of the year.

The Rev. Bob Morris, assistant secretary of the missionary committee, reported the church had almost reached its 1950 $3,000,000 objective to be used for missionary activities.

$55,000 Short

The church is only $55,000 short of its objective and all returns are not in. He explained that with the completion of these returns, it was expected that the objective would be obtained.

The Rev. M. J. Aiken of St. Andrew's Church and chairman of the local missionary committee, reported that the Peterborough Presbytery had given $33,000 to the fund—an increase of approximately $4,000 over the 1949 total.

The Rev. T. G. Husser of Millbrook United Church and chairman of the Christian education committee, asked for the support of the Presbytery for a proposed new summer camp for teen-age boys and girls at Coe Hill.

Mr. Husser was authorized to go ahead with plans for the camp which will be financed by the Presbytery.

Group Insurance Plan

The pension fund committee proposed a group insurance plan for ministers which was approved by the Presbytery and will be put into operation immediately.

Arrangements were made for visits to all the churches in the Presbytery during this year.

Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe of Hastings brought greetings to the Presbytery from the Women's Missionary Society and Mrs. Carmen Bell of Fairview brought greetings from the Women's Association.

Rev. Aiken was chairman. The next meeting will be held in Bethany on April 24.

FIRST TWO PETERBOROUGH Naval recruits to be sworn in by the RCN Mobile Recruiting Unit in the city were Ronald Deck of 754 Walkerfield Ave., LEFT, and Andre Picard of 263 Brock St. Lt.-Commander R. L. M. Picard of Montreal administered the oath, assisted by CPO G. Q. Irving of Simcoe, assistant recruiting officer. "Recruiting results are far better in Peterborough than we expected," said the officers.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Recruiting Team Interviews 105 Would-be Sailors

The Royal Canadian Navy's recruiting drive in Peterborough ended Wednesday. Five men officially became seamen. The response from the local men was "overwhelming" said Instructor Lieutenant Commander L. M. Picard, recruiting officer.

Sixteen others are in the process of becoming seamen. Their files will be sent to navy headquarters. Instructor Lt.-Cmdr. Picard said that some others might be sworn in today if their files are completed.

Lt. W. H. Laing, recruiting officer from HMCS York, Toronto, arrived at noon today to help complete the drive. He will return with Lt.-Cmdr. Picard and O.S. Deck on Friday.

Over the three-day period 105 men were interviewed, 45 on Monday, 26 on Tuesday and 34 on Wednesday. They medically checked 24, G-tested 39, 15 failing to meet the required standard.

Peterborough was the first stop for the unit. Friday the staff will move to Oshawa. Other centres scheduled for drives include St. Catharines, Niagara Falls, Welland, Brantford, Galt, Guelph, Kitchener and Waterloo.

Church Filled To Capacity For Funeral Of Late Rector

The bereavement of the community of Peterborough by the death of the Rev. William E. Kibblewhite, rector of All Saints' Anglican Church, was manifested at the funeral in his memory Wednesday afternoon. Half an hour prior to the processional from the vestry, every available seat in the church was occupied, and by that time even standing room in the vestibule was crowded.

That hushed congregation was eloquent evidence of the esteemed place which Rev. Mr. Kibblewhite had attained during the comparatively brief three years of his pastorate at All Saints. And it was particularly a silent and mourning expression of the affection of his parishioners. The young rector, so suddenly taken from them by untimely death, was greatly loved by his people. Tears were in many eyes during the service.

Bishop of Toronto in Charge

The Bishop of Toronto, Right Reverend A. R. Beverley, was assisted in the simple requiem rite of the Anglican Church by Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's, Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson of Toronto, a former rector of All Saints, and Rural Dean Rev. Walter J. Gilling of St. Luke's Church.

Attending members of the Anglican clergy of the district included, Ven. Archdeacon C. W. Balfour, assistant at St. John's Church, Peterborough, Rev. L. J. Delaney, Lakefield; Rev. Canon C. R. Spencer, Port Hope; Rev. Canon F. J. Fife, Young's Point; Rev. John McKibbon, Campbellford; Rev. F. Pooley, Omemee; and Rev. H. Hesketh, Lindsay, Rural Dean of Victoria.

Major C. Everitt, president, and members of the Peterborough Ministerial Association attended. The opening processional included Boy Scouts and Cubs of All Saints, senior Scout Officers, Girl Guides, the surpliced choir, visiting clergy and the assistants in the service, preceding Bishop Beverley.

The pall-bearers were: E. J. Searight, T. Percy Hooper, J. L. McKeever, Dr. G. R. Penhall, T. L. Griffin and V. A. Hill.

Brief Tribute Paid

Archdeacon Robertson said in a brief address to the congregation that the death of Rev. Mr. Kibblewhite shocked and stunned his friends. It was like the news of a life lost in a wreck. Only in that way could one think of such an untimely death.

"We have no rosewater philosophy to explain such things. We bring our sorrows beneath the shadow of the Cross. It is only there that we find not an explanation but a guarantee of our faith and our courage to go on. It tells us that God Himself has entered into the mystery of it all.

"We are thinking today of a man who possessed such God-given charm of character that in the brief three years of his ministry here he entered not only into the hearts of the people of All Saints, but of all who met him and knew him."

Rev. Mr. Kibblewhite's last Sunday on earth was Quinquagesima, Archdeacon Robertson said. Its collect from Corinthians 1, chapter 1, set forth St. Paul's great precept of love. "Charity suffereth long and is kind; charity envieth not, vaunteth not, is not puffed up...."

"It is not fulsome or unreal to say that we could see a fair sample of that indefinable quality in William Kibblewhite.

"He had served only three years in Peterborough, and the public life of Christ was only three years.

"We live in deeds not in years, in thoughts not in breaths, in feelings not in figures. He most lives who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best."

Archdeacon Robertson expressed sympathy to the bereaved family, and said that "our sympathy is a pale reflection of the sympathy of God."

The body of Rev. Mr. Kibblewhite was removed late Wednesday afternoon to Wycliffe College, Toronto, resting there until 10 a.m. today, when it was taken to the Church of the Messiah for a service at 12:30 p.m., conducted by Rev. W. R. Sproule, rector of that church. Interment took place at Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Toronto. Major Everitt and Rev. H. G. Douglas represented the Ministerial Association at the rites in Toronto.

$55,000 Account For Education

With everything else, the cost of education has also gone up as somewhat magnified by the $55,000 account, compared with $23,000 two years ago, received by the Peterborough Suburban High School Area board, from Peterborough Board of Education.

Several of the members are said to have been jolted by the amount, but another acknowledged that he had estimated it within $2,000 of the actual levy.

John Kitney remarked to the Examiner that the grant from the Ontario government will substantially reduce that liability to the Peterborough Board of Education.

The account rendered is for the education of suburban pupils at the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School.

Special Music For "Twelfth Night"

A feature of unusual importance in the Peterborough Little Theatre's production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" on February 15, 16, and 17, will be the musical accompaniment. It is evident from his plays that Shakespeare was unusually fond of music. Not only does he introduce many songs into his plays, but he also makes many references to music. It is logical that when his plays are performed, this musical enthusiasm on the part of the great playwright should be kept in mind.

Using Coventry Singers

No Shakespearean play is more musical in its quality than "Twelfth Night," and for its forthcoming production the Little Theatre has asked Mr. John Hooper to prepare a musical accompaniment. He has done so, using the Coventry Singers, of which he is conductor, and a piano duet, supplied by Miss Musa Cox and Mrs. Mary Baker.

For the material of this musical score Mr. Hooper has turned to music of Shakespeare's own day—the music of Dowland, Weelkes and the great composers of the madrigal school. Some popular Elizabethan tunes are introduced also—"Peg-a-Ramsey" and "Hey Robin." A theme which occurs at several points in the play is the lovely old Irish air "Caleno Custure Me," to which Shakespeare makes reference in several plays.

"Twelfth Night" contains many songs on its own account. "O Mistress Mine" is a love-song of particular beauty, and "Come away, death," is one of Shakespeare's finest lyrics. The play concludes with "When that I was," a gay jig-tune. All of these songs are entrusted to the actor who plays the part of Feste, the clown, in the play; in the Little Theatre production this role is undertaken by Mr. Lloyd Hale.

Music will Bridge Gaps

The production has been designed to move as quickly as possible from start to finish, without unnecessary pauses for shifting scenery. There must, however, be some break between one scene and another, and music will be used to bridge these gaps—sometimes a few seconds of music, and sometimes more.

The audiences at "Twelfth Night" are assured not only of the play itself, which is one of Shakespeare's finest, but also of a first-rate concert of Elizabethan music. The rapidity with which the seats are being sold at the Public Library suggests that a great many people are looking forward keenly to both play and music.

Constable Implicates Three Men

Young Undercover Gives Evidence Of Bets In Club

Working as an undercover man, Constable John Wesley Miller of the provincial police anti-gambling squad, said in police court Wednesday that three men, Ronald Horton, Neil Harrington and Edward Alberico, took bets from him at the Modern Recreation club room on Charlotte between Nov. 27 and Jan. 13.

Part of the crown's case was heard Wednesday and the rest of the trial was put over to Feb. 14.

Principle witness in the crown's case is the 22-year-old young-looking constable.

The first time he went into the Recreation club he said was Nov. 27, more than two weeks after he had come to Peterborough and started his investigation of seven premises.

Referring constantly to his notes he related a number of times he went into the club. On his first visit he saw a card game in progress. After about three hours he left.

Nov. 30 he went back and took part in the card game going on. Again on Dec. 1 he entered and stayed for only a few minutes after seeing another card game in progress. He played in many games during his visits.

Two on Blue Abbey

In the afternoon of Dec. 2 he re-entered and heard Horton take a message over the phone, write something down and then dial a number on the phone. Into the phone he said "Two and two on Blue Abbey. Jim just phoned." After playing cards for an hour or so the constable left.

About 11.30 a.m. Dec. 9 he entered the street door at the foot of the stairs which leads to the club room and several offices. Coming down the stairs was Alberico. He handed Alberico $2 and asked him to put "one and one on Hill Prince, Hollywood Park."

Alberico put the money in his pocket and "asked me to call him later to make sure he had it." Later the same day he checked with Alberico at the club room to see if he had the name right, and he had. He then heard Alberico answer the phone and write something down on a piece of paper.

The morning of Dec. 16 when he entered the club room, he saw Alberico there and handed him $2 to bet on Besita at Tropical.

Evidence given of other visits involved the three men.

When he was in the club room Dec. 29 he saw Harrington sitting at one of the tables with a sheet of paper ruled into three columns. Harrington was checking the names on it against racing results section of the night final of the Toronto Telegram.

Harrington answered the phone on Jan. 6, wrote about 20 names and figures down on a sheet. Some of the names and figures were "Lockline, two and two, Bank's Club, 10 straight, Deer Slayer, $2 and Dasha." Harrington then phoned and gave the names and figures. He checked the names with the racing form and then burned the slips of paper on which he had written in an ash tray.

"Ma a Real Bettor"

After receiving and transmitting a phone call on Jan. 8, Horton said "Ma was a real bettor." Harrington answered "If I could pick winners like she could, I would put this place out of business in a day."

This brought laughter from the crowded court room and the three accused men. Horton seemed to enjoy it the most.

Jan. 9 the constable received a $10 bill whose serial number they noted.

About 2.55 p.m. on January 13 the other officers raided the room and Constable Miller's corporal took over.

W. B. Gordon, defending Alberico, cross questioned Constable Miller and then T. J. Carley, K.C. defending Horton and Harrington, began his cross-questioning, but had not progressed far when court was adjourned.

GROOM'S BIRTHDAY and 50th wedding anniversary were celebrated together by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Heaslip of Bailieboro on Wednesday. More than 100 relatives and friends called on them.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Honeymoon Trip In Buggy As Weather 25 Below Zero

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Heaslip of Bailieboro celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Wednesday, and more than 100 relatives and friends from the surrounding district paid their respects during the afternoon and evening receptions. There was a family dinner party held at six o'clock.

John Heaslip and Addie Alberta Tippett were married at the manse of the Presbyterian Church in South Monaghan by the Rev. Mr. Catanagh. Ronald Reynolds was groomsman and Annetta Tippett, sister of the bride, maid-of-honor. The weather was 25 degrees below zero that day, they recalled, but there was no snow and the honeymoon trip to Millbrok was made in horse and buggy.

Moved To Bailieboro

After a few years of farming in Hope Township, they moved to Bailieboro in 1924. Mr. Heaslip was foreman on township and county roads for 11 years and retired from this work due to ill-health.

There are four children in the family, two daughters, Mrs. William Bamsey (Ila) of Port Hope and Mrs. Jack Dew (Audrey) of Peterborough and two sons, Alvin K. Heaslip of Port Hope and J. Melville of South Monahan. Five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren make up four generations of the family.

Fred Tippett of Rainy River and Mrs. Laura Yates of St. Catharines, sister and brother of Mrs. Heaslip, and Mrs. Pearl Hill, Mr. Heaslip's sister from Toronto, were present at the gathering.

Many handsome gifts were presented to the popular couple: A studio couch, a gold-colored blanket, gold jewellery, a gold-colored teapot, a pen and pencil set, flowers and money, from relatives, friends and neighbors. A telegram of congratulation came from nieces and nephews in Western Canada.

Mr. Heaslip was also celebrating his 75th birthday on this day and a large birthday cake was made in his honor by a friend.

An anniversary cake which centred the tea table was made by their daughters. It was flanked with gold tapers and silver tea services at each end of the table were presided over by Mrs. Annie Robinson, Mrs. George Fletcher, Mrs. Pearl Hill, and Mrs. Clarence Smith. Serving the refreshments were Mrs. William Bamsey, Mrs. John Dew, Mrs. Melville Heaslip, Mrs. Alvin Heaslip, Mrs. Donald Keeler, and Mrs. Laura Yates.

The guest book was attended by Miss Clara Seens and Mrs. James Fair and Mrs. Dawson Rutherford attended the door.

Measles Cases Total 433 "Not Epidemic"

Measles cases totalled 433 or 8 times the cases in 1950 up to noon Wednesday since January 1. During January Dr. R. A. Kelly reported 223 cases in the city. Since then the measles cases have nearly reached January's figure with 210 cases reported to the department of health.

Dr. Kelly said the daily report for the past week was: Friday, February 2, 65 cases reported; Monday, February 5, 88 cases; Tuesday, February 6, 42 cases; to noon Wednesday, 15 cases.

Dr. Kelly repeated his assurance given last week that the number of cases is not considered at an epidemic stage but "as an anticipated outbreak."

Dr. Kelly expects fewer cases this year than in 1948, the last serious outbreak when 1,440 cases were reported. The outbreak before that was in 1943. He explained that the period between the 1948 outbreak and the present is much shorter than the period between the previous two. Therefore, the number of children immune is greater.

Traffic Light Static Stymies PUC Plans

Complaints of radio interference stymied plans of the Peterborough Public Utilities Commission to put traffic lights into operation at Monaghan Road and Charlotte Street.

Manager Ross Dobbin reported today that the lights had been installed, but when they were turned on, irate householders telephoned complaints that their radios would not work properly.

As a result a special apparatus will have to be installed, and this corner will be without traffic lights for three months.

Year's Hospital Deficit $144,000? Hopes Not

"Does that mean the hospital deficit is likely to be $144,000 this year?" asked Ald. E. C. Braund.

"I hope not," Mayor Swanston replied.

"Well, it sounds like it," Ald. Braund said.

Reference was to the request from Board of Governors for monthly payment of $12,000 to Civic Hospital until their budget has been submitted to the council for this year's tax levy.

Judge Smoke Dismisses LCA Appeal

Two Major Arguments Of Defence Fail; Costs Fixed At $25

Judge S. L. Smoke today dismissed the appeal of Kenneth Thompson, convicted November 23 of offering liquor for sale. Dismissal was made in a three-page written judgment.

The two major arguments raised by defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair, were that there was no evidence of an offer for sale, and that it had not been proved that the case taken from the accused contained liquor.

Judge Smoke said: "At the time I intimated that I was satisfied that the evidence did indicate there had been an offer for sale."

Judge May Infer

On the other point, the judge referred to a section of the Liquor Control Act, which states that the justice trying the case may infer that "the liquor in question is intoxicating from the fact that a witness describes it as intoxicating, or by a name which is commonly applied to an intoxicating liquor."

He mentioned several parts of the evidence in which police officers and other witnesses referred to th liquor as "beer."

Judge Smoke fixed costs at $25 or an additional 10 days in default of payment.

Thompson, a taxi-driver for Geoffrey Feeley, was convicted before Magistrate W. R. Philp and sentenced to two months in jail.

Only 12 Below Don't Argue!

Bus men and letter carriers are only some of the neighbors who are going to be disappointed by the official temperature for today. According to their readings about town the thermometers were down to 17 below zero, and one man came upon an 18-below mark.

One of the mail men noticed that the mercury on Dr. Herbert Young's verandah was still at 11 below around 9 a.m.

So, James Harrison would have to do a lot of explaining about a mere 12 below.

On the other hand the main streeters can hardly object too strongly. The Harrison government record can't be wrong winter and summer. The down towners say in summer that the suburban knoll at the filtration plant is a cool spot and is considerably off the beam from Charlotte and George heat. If you grant that, there should also be agreement that in winter there should be a sharper edge to the wind there than by the time it gets into the centre of the city.

Anyway, the official register for today is 12 degrees below, as shown in another column.

Professor Picked To Write King Biography

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP) — A distinguished Canadian university professor — Dr. R. MacGregor Dawson—has been selected to write the biography of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.

His literary executors today announced that Dr. Dawson, professor of political science at the University of Toronto, will begin the mountainous writing task next June and likely will complete it about 1954.

Funds to finance the writing of the biography will be available through a Rockefeller Foundation grant.

The late prime minister began his work after his retirement Nov. 15, 1948. It was far from complete when Mr. King died at 75 on July 22, 1950.

Blow Up House

CAIRO, Feb. 8 — (AP).—The Arab News Agency said Wednesday night nine persons were killed when Jews blew up the house of the mayor of the Arab village of Sharafat near the truce line south of Jerusalem. Eight persons were injured and one is missing, the agency added. In Tel Aviv the newspaper Maariv said the raid was apparently in retaliation for borders incidents near divided Jerusalem in which two Jews were reported killed.

Say Wet Snow Cuts Power Montreal Industries Idle

MONTREAL, Feb. 8 (CP). — The electric jugular vein of this metropolis was severed by weather action shortly before noon Wednesday and for about half an hour the industrial life of the city came to a standstill.

A spokesman for the Shawinigan Water and Power Company explained that an unusual concentration of wet snow caused the 100,000-volt transmission lines from Shawinigan Falls to disconnect automatically.

This break caused an extra load on other stations so that the power cut-out became general.

In the downtown area a mild form of panic and bewilderment was noticeable as elevators came to a stop between floors and tram cars stopped where they were on the tracks.

The delays meant that some people missed trains because they could not check out of hotels on schedule. In department stores and other business establishments business was carried on by candle light.

The power cut-off caught thousands of Montrealers at church attending Ash Wednesday Lenten services which went on uninterrupted by the light of altar candles.

As tram cars stalled, downtown traffic backed up bumper to bumper. Hospitals switched quickly to emergency power facilities.

In thousands of homes lunches went unprepared since the shut-off came at 11:20 a.m., and lasted until 11:50 a.m. Radio stations went off the air and news wires, which generally rattle out high-speed wordage 24 hours a day, were stilled.

Traffic lights went out and extra traffic police got to important intersections to direct what little traffic there was moving.

Jury Acquits Transport Driver

CORNWALL, Feb. 8 (CP) —A general sessions jury Wednesday acquitted Ross Ellis, 22, Toronto transport driver who had testified his mind "went blank" just before a fatal accident, of a charge of dangerous driving.

The Crown claimed Ellis had crowded another transport off the highway near Aultsville 18 miles west of here. James Godfrey, 29, of Ajax, Ont., was pinned in the cab of his truck after it left the road and burned to death in the flaming wreckage.

The 57-foot Takla, one of the largest vessels of the British Columbia fishing fleet, crashed on to the reef last night off Lucy Island, 10 miles north of here.

My Favourite Menu For A Lenten Meal is this:—
Cream of Celery Soup
Baked Fish with Lemon
Scalloped Potatoes Squash
Green Salad with French Dressing
Muffins
Peppermint Stick Ice Cream
Small Cakes Beverage

And my favourite recipe for Baked Fish with Lemon: Rub Sunkist lemon juice over fish to be baked, covering the inside as well as outside. Salt and stuff or not as desired. Put in well-greased pan, dot with butter and bake at moderate temperature until done (about 12 minutes to the pound). Serve garnished with parsley and Sunkist lemon wedges or quarters. These should be large enough, and plentiful enough, to provide ample juice for flavour.

Yes, we use lots and lots of luscious SUNKIST CALIFORNIA LEMONS in our house during Lent! They're so ideal with fish . . . and with meats and in cooking, generally! And no wonder! For Sunkist California Lemons are the finest, juiciest lemons grown!

Something New And Delicious Has Been Added to the famous Heinz "57" family! It's HEINZ TARTAR SAUCE—a prize-winning, prize-winning tartar sauce if ever I've tasted one! It's tartar sauce your family and friends will find irresistible—a taste-tickling blend of tangy relish and onions, carefully selected spices, vinegar, corn oil and other choice ingredients. Prepared by those Heinz "master-chefs"—Heinz Tartar Sauce has just the right zip to pep up a fish dish or a simple salad. Ask for Heinz Tartar Sauce... your grocer has it for you in an eight-ounce jar. And—you know it's good—because it's Heinz!

"Most Used" Of All My Favourite Recipes are the exciting dishes I can whip up in a jiffy with A.B.C. SALMON as the star ingredient. Wonderful A.B.C. Salmon is packed and ready-to-serve from the tin—four varieties, each the best of its kind—and all four kinds so budget-wise! Just wait 'til you taste A.B.C. Sockeye—deep, delicious red sockeye—succulent in salads—luscious in sandwiches—and wonderfully festive served in hot dishes. Then there's delicious A.B.C. Cohoe—medium red, wonderfully tasty—delightfully versatile. But you really should find out for yourself how delicious these "treasures of the sea" can be! Ask your grocer for A.B.C. Salmon today! I'm putting it on my shopping list right now. How about you?

Want To Do Something Special for your Special Valentine? Then I'd suggest you bake him a cake . . . but be sure it's a cake made with SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR! That's the flour milled by specialists in making cake flour . . . flour that's made from the choicest of soft wheat and sifted over and over again 'til it's 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. I've found that Swans Down makes consistently finer, fluffier cakes . . . cakes you'll love to serve to your friends, and family. And—need I say? . . . there's no surer way to delight the heart of your Valentine!

Ever Ache All Over after a strenuous day of housecleaning? That's when to reach for SLOAN'S LINIMENT! For, truly, Sloan's is the most relief-bringing treatment I know for sore muscles! Just pat it on and it works wonderfully quickly to bring you welcome relief from pain! Yes, if you're suffering from stiff neck—sprains—rheumatism or neuralgia, you'll find that the soothing, penetrating heat of Sloan's Liniment gets right to the heart of the hurt . . . makes you feel so much better! Ask for Sloan's Liniment at any drugstore—just 50c for the small-sized bottle—90c for the large.

Here's A Wonderful Recipe from one of my readers! In answer to my request for favourite BOVRIL recipes and uses, Mrs. R. Parsons, 72 East 11th Ave., Vancouver, B.C., has sent this excellent recipe—I know you'll like An "Indian Curry" flavoured with Bovril—

2 cups leftover meat, chicken or rabbit
2 large onions
3/4 cup flour
1 level tbspn. curry powder
1 Bovril Cube, hot water added to make 1 cup
Salt and pepper

Cut up and brown onions in a stew pan with a little dripping. Cut up meat etc. and add to onions and seasoning; cover well with Bovril Cube dissolved in hot water. Stew for two hours or until tender. Mix curry powder and flour with a little water to form a smooth paste and add to stew. Mix thoroughly and allow to simmer for ten to fifteen minutes. Serve curry very hot with boiled rice.

Until Red Hands Are The Fashion, the soap for me is DUZ! Duz does such a marvelous job of getting my washes snowy white . . . yet leaving my hands white, too! Such a relief after some of those no-rinse chemicals I'd been experimenting with! You see, Duz combines great quantities of rich, real soap with two active detergents—gives you white, white washes and marvelous care for your hands! There isn't a soap I know that gives me a cleaner, sweeter-smelling wash—yet Duz is wonderfully safe for colours and ever so kind to your hands! Once you've tried it, you'll join the Duz "Fans" everywhere who are saying "Duz does Everything—so beautifully!"

Whoops! . . . such enthusiasm! Baby's all agog when he sees that big bowlful of yummy-looking food! It's one of the delicious varieties of HEINZ STRAINED BABY FOODS and just right for your tiny mite! Yes, babies love those luscious Heinz Cereals and the appetizing variety of strained meat products, soups, vegetables and desserts. And, mother!—they're so easy for you to prepare—so easy for baby to digest. For every one of the Heinz Baby Foods are cooked to baby-ready digestibility in Heinz' spotless kitchens. If You Plan Your Meals to suit your man—here's a main-course dish that's so good he'll ask for more! It's KRAFT DINNER—that delicious macaroni-'n'-cheese dish that's so amazingly economical. One package of "Kraft Dinner" contains enough for a main dish for four at just pennies a serving. And in every package there's a special, fast-cooking macaroni, as well as cheddar cheese, already grated, to sprinkle on for rich cheese flavour. Yes, your man will be thoroughly pleased with this flavourful dish... and you'll be pleased with the time 'n' meal-getting trouble it saves you... off the shelf—into the pot—onto the table!

P.S.—Better "stock up" on "Kraft Dinner" for Lent!

Want A Really Good Cup Of Coffee? Then I'd suggest you try BLUE RIBBON COFFEE! Truly, it gives you more than your money's worth in genuine coffee richness and full-bodied flavour! Yes, Blue Ribbon Coffee is always delicious and it's always fresh—fresh because Blue Ribbon has three big roasting plants across Canada—and one of them is close to you. So don't experiment with so-called "bargain" coffees. It takes so much more of them and you still don't get a good cup of coffee! Top your meal off properly. Be sure of your coffee—ask for Blue Ribbon, perfectly blended, electronically roasted, never burned, never bitter. Next time you're shopping—get Blue Ribbon.

Here's A Very Nice Letter from a reader, who says:—"I'm so glad I read about Zonitors in your column. Say 60 Injuries Found On Sullivan Body

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 — (CP). — The body of Francis J. Sullivan, 52-year-old Toronto lawyer found dead in a downtown hotel room early November 18 last, was covered with at least 60 injuries, Dr. Max Klotz testified in court on Wednesday.

Key Crown witness, the Ottawa pathologist gave evidence in the Ontario Supreme Court trial of Mrs. Marion Sullivan, 48-year-old Toronto woman on a charge of manslaughter arising out of the death of her husband.

These injuries, which varied from two black eyes and blows to the back of the head to scratches about the face, arms, and trunk, were "unquestionably the result of repeated applications of blunt force," said Dr. Klotz, who had performed an autopsy on the body.

"Were they caused by 60 different applications of force " asked Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, who, along with a 12-man jury, is hearing the case.

"I cannot say, my Lord," Dr. Klotz replied. "But the injuries would indicate that such force had been applied."

Earlier, the court heard Mrs. Phyllis J. Neale, night-duty matron at the Carleton County Jail, testify that as far as she knew, Mrs Sullivan did not suffer a fall from her prison cot in the week she was under arrest.

Noticed Bruises

The accused was charged with murder after nine hours of questioning on Nov. 18. A preliminary hearing reduced the charge to manslaughter. When Mrs. Sullivan was formally placed under arrest, a police woman noticed five bruises on her body, including three marks which appeared to be scratches on her left breast.

Mrs. Neale said that when she asked Mrs. Sullivan on Nov. 22 how these were caused, Mrs. Sullivan stated they were the result of a fall from her prison cot. The matron said that as far as she knew, this had not occurred.

Another matron, Mrs. Bernice Moore, told of accompanying Mrs. Sullivan from the jail cells down a flight of stairs to the jail kitchen on Nov. 21. She recalled that Mrs. Sullivan stumbled and slumped down on the stairs, remarking: "It is so easy to be injured."

Blood On Towels

Another Crown witness, Verda Vincent of Toronto, Ontario Medico-legal laboratory analyst, said she examined towels and bed linen taken from the hotel bedroom and found stains of human blood on two hand towels, a large bath towel, a bed mat, a bed sheet and a strip of hotel carpet.

Detailing each of the injuries, Dr. Klotz said some of them indicated that the force used had a sharp edge. Others indicated that the force was blunt in shape.

The bruises on the chest and arms suggested to him that "the force which produced these was considerable and had a crushing element to produce the haemorrhage beneath the skin."

The eye injuries indicated "the application of blunt force to the area." A clot of blood was found in the left ear canal. When washed out, no injury could be located. Dr. Koltz believed the blood might have run from injuries on the face.

Son Wed To Chinese Girl Peer Urges Mao Negotiate

MANCHESTER, England, Feb. 8 — (CP). — A Labor peer whose son married a Chinese girl addressed an open letter Wednesday to Communist China's Mao Tse-tung urging a negotiated settlement of differences between China and the West.

The appeal came from Lord Lindsay of Birker, principal of University College of North Staffordshire, and its wording probably sums up how the majority of British people feel about China.

'We are very reluctant indeed to be involved in a quarrel with China," Lord Lindsay said in a 2,000-word letter pulished by the Manchester Guardian. "There is a very general feeling among the people of all political parties that the People's Government is the real government of China and has a clear claim in justice to the seat on the United Nations; and a very general feeling that China has a just claim to a free hand in Formosa."

But, Lord Lindsay said, the Chinese Government's attitude and propaganda toward Britain betrayed a doctrinairism which might have come from Russia itself.

The peer, whose son, Michael, married in 1941 the daughter of a Chinese colonel, quoted Mao Tse-tung as having said Communism's fundamental duty is to marage policy wisely from a clear knowledge.

'This encouraged moderates in Britain to believe that disputes with China could be settled by peaceful negotiation and even that China might help bridge the gulf between Russia and the West.

Judgment Reserved On Decertification

TORONTO, Feb. 8 (CP) — Judgment was reserved Wednesday on the Canadian Labor Relations Board's recent decertification of the Canadian Seamen's Union as bargaining agent for employees of Branch Lines Ltd., of Sorel, Que.

J. J. Robinette, counsel for the board, said at a court hearing the CSU exists only to advance Communist and Russian interests. The board had been right in ruling that the organization was no longer a trade union.

No court can legally revoke any decision or order made by the board, he said.

Demand Ships Back

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)— The United States Wednesday formally demanded that Russia immediately return 672 lend-lease naval and merchant ships sent to her aid in the Second World War. The State Department said a note demanding this was handed to Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin at Wednesday's lend-lease talks. Russian representatives have refused to discuss return of the 672 ships, officials said. The Soviets insist Russia wants to buy the vessels, which include 87 merchant ships.

ALBANY, NY, Feb. 8 (AP).— Police stopped the showing of the Italian film, "Bitter Rice," a half-hour after it began an engagement at the Ritz Theatre Wednesday. Chief Philip Coffey said he banned the picture on the grounds it was "improper and objectionable." He did not expand on the statement, but it was reported that the action stemmed from objections by the Legion of Decency of the Roman Catholic Church.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Try This—Poaching The Fish First Before Its Final Treatment

Much as we all like fillets of sole, salmon, halibut, pickerel and brook trout we are going to high-hat them today in favor of the useful "fillet of fish"—which in nine cases out of ten is common haddock. (The tenth case is full of cod my fish dealer facetiously adds.)

You are going to so thoroughly enjoy the different ways of serving them that you will wish Lent lasted longer. That's a voluntary thing anyway.

The "chef de Cuisine" of the Ritz Carlton claims that the average housewife cooks her fish too quickly and too long. That means that she usually fries them, and too long at that.

Fish is a delicate subject and responds admirably to careful treatment.

High heat is indicated only when fish is baked or broiled and then only for a specified number of minutes.

Are you willing to change your fish cooking ways and copy the master fish chefs by poaching the fish first, before giving it last-minute character treatment?

To Poach a Fish Fillet

(This is what I mean when I refer to "poaching" later on in the column.)

Place fillets flat in a long pan (I use my small roaster) and cover them to half of their thickness with either cold water or cold vegetable stock such as that saved from boiled carrots or beans or peas or asparagus or corn. Add juice of half lemon and 1 slice of raw onion. Bring to boiling point. Reduce heat as much as possible and simmer for 8 or 10 minutes (never longer) according to the thickness of the fillets.

Fillets with Simple Sauce

Lift the fillets to a hot platter. Boil the stock down to 2/3 or 1 cup. Meanwhile rub to a soft smooth paste 3 tablespoons butter, and slowly add the boiled down stock to it, beating all of the time. If the butter is placed in the cooking liquor and allowed to melt of its own accord, the result is far from satisfactory. Taste the sauce. If it does not contain enough lemon juice add it. It may need salt and white pepper—also some chopped parsley. Pour over the boiling hot fish and serve at once.

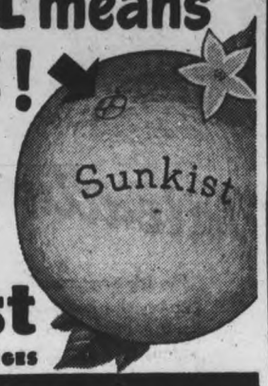
Broiled Haddock Fillets

Dip two haddock fillets in flour, then completely cover them with cooking oil, and place on searing hot broiler rack in searing hot broiling oven. Cook until brown. They do not require turning if oven is hot enough. But if you are timid about their doneness place each fillet on a strip of aluminum household foil or parchment paper to facilitate turning. Broiling requires only 10 or 12 minutes too. Any more and your fish begins to dry out and lose flavor. Serve with parsley-lemon butter made by rubbing butter to a smooth paste then creaming into it lemon juice and finely chopped parsley.

Baked Haddock Fillets

Dip two haddock fillets in flour, then coat with oil and cook on flat pan 10 minutes in red hot oven. This is magically improved if coated with a half and half mixture of butter and anchovy paste mixed well together. Boiled potatoes are the usual accompaniment.

Haddock Fillets Duglere



To the poaching liquid (as described above under "poaching") add 1 cup canned tomatoes and 1 large onion chopped. Boil down the liquid to 2/3 or 1 cup and add 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley. Cream 3 tablespoons butter until a very soft paste, and cream into it 1 tablespoon lemon juice, then slowly the Duglere sauce. Pour sauce over poached fillets on broiler rack. Pass under very hot broiler for about 3 minutes. Serve at once. This is ideal in households that boast an oven plank or an oven dish that fits into a silver ring.

Stuffed and Baked Fillets

This is for the dinners where there are guests.

Two large haddock fillets are needed; place one on piece of parchment paper in bottom of pan, skin side down. Cover with dressing made of 1½ cup bread-crumbs, 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, ½ cup warm whole milk, 1 tablespoon minced sour pickle, shake of pepper, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Cover with second fillet skin side up, and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes—possibly 25 minutes if fillets are thinnish. Baste often with melted butter. Serve covered with sauce in pan and pass hot drawn butter sauce. Drawn butter sauce is made like a cream sauce, but using water and lemon juice instead of milk.

Korean Influence In Latest Paris Fashions

By EDDY GILMORE.

PARIS, Feb. 8 (AP).—Schiaparelli Wednesday took the raps off her new creations in clothes and showed the eager onlookers an exotic fresh batch of open-chested, bare-backed beauty.

Her clothes must be beautiful, for you find yourself looking at them almost as much as you look at her models. That, friends, is the acid test.

After two hours of solid staring one is able to report a subtle but startling development in the clothes that are destined this spring and summer to adorn some of the finest female forms in the world.

The development—which perhaps Schiaparelli herself may be unaware of—is the effect of the Korean war on the new frocks and frills and the lush hats and gadgets that go with them.

Everything Quilted

They are, for instance:

Quilted—like Chinese uniforms—coats, quilted jackets and even quilted skirts.

Coolie hats and hats that look like pagodas.

One piece of cloth resembling a rice paddy in design.

While this wasn't necessarily Schiaparelli's fault, one of the gorgeous models had a hair-do that looked like nothing so much as congealed bird nest soup.

Other startling aspects of the show were: glassless sunglasses.

Sun glasses that have four-inch-long lashes, for what reason only Schiaparelli must know.

A gown whose front consists of simply a bow. Persimmon-colored pieces of ribbon that tie on milady's legs just below the knees and dangle down like misplaced pieces of parlor lampshade.

Home and School Association News

PCVS MEETING

Executive of PCVS Home and School Association was very gratified at the result of a second meeting of teachers and parents of grade nine students held Wednesday evening. All parents of students in forms 9A and 9C were called to attend and about 50 per cent responded, with half of that number being fathers.

President Mr. J. H. Moebus was chairman and introduced the teachers, Misses Hicks, Thompson, Begley, Johnston, Gerrard and Burgess and Messrs. Gardiner, Prideaux, Collingwood, Curtis and Dr. Ray.

The subjects taught are English, French, art, cooking, mathematics, geography, music, sewing, history, physical training and health. Each teacher spoke on the subject he teaches explaining his method and the amount and type of homework he expects. Also the help he desires from parents and how the students can be taught to concentrate.

Mr. Moebus briefly outlined the various courses available after grade nine. However, these will be dealt with fully at a meeting to be held in March.

In a question period following, parents aired their problems, which were dealt with by the teachers, and they also drew into a closer circle as it was made clear they could get better results by a united effort on some problems common to all homes of young students.

Mrs. Fred Dobson convened a group of mothers and executive members who served tea to the parents in the library afterward, bringing them also into social contact with each other.

A further meeting of this type is scheduled for February 28.

Valentine Tea Southend School

A delightful Valentine Tea, held Wednesday afternoon by the Confederation Home and School Association, entertained about 75 ladies of the district.

Hearts and cupids and other samples of young children's work were decorating the kindergarten room of the school where the tea tables were set. The central table was like a large Valentine itself with hearts on the white linen cloth and a centrepiece of red and white carnations flanked with white tapers in silver holders. The individual tables were each centred with a novelty red and white figure of snowman proportions and gumdrops, made by Mrs. R. Pearson.

Mrs. Jack Nicholls, wife of the principal, and Mrs. Jack Stuart, past president of the association, poured tea for the first hour, and Miss Garbutt and Miss Johnston of the teaching staff for the second hour.

Mrs. O. Brown, Mrs. M. E. Wright and Mrs. J. Wineberg were serving, assisted by teachers Miss Day, Mrs. Morrow, Miss Wortman, Miss Newman, Miss Lytle and Miss Dawson.

Mrs. G. Kiff, general convener of the tea, and her assistants, Mrs. W. Hall, Mrs. K. Pilkington and Mrs. C. Porter were replenishing plates and tea pots.

At attractively decorated tables in the hall, Mrs. E. Poole and Mrs. D. Wood were selling home baked articles and Mrs. H. Sutton and Mrs. Cy. Whatley were selling home-made candy.

President Mrs. C. Thompson and vice-president Mrs. L. Monk received the guests and Mrs. M. Szafranski was taking tickets. Mrs. King was the pianist during the tea hours.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

No Chance For Happiness Too Many Material Ties

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a business woman of 29. Have a good position and love my work. I suppose every woman should look forward to marrying, but the thought of it leaves me with a sense of a complete loss of freedom. A man I like but do not love has asked me to marry him and I do not know what to do. He has to support his mother. My mother is dependent upon me also and I have enjoyed our nice little apartment and providing her with comforts and pleasures that she has never had before. The man is opposed to a woman working after marriage. Another complication is that there was a man I loved horribly. I had to give him up because he was a drunkard, but I still miss him and still think of him. Do you think my marriage with the first man would work out happily?

READER

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: I certainly cannot see how any marriage that was so handicapped a ours to this man would be coul possibly be successful. There are innumerable reasons why you should not marry him and not one reason in its favor.

To begin with, you are not only not in love with this man, but you are in love with another man. That alone would be a sufficient bar to your union. It takes a lot of love to enable a woman to be a good wife, because even the best of husbands have faults and ways and little peculiarities that she has to put up with and to which she has to adjust herself.

You Won't Forget

Furthermore, don't delude yourself into thinking that marrying one man will make you forget another. It will not. Marriage does not extinguish the fire of an old passion, it merely fans it into a fiercer flame.

Besides, the woman who prefers office work to home work and who looks upon marriage as slavery, should stay single. Nature intended her for a girl bachelor instead of a wife. A woman should regard her home as a heaven, not a jail.

Then the financial side of the situation is to be considered. All of you would have to pinch and scrimp and do without all the little luxuries to which you are accustomed, and unless you are four angels that would get uopn your nerves and you would quarrel like cats and dogs. Particularly would the man resent having to support your mother and that would not add to the peace of the situation.

The only thing that would justify such a reckless marriage would be your being so madly in love with him that you would throw caution to the winds. As you have not this excuse for it, don't make such a foolhardy marriage.

DEAR MISS DIX: A girl of 17, living next door to me, left home not very long ago. A boy she had been keeping company with also disappeared about the same time. Last week they both returned and the girl's parents refused to take her in. She is about to become a mother and I feel so sorry for her. She told me on her word of honor that she and the boy were married, but as she is only 17 and he 19 I can't really believe her. The girl's mother has always been very cruel to her. I am an elderly woman with no children and would like to take this couple into my home and grandmother their baby if I were certain that they had been married. How can I find out? MRS. E. C.

ANSWER: If they have been married they must have a marriage certificate, or at any rate be able to tell you where they took out the marriage license, and you can write to the marriage license clerk and find out.

But even if they have not been married, don't let that keep you from holding out a helping hand to these poor, foolish children.

If you take these forlorn young creatures into your home, you can save them. You can give the girl the mothering that she has never had and that doubtless would have saved her from the folly of running off with the boy before they were old enough to marry or had anything to marry on. You can feed the boy, get him a job, give him back his self-respect and start him on the way of meeting the responsibilities he has taken on too young shoulders. And if, as you suspect, this couple are not married, you can have them married and save a little child from having to go through the world with the brand on it.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: During our marriage my husband spent his evenings away from home, played cards, spent a lot of money on drinks and did not try to make a success of our marriage, so I divorced him. Now he wants to me remarry him, tells me he has learned his lesson. I have a fair job and can support my children and myself, but at the same time I would like them to have a father. Would you take a chance on trying him again?

M. M.

ANSWER: Depends on whether you still care for him and how much faith you can put in his promises of reform and what chances you think you have of being happy with him. Many second marriages are great successes, for both the husband and the wife have found out that divorce did not automatically end all of their troubles. And when distance has given them a little perspective on their marriage, they wonder how they could have let such trifles break up their home. Also, they do some soul-searching that makes them see their own faults and shortcomings as well as those of the party of the other part.

Bank Letter Stresses SoilConservation

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

One good turnip may provide as much nutrition as two poor ones, remarks the current monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada in a discussion of farming and food.

We have become so accustomed, says the letter, to thinking of increasing our food production as merely a matter of opening up new land that it is somewhat shocking to realize that the world supply of new land is just about exhausted. The letter adds in part:

We must think, in these days, how to make two blades of grass grow on land where only one grew before. If we can grow the same number of good turnips as poor ones we have thereby doubled our crop of food.

Must Preserve Soil

Soil, plants, animals and men are dependent upon one another. If the human race is to survive, we must concern ourselves with seeing to it that the soil is preserved and conserved. It must be protected from washing away or blowing away, and it must be enriched so that it has the proper nutrient qualities for our plants.

A run-down soil grows run-down food. Every crop takes away part of every mineral from the soil.

To produce food of the highest quality to feed today's hungry population is far from the subsistence husbandry of other days.

There must be no sub-marginal thinking about the problems involved, or we shall end up with sub-marginal living. History suggests that a decline in soil fertility is always accompanied by a corresponding decline in the vigor of the people who dwell upon it. Freedom has never flourished in a hungry and impoverished land.

CONSTRUCTON RECORD

A record in construction of Canadian hydro-electric power plants was set in 1950, when 1,037,275 horsepower was added.

Teachers Said Often Cause Of Juvenile Delinquency

"Juvenile delinquency is a reaction to something. There is something behind it — a broken home or clash in the schools or in the community with its many harmful agencies. In one of these there is something that is causing us to label many of today's children as juvenile delinquents."

Inspector of Separate Schools J. Doyle, speaking on "Juvenile Delinquency in Modern Society," gave a thought-provoking address to members of St. Peter's subdivision of the Catholic Women's League at their monthly meeting held on Tuesday night in St. Mary's School, with the president, Mrs. S. J. Houlihan, in the chair.

In the home there are often religious, racial and economic clashes between parents; there is divorce; there are conditions which force both parents to work and neglect their offspring; and there are beverage rooms: "one of the chief agents for broken homes today. The home should be a place where there is love and security.

Saracastic Teachers

"In the school many teachers are the cause of juvenile delinquency. Often they refuse to recognize the child's sense of unsureness and insecurity and use sarcasm and ridicule in such a way as to encourage truancy. Some teachers want to get rid of a problem child and so, in becoming a truant, the child finds an escape from the teacher's personality. The school should be a place of learning, but also a place where a child learns how to live and gain social stability".

The inspector said that a model scholar might become in time anti-social, and that a student who stood higher in class might not advance as far in life as a student in a lower place who might plod along and gain more success later. He warned that parents should not pay so much attention to report-card ratings as to induce neurotic tendencies in their children by their demands. As cited the case of the mother whose child, coming second in class, was reprimanded for not being first.

"Today, in proper school training, more emphasis is laid on the child's advance in character, in its emotional stability and its ability to live and co-operate with others."

Community Hazards

In considering the community, the third element in the trio of contributory causes of juvenile delinquency, Inspector Doyle referred to the destruction and injury caused by juvenile gangs, mainly in larger centres. "We cannot condone this," he said, "but the newspapers eggagerate it. This makes others want to emulate the actions of the leaders whom they regard as heroes. If we could take this aggressive leadership and orientate it to a higher standard many of these boys might become future leaders in the community."

Decrying the "terrible influence exercised by magazines and newspapers, who," he declared, "are in bondage to advertisers," in the manner in which they depict womanhood, the speaker asserted: "Five hundred years ago, the first product of the printing press was a woodcut of the Blessed Virgin. Today, in advertisements of even a bar of soap or a bottle of Coca-Cola, you find a woman of indecency and immodesty, appealing to the lower appetites of men for big profits. Comic books, also, depict crime heroes whom the children try to imitate. There is need today for a crusade for good literature, in which the women of America should rise up and demand a recognition of their dignity."

Radio And T.V.

Of the radio, the speaker remarked: "It is all for advertising. A few hundred years ago in what has been called the Dark Ages, the ordinary people knew something about Shakespeare. Now, about all they listen to is Jack Benny or some light play."

Television, he said, is already causing children to stay up late at nights, to become nervous and to neglect their homework. Its emphasis also seems to be on crime, divorce and kindred subjects.

In a world in which there is a general lack of security, a world of depression and unrest, the youth of today is inclined to say: "What is the use? There will be another war and we will be in uniform soon. We might as well get what we can out of life now."

"There is a responsibility incumbent upon us all to try to preserve the Christian democracy with which we are familiar, by our votes and by doing more to bring about social reforms to cure the causes of these evils."

The speaker was heartily thanked by the president. In the brief business session which followed, it was decided to have a Retreat in April, also to inaugurate another series of small home bridge parties in February and draw for prizes at the March meeting.

Norwood Lions Give Kiddies Party

NORWOOD, Feb. 8—(ENS)—The Lions Club entertained the children of the community at a Valentine party held in the waiting-room on Monday evening. Hearts and cupids decorated the room for the occasion.

Each member of the club had at least one young guest, which they introduced to the group.

Dinner was served by the south and north-east groups of the Lady Lions under the direction of Mrs. Percy Hamilton, the president, and Mrs. Stewart Snelgrove, group leader.

Following the dinner there were games with prizes for the children, and a sing-song in which they all joined. Wilfred Elson showed pictures. Each child received chocolate bars, boxes of popcorn, scribblers and pencils, and little baskets of Valentine candies.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Conn Smythe, president of the Maple Leaf Gardens, Wednesday night squelched what he described as "one of the most amazing rumors of a hockey trade" he has ever heard.

Reached in Florida where he is on vacation, Smythe said there is nothing at all to a story prevalent here Wednesday that Toronto goalie Al Rollins, defenceman Bill Barilko and forward Ray Timgren would be traded to Chicago Black Hawks for goalie Harry Lumley.

"Why that's amazing," said Smythe. "I don't know how such a rumor could get started. None of those players have ever been mentioned by Tobin in talking to me. I wouldn't trade Al Rollins for Harry Lumley—and there's nobody that I know of that can take Ray Timgren's place."

A trust fund of $15,843 has been set up for the survivors of the late Sonny Boy West, the Washington Negro lightweight boxer who died after a fight in New York just before Christmas.

Most of the money, $12,304, came from a benefit bout here Jan. 4.

West died 22 hours after he was knocked out by Percy Bassett of Philadelphia.

Fresco Thompson, Brooklyn vice-president in charge of minor league operations, announced Wednesday signing of Bill Harris of Toronto as a full time scout for the Ontario area.

Kitchener Westmount Golf Club will be the scene of the Ontario open golf championship during the week of June 18, it was learned here Wednesday.

Canada's Lethbridge Maple Leafs, playing in top form, Wednesday trounced the Young Sprinters Club of Neuchate, Switzerland, 15-0. Five goals were scored in each period.

A crowd of 3,000 watched the one-sided game in which the Canadians showed overwhelming superiority all along the line.

At Providence, R. I., Ike Williams, world lightweight boxing champion, and Beau Jack, former title holder, will clash in a 10-rounder March 5, it was announced Wednesday by promoter Manny Almeida.

St. Peter's edged PCVS in the third 4-2 on baskets by O'Rourke and Killen, Kingston netting the lone basket for PCVS. Both teams dropped in three points in the last quarter. Say Woman Frozen Stiff Will Survive

US Doctors Declare She's First In History To Live

CHICAGO, Feb. 9. (AP)—A young woman, found frozen stiff with a body temperature about 34 degrees below normal today was given a chance to survive. But doctors said she may lose both arms and legs.

Hospital physicians said medical history probably does not show a case where a person with such a low body temperature—64 degrees—lived to tell about it.

Mrs. Dorothy Mae Stevens, 23, a negro, was found on Thursday morning lying beside a south side apartment bulding in sub-zero cold. She was immediately taken to the hospital.

The hospital said it probably will be four or five days before it can be determined whether she will live, or whether her frozen limbs must be cut off.

Today, 26 hours after she was found, the woman's temperature had climbed to 100. The normal is 98.6.

Pulse Normal

Her pulse was 100, within the normal range. When first brought to the hospital, it was 12 beats a minute.

Then she was breathing 3 to 5 times a minute. This morning her respiration had increased to 28, also within the normal range. Her blood pressure also was about normal.

Scores of physicians visited the patient to observe her reactions.

"It's fantastic that she should still be alive," said Harold Laufman, staff surgeon and assistant professor of surgery at Northwestern University.

Physicians at the hospital described Mrs. Steven's condition as "critical." If she survives, Dr. Laufman said, it is possible that both her legs and arms will have to be amputated.

Staff physicians said that today Mrs. Stevens acknowledged the return of some sensation in her arms and legs.

"They're awfully cold," she said.

Laufman said there were only two cases of hypothermia (reduction of bodily temperature) on record which have recovered, and in those cases temperatures went no lower than 75 degrees.

Police said they were unable to explain why Mrs. Stevens was overcome in the 11-below-zero weather.

Struck At Crossing In Thick Fog; Weather 47 Below

SUDBURY, Feb. 9. (CP) — A Canadian Pacific flyer crashed into a loaded bus in a fog-shrouded level crossing seven miles east of Sudbury today, leaving seven men dead and another 26 persons injured.

The death toll was established at 1 p.m., about five hours after the crash in 47-below-zero weather with visibility cut by fog to about two automobile lengths.

During the morning, officials placed the death list first at seven, then eight and then nine. But a final check showed some duplication in reports from the two hospitals in Sudbury and another in Copper Cliff.

The toll may still increase. Seven of the injured are in critical condition and three have received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Had 35 Passengers

The bus was owned by the Nickel Belt Coach Lines, which operates a service in the Sudbury area. It carried an estimated 35 or more passengers, most of them employees of the International Nickel Company on their way home from the midnight-to-8-a.m. shift at Inco's Coniston plant. Five were women on their way to Sudbury.

The official list of dead: Lucien Landriault, Coniston; Alex Beauparent, Coniston; H. Conlon, Coniston; Eugene Leclair, Coniston; Primeau Crema, Coniston; Joseph Tremblay, Sudbury; Paul Sharko, Sudbury.

A preliminary list of dead during the morning included the name of Fred Gagnon but at noon officials said this was an error. He was not listed among the injured.

Said He Stopped

Fred Barbeau, Nickel Belt Coach Lines manager, reported that bus driver Edouard Carriere, 26, of Sudbury, said he stopped the vehicle at the crossing and looked up the track both ways. He saw no sign of a train and heard no whistle.

Carriere, who suffered back and leg injuries, said the rear wheels were over the track when the train hit. The impact knocked the bus 35 feet and then it turned over.

It was the first fatal crash for the bus line since it started operations 19 years ago.

Most of the dead were married and left families.

Conlon, 58-year-old smelter worker, is survived by his widow and 15 children—four sons and 11 daughters. Leclair, 62, a locomotive engineer leaves his widow, four sons, and three daughters. Landriault, 27, a shift foreman, was married and had two sons and a daughter. Beauparent, 51, leaves his widow, one son and two daughters.

Adrien Trepaniere, 49-year-old Coniston worker, who was among injured taken to Sudbury on the train, said:

"All at once there was a big crash. I can just remember bodies flying past me. A girl sitting in the front seat—I don't know her name—flew directly over my head and landed at the rear of the bus.

Terrible Confusion

"I was sitting just behind the rear door of the bus. I think it stopped at the crossing but I am not sure. The bus was crowded and people were standing in the aisles."

Scarcely able to speak, Trepaniere's main recollection was of the confusion which followed the crash.

"The bodies just piled up at the rear of the bus. Two men pulled me out through the side."

He was taken through a great gash ripped in the side of the bus, along with other injured and the dead.

A first-aid team of seven men headed by the nickel company's safety engineer, E. O'Brien, rushed to the scene after the resounding crash which echoed a quarter of a mile away. They were joined by a dozen first-aid men from Coniston.

Loaded On Train

Seven of the injured and three dead were loaded into the train and brought to Sudbury for transfer by ambulance to hospital. They were treated on the trip by the first-aid men and Dr. F. M. Hall of Sudbury . Other dead and injured were taken to Sudbury by ambulance

They made the trip in berths in the train's sleeping car.

Waiting For Train

Screams and moans echoed through the streamlined railway sleeping car which brought injured to hospital.

Dozens more of first aid men, summoned from the International Nickel Company's main plant at Copper Cliff, swarmed aboard the car at Sudbury.

"When are we going to be moved?" crief one badly-mangled form in the car.

Doctors who had been called to the station administered oxygen to some of the injured.

"I'll never forget this, I'll never forget this," said one first-aid

Howe Orders Drastic Steel Curbs

Most Civilian Building Under New Ban Effective March 1

OTTAWA, Feb. 9. (CP) — Trade Minister Howe today ordered new drastic curtailments in the use of steel. He extended previous restrictions on amusement construction to virtually all other types of civilian building, excluding home and hospital construction and the oil industry.

The new steel order which goes into effect March 1 bans the use of steel without government permission on such construction as:

Office, hotel and bank buildings, restaurants, garages, shoe repair shops, brokerage firms, credit institutions, trailer camps, motor courts, printing shops, laundries and dry cleaning plants and undertakers' parlors.

Other Bans

The use of steel, without government permit, also is banned on any buildings erected to store, distribute, display or sell consumer goods.

These include retail stores, shopping centres, wholesale establishments, gasoline filling stations, drug stores, soda fountains, florist shops, and greenhouses.

Excepted are wholesale supply facilities for fuel oil, gasoline or coal, gas distribution systems or pine-lines.

The new order includes all of the non-essential civilian construction covered in Mr. Howe's first steel order Dec. 1 last.

Included in this first group are all types of amusement construction such as theatres, dance halls, race tracks and bowling alleys. It included, too, manufacturing plants for tobacco, soda pop, confectionery and for the production and sale of liquor and wine.

The new order is expected to ease slightly a tight supply situation and to prevent defence production slow-ups.

Under new regulations, no steel supplier will be able to sell, supply or deliver any steel materials to any person except under a purchase order.

This order will have to bear the person's certification showing the use to which the materials will be applied. If the use is on the restricted list, then a government permit must be obtained.

Trains Collide, 20 Injured At Mont Joli

MONT JOLI, Que., Feb. 9 (CP) —Two Canadian National Railways trains travelling late in a heavy snow storm collided in the CNR yards today, derailing five cars and injuring 20 persons.

The two trains, travelling from Montreal to Halifax, collided at 11:35 a.m. Mont Joli is located 200 miles east of Quebec.

First reports said the Ocean Limited ran into the rear section of the Scotian. Both trains are the main CNR trains travelling from Montreal to the Maritimes.

The main rail artery along the St. Lawrence south shore was reported blocked by the crash. It was not expected the line could be cleared inside the next eight hours.

Mont Joli residents said visibility in the area was "less than two feet" due to the driving blizzard.

Apparently the Scotian was stopped in the yards when the Ocean Limited rammed it from behind.

Family Of Nine Flee Flames

NEW LISKEARD, Feb. 9 (CP) —Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alberta, Cane township, and their seven small children huddled in their night clothes in an outhouse on their isolated farm for almost an hour in the 30-below zero weather Thursday night while fire razed their home and all their possessions.

All but the father were dressed in their night clothes. Mr. Alberta, 43, suffered burns about the head while the remainder of the family had their hair scorched when they dashed through a wall of flame into the piercing cold while a strong northwest wind fanned the blaze.

The six acre farm is located 28 miles west of New Liskeard on the Elk Lake highway, almost a mile from the nearest neighbor.

For more than an hour the children, aged one to 16 years, and their parents, huddled in the small outhouse while their home, clothing and all personal possessions burned.

Neighbors who saw the glare arrived and took the chilled family to their homes.

Oshawa Plant Lays Off 3,500

OSHAWA, Feb. 9 (CP)—More than 3,500 assembly-line workers were laid off temporarily today by General Motors of Canada because of shortage of supplies.

William A. Wecker, company president, blamed the shortages on the railway strikes in the United States. The layoffs could not be avoided, he said.

G.M. employs about 5,800 persons in its Oshawa plant.

All passenger-car assembly lines except the Buick were at a standstill today. Truck assembly lines continued to operate.

Mr. Wecker said in a statement that the laid-off workers were instructed to return to work Tuesday morning.

"We could not avoid the stoppage," he said. "Rail shipments were at a standstill and our banks of material were depleted.

"The company has learned that the rail situation is improving but, even with some rail freight moving and road transport doing its best, it will be Tuesday morning before the lines can resume.

UN Forces Sweep Red Army To Banks Of Han

TOKYO, Feb. 9 (AP).—United Nations forces swept to the banks of the icy Han River near Seoul today. Allied shells poured into the burned-out old Korean capital. Communist Chinese resistance in Western Korea seemed shattered. Capt. A. W. Myers, commander of a task force, sent back word to United States 3rd Division headquarters: "Task Force Myers now is wetting its feet in the Han." It was a dramatic climax to a Red-hunting offensive that began Jan. 25 some 35 air miles south of the former Korean Republic capital.

Taking ground was only of secondary importance. The Allies aimed to hurt the Chinese and Korean Communsits and they did —more than 61,000 killed, wounded or captured.

Other armored task forces were within two miles of Seoul, on the left flank of the 3rd division. One rammed within six miles of Inchon, Yellow Sea port for the capital, and then withdrew to Allied lines.

Moving Up

U.S. and Puerto Rican infantrymen moved up behind the tanks.

Task force Dolvin, punching up the main road to Seoul, sent patrols to within 1½ miles of Yongdongpo, the ancient city's industrial suburb on the southwest banks of the curving Han.

Only on the right end of the western sector and on the central front were the Reds putting up a scrap. Early-morning counter-attacks in those areas were hurled back.

Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U.S. Eighth Army commander, visited the 3rd division front and waved on task force Myers in its

Cold Wave, Snow Storms Make Ontario Miserable

By The Canadian Press

Canadians from the Atlantic Coast westward to Saskatchewan today donned their heaviest clothing to ward off one of the winter's coldest onslaughts. Temperatures fell well below the zero mark in most provinces, with only British Columbia and Alberta basking under warm Pacific winds.

Adding to the weather woes of the Maritimes and Central provinces were driving snowstorms that Thursday night blocked roads and forced closure of some rural Ontario schools because buses could not get through.

Hardest hit were the Maritime provinces, where snow and rain storms, driven by gale-force winds, stalled traffic, disrupted power and communication lines, and endangered ice-going vessels.

Cold Continues

For most of Quebec and many parts of Ontario the weather story was "snowstorms and cold." It was cold, too, in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The mercury Thursday night plunged to 55 below zero at Armstrong in Northwestern Ontario and to 52 below at White River, 200 miles to the southeast. Sudbury, in Northern Ontario, reported 47 below. North Bay had 32 below, Ottawa 27 below, Montreal 17 below and Toronto four below.

Subzero weather at London, Ont., was blamed for the death of Dennis Joy, 17, who collapsed after a heart attack. Harry Sparling, 54, collapsed and died after walking through heavy drifts at Meaford. Mrs. Alice Needham died in an ambulance at midnight while being taken from her home to hospital in London, Ont., and doctors said the cold possibly was a factor in her death.

Only in the two far western provinces did winter fail to hold full sway.

Mild temperatures were common to all but the most northerly sections of British Columbia, while balmy Chinook winds sent the mercury soaring in southern Alberta.

A frigid 51 below made Dawson in the Yukon the coldest spot in the Dominion, while 20-below readings were common in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Northern Ontario, Quebec and the Maritmes.

A heavy snowstorm, driven by 60-mile-an-hour winds, forced traffic to a standstill in Quebec City.

Another storm, whirling in off Lake Huron, blocked roads in western Ontario. Rural schools in the London and Stratford areas were closed. Sixty high school students in the London district were marooned overnight in farm houses.

BULLETIN

BELLEVILLE. (CP) — Collapsing in the snow just 200 yards from his home, William Payette, 74, Marmora Township, died of exposure in 25 degrees below zero late Thursday night. He was walking to his home, four miles east of Marmora.

Costly Rail Strike Appears Ended

CHICAGO, Feb. 9 (AP)—One of the longest and costliest country-wide railroad strikes in the United States in many years appeared virtually ended today.

The army's threat to fire striking switchmen was regarded as the main factor in breaking up the 10-day "sick" walkout.

The work stoppage continued in a few spots across the United States. But generally there was a full-scale return to work—notably in Chicago, the No. 1 rail centre. Indications were that all strikers will be back on the job before the 4 p.m. EST Saturday deadline set by the army in its "work or be fired" ultimatum.

Thousands didn't wait for the deadline to return to work. The switchmen — who also were promised a pay raise — flocked back to their jobs in large numbers, joining the thousands who had returned to work earlier this week.

Man Without A Country

Thyssen, Hitler Backer Dies Penniless In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 9 (AP) —Fritz Thyssen, once one of Germany's richest tycoons and the fiancial backer of Adolf Hitler's rise to power, died here Thursday, a man without a country.

The 77-year-old former industrialist, his health broken and his fortune gone, died at the home of his daughter after a heart attack.

The man whose money helped sweep Hitler into office and whom Hitler later consigned to a concentration camp, came to Argentina a year ago to visit his daughter, Countess Zichy. He had planned to stay only briefly, then go on to Belgium, but illness and an operation forced him to remain.

Thyssen will be buried in this country—where once he had vast industrial holdings — after funeral services this afternoon in the German cemetery at a Buenos Aires suburb. On his arrival here last year he called himself a man without a country, since Hitler had taken away his German citizenship after the two broke.

Born to riches and power, Thyssen was a financial genius in his own right, and shrewdly augmented the family fortune until he became one of the richest men in Germany.

A strong nationalist, he saw in Adolf Hitler a means of restoring Germany to her former greatness. He raised $1,200,000 for the Nazis in the 1933 election which swept Hitler into power. As a reward, he was named a state counsellor and given a seat on the government's economic board. Later he became supreme economic authority for western Germany.

Not long afterward relations between Thyssen and Hitler cooled. By 1940 the tycoon was living in exile in Switzerland. German sources said he bought his way out of the former Reich by turning most of his fortune over to the Nazis.

Later Thyssen moved to the French Riviera. When the Nazis swept across France, Thyssen and his wife were picked up by French secret police and turned over to the Gestapo. For the next four years the couple was moved from one concentration camp to another, but received relatively-mild treatment.

Fire Destroys Huntsville Rink

HUNTSVILLE, Feb. 9—Breaking out in the furnace room while a number of players were on the ice, fire totally destroyed the Huntsville Curling Club rink here late Thursday afternoon. Loss was estimated at $60,000.

Club president Bazett Hutcheson said Thursday night that the debris would be cleared away and a start made on a new rink immediately. The building was purchased about five years ago from the Department of Highways and rebuilt into a curling rink.

The flames, discovered at 4.30 p.m. while games were in progress, centred around the furnace room. Curlers fought frantically to overcome the fire, but were unable to confine it.

The Huntsville fire department reached the scene within minutes of the alarm, but a strong north wind fanned the blaze beyond control. Firefighters were handicapped by the cold, the temperature standing at 10 below zero at the time.

Nothing was saved from the structure. Insurance of $20,000 was carried.

US Won't Underwrite Aluminum Plants

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The United States government has decided against underwriting new defence aluminum production facilities in Canada or Alaska, it was disclosed today.

Chairman Emanuel Celler (Dem. N.Y.) disclosed the decision by defence mobilization chief Charles E. Wilson as a judiciary monopoly sub-committee ended hearings on the aluminum industry.

4 Million Dollar Fire Sweeps State Building Michigan Government Badly Crippled

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 9—(AP)—Wearied firemen fought a devastating blaze in Michigan's capital city today which caused an estimated $4,000,000 damage and crippled part of the state government.

Aflame was the 28-year-old state office building.

At noon the blaze was still being fought. The battle at that time had reached its 25th hour.

Twelve firemen and a policeman had been overcome. Much of the state government's operations were paralyzed.

The office building, built at a cost of $3,000,000 in 1923, suffered "at least" $4,000,000 damages, including equipment, according to State Fire Marshal Arnold Renner.

Nerve centre of half of state government, the building was left a roofless mass of ice, leaking water at every crevice.

Dense, acrid fumes of burning chemicals came from the highway department blue printing and microfilming division where the fire apparently started.

King George Goes Broke

Gov't Comes To Rescue Of Royal House

LONDON, Feb. 9—(Reuters)—There's a bottom to every pocket, even a royal one, and the King has reached the bottom of his. It's empty.

This news was soberly conveyed to the House of Commons Thursday night by Prime Minister Attlee.

The King, he added, has even used up his personal war savings.

So the Labor Government has offered to pay £40,000 (about $120,000) of the Royal house expenses Attlee announced.

And the family of three at Buckingham Palace—the King, the Queen and Princess Margaret —are going to tighten their belts. The King is to cut his personal expenditure by £20,000.

This increase in compensation for the sovereign was something of an admission by the Labor Government — optimistic propaganda to the contrary notwithstanding—that living costs in this land of planning and controls may have increased in the past few months or so.

Prices Up

Announcing in the House of Commons that about £40,000 of the Royal household's expenses would be assumed by government departments, Prime Minister Attlee explained increases in wages, goods and services were responsible. He disclosed that the King, like many a lesser gentleman of means, for some time has been making up the deficit in his current expenses out of his savings—savings made in wartime, when much of the traditional ceremony and hospitality of the Royal establishment was in abeyance.

Until today the King was virtually the only man in the whole country still living on the same pay he received before the war—the prime victim of the wage freeze. Even with the 10 per cent increase his income will not have risen as much as the national average. Since June, 1947, the index of weekly wage rates has increased by 14 points and the average wage earner makes more than twice what he did before the war.

The King's income from the treasury was fixed by law in 1937. The Civil List Act of that year, making provision "for the honor and dignity of the Crown and the Royal Family, appropriated £410,000 annually."

It included £110,000 for His Majesty's privy purse (that is the private personal expenses of the King) and £300,000 for upkeep of the official establishment of the Crown, including salaries, expenses and Royal bounties.

Churchill — a King's man if there ever was one—assured the Labor Prime Minister of the Conservative Party's support for relief given to the King.

14 Partisan Chiefs Walk Out On Reds

ROME, Feb. 9 — (AP). — New Communist defections blossomed in Italy today as 14 wartime Partisan chieftains lined up with Communist rebels against Moscow domination of the party.

The group, all members of the Communist-led Partisan Association and all from the Red stronghold of Reggio Emilia, declared in a resolution that they wholeheartedly supported Valdo Magnani and Aldo Cucchi, who quit the provincial party ranks last week.

Two mayors, another Partisan leader, and Farpi Vignoli, a prominent sculptor, also resigned from the party on Thursday.

Don't Intend Use Rigid Price Controls

OTTAWA, Feb. 9—(CP)—The federal government does not intend to clamp down rigid price-wage controls in Canada, but may combat growing inflation by more flexible means. As demands rose within and outside parliament for checks on living costs, Trade Minister Howe told the Commons Thursday that the government is studying control action described as "alternative" to the across-the-board restrictions imposed during the Second World War.

And he did not rule out the "possibility" that sweeping price control measures will be needed, "should the developing situation make action necessary . . ."

Mr. Howe, who now has wide economic control power and likely will receive more under pending government legislation, did not mention the nature of the "alternative" control authority under study.

Indirect Method

However, there is speculation that it involves some system of flexible ceilings, allocations, permits and other measures designed to hit at living costs more indirectly than the wartime measures.

He made his policy statement to a House whose members have been needled in the last 10 days by a labor-union lobby pressing for price—but not wage—controls.

Hundreds of thousands of postcards have been urging members to support the price-control campaign of central labor bodies with a membership of more than 1,000,000 persons.

Most of the speakers in Thursday's debate urged one form of control or another to check inflation, some of them departing from the union idea and calling for wage as well as price reins.

Mr. Howe said that the government's announced intention of introducing stand-by legislation does not mean a present intention on the government's part to bring in over-all price and wage controls.

Circumstances Different

Circumstances were different now from 1941, when price control first went into effect.

"This time," Mr. Howe said, "many people expect the reimposition of the same kind of control and are governing themselves accordingly."

While this statement was not developed, it appeared the Minister was suggesting that some prices may have been boosted in anticipation of a ceiling at some future date. Another possibility suggested was that there might be some hoarding in expectation of price rises.

For business, Mr. Howe also announced that the government may provide capital assistance for a few types of industrial expansion, presumably to those industries directly concerned in defence production.

Another concession he announced—undoubtedly to be defined later in the federal budget—is for "accelerated depreciation" on expansion of private industry to meet defence needs. This is a device to give industry a break on taxation when it has laid out capital to step up production for defence.

Poor Policies

J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood), Progressive Conservative financial critic, said the government's policies have induced inflation and given Canadians "a kind of poverty in the midst of plenty."

The government had done nothing to stop inflation since last September. In fact, it had added $200,000,000 to the money pool, swelling credit facilities by freeing the Canadian dollar. The people to blame were those at the source of credit—the finance department and the Bank of Canada.

True, the government had instituted instalment-buying controls but they had been "about as much good as a bucket of water on a three-alarm fire."

He was not telling the government what it should do, though he believed personally in fiscal and credit controls. He was merely pointing out that the people of Canada were faced with what they believed to be "runaway inflation."

George Hees (PC — Toronto Broadview) urged over-all price, wage and rent control. Federal rent controls are scheduled to expire April 30, but some of the provinces will take these over.

Mr. Hees also called for an integrated program to combat inflation, which would include fiscal and monetary measures and the distribution and allocation of materials. He suggested that, unless checks were put in operation, the big defence preparedness program would step up the cost of living intolerably.

Use Alarm Clock As Speech Hastener

Fourteen speakers, kept on their mettle by an "alarm clock speech hastener" were heard at the first session of the Junior Chamber of Commerce effective speaking course.

It was the first of 12 weekly sessions of a course designed to help young businessmen in "self development" through speaking in public.

Eight had three-minute topics: Lionel Neary, Peterborough's lift lock; Jack Haldimand, community chest; Leo Rutter, my hobby; Gord Patterson, my job; Charles Boulter, our new city hall; Ted Stevens, why I am taking this course; Bill Waye, what freedom means to me; and Bob Groombridge, a habit I broke.

One-minute topics: Keith Mitchell, Les Groombridge, Ken Broadhurst, Frank McDonald, Guy Menard and Bruce Edwards.

If a speaker pauses more than five seconds—presumably at a loss of words—a timer with a stop watch rings an alarm clock.

Nanking Envoy Told Come Home

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 (CP). — Chester Ronning's long, strange vigil on the banks of China's Yangtze River should soon be over.

The man in charge of what used to be the Canadian diplomatic mission in Nanking has been told he can come home, the External Affairs Department said Thursday. After five years, he's coming home on leave.

He will leave behind him, behind the frontiers of Communist China, the famous prefabricated buildings Canada sent to Nanking several years ago because there were no satisfactory buildings available there at reasonable prices.

Since the Communists took over in China, the Nanking mission has had no official status. Nanking is no longer the capital of anything. Canada didn't recognize the Communists, but she did keep Mr. Ronning on in Nanking, partly at least to look after the prefabricated property.

worker who travelled on the train which took three-quarters of an hour to make the trip from the scene, seven miles outside the city. It crept along at a slow pace to prevent jolts adding to the pain of the injured.

One of the injured looked at a nurse and pleaded: "I'm going to die. Please don't let me die."

When the train was almost at Sudbury, one man screamed for help. A doctor gave him a hypodermic and he fill silent.

Taken Out Windows

Ambulance drivers, railwaymen, doctors, first-aid men and nurses were lined up at the station when the train pulled in. The ambulance pulled up alongside the train when it ground to a halt.

Train crews pried open double windows to get the injured out of the sleeper on to stretchers.

Sight of the injures stunned the station onlookers. One man had a deep gash across his forehead. Blood trickled from the arm of a third victim. The face of another was badly smashed.

Many of the patients were bundled in blankets to protect them from the 30-below temperature recorded at the station when the train arrived.

The open window was covered by a blanket between the removal of each patient to protect those inside from the severe cold.

The ambulances shuttled back and forth between hospitals and the station.

"It was fortunate that the train was there and the injured could be brought into the warmth," said Dr. Hall. "It may have saved more than one life."

A dozen doctors went into action in Sudbury to treat the injured who were taken to two hospitals — Sudbury General and St. Joseph's.

The train, No. 7 travelling from Montreal to Vancouver, was due in Sudbury at 7 a.m. but was running late. It had stopped to discharge passengers about half a mile from the crash scene. It had just begun to pick up speed on the run into Sudbury when it struck the rear of the bus.

D. F. Dowdall of North Bay was the engineer on the train.

Dino Santi of Coniston told reporters he heard the train whistle as it approached the level crossing of Highway No. 17.

8-Vote Margin Saves Attlee

LONDON, Feb. 9 (CP)—By an eight-vote margin, the Labor government Thursday night defeated still another Conservative attempt to turn Prime Minister Attlee's cabinet out of office.

The House of Commons voted 306 to 298, rejecting a Conservative motion to censure the Labor government for its administration of Britain's scanty meat supply. Passage of the motion would have forced Attlee and his ministers to resign in preparation for a new general election.

The small Liberal bloc again joined with Winston Churchill's Conservatives in the unsuccessful attempt on the government.

The opposition gave notice that it will continue to hammer away in the hope of ousting the Socialists. R. A. Butler, a leading Conservative, reminded the House that defence and rearmament are due for debate next week.

The Conservatives hit hard on the meat issue—a sore point with every British housewife. The weekly ration of fresh meat was cut recently to less than half a pound.

Cries of "muddle" and "mismanagement" came from the opposition, who charged that the government's bulk-buying policy was to blame for the shortage. The government has been unable to reach a price agreement with Argentina, normally Britain's major supplier.

plunge to the Han. Ridgway praised his soldiers of many lands, and expressed pleasure over the Allied drive.

"The relative losses inflicted to those sustained by us is a very, very high ratio," he said. "That's what we want."

The ratio of Red losses was figured at about 100 to 1 several days ago.

Little Opposition

But Task Force Myers had no chance to inflict losses in its punch to the Han. The Chinese had either been killed already or had fled. The task force drove to Karang, a village on the south bank of the stream about five air miles southeast of Seoul.

In the armored column were Puerto Rican, U.S. negroes, anti-aircraft units and other attached troops. It reached the river only an hour and 20 minutes after Ridgway waved it ahead.

Several miles to the left of Myers' column, a column led by Lt.-Col. Tom Dolvin shelled the ruins of Seoul from the flatlands directly south of the city.

AP correspondent Jim Becker, with the Dolvin task force, said he could see the buildings of suburban Yongdongpo.

The advance was over mine-infested roads but there was little opposition except for sporadic mortar fire.

The weather turned bitterly cold. Snow and thick overcast virtually ruled out ground-support aerial operations.

The bad weather also prevented Gen. MacArthur from landing at U.S. Eighth Army Headquarters on his 10th trip to Korea from Tokyo.

In the rugged mountain country of the central front—a 30-mile battle line extending northeastward from Kumyangjang in an arc to above Hoengsong and then down to Yoju—U.S. and South Korean troops ran into stiff opposition.

They were forced to shell each hill and then send patrols ahead to make any headway at all.

These forces were about 25 miles south of the 38th parallel, the old north-south boundary.

Three allied tentacles fanned out northeast, north and northwest of Hoengsong against light resistance. There were no spectacular gains in this sector, however. Hoengsong is about 50 air miles east-southeast of Seoul.

Forty-one American, British and South Korean prisoner-of-war were released during the night at two spots by the Communists. Thirty-seven reached American lines in the west and four others reached friendly lines on the central front.

Archbishop Bans Church Bingo

MONTREAL, Feb. 9—(CP)—A formal ban on games of chance—particularly bingo—in all parish halls and churches in the Montreal archdiocese was issued on Thursday by Msgr. Paul Emile Leger, Archbishop of Montreal.

The archbishop's pastoral letter to clergy in his archdiocese dealt also with temperance campaigns, rosary crusades and observation of Sunday. However, it stressed the firm ban on games of chance.

"For some time now," the letter states, "the increasing popularity of bazaars is causing a serious problem for the Christian conscience. The church is not a financial organization, much less a school of games.

"Our churches are the visible expression of Christ's sanctity and it is in these 'vestibules to heaven' that the christian must learn to practice virtues, particularly charity."

The letter said that people who assembled in basements did not go there to praise God.

"On the other hand, these games of chance destroy the real spirit of charity because the money is given in a spirit of being able to gain more and not for a supernatural reason and to help the poor and needy."

The archbishop said: "It is humiliating to hear of the methods in use in some of these organizations."

The ban, he said, was effective Ash Wednesday and applied to all bazaars where those present took part in games of chance, such as bingo or other similar games as well as drawing where the attendance prize was an automobile or a house.

Dollar Edges Higher

The pound sterling was $2.94-¼, up 1/16.

Doctors Testify Sullivan Died Natural Death

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 (CP)—A second crown witness testified in the manslaughter trial of Mrs. Marion Sullivan today that he did not believe that the Toronto woman's husband died by violence.

Dr. H. H. Hyland, Toronto neurologist told the Ontario Supreme Court that a brain tumor, from which Frances J. Sullivan suffered, quite likely ruptured with consequent haemorrhage about the time Mrs. Sullivan said her husband had complained of pains in the head, the afternoon before he died.

Mrs. Sullivan was originally charged with the murder of her husband, whose body was found in bedroom of a Chateau Laurier Hotel bedroom early Nov. 18. The charge subsequently was reduced to manslaughter.

E. D. Wilkins of Sudbury, one of the crown prosecutors, asked Dr. Hyland directly whether he believed blows to the head had caused Sullivan's death.

Dr. Hyland replied there was no doubt the actual cause of death was a brain haemorrhage, but he would not express an opinion, if blows had been administered, whether they had either hastened or directly caused the haemorrhage.

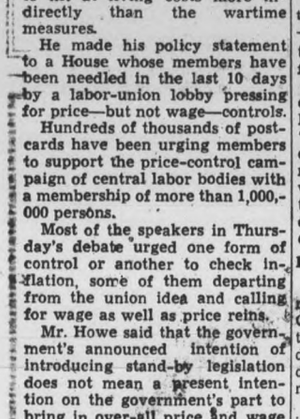
Dr. William Robinson, retired professor of pathology at the University of Toronto, caused a stir Thursday in the court when testifying for the crown he expressed the opinion Sullivan had died from natural causes and not by violence as the crown charges.

"Is it your opinion, doctor," asked Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, "that death was due to natural causes and not to any injury?"

"Direct violence?" asked Dr. Robinson.

"Any violence," the chief justice replied.

"That's right," said Dr. Robinson. "It might be suggested that violence contributed to or hastened death, but really I don't think so."



Evidence Contrary

The evidence of the Toronto pathologist was contrary to that of the key Crown witness — Dr. Max Klotz—who declared that injuries from blunt force applied to Mr. Sullivan's head caused the bursting of a tumor which led to death.

Dr. Klotz, Ottawa pathologist who performed an autopsy on the body of the Toronto lawyer Nov. 18 last, testified Thursday that at least 60 injuries were found on Mr. Sullivan's body, recovered from a Chateau Laurier Hotel bedroom.

These injuries, said Dr. Robinson, "could be wiped out as far as death is concerned."

Seek To Better 'Phone Service

Mankind has benefited and will continue to benefit from the never-ending search for better and quicker means of telephone communication, Gregg G. Roberts, Bell Telephone representative, told students of PCVS on Thursday.

In an address entitled "Telephone Superhighways of Today," Mr. Roberts said the telephone industry was constantly striving to improve services by installing new equipment, new devices and developing new methods.

"Despite the many new methods devised for speeding-up telephone communications, however," he said, "men and women are still the heart of the telephone business." Telephone service is a very personal thing—one person talking to another. It takes a lot of people to make this possible, more than ever before. Ten years ago there were 10,600 employees in the Quebec-Ontario territory. Today there are more than 29,000. The explanation is simple: more improvements mean better service; better service means more calls to handle; more calls to handle mean more jobs to do and more people to fill these jobs."

In the last ten years there has been a "phenomenal" growth in both local and long distance calls. In 1940, the Bell was handling

He is also a senior member of about 67,000 long distance calls a day. The number now has increased to more than 240,000 a day. In the same period, more than 800,000 telephones were installed and, yet, many thousands of potential telephone users were still waiting for service.

Mrs. Thompson Carnival Queen

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 9.—(ENS).—A bitter cold night, with the temperature approaching ten below zero, failed to freeze the spirits of close to a hundred individuals who turned out to compete in the skating carnival held in Hastings arena Thursday evening.

The carnival was sponsored by the Women's Association of Trinity United Church to raise funds for church work. Due to the low temperature and cold February winds, only a handful of spectators turned out, but those few who did attend spent an enjoyable evening watching the children and adults in their colorful costumes as they performed on the ice.

Mrs. Alton Thompson of Hastings was chosen queen of the carnival, and after being crowned as such, she was seated on a decorated sleigh and taken for a ride about the ice by the other contestants.

Judges, all from out of town, were: Mrs. E. Birdsall of Birdsall, Mrs. Bingham of Norwood, W. Mood of Birdsall, James Humphries, reeve of Asphodel Township, and W. Reid of Campbellford.

The results of the judging are as follows: Most original costume, 1 Frances Barry, 2 Barbara O'Shea; most original couple, A. Mouncey and B. Lloyd; best dressed couple, Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Wright; ladies' fancy dress, 1 Betty Ryder, 2 Mrs. Fred Barry; Men's fancy dress, W. Hoey; most elderly married couple skating, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hoey; best comic costume, Max Humphries; best comic couple, Mrs. E. Hess and Mrs. R. Johnston; three best clowns, Les Scriver, David Cooke and Ted Baker; youngest girl skating, Lynda Jones; youngest boy skating, Dennis Barry; fancy dress, girl under 12 years Elaine Hess, boy Billy Jones; best comic dress, girl under 12 years Margaret McGuire, boy Tommy Fanning; most recently married couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Hannah; largest family on skates, Mrs. Fred Barry and her eight children.

Races—Girls under 12 years, Francis Oliver; boys, John Ibey; girls 13 to 16, Barbara Scriver; boys, John Warrington; fastest couple over 16 years of age, Mary Hannah and John Harrington; fat man's race, L. Humphries; free for all, Douglas Radford.

The door prize for the evening, a table lamp, was won by Mrs. Pettigrew of Hastings, who held the lucky ticket.

Mrs. W. A. Thomas of the Women's Association, who helped organize the carnival, said that while she was a little disappointed at the attendance on Thursday evening, the association would plan another such event, and hope for a night when the weatherman would co-operate. A similar successful carnival was held two years ago.

KING BIOGRAPHER — Dr. Robert McGregor Dawson, of the University of Toronto, has been appointed official biographer of the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King.. The 55-year-old professor of political science says he expects the job will take between three and four years to complete.

Good Talk In Parliament On Foreign Affairs

On Monday, January 29th, the third session of the twenty-first Parliament of Canada was prorogued—it was the short special session called last September to deal with the railway strike, and, as events happened, to discuss the new war in Korea. The next day the fourth session of this parliament was assembled and Viscount Alexander read the Speech from the Throne. As usual, the Reply became a principal matter of parliamentary debate. This year the speeches thus far made on the Reply, from all sides of the House, have generally been of high quality. There is less home-town lathering than usual and, to the Members' credit, some outstandingly good speeches on foreign affairs, principally about Korea, and China and U.N. policy, have been made.

* * *

The speeches do not come entirely from Cabinet ministers and party leaders, although these men, as may be expected from a competent Parliament, have debated soundly and well: for instance, the Prime Minister, Mr. Pearson, Mr. Drew, Mr. Coldwell, Mr. Low. There have been notable speeches from men like the Conservative Mr. Gordon Graydon. Mr. Alistair Stewart, C.C.F. member for Winnipeg North, gave last Friday a masterly analysis of the diplomacy and events which have led to the present situation and had some significantly sensible things to say about future policy. It was an excellent speech, both in content and phrasing.

* * *

Mr. Stewart said that although our (U.N.) policy should be designed to keep China neutral and the differences between China and Russia are obvious even today, "we have pushed these two countries closer together." We have labelled China an aggressor, yet it is not without significance that Chinese nationalism is today stronger than Chinese allegiance to Communism.

"The United Nations has declared that China is an outlaw. Outlaws must be punished. Otherwise we lose respect for law and order. What punishment do we administer? Collectively we administer punishment by means of economic sanctions. As the minister pointed out today, following upon economic sanctions there is the gravest danger that war may arise. Suppose, as a result of economic sanctions—if we go as far as that—Mao decides to retaliate in Formosa, what then does the United States do? Suppose, as a result of sanctions, Mao decides to retaliate on Hong Kong, what does the United Kingdom do? Suppose as a result of economic sanctions Mao decides to retaliate in Viet-Nam, what do the French do? What do we do as a member of the United Nations? These things which I fear may conceivably be part of the logic of events."

Mr. Stewart believes that "What we are doing is still to some extent playing the not very astute game asked us to be played by Russia. We are shoving China into Moscow's arms and we may have to fight a futile war in the Orient."

* * *

In praising American generosity and intentions he had this to say—particularly in reference to General MacArthur's crossing the 38th Parallel and pushing on to Manchuria: "Unfortunately the United States saw fit to refuse the advice of colleagues and allies, which was offered in all sincerity. By doing that they may have altered the whole course of history. One of the things which some of us fear is that America's allies may be immolated on the altar of a policy which is a weird mixture of good intentions, the China lobby, offended pride, Time, Life and Fortune and the desires of presidential aspirants."

* * *

Such debating is worthy of the best traditions of the Canadian Parliament. It may be that no Canadian Commons has ever had as many members as well informed about foreign matters as this twenty-first Parliament. It is an indication that it has in substance, as in years, come of age.

Naked Steel Used

We read that "naked steel" was used to drive Chinese Reds off a hill near Seoul recently. Now that is very interesting. Bayonets have almost gone out of offensive use, and if they were the weapons of assault in the attack, it is news indeed. During the last war, while every soldier carried a bayonet, was given blood-curdling bayonet training, and quite often before an attack did receive orders to "Fix bayonets", authentic reports of a bayonet being actually used to kill enemies were few and far between. As a matter of fact, among Canadian soldierz at least, bayonets were more often used as can-openers than as Hun-scarers.

The report from Korea which we read said that "as menacing as the thaw were the bayonets of U.S. troops." If a bayonet is no more menacing than thaw, it will not scare many Chinese Reds. A bayonet, we are inclined to believe, is now carried to bolster the spirits of the soldiers equipped with them rather than to frighten or kill enemies. That is why soldiers in training are taught that a bayonet is a soldier's best pal. Bayonet training in camps is considered useful to instil a menacing, warlike atttitude in the breasts of recruits.

Every report from any battle-front which states that 'naked steel' drove enemy from their positions should be treated sceptically. The kind of steel that drives men from prepared positions is the rifle (to which a bayonet may be attached as a routine gesture) which spits bullets in the right direction, or a tank, which rains fire on them. In saying this we are not disparaging the bayonet. It is a useful training weapon; it gives the wearer (because of his training) a courageous feeling that he carries a bold instrument of last resort; and it is useful to hack wood and open cans, if other can-openers cannot be found.

The Folly Of Food Fads

With commendable forthrightness, Dr. E. W. McHenry of the University of Toronto has condemned the "live food" diet of Mr. Gayelord Hauser as "Rubbish". Mr. Hauser is the author of an immensely popular book called Look Younger, Live Longer, in which he sings the praises of a diet which includes powdered skim milk, molasses, brewer's yeast, wheat germ and yogurt. Dr. McHenry says that anybody who knows what to eat is in no need of the foods specifically recommended by Mr. Hauser; he did not advise against these foods; he simply said that whatever there may be of value in them is present in a well-balanced, ordinary diet.

We do not suppose that this will lessen the temporary popularity of Mr. Hauser's diet. The world is full of people who love strange diets—the stranger the better. Most people will recall the popularity of the Hay Diet before the war; great claims were made for it. And anybody with a long memory can recall a variety of diets, stressing bran, or vegetables cooked in their own juice, or raw foods, which have been popular within the past twenty-five years. Fasting and internal baths have also had their spell of popularity. For it is a fact that people are always looking for some method of improving their health by sudden and spectacular methods, and they think, quite rightly, that what they eat or do not eat has a profound influence on the way they feel.

Dr. McHenry points out that for most people, good nutrition on conventional lines is all that is necessary. But it is a surprising fact that thousands of people in good financial circumstances either do not understand or do not heed the principles of good nutrition, simple though these are. They eat unwisely; they eat too much or not enough; they avoid necessary foods because they have never learned to like them; they attribute ailments to the food they eat which in fact spring from some other cause. But they are attracted by spectacular promises of long life and abundant health if these are accompanied by an equally spectacular deviation from normal, healthy habits of eating.

Great efforts are made every year to educate the public in the basic facts of nutrition; pamphlets are available both from government and commercial sources which give excellent advice about the feeding of children and adults. Yet our local Board of Health, and such agencies as the Victorian Order of Nurses can tell remarkable tales of poor nutrition in this city, and these could be matched in every city in Ontario. There are people everywhere who, strange as it may seem, have no idea what they should eat in order to nourish themselves properly. And, as Dr. McHenry points out, there are people who cherish curious beliefs concerning foods which cause rheumatism, and the evils of cooking in aluminum pots.

If people want to eat blackstrap molasses and yogurt there is no good reason why they should not do so. But it would be a pity if they embraced a highly publicised fad before they had acquainted themselves with the facts about ordinary nutrition—facts which do not alter with every changing wind of popularity.

NOTE AND COMMENT

One reason why so many lies are told is that the truth has a way of sounding like a poor excuse.

A physician says that a man is as old as he feels before breakfast. Obviously a good way to keep young is to have breakfast in bed.

Crime investigators find that a former $187-a-month detective in New Orleans saved $150,000 in six years. An example of that old-fashioned thrift which is said to have disappeared.

We read the centre of gravity in the human body is slightly to the right. But in this slippery weather it is plain that the centre of absurdity is about two-thirds of the way down, and at the back.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

TWO VOLUMES of verse have come to my hands through Mr. Ernest Brumwell of Hilliard St. One, a sizable thing of 150 pages of fine type, two columns to the page, is: "The Poems of William Telford, Smith, Peterborough, Ontario, Canada, BARD OF PETERBOROUGH ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY." The title page also tells that it was printed in Peterborough by J. R. Stratton, Printer and Book-Binder, Examiner Office, 1887. I have dipped into the Bard's store and shall make a few remarks on it next week.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE other volume of verse is small, about the size of a Prayer Book, but with only 48 pages. It is "Poems and Thought Tersely Told" by Mrs. H. I. Morse-Farnum, of Peterborough, Canada, and seems to have been privately printed. It is dated 1910. There is a picture of the lady at the front of the book, and she looks to be a fine, late Victorian person. I know nothing about her at all; whether she was the widow of a bank manager, a preacher or a school-teacher. Her late husband's face is pictured at the end of Part I: "D. Farnum, deceased December 16, 1898". Her paternal home seems to have been at Gravenhurst. This hint comes in a poem "Standing on the Beach, The Farewell Glimpse of Mother". But, in the list at the back of the book of "Kind Words from Publishers, Authors and Ministers, also from the Medical and Legal professions" there is this from the Iowa Mail of August 22, 1889: "Mr. and Mrs. Farnum were among the pioneer settlers of N.W. Iowa, and will be kindly remembered, as the cause of public education received benefit from this fact."

There must be Peterborough residents who know Mrs. Morse-Farnum, or knew of her. Please, may I hear from them?

✧ ✧ ✧

I PICK up such a volume of forgotten verse as this in the fond hope that there may be something of real, unexpected poetic worth in it. Then I could write a monograph on the author and lay claim to being the rediscoverer of a forgotten Canadian genius. I have not yet struck pay gold. This stuff is paltry as poetry, although the lady has rhyme and meter, and some understanding of verse forms. She says in a note fronting the preface: "The variety phase of this little work consists of Brevities in verse, including the 'Epigram', the 'Madrigal', the 'Idyll', the 'Ballad', the 'Didactic' and 'Elegiac' varieties (see alphabetical index)." A somewhat pretentious list, in view of the verse which follows.

She seems to have been saddened by experiences of pain and death — probably the death of her husband; but takes great comfort in the Christian promise. Most of the poems flee from her sorrows, from mere earthly colour, to the arms of Jesus, but none of the poems would make good hymns.

✧ ✧ ✧

SHE is at her best in several of the four or six line things, and in her Peterborough verses. For instance: "Autumn Landscape as seen from Highlands of Lakefield, Peterboro' Co":

Russet is touching the birches
And amber the ironwood tree,
Maroon the ivy that reaches
And droops from the old belfry.
The orchards of pear and apple
Their wealth and color unfold,
As slyly the artists dapple
In scarlet and bronze and gold.
The pink and green of the clover
Reach out for the cedar hedge,
And graceful trees stoop over,
To sport in the water's edge.

Here is "July Evening at Peterborough":

Delightful coolness fans the air,
Stirring the maple trees,
That deck the city everywhere
To court the truant breeze;
Victoria Park is all aglow
With soft artistic light,
Where motley nature, singing low,
Builds blossoms in the night!

Such "tersely told" thoughts as "Day Dawn" are not bad. (It was written at 3 a.m.):

The orchestra!. From bird
With early wing,
One timid note is heard —
Then, how they sing! !

Here is one on "Home" written at 500 College Street, September 1908 (what city's College street is not stated), which shows her poetic strain:

Dear, pleasant home, what memories
Commingle with each spot!
Twined with thy vines are reveries
Which life can never blot.

Mute manuscript, alone to thee
I tell the tales of yore!
Sing low, poor lyre, nor trench too free
The acning cordage core!

(etc. for four more verses.)

✧ ✧ ✧

THE interest in such a book as this can only be local and, eventually, antiquarian. It is of some note that a Peterborough-linked person did publish verse, even if the verse is not good poetry. The author does not seem to have been concerned about poetic values; her purpose was to uplift, as the Preface says:

"That I should know how to speak a word in season to him that is weary"; that some crumb of solace might accrue to sorrowing and suffering ones, or that some unworthy aim may be supplanted by true nobility constitute the principles which prompt this publication. Thoughts upon many important subjects are very briefly expressed as epigram and madrigal, in consonance with the strenuous life."

There is not, of course an epigram or madrigal in the book; I doubt that the author knew what either was.

"...With trepidation the author ventures the hope that some utterance therein may lead the querulous to clearer conception of wisdom, loving kindness and tender mercy of the Creator and Redeemer."

✧ ✧ ✧

AND so, with these notes on "Poems and Thoughts", I let Mrs. Morse-Farnum sink back into earthly oblivion. I see little point in keeping the book even as a possible collector's item. It is doubtful, in view of the spelling of 'colour' as 'color' that the book was even published in this country. She goes back to her celestial oblivion, even though the Secretary-Treas. of the Canadian Tract Society said in the list of encomiums at the end of the book: "I always enjoy reading your poetry. You seem to have that gift." I reject her verse even though the Associate Editor, Bible Echo, Melbourne (Australia) apparently said in 1893: "I do not need to examine Mrs. Farnum's literary work to know that it is of superior character, as well as invaluable in the great work of moral reform, education and enlightenment of all who may be privileged to read the same." The writer of this fair note, Geo. W. Morse, must have been a book reviewer, to be able to assess her work without examining it. Perhaps there was collusion. His name was Morse, hers Mrs. H. I. Morse-Farnum. She seems to have tacked on to her husband's Farnum her maiden name.

THE JOB AND THE TOOLS

Letter To The Editor

FACTS ABOUT BRITISH RATIONS

Sir: In reply to the writer of the letter "The English need no sympathy"—as you seem to think you are qualified to make certain statements on the subject of the poor starving English as you call them. I would like to ask you if you have lived there, and if so, did you exist on a ration book, or were you one of those lucky people with plenty of money, able to pay black market prices, and able to go to a hotel for your food?

Let me correct you on a few points, the available canned meat you mentioned for one. This as you say is on points, so are certain cereals, dried fruit, suet, canned fruit and vegetables. Should you be rash enough to buy a tin of canned meat (16 ozs.) you will find you have used a whole month's issue of points. How then, I ask you, are you to obtain the other necessary items? Is one small tin of meat per month going to help greatly the weekly nine cents worth of fresh meat, with the loss of the other articles.

Second point in your article. This statement is only part true. Most factories, if large enough, have a canteen where the workers can obtain a meal. What of the smaller ones who do not and what of all the rest of workers of England who you say can obtain a meal at a government sponsored restaurant? Those places let me point out to you, are now non-existent, or nearly so, just one or two odd ones in the whole of the country left.

Your third statement, re the agricultural workers, miners, and heavy workers, agreed they do get an extra supply of cheese, meat, and milk but I doubt even you, who ever you may be, would think very much of that extra amount. These particular workers are only a small part of the population. What of the others, what of the housewife who goes without much of her ration in order that the man, the mainstay of the home can have a square meal? Every woman among the workers of England today, is doing just that, and has done it for ten years now. Kindly remember that—not one year, but ten years.

No, we do not want sympathy, we stood the war, also the blitz for six long years. We did not cry out then, we shall not cry out now. All we ask is that you refrain from writing letters such as yours until you know the true facts, or rather, go to England, live on a ration book for one month, that will be long enough, then write your letter on your return.

May I add this: To the Canadian people we owe much. We appreciate wholeheartedly what they have done, and are still doing for us in the way of food, and we thank them.

Yours truly,
MARGARET L. YATES.

Method In His Madness

(Wall Street Journal)

They say when you become so famous you don't need publicity, you will get it without asking for it. But Henry Ford wasn't taking any chances. Once, on his birthday, he showed up at his office wearing mismated shoes—one comparatively new, the other quite worn and shoddy.

When a reporter pointed out the situation, Mr. Ford soberly explained, "I put that old shoe on to remind myself on my birthday that I was once poor and that if I do not watch my step I may become poor again."

Of course, the auto magnate had simply put on the wrong shoe in the dark—but he wasn't going to pass up a grand opportunity for getting a swell story in the newspapers!

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then came to Jesus scribes and Pharisees, which were of Jerusalem, saying, Why do thy disciples trangress the tradition of the elders? for they wash not their hands when they eat bread. But he answered and said unto them, Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God by your tradition?....

And he called the mulitude, and said unto them, Hear, and understand: not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man; but that which cometh out of the mouth, this defileth a man....Then answered Peter and said unto him, Declare unto us this parable.

And Jesus said, Are ye also yet without understanding?....For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies: these are the things which defile a man: but to eat with unwashen hands defileth not a man. (Matt. 15: 1-3, 10, 11, 15, 16, 19, 20.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Now when he was in Jerusalem at the passover, in the feast day, many believed in his name, when they saw the miracles which he did.

But Jesus did not commit himself unto them, because he knew all men, and needed not that any should testify of man: for he knew what was in man. (John 2: 23-25.)

Bad Taste To Bring This Up

(The Printed Word)

According to the maps, Portal (N.D.) and North Portal (Sask.) are so close that one could throw a loaf of bread from the post office in one town to the grain elevator in the other.

But there are differences. Between them runs that imaginary line, the 49th parallel of latitude, that divides Canada and the U.S. Another division is that wheat in Portal (N.D) is valued at $2.18 per bushel (Canadian funds) and in North Portal (Sask.) at $1.23½ per bushel. These were the prices quoted Jan. 9, 1951, by the Searle Grain Co., and for the same grade of wheat.

The main reason for the difference is that the U.S. farmer has the right to sell his wheat himself to whoever will pay him. The Canadian farmer must sell his wheat to his Government under terms and conditions fixed by Ottawa and approved by the fatuous officials of the wheat pools.

Mr. Gardiner, the minister of agriculture, the man above all others responsible for appalling losses in selling prices suffered by Canadian wheat growers will consider it bad taste for a Portal (N.D.) wheat grower to yell "sucker!" at a North Portal (Sask.) wheat grower.

BREAKING IT GENTLY

The proprietor of a successful optical business was instructing his son how to charge a customer.

"My boy," he said, "after you have fitted the glasses, and he asks what the charge will be you say: 'The charge is $10.' Then pause and wait to see if he flinches. If the customer doesn't flinch, you then say, 'For the frames. Then lenses will be another $10.' Then you pause again, this time only slightly, and watch for the flinch. If the customer doesn't flinch, you say firmly 'Each'."

New Non-Confidence Motion Moved By Jolliffe In Legislature

TORONTO, Feb. 9—(CP)—The Ontario Legislature, its chief verbal battles of the throne speech debate ended, turns today to government legislation.

A motion of non-confidence in the government by the Liberal House leader, Farquhar Oliver, was added Thursday to a similar motion made Wednesday by CCF leader E. B. Joliffe.

In his motion, which will not be voted on for some time, Mr. Oliver said the government's policy outlined in the throne speech failed to promise measures to overcome home-building problems and gave no indication that "obvious defects" in Ontario labor laws would be remedied.

The Liberal leader also charged the government with continuing the "prodigal practices" of seven years of Progressive-Conservative administration in natural resources.

A. A. MacLeod, Labor-Progressive party spokesman, took part in the throne speech debate to predict a provincial election this year. And he pleaded Communist China's case for admission to the United Nations.

Wanted Conference

Mr. Oliver, criticizing the government for failure to call a provincial-municipal conference, said that such a conference could deal with civil defence and decentralization of industries as well as financial problems of local government.

Ontario did not have final authority in civil defence, he said, but it should give a lead. One means would be through decentralization of industries.

Some cities were too large now for efficient local government, he said. Dispersal of industries was "doubly important" in times of war. Industries in small towns and rural areas, including northern Ontario, would bring new community life and provide close markets for farmers in their districts.

Mr. Oliver criticized the government for not altering present laws governing farm marketing and milk price control.

"The time has come for a thorough overhauling of the Farm Products Marketing Act," he said. The government had also erred in replacing direct milk price controls with a system of negotiation and arbitration between farmers and processors.

"For the protection of consumers, the Milk Control Board should have the right to set milk prices" he said.

The Liberal spokesman also urged the province to start paying universal pensions at 70, as proposed in a federal-provincial plan without waiting for Ottawa to put the scheme into effect.

New government legislation was introduced affecting homes for the aged, schools and fire departments.

Welfare Minister Goodfellow proposed provincial payment of $1,000 a bed for construction of homes for the aged built by private organizations and secular groups. He said government grants would be halted on construction of farm buildings and farm operations at municipal homes for the aged.

Education Minister Porter introduced a bill to settle county representation on municipal school boards and provide that joint school boards for both public and high schools can be set up only when districts for both schools coincide.

Another bill introduced by Mr. Porter would reduce the maximum work week for full-time firemen from 72 to 56 hours.

Compulsory X-ray examinations at the order of medical health officers for persons suspected of having tuberculosis is provided in another bill introduced by Health Minister Phillips.

Liberal House Leader Oliver told the legislature that "the thing" at last has been identified. He said the mysterious flotsam featured in a recent song hit was the Hope Commission's report on education.

Mr. Oliver's claim followed Premier Leslie Frost's statement that his Progressive-Conservative administration would not be bound by the report's provisions.

"So the premier doesn't want it," commented Mr. Oliver. "We don't want it. It's a half-million dollar baby nobody wants. Tell (band leader) Phil Harris we've found the thing for him. It's the Hope report.

Mr. Oliver urged the province to pay cost of snow-plowing on country roads, and to take over a certain percentage of those roads each year.

In his maiden speech in the Upper Chamber, the former Newfoundland finance minister said the federal government should move quickly to modernize public facilities and services in the Atlantic province which joined Confederation in 1949.

Marines And Trojans Take Wins To Open PMHA Finals

Outboard Marines defeated St. Peter's midgets 6-2 while the McGills Trojans downed Empress bantams 6-0 to open their two-game PMHA final playoffs last night at Civic Arena. They finish up next Thursday. Clapper's juveniles finished their schedule by rubbing out Oddfellows 4-3 to qualify to meet Lakefield for the city title, the first playoff being next Thursday.

Kearns and Burns scored for Marines in the first, Frizzelle, Strickland and McGillen drawing an assist each, as Foley counted from McDougall for St. Pete's. Dodds shoved home two in the second, Burns helping once. In the third, Frizzelle and Ball hit the mark, with Kearns and Corbett getting an asist apiece. McDougall scored for the losers, Pearson and Stewart aiding.

Had An Edge

The Trojans had a margin in each frame of their bantam battle. Forestell and Godfrey counted in the first, Floyd helping on one. Heffernan sank a pair in the middle chukkr, with Godfry assisting on both. Heffernan and Sutherland tucked it away in the third period, Godfrey helping on the first one. Play was fast and generally clean in this contest.

Despite more penalties, Clapper's finished stronger to nudge out the juvenile verdict over Oddfellows. Batley got one in the first, but the IOOF scored, Buchan and Gooley hitting the hemp, with Buchan and Caravaggie each having an assist. Sullivan for Clapper's and Caravaggie for the Links were second period marksmen. Pammett tied it from Ferguson in the third, and then Ferguson put in the winner on a pass from Sullivan.

Teams:

Marines — Delahaye, McCormick, Burns, McGrath, Ball, Frizzelle, Corbett, Strickland, McGillen, Turner, Kearns, Bethune, Dodds.

St. Peter's—O'Brien, Stuart, Hickey, McDougall, Pearson, Foley, Ferren, Byrne, Kane, Merrett, Roberts.

Empress — Curtis, Jones, R. Brown, J. Brown, Davis, Naish, Johnston, Douglas, Goldie, Woodcock, Armstrong, Lagana, Pace.

Trojans— Masterson, Keeting, Orr, Godfrey, Heffernan, Cairns, Rusaw, Trudeau, Whitnell, Sutherland, Mahoney, Buckley, Forestell, Jones.

Clapper's — Tyndall, Jones, Sullivan, Pammett, Richardson, Ferguson, Cupoli, Murdock, Killen, Barry, Batley.

Hawk Manager Fined $200

CHICAGO, Feb. 9 (AP). — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, announced Thursday night that the Black Hawk manager, Ebbie Goodfellow, has been fined $200 in connection with an incident at Toronto last weekend.

Hawk wing Roy Conacher was automatically assessed a $50 fine for a game misconduct penalty in the same incident.

Conacher was banished late in the third period of the game against the Maple Leafs last Saturday night. Following that, Goodfellow also was waved off the Hawk bench for using abusive language toward referee Hugh McLean.

Conacher was accused of rushing on the ice and mistreating McLean physically.

Campbell, after receiving McLean's report by mail, conducted a hearing here Thursday, attended by Goodfellow, Conacher and the Black Hawk president, Bill Tobin. Tobin said he requested that the fine on Goodfellow be increased to $250 because, by league rules no fine of $200 or less can be appealed. He indicated he would appeal the fine to the league's board of governors.

Layton Tackles Davis-Henning

They're certainly not picking any soft spots for Lord Athol Layton. The current sensation of wrestling is literally being fed to the wolves, said wolves being Wee Willie Davis and Lee Henning. That's right, Layton will take on the best tag grappling team in the business, Davis and Henning in the main event at the Brock Arena next Tuesday night.

Layton is about the best grappler to ever appear here. He has speed, strength, science and plenty of ring experience. Yukon Eric remarked after his loss to Layton this week, that the Englishman was the fastest man he had ever met. Layton will have his work cut out to gain a verdict over two such rough ring masters as Davis and Henning. This pair know all the answers and they don't come any meaner.

In the semi-final popular George Scott hooks up with the Masked Marvel, another tough hombre. The Mask is becoming more unpopular with each appearance and fans will be pulling for George to unmask the hooded one.

Pat Flanagan and Kaye Bell will open what shapes up as a nifty mat card.

Bruins Triumph

Bruins beat Canadiens 8-2 in a peewee tilt much closer than the score sounds. It was colder than a loan shark's heart over at Riverside last night, but the boys turned in a good effort. The winners had four each in the first and third as Canadiens got one apiece the last two frames. Fitzgerald sparked Bruins with three goals, Rowatt and Hickey getting two each and McCarthy one. Grills and Anthony banged in one each for the losers, Lustic having two assists and Harding one. Teams:

Bruins — Heffernan, Leahy, Reid, Fitzzgerald, McCarthy, O'Reid, Fitzgerald, McCarthy, O'Rowatt, Feeley, Ayotte.

Canadiens — Tetlock, Kelly, Grills, Lustic, Anthony, Sorrie, Findlay, Beggs, Pearse, Harding, White, Brisbois.

Referee—Glen Moher.

Score Shutout

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Feb. 9 (CP)—Lethbridge Maple Leafs Thursday night scored a 2-0 shutout over the Lausanne ice hockey team in one of the hardest-fought games of their European tour. The Leafs, Canada's contenders for world hockey honors, won last year by Edmonton Mercurys, now have 18 wins against five lossses and a tie.

Charlton Rink Edges Out Lindsay Four

By HERB. MARTIN.

Playing three of the hardest fought games that he has ever played over his long career Dave Charlton, veteran curler, piloted his rink to win the British Consols competition for Ontario Curling Association District No. 5 yesterday. His rink defeated Wm. Langdon, Lindsay, in the final game 15-13. They will now go to Oshawa to play other district winners, and as a tribute to Dave himself we make this comment—his last shot on the extra end was just as nice a shot as we have ever witnessed. It was the payoff and the spectators were not slow with their appreciation. Langdon was lying short right on the button, Charlton one about a foot in front; there were two long guards. The shot was safe, so some thought, but Dave thought differently. He played his stone wide and well up. As it came down the ice it began to draw—it passed the first guard and then just slipped past the second. It had enough speed left to hit Dave's stone into Bill's shot passing it back to the eight-foot ring and left Dave lying two—now it was up to Bill. His own two guards protecting his shot rock were now in his own way. They guarded Dave's shot. Bill decided to play an out-turn hoping to come past the guards to Dave's stone, but he played a little short and the game was over. It was a real and exciting finish to a day of great curling. The best of luck goes to Dave and his rink: C. Coons, A. Ingram, E. Northey, D. Charlton, skip.

Word came through late last evening that Mrs. Lowe's rink won her first game at Kitchener and was up a few shots in her second game.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 9 (ENS).—The Lakefield Lions beat Fenelon Falls 10-3 last night to sweep their OMHA first juvenile "C" round 21-10. Pearson got two goals in the first, with Coyle, Heffernan and McCracken getting one each, as an assist apiece went to Sloan, Hunter, McCracken and Wingett. Griffin from Barrett was the Falls' tally. In the second, Twist and McCracken counted for Lakefield, Coyle, Sloan and Henry each aiding once. Packard and Barrett scored for Fenelon, each of them and Griffin having an assist. Henry, Twist and McCracken finished it up in the third as Sloan and Heffernan each helped once. Teams:

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Five basketball games here tonight. A twin bill, starting at eight, in the YW. Schedule calls for CGE vs. Neill's, and Grads vs. Normals, though the lasses sometimes switch games on us. At the Collegiate, the boys go in a triple-header, Lindsay vs. PCVS bantam, junior and senior "B" teams. There were three games last p.m. and the three PCVS "A" squads are at Oshawa tonight, as St. Peter's seniors meet DelaSalle in Toronto. On the morrow, Clapper Bruins have an exhibition at East York, while the Marines are away to open OABA playdowns. And the season grinds along.

* * * * * *

It is a fact that the only perfect hockey game is one ending in a scoreless tie. Every time a goal is scored, someone has made a mistake. By the same token, every time a team is shorthanded, due to a penalty, the other one should score. If it doesn't use that man advantage, someone has made a mistake. Quite often a pass is made too soon or too late, or poor positional play allows one good defenceman to cover two incoming forwards. Or the timing can be bad. Also, two players may be right in on the goalie but the shooter hurries too much and is outguessed by the net-minder. Of course, a team that is much inferior to another probably won't score on that club even with a man advantage.

* * * * * *

Queen's Playing Eagles

It's interesting to watch positional play in hockey, and fans should see some tonight when Queen's and Eagles clash here. The Eagles are pretty good as a rule at playing their positions, especially if some of their injured aces are back in action. And we've seen few clubs which could kill off a penalty better. Kids get in free tonight, courtesy of Don McGillis Sr., and there might be a pretty hefty Friday night crowd out to view this OHA senior "B" struggle, last meeting of these clubs here this year. It could be a bit rugged, too. Some of their clashes have before.

* * * * * *

Puck fans won't have to wait until Allan Cup playdowns here to see a senior "A" team in action at Civic Arena. The Ottawa RCAF Flyers are senior "A" and they have an exhibition Monday with the senior "B" loop-leading Petes. Bob Greenlaw, top scorer around here in recent years, is now with the Flyers, who are second in their six-club Eastern Canada senior "A" setup. Bob is going right good with them but isn't top man on the totem pole, as this is fast company. There's a difference in "A" and "B" hockey, naturally. The Flyers will bring their noted 60-piece band to play music between periods. They'll also give with the brass before the tilt starts.

* * * * * *

Games With Gans Count

Mike Rodden of Kingston advises us that it's definite that all senior "B" games with the intermediate "A" Gans count as two-pointers. Apart from two games with the Petes, the Gans have completed their single schedule in the grouping. They hold wins over Eagles, Belleville and Queen's, while losing twice to Nylons and once each to Belleville, Eagles and Queen's. Now, the Redmen did the Magee men a big favor the other evening in yanking out a 5-4 victory over Nylons right in Kingston. Including Mike's figures on Gans 'games to date, we find the Petes with 41 points, Eagles 36, Nylons 31, Belleville 22 and the others as also-rans. With Queen's playing Eagles here tonight and Petes are at Bella Villa. Monday it'll be Eagles at Queen's.

* * * * * *

Three minor hockey games were reeled off in the frost last eve at the arena, two of 'em PMHA playoffs. First of two-game finals. The midget playoff saw Marines take a four-goal lead o'er St. Peter's, while the bantam Trojans have six goals to work on when they clash with Empress again next Thursday night. Clapper's eliminated Oddfellows in PMHA juvenile play to end the schedule in a tight tussle, 4 to 3. That puts Clapper's in against Lakefield Lions in city finals, opening next Thursday eve, a two-game series. But Lakefield will continue in OMHA juvenile "C" play, as a village entry, having already ousted Fenelon Falls in two playdown games.

Cage Victories For PCVS In Girls' Frays

Miss Eva Scott's PCVS girls' junior basketball team extended their lakeshore winning streak to four games Thursday night in Cobourg by winning 29-17. Miss Doreen Pemberton's seniors defeated Cobourg High in the second game 23-10 for their third win in four starts.

Assisted by Nancy Mason and Peggy Estlick, Mary Craw continued her recent scoring pace with 16 points for PCVS in the senior game. Guards Audrey McGee and Marg Clark played the rebounds well to start fast-breaking plays up the floor.

M. Craw Counts

Baskets by Kay Tunney and Eleanor Jones for Cobourg in the first quarter kept the lakeshore high on even terms with PCVS, Mary Craw netting both PCVS baskets. The Garnet and Grey seniors opened the second with a fast-breaking passing offensive which continued throughout the session. Mary Craw with four points and Peggy Estlick three ran the PCVS score to 11 while Cobourg was held scoreless.

Cobourg rallied in the third to nearly match the PCVS lasses. Mary Craw dropped in two more baskets and Joan White one to outscore Cobourg 6-5, Barbara Thompson and Kay Tunney scoring for Cobourg. Joan White acted as a play setter in the fourth as Mary Craw sank two baskets and Nancy Mason one to Cobourg's foul shot point by Kay Tunney.

Led The Team

Carol Ferguson bettered Mary Craw's scoring effort for the games when she flipped in nine baskets in the junior game for 18 points. Her support came from Rosie McInroy, Reta Naylor and Lorraine Derry, all forwards, and Shirley Leggett, Betty Wilkinson, Phyl Peryer and Nancy Rowell at guard.

Three baskets by Carol Ferguson and a foul shot point by Reta Naylor gave PCVS a 7-1 score in the first quarter. Cobourg girls took over in the second quarter with Helen Holmes, Noreen Hart and Catharine Boyle accounting for seven points to outscore PCVS 7-5. The quarter points by Ferguson, four, and a single by Lorraine Derry kept the Garnet and Grey girls up at the half 12-8.

Led by Noreen Hart with six points and Shirley Campbell with one Cobourg pulled within two points, 17-15, of PCVS in the third. The lakeshore high girls failed to meet PCVS' Carol Ferguson in the fourth and PCVS swept the game away. She scored eight points on four baskets while single baskets were added by Rosie McInroy and Reta Naylor. Cobourg's lone basket was by Janet Corby.

A Houston, Texas oilman-contractor Thursday said a syndicate is "ready, willing and able" to buy stock in St. Louis Browns of the American League.

"But," said William A. Smith, "the next move is up to the Browns and we don't anticipate one soon."

Smith repeated that the syndicate—some 25 wealthy men—is not interested in moving the club out of St. Louis and certainly not in moving it to Houston.

Bill Dailey, 23-year-old American speed record holder from Glendale, Calif., was hurt Thursday when his car crashed during a speed run on the Daytona beach.

Taken to hospital, Dailey — a garage operator—was reported in a coma suffering scalp, hand, shoulder and possible internal injuries.

Bob Flock, Atlanta racing driver, estimated Dailey was going between 150-175 miles an hour when the wind "took her up and she looked like a sailboat."

Baseball contracts, calling for increased salaries, are subject to approval of the wage stabilization board, a government official said Thursday. Arthur J. White, regional director for New York and Jersey for the labor department's wage-and-hour division, said he had special instructions from the wage stabilization board in regard to baseball contracts.

Middleweight champion Jake La Motta and Sugar Ray Robinson sitting quietly side by side before the Illinois State Athletic Commission, heard themselves pronounced "calm, collected and in perfect physical condition" for their title bout here next Wednesday night.

There was no weigh-in, that ceremony to be conducted with considerable hoopla at the Stadium the morning of the fight.

Carl Furillo, strong-armed outfielder of Brooklyn Dodgers, has signed his 1951 contract, the Dodgers said Thursday. The document was believed to call for about $20,000.

Furillo, starting his sixth season with the Dodgers, rapped a solid .305 last season and knocked in 106 runs.

Hawks Bow To Wings 4-3 Fans Stay Away In Droves

Coach Ebbie Goodfellow and his hapless Hawks have good reason to feel friendless and woebegone today.

Doormats of the National Hockey League all season, Chicago's game but outclassed Black Hawks met nothing but trouble—in large doses—last night.

The fans — or more correctly the lack of fans—made up the most painful blow. Chicagoans stayed away in droves as the rampaging Detroit Red Wings whipped the Hawks for the second time in as many nights.

Only 5,307 die-hard followers—the second smallest crowd in Chicago history—turned out to watch Wings register a 4-3 victory over the cellar-dwelling Hawks Hawks now have won only one of their last 26 games. All other teams in the league were idle.

League president Clarence Campbell added the finishing touch by slapping a $200 fine on Goodfellow for his part in a fracas at Toronto last weekend.

Moral Victory

At that, Thursday night's 4-3 loss almost represented a moral victory for the Hawks, still groggy from an 11-3 lacing handed them by the same Red Wings the night before.

Bright spot in the game for the Chicago faithful was the work of rookie goalie Marcel Pelletier replacing Harry Lumley in the Hawk nets. Pelletier kicked out 38 shots, many from close range, against 18 for Terry Sawchuk at the other end of the rink.

Lumley entered hospital on Thursday for observation of a stomach ailment that first struck him a week ago. Doctors are trying to determine if he needs an appendectomy.

Pat Lundy banged home two goals to give Chicago a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period. His tallies came after Marty Pavelich had sent the Wings to the fore in the third before Ray Powell ended the scoring for Chicago with less than six minutes left to play.

Merchants Wallop Combines By 18-3

FRANKFORD, Feb. 9.—After suffering three straight reverses at the hands of Frankford-Bata Combines this season, Belleville Merchants evened the score to some extent by swamping the homesters under an 18-3 avalanche here Wednesday night in a Trent Valley Hockey League game.

Earl Cousins paced the winners while Hatfield was next best with four goals and one assist. Hanna, Foster and Shaw accounted for the three tallies by the homesters.

Redmen Topple Nylons 5-4

KINGSTON, Feb. 9. — Belleville's desperate Redmen sprang the outstanding upset of the season Wednesday night here when they registered a 5-4 victory over the favored Nylons.

A goal scored by Mulvihill five seconds before the end of the contest was the winner. It was a well-merited triumph for the Redmen, particularly as Nylons held a 2-0 lead at the first intermission and appeared to be in command of the situation.

The visitors came back in the middle session to reverse the tables and force a 2-2 deadlock and they forged ahead twice in the final period before Kenny Partis got the counter that made it 4 to 4 at 19:35.

The Reds attacked quickly after that sortie and when Joe Watts carried the puck in front of the net Green secured possession and passed the disc to Mulvihill, who made no mistake in firing the winning shot.

Good Days Were War Years Woman Tells Jack Scott; Loan Companies Doing Business With Steadily Employed

By JACK SCOTT

Seems obvious that a great many people have given long and serious thought to the cause and effect of high prices. For the past three days here we've looked at individual cases, most of them selected because they were typical. Now let's examine some of the thoughts and reflections of folks from all walks of life:

"How are people getting along under present conditions?" inquires Mrs. J. P. of Peterborough.

"Well, one method is being used and it is increasing at a rapid pace. How many loan companies are operating in Vancouver I do not know, but in Montreal there are more than 30 and new branch offices are being opened almost every week. Loan companies do not do business except with those who are steadily employed. Consequently, it is obvious that the great number of applicants for loans are people who cannot meet their obligations out of income. Present spending is largely being done on a debt basis."

"Do you know why so many people feel hard done by these days" asks Mrs. M. G. of Peterborough. "It is because during the war most of us became accustomed to a higher standard of living than we ever had before and how we holler when we have to lower it a notch. It's terrible to contemplate, but for most of us 'the good old days' were the war years."

Saving Grace

"There is one saving grace in all this," writes Mr. A. H. G., of Vancouver. "Although it is rather hard on the parents, a home can be made and kept happy on a very limited income. In these times we must think first and last of our children."

It's what happens in the homes that I dread to think about," writes Mrs. B. H., of Vancouver. "A great many mothers are being forced to take full or part-time work to stretch out the family income. That is my own solution and I, in turn, employ a woman to take my place at home. She has several children and yet must work to clothe them. It often strikes me as ironical that we have a Prime Minister who is said to value family life above all else, yet under his administration families are being warped and disrupted by economic pressures as never before."

"The trouble, as I see it, is very simple," opines W.K.K., of Sardis. "Year by year we are getting softer and lazier."

Protects Interests

Labor is well able to protect its interest and to insist upon its demands by reason of its own organizations," writes M.L., of Vancouver. "The so-called white collar class is the problem class. I see an advertisement for an accountant to act as office manager for $250 per month. That is about equal to the pay of a Montreal bus or street car operator who is regarded as being qualified after two weeks' instruction. So far as a normal and really satisfactory life is concerned, it looks as if that condition need not be expected by the white-collar worker. We are exploited in rent and food, the two prime necessities, to the extent that nothing is left for anything else. How do we get along? I don't know, but I often marvel."

George K., of Brandon, writes: "The problem is simple. A constantly growing part of Canada's production goes to war and war preparations. All this is financed by creeping inflation, or in plain language, wages are lagging more and more behind cost of living. Right now there is one answer to all our problems: 'Peace'!"

"While everything, including newspapers, costs more, the purchaser does not receive any greater value or service than before."

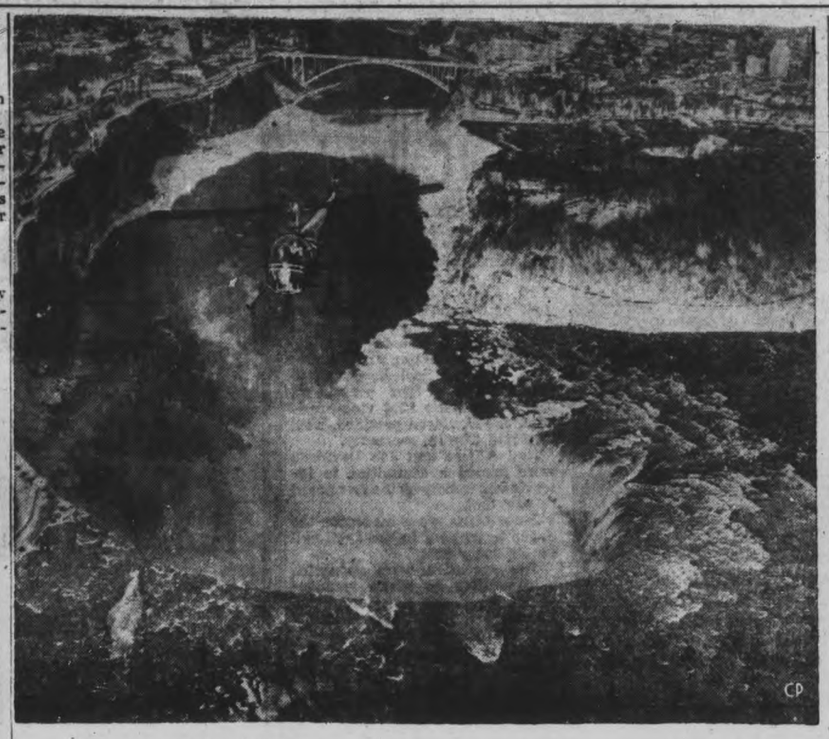
Two Outboard Marine Unions Ask For Certification

At an Ontario Labor Relations Board hearing Wednesday two Outboard Marine Workers locals —representing the production and the office workers—applied for certification. Both are chartered locals of the CCL.

Local 230, applying for the production workers, filed 243 cards of signed and paid-up members. Some 340 workers are said to be eligible.

The United Electrical Workers also applied and intervened in the local's application. C. R. Sullivan, representing the UE, filed no cards for this year's application but asked for a review of the 1948 hearing when their previous application was dismissed.

When the Board refused to consider this, the UE application was withdrawn.



Officials of the Outboard local are hoping that the Board will grant certiification without the necessity of a vote now that the UE application is withdrawn.

Local 231, filed 50 cards and claimed the majority of some 70 office workers. However, another employee, intervening, filed 40 cards representing non-union sympathizers.

President Joseph L. McGuire and Fred Burrett appeared for Local 230. Henry Rhodes, regional director of CCL, was present for the Congress. Local 231's case was presented by Walter Smith and Peter Harris.

AWE-INSPIRING SIGHT—This graphic photo of Niagara Falls was taken as Buffalo District, U.S. Corps of Engineers were making the first accurate soundings of the Niagara River bed in its history. Leased by the engineers, the Bell helicopter, seen hovering in the centre of the photo, was the only means of surveying the river from the crest of the falls upstream for a mile. The turbulent waters washed anything floatable over the falls. A line with sounding weight and target attached are dropped from the helicopter. When the weight reaches bottom, engineers take readings on their transits from the river bank to determine the depth.

The regular February meeting of the Otonabee Township Council was held this week in the township hall at Keene.

Several deputations were heard and council went on record as being in favor of lifting the restrictions on pickerel fishing and recommended a petition to the minister to permit drift fishing to commence May 15 each year instead of July 1 in the counties of Durham, Northumberland, Peterborough and Victoria.

Mr. William E. Patterson was appointed to act as Telephone Commissioner to fill the vacancy on the Board created by the resignation of Dr. W. A. Ford.

Mr. Ward of the Department of Highways was present to discuss township road affairs and a tentative appropriation of $35,000 to $38,000 was set for 1951 road expenditure, the exact figure to be decided at a special meeting later this month.

The clerk was instructed to prepare a bylaw appointing Garnet Shields township assessor and building inspector.

Mr. Ithamer E. Nelson was appointed pound keeper to replace Mr. William Davidson.

Bylaw No. 1124 was passed appointing J. M. McCarthy, clerk, treasurer, welfare officer, tax collector, license issuer and school attendance officer. Many petitions have been recevied asking for a by-law to enforce the Warble Fly Control Act and further action will be taken by council later in the month when the balance of the petitions have been received. Road accounts passed amounted to $4,305.29, General accounts $521.64, Otonabee school area No. 1, $4,000.00, treas. USS No. 17, $318.00, Relief $493.46.

COMING TO CANADA—Odette Churchill, left, famed British agent in occupied France, will be in charge of 50 girls coming to Canada this summer on a tour. A similar group of Canadian girls will visit Britain. With Mrs. Churchill is Barbara Weston, daughter of the Canadian-born industrialist.

Former Cavan Reeve Otonabee Assessor

Garnet Shields, onetime Reeve of Cavan, has been appointed assessor for Otonabee Township. His duties begin immediately.

Mr. Shields was six years a Cavan councillor, three years deputy-reeve, and four years reeve. He retired at the beginning of 1944. Since then he has been assessor in both Cavan and North Monaghan. He was Liberal candidate for Durham in the last provincial election.

Earlier this year Mr. Shields had tentatively accepted the job as census commissioner for Durham. But he is not likely to accept this if it interferes with his work as assessor. Mr. Shields succeeds Jack Cooney.

Trent Engineer Tells Kiwanis Canal Problems

In an address to the Peterborough Kiwanis Club Thursday, Charles Hurst, engineer of the Trent Canal office, gave the members some idea of what his department did in the winter time, as well as several unknown facts about the Trent-Severn waterways system.

"If you are planning on building a cottage or buying a lot in the Kawarthas," he said, "be sure to check the high water levels beforehand."

Mr. Hurst advised that a great number of cottagers were unaware that certain reservoir lakes in the Trent system were subject to flooding and lowering of water rights by the Trent department. He mentioned several cases of conflicting interests with which the TV office had to cope from trappers, fishermen and cottage owners. Water regulations that suit trappers are not acceptable to fishermen while cottagers like to have water at the same level constantly.

"Lake Scugog," Mr. Hurst said, "covers an area of approximately 16,000 acres. There are no large streams feeding this lake and there is very little inflow after the spring run-off. The greatest water loss is from evaporation, which amounts to about four inches a month. The level of the lake is controlled by a dam located in Lindsay. A considerable amount of money has been invested in the tourist industry around the lake and there is fair fishing there. In the interest of the tourist trade the level of the lake should be kept at a high level but, in order to prevent the river below the dam from becoming stagnant, a certain discharge through the dam is necessary.

"The Trent's first interest is to see that there is sufficient water for navigation purposes. A supply of water to maintain navigation levels throughout the canal is not a serious problem and covers only the period from May 15th until about the end of October. The second object of the regulation is to try and maintain a constant uniform flow throughout the year for the benefit of power development.

"It is essential that a good percentage of the rainfall should be retained on the land. This is why reforestation and proper agricultural practices are important. The canal services, would like to see more conservation practiced but are not in a position to do very much about it. We enter the picture when the water enters the lakes and rivers then begins the effort to balance the needs and conflicting demands of the various interests who hold riparian rights in the various areas under our jurisdiction," he said.

The canal supervises directly over 8,000 acres of Crown land, a large part of which has been subdivided into cottage lots and agricultural areas. The preparation of leases and licences for this land, water and sewer pipelines, transmission lines, etc., would keep a good sized real estate company busy. Each licence, or lease is a legal document involving land surveys, preparation of plans and necessary descriptions, and a considerable amount of negotiation and rental collection.

"The Trent canal has never been a major navigation route and is not likely to be in the future but its importance as a water control authority will increase beyond the imagination of anyone here today," Mr. Hurst concluded.

A minute of silence was set aside in tribute to the late Kiwanian, the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite, one of the club's most valued members.

EXCUSE ME!—Paul Masnick of Montreal Canadiens was in such a hurry to get the puck he ran right over Maple Leafs' Gus Mortson in an N.H.L. game at Toronto Wednesday. Leafs' Cal Gardner dashes for the disc as Jim Thomson and Al Rollins of the Leafs and Floyd Curry of Habitants await the outcome. Leafs won, 3-1, to take their ninth win in 11 meetings with the Montrealers this season, against one tie and one defeat.

To Honor McGillis For Backing Sports In City

Donald A. McGillis, recently acclaimed Peterborough's "man of the year," is to be honored on February 13 at a banquet in the Club Aragon, sponsored by B'nai B'rith.

The B'nai B'rith lodge will present him with an illuminated scroll in recognition of his popular choice as the man who has contributed most to the community.

Mr. McGillis' main contribution has been in financing sports. By doing so he feels he is striking a blow against juvenile delinquency.

"It pays a community to provide sports for its youngsters," says Mr. McGillis. "Boys can easily get into trouble with the police. Then you have the cost of courts, boards, and the upkeep of the youths if they are committed."

"If the community won't pay directly then it will pay indirectly," he says.

Heavy Backer

One source estimates that Mr. McGillis has spent $21,000 during the last seven years backing teams and making other financial contributions to Peterborough projects.

This year he backed the Peterborough Orfuns football team; he outfitted the Eagles Senior "B" hockey team (at an estimated cost of $1,700); sponsored the Trojan hockey team, renamed the McGillis Junior Eagles; and also sponsors a five-pin bowling team.

As president of the Peterborough and Lindsay District Hotel Association, on behalf of the hotelmen, he gave a cheque to the late Vern Dawson so floodlighting could be installed at Riverside Park. On top of that he presented his own personal cheque to help out.

He has also supported the Kiwanis radio auction and gives generously each year to pension funds for civic employees.

Recognition Deserved

Harry G. Silver, vice-president of the B'nai B'rith lodge, said he thought that Mr. McGillis' support of civic sports deserved recognition. Particularly as he has recently been chosen "man of the year" in a local poll.

Mr. Silver added that the lodge hopes to make recognition of the "man of the year" an annual event.

Order 25% Slash April 1 In Steel, Copper

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—A slash of 25 to 40 per cent in use of steel, copper and aluminum in automobiles, stoves and home appliances in the United States is planned April 1.

Disclosing this Thursday, officials of the National Production Authority said the resulting cut in actual numbers of these items may be somewhat less, depending on the manufacturers' ability to save materials and use substitutes.

A separate order, due in a few days, is expected to open the way to price increases on a number of important consumer goods. It will cover men's and women's clothes, cosmetics, furniture, rugs, lamps, pots and pans.

This office of price stabilization regulation will eliminate the price freeze and substitute "margin" type orders promised when the general price freeze was imposed Jan. 25.

The new order will restrict the percentage of markup between what a retailer pays for goods and what he charges the customer.

NPA is not planning to prevent an automobiles model change for 1952, officials reported. Machine tools and fixtures needed are on order and will be delivered before defence demands on tool producers arrive in volume.

But thereafter, there will be no model changes for a time because the conversion of plants to munitions output will keep the tool makers occupied.

Won't Abandon Freedom

BERLIN, Feb. 9 (AP) — The synod of an evangelical church turned down a demand by the Communist government of Brandenburg state that the church's headquarters be moved from West Berlin to Soviet zone territory. The Protestant body of the Evangelical Church of Berlin-Brandenburg said the church will not abandon the freedom for which it has fought and suffered in the past.

Fighter, 16 Dies In Match

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Feb. 9 — (AP) — A 16-year-old Golden Gloves fighter who collapsed after a one-minute bout Tuesday night died Thursday of a cerebral haemorrhage.

He was John Shoddy, a high school sophomore and son of a railroad worker.

He fought as a lightweight in a quarter-final match of a Golden Gloves tournament.

He suffered several blows at the start. The referee stopped the fight and awarded a technical knockout to Shoddy's opponent one minute after the bout began. Shoddy was not knocked down.

The opponent was Dale Colland, Negro.

Shoddy protested the referee's decision, then walked to his dressing room. He collapsed there and was taken to hospital.

Shoddy's death is believed to be the first ring death reported this year. Last year 12 ring deaths were reported in the world.

$300,000 Blaze

HUDSON, N.Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—Fire fanned by strong winds gutted five business and apartment buildings in downtown Hudson late Thursday, for a loss estimated at $300,000. Thirty firemen suffered smoke poisoning, minor cuts or frostbite. Eighteen families were driven to the street.

To Build Annex

FORT WILLIAM, Feb. 9 (CP) —Contract has been let for erection of an annex which will provide an additional 1,000,000-bushel storage capacity to the United Grain Growers terminal elevator at Port Arthur. The present elevator has a storage capacity of 5,500,000 bushels.

Jury Decides

COOKSVILLE, Ont., Feb. 9 (CP)—A challenge to a gun draw between a shotgun-toting youth and his life-long friend, carrying a .22 calibre rifle, caused the accidental death of Keith Izzard, 17, of Burnhamthorpe, last October, a coroner's jury ruled Thursday night. The jury found that the shotgun carried by Jack Karr, 18, discharged when the trigger caught on his sleeve during the "wild west" horse-play between the youths.

Cattle Prices Climbed $1 Hundredweight In Week

TORONTO, Feb. 9 — (CP). — Cattle prices climbed $1 a hundredweight to the highest prices they have ever recorded this week at the Ontario Stockyards, the Dominion Marketing Service reported Thursday.

Calves jumped $2 a hundredweight and hogs gained 50 rents. Sheep and lambs were unchanged.

The cattle run of 5,349 head was down 1,065 from the same week last year. Export buyers were active and a good many cattle were trucked to packing plants in the United States whose receipts were curtailed by the rail situation.

Good to choice weighty steers sold for $32.50-$33.65, with one at $34. Common to medium light $30 with good at $31-$32. Fed yearlings ranged in price from $30-$34 according to quality. Good cows closed at $25-$26.50. Hardly any cows were sold for less than $20. Good bulls were $27-$28 and a few were $28.50. Several picked stockers brought $30-$31.50.

Goats Culprits

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Scientists who exterminated goats on the uninhabited Three Kings Islands, north of Zealand, a few years ago because they had denuded the area of vegetation paid another visit recently. They found the islands covered with luxuriant growth amounting in places almost to jungle.

HOMESPUN POET—That's the title given Hugh Duddridge, 78-year-old Prince Albert, Sask., poet. The pioneer northern Saskatchewan homesteader started writing poetry after he was 50 in between his farm chores. The collection has just been published under the title "Seen from My Seeder Step." The titles of the poems — "Ploughgirl," "First Day on the Land," "Voice of the Wheat" and "Rime of the Bucking Binder"—reflect the pastoral theme of his works.

Village To Spend $3,600 In Year On Streets, Roads

MILLBROOK, Feb. 9 (ENS)—A total of $3,500 will be spent on Millbrook's roads, streets, and bridges during 1951. Maintenance of roads and streets will be allocated $2,600 and bridges and culverts $900. This allocation was included in a by-law passed at the monthly meeting of the Millbrook Municipal Council on Monday night.

Last year $3,431.93 was spent on upkeep of roads, streets ,and bridges as reported by the treasurer. The motion that this report be received and that the Reeve and clerk be instructed to petition the Department of Highways for the balance of the grant coming on this expenditure by Councillors Coulter and Richards was passed.

A by-law to amend salaries of the clerk, treasurer and collector of taxes was given the necessary readings and completed on motion of Councillors Coulter and Larmer.

A by-law to amend working conditions and salaries of chief of police and roads supervisor was also put through and completed on motion of Councillors Coulter and Richards.

A report from the Northumberland and Durham Health Unit revealed that the seven samples of water taken from the Millbrook municipal water supply during the year 1950 were all in Class A.

Accounts totalling $692.15 were ordered paid on motion of Councillors Richards and Larmer. These included $160 to Cliff Scott for salary; $60.25 to D. R. Fowler for police uniforms, and $90.16 to Millbrook Hydro Commission for streets.

From a general discusion of the street lighting situation in the village, a motion by Councillors Raper and Coulter that 10 new street lights be added to the street lighting system and that Councillors Richards and Larmer be a committee to meet with the Millbrook Hydro Commission to make the necessary arrangements was passed.

Bishop's Bid Higher Net Member Says

Anglesey Dissatisfied With Hospital Sale; Hints Council Swayed

Alderman P. J. Anglesey is dissatisfied with the way city council sold the Nicholls hospital property.

In council he voted against the sale of the property to Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada for $70,000. (Another $3,000 was realized by the Civic Hospital board of governors from sale of frunishings and other contents.)

Alderman Anglesey points out that the Right Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough, made a tender of $75,000 through a real estate agency. From the standpoint of civic business, the smaller bid should not have been taken, he says. He intimates that it was not business reasons alone that caused the majority of council to vote for the sale to Pentecostal Assemblies.

"These buildings have not for some years been a part of the Nicholls trust," he says. "But if historical reasons, peculiar to this property, swayed the councillors not to sell to a Catholic interest, I feel they should have stated this."

$1,250 Higher Bid

He claims the Bishop's bid was a net $1,250 above the accepted one.

"This amount should be substantial enough to apply on the debt incurred to the erection of the new Civic Hospital. The additional $3,750 over the net, would have gone to the real estate agency (Braund and O'Toole) through whaom the city had twice invited bids.

"The 12-foot right-of-way was clearly marked on the plan.. As this was the greater part unused, the closing could be regarded as purely a matter of form, at no cost to the city, since the advertising and other costs could be charged back to the highest bidder."

"Council Knew Purpose"

Alderman Anglesey flatly denies that city council didn't know what use was to be made of the property should it be sold to the Bishop.

"City Council had before it in writing the proposed uses of the building by the highest bidder, and in my opinion these were quite comparable to those accepted in the lower bid.

"The higher bid did not request that furniture be included, so both bids were equal in that respect.

"Another point: the occupancy proposed by the higher bidder might even have risen over 200 and as these would require food, clothing and supplies, their potential industrial value was on a par with that of the lower bid."

No Re-opening Announcement

Alderman Anglesey also doesn't like the fact that tenders were re-opened without a public announcement.

"When bids were received some months ago, these were declined in each case without negotiation and public announcement followed that the buildings were not for sale. Within the last few days, bids were entertained from a selected group without announcement to the public.

"It may well be that this procedure has prevented the city from receiving a bid still closer to the $200,000 anticipated some months ago."

JOHN R. MARSHALL

John R. Marshall Chairman Hospital Board

John R. Marshall was re-elected chairman of the Board of Governors of the Peterborough Civic Hospital at the annual meeting Thursday night.

His Worship, Mayor M. J. Swanston conducted the election.

I. F. McRae was elected vice-chairman to succeed M. H. Johnston who is no longer a member of the board. T. T. Rodger was re-elected treasurer and John Hornal, secretary.

Painting Presented

A painting by Gordon Bailey was presented to the board during the meeting by Constables Donald S. Mackay and Douglas Farthing on behalf of the Peterborough Police Benevolent Association.

This painting represents Christ healing the sick. It will be hung in the hospital.

Mr. Marshall accepted the painting on behalf of the board and expressed the board's appreciation for the gift.

Committees Named

The following standing committees were set up: executive committee consisting of the four executive officers; property and house committee—J. L. Welsh, chairman, Hugh Waddell, M. J. Swanston, Vern Selkirk, Mrs. Charles Huffman; finance committee—T. T. Rodger, chairman, Ross Harrison, W. C. Ackerman, Hugh Waddell, Mrs. Charles Huffman; school of nursing committee—Dr. G. S. Cameron, chairman, Dr. C. R. Scott, Dr. L. W. Thompson, J. D. Fitzpatrick, Norman Wilson, Mrs Charles Huffman.

A suggestion by Mr. Marshall that a public relations committee be formed was approved by the board members.

The members of this committee will be elected at a later date.

Need $130,021 To Operate Police Services This Year Up $25,000 From 1950

Police Commission's Estimates Include $21,385 Additional For Salaries To Allow For Increases, Two New Policemen

The Peterborough police department will need $130,021.55 to carry on in 1951 according to the estimates submitted Thursday to a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners. This is almost $25,000 more than the police department asked for last year from the city council. Some $22,000 of this increase, the commissioners estimated roughly, will be paid to the constables and other officers in salary increases.

This year salaries will amount to $108,800. In 1950 the salaries totalled $87,415.26. Part of this difference is accounted for by two additional officers to be taken on the force.

Most of the rest is accounted for by the graded increases given the policemen, from $321 for constables to $195 for the chief.

Clothing $5,982

Another big item in the estimates is officers' clothing which it is predicted will cost $5,982.75. Third largest item is the upkeep of the police cruisers and the motorcycles, $3,500.

When two new cars are bought for the force and the radios and other equipment are installed about another $1,000 will be spent.

Policemen's service pay supplement which is paid to the officers after they have been on the force five years will amount to $1,469.80.

Pay for school guards at traffic intersections will total $1,782.

Included in the estimates are the salaries paid to the members of the commission: $300 each and $200 to the secretary.

Prisoners' Meals $275

Other expenses include $400 to run the identification department; meals for prisoners, $275; telegraphs and telephones, $450; upkeep of the police quarters $550; and upkeep of the radio equipment, $450.

No money was set aside for funds for rewards. Last year there was no money set aside for this, but in 1949 $100 was ticketed for it.

A loading machine for target practice ammunition will cost the department $125. New revolvers to be bought in the force's new policy to standardize the revolvers used by the officers will cost $500.

Get Stolen Car In Port Hope Driven 1,120 mi.

A car stolen from the Davis garage in Peterborough Friday night was recovered in Port Hope Thursday and one man was arrested.

William Ross Gallagher, was arrested by Port Hope police when he was unable to produce a driver's license to cover the car. Police said the car had a pair of stolen license plates on it. During the six days it was missing it was driven 1,120 miles.

Detective-sergeant W. A. Clark said another man was being sought in connection with the theft.

Stolen Friday Night

The car, owned by Mike Caravaggie, was stolen sometime Friday night from the Charlotte St. service station where he had left it.

The theft was not discovered until Saturday night when Caravaggie called to pick it up. Garage owner thought Caravaggie had taken the car out.

During the early hours of Saturday morning, Constable Harold Andrew discovered a door of the garage open. Later a window was found open and a single set of footprints leading to the window.

Gallagher will be brought to Peterborough and charged in police court probably Monday.

Apsley Coldest In County At 50 Below

There were colder places this morning than Peterborough with its 28 below.

Lowest temperature reported unofficially in the county was 50 below at several points outside the village of Apsley. In the village it was 43 below.

Next coldest places were Warsaw and Buckhorn, with temperatures ranging as low as 40 below. The warmest thermometer in Buckhorn said 35 below this morning.

Three places — Campbellford, Millbrook and Lakefield — were warmer than this city. Temperatures in those places were 20, 25 and 24 below zero.

Next to Buckhorn and Warsaw on the shivering list were Bancroft, 39 below, and Bridgenorth, where three thermometers registered 32 below. Omemee and Havelock reported 7 a.m. temperatures of 30 below.

Civic Hospital Treasurer Reports Operating Deficit

Operating deficit for the Peterborough Civic Hospital during 1950 totalled $43,294.19. Total revenue in 1950 was $546,776.39, while expenditures totalled $590,070.58. These figures were released by T. T. Rodger, treasurer, at the annual meeting Thursday night. The 1949 figures were: revenue, $407,662.90 and expenditures were $412,340.18 for a year's operating deficit of $4,253.

Reviews Situation

"This situation," commented Mr. Rodger in his report, "is brought about by a number of causes and an important one was the inflated price trend particularly in the last six months of 1950."

Other factors contributed to the increased operating deficit, he stated. They were the loss of revenue occasioned by delayed entry to the new hospital building and that the occupancy of the past six months has been noticeably under the 70 per cent figure upon which budget figures were hinged when set a year ago.

In order to lower this operating deficit during 1951, the treasurer contended that not only the revenue sources would require re-examination and upward revision where necessary, but also all items of expense must be reviewed so that any expenditure, coisidered avoidable, can be eliminated.

Hopeful For Future

"By necessary and realistic adjustment of these problems it should be possible to reduce the smaller amount, if not entirely clear away, an operating deficit," he stated.

In 1950 accounts receivable increased by $24,272 from a year ago to a total of $88,525.

Debt To Suppliers

Current assets of the hospital total $102,588.33 and current liabilities $108,568.06 leaving a working capital deficit of approximately $6,000. On December 31, 1950, the hospital apart from a bank overdraft of $43,842 owed its suppliers $55,825.

Mr. Rodger explained that this latter obligation will be liquidated in the near future not only from current revenue receipts but also from the amount the city will provide which is required to offset the 1950 operating deficit of $43,294.

The balance sheet also showed a liability of $133,724.71 for the new hospital building account. The treasurer expressed the hope that this amount would also soon be liquidated.

Community Fund Rejects 3 Applications

Community Chest committee decided this week not to assume in their list of beneficiary groups three new ones that were proposed for assistance: Cancer Society, Community Nursing Register and Anson House.

It was felt that the time, until the Community Chest appeal to the public, was too short for increasing the number of organizations sharing in the people's support through the Chest fund.

Sentiment did lean especially toward the Cancer Society, but it is not being included in the appeal of the forthcoming Chest campaign. There was some feeling that distribution to the other organizations might have to be reduced if at this time another group became a participant in the Chest money.

Ran Into Taxi Oshawan Fined

An Oshawa man, Herbert Robitaille, was fined $15 and costs when convicted in police court Thursday on a charge of careless driving when he ran into the rear of an almost-stopped taxi.

The accident occurred on Clonsilla Ave. at Western Ave. Driver of the taxi, John Bolderson, 358 Brock St., said he had been driving west on Clonsilla Ave. and intended to turn east on Western Ave. But he saw that Western Ave. was blocked off.

He had made no signal because he hadn't decided what he intended to do. He had slowed down gradually until he was almost stopped when he was hit.

His car was driven forward about 70 feet and almost ended in the ditch. About $375 damage was done to the rear of the car.

Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum testified the road had been wet and no marks were left by the cars. He said Robitaille's breath smelled strongly of liquor.

Robitaille said he was following the Bolderson car when it suddenly put on its brakes. He braked his own car and started to swing to the left. But at the same time, the taxi began to swing out as well and then turned back. He wasn't able to get clear of the taxi and crashed into the rear of it.

BOXING INSTRUCTOR LEAVES

For the second time in the past year the government has taken the Peterborough Boxing Club's coach away from the city. The first coach, Ronald Menzies, was transferred to another district by the department of lands and forests. Since then Louis Carveth has coached the boys. This week he joined the navy and leaves next week.

Summer Theatre Offered PCI Auditorium

If there is a Peterborough Summer Theatre this year it will be in the PCVS auditorium. The Board of Education decided on Thursday night that the Queen Mary school auditorium will not be available.

For the last two years the Summer Theatre has been held at Queen Mary during the holiday months. Though enjoyed by many, the ventrue was criticized by a number of residents in the Monaghan Rd. and Weller St. vicinity.

Michael Sadlier, manager of the Summer Theatre, had already notified the Board that the theatre group would like the use of Queen Mary auditorium again this year. And he asked for a reduction in rental.

After a letter from C. L. Upper 602 Hopkins Ave. (near Queen Mary school), the Board referred the matter to their solicitor, T. J. Carley, KC, for advice.

Complaints Made

Mr. Upper complained of noises from the theatre group late at night and on Sundays; of parking space being monopolized by theatre-goers to the detriment of residents; and of general depreciation to property in what is zoned as a residential area.

There were also unofficial hints that a group of homeowners in that area might take out an injunction against the Board, enjoining it from allowing the Summer Theatre to proceed.

After hearing their solicitor's advice the Board decided to offer the PCVS auditorium instead. The Collegiate is in a business area. Conditions of rental will be left in the hands of the supervision committee.

Negotiations with Mr. Sadlier over a possible theatre next year have not yet begun.

HELP BUILD HOME

Payment of $258,903 to Hastings County as part payment for construction of a home for the aged has been authorized, Welfare Minister Goodfellow announced Thursday in Toronto. The Ontario government now has advanced $323,629 toward the cost of the new building, and will share half of the total cost of $1,300,000 when the home is completed, he said. The Home will accommodate a total of 175 persons.

FEW CANADIANS IN HONG KONG

External Affairs Minister Pearson told the Commons Thursday Canada doesn't consider it necessary at this stage to advise Canadians to leave Hong Kong. G. K. Fraser (PC, Peterborough West) had asked him whether Canada would follow the U.S. in doing so. Mr. Pearson said he understands there are only a few Canadians in Hong Kong.

Old Elizabethan Law Used To Deny Bradley Appeal

A point of law from Elizabethan times was used by Ontario Court of Appeal Thursday in denying the appeal of two Roman Catholics who refused to become Protestants in order to inherit $5,000 from their aunt.

The two, John David Bradley, 23, and his brother, Brian Michael, 22, both of Toronto, were left the $5,000 in 1937 on condition that they become "members and adherents in good faith and standing in a Protestant church." Since then interest has increased the amount to $10,000.

Their aunt was Ambia Lila Going, once on the staff of the Peterborough Normal School.

Go To United Church

If the nephews did not fulfil the condition, the will said, the money was to go to the United Church pension fund.

Counsel for the nephews, J. J. Robinette, argued that the condition was void on the ground of public policy since it tended to divert their parents from their duty to instruct their children in religious matters.

Mr. Justice Laidlaw said it was plain to him that the aunt wished the whole gift to go to the church's pension fund if the conditions were not fulfilled.

The actual decision on which the appeal was denied was made by Mr. Justice Middleton in 1937. He said, "As long ago as the days of Coke Upon Littleton and Sheppard's Touchstone it was laid down that if a gift is made to take effect only upon some particular event, there is no gift unless the condition is fulfilled."

Book Written in 1649

"Coke Upon Littleton" referred to is a commentary by Lord Coke in 1658 on a book written by Littleton in 1649, the year Charles I was beheaded.

Sheppard's Touchstone is a book first edited by Sheppard from the writings of Mr. Justice Dodridge and entitled Touchstone, or a Plain and Familiar Treatise Opening and Learning of the Common Assurances or Conveyances of the Kingdom.

The date of Touchstone is not known definitely, but Sheppard died in 1628, three years after the death of James I. Lawyers believe Dodridge compiled his findings in the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

The appeal was heard by Messrs. Justices Laidlaw, Roach and Gibson. Earlier, Chief Justice McRuer ruled the nephews had not met the condition, and the appeal was from that decision.

Coldest Days In Past 10 Years

Peterborough's deepest frost peak of the winter at 28 degrees below zero early today was the sharpest in three years, and was almost on the level of the low record for the last decade.

James Harrison of the filtration plant, official weather recorder, quoted the coldest days through the 1940's. They are:

1943 .....30 below, Feb. 14
1945 .....29 below Jan. 6
1948 .....28 below, Feb. 10
1951 .....28 below, Feb. 9

This morning's performance in frigidity wrote itself into the Harrison book for future reference when some other winter reaches a similar divergence from the normal temperature.

Incidentally, all was forgiven Jim Harrison when the news reached Alparka bar this morning that the government weather register was 28 below.

Neighbors have been wondering for a long time about the veracity or rather the efficiency of the Harrison mercury instrument which is placed up at the filtration works.

Times have there been when somebody was suspected of being cockeyed or some other defect when hot and cold peaks in Peterborough were at odds with the sensory reaction of the public.

But, strong men from the neighborhood jobs, sipping their coffee with keener satisfaction than usual, acknowledged this morning that probably the official thermometer was about right.

So the reading in the register is:

28 below early this morning
19 below at 9 a.m.;
and high yesterday was 2 degrees below zero.

Peterborough Federation Annual Meeting Tues., Feb. 13 at Y.M.C.A.... Victoria County Council Shows Severe Sheep Loss From Roving Dogs.... Warble Fly Campaign Moving In Townships.... R. H. Graham Questions Size of Cattle.

Annual meeting of Peterborough Federation of Agriculture at the YMCA Tuesday, Feb. 13, at 8 p.m., is the main rural event of next week.

Probably the subzero wave will have spent itself by then, and several hudred men and women will be present for their collective community business! If this isn't the main rural event of the year in Peterborough county, then Federation sentiment might be regarded as lacking in the supporting spirit of interest and loyalty it deserves.

This is the business meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Ontario and Canadian Federations and it is worth recalling that Peterborough was one of the very first groups in the province to set up a unit fifteen years ago.

James Gifford, of Enismore, was the first Ontario president. The Federation has gone far since then in recruiting membership across the country, but it requires constant refreshment of enthusiasm for its cause, and new recruits to swing in behind its activities.

A big meeting Tuesday night will hearten Cecil Belyea, Ontario Federation fieldman, who will address the meeting. Election of officers, reports, prospects for the year, discussion and refreshments, that is the outline of the program.

MACHINERY OF HAYING

Cultipacker to barn drying equipment suggests the range of topic in the talk by Prof. J. R. Scott to the 60 local men at the YMCA Tuesday afternoon. He discussed the machinery grass and hay-making from seeding to storage. Even the juniors must have felt some surprize at pictures, some of them indicating the mechanical changes of the last ten years.

The horse-drawn, high-wheeled wagon with its load of hay has not become a rarity in this part of Ontario, but its number has been greatly reduced by the motor truck and tractor. It takes contrast to emphasize the settling of comparatively recent innovations into general routine of farm work.

Prof. Scott was not advocating a cash splurge in new machinery. One of this topics touched on the possibility of the co-operative arrangement of two young farmers. One had a combine, the other a hay chopper. Because each had one machine, both had two. Prof. Scott said their experiment has been paying off because they are sensible men with intelligence to draft a practical plan of machine use, set time costs and so on. At the end of the year each counted up his cost, and arrived at an equalizing settlement.

As to the cultipacker, Prof. Scott said that when sowing expensive seed "it is at this point, using an eight-foot packer, that you get the best place for economy." He had a good word to say for the tripod method of curing hay, and suggested one method by which it could be baled from the tripod.

Popularity of the forage harvester had been remarkable since 1946, Prof. Scott said, including its use in blowing chopped hay into the mow. One advantage was that it eliminated labor cost from the windrow to the barn.

LOSS TO LAMBTON SOIL

It was a sorry day for the soil of Lambton county and the adjacent district when their farmers abandoned horses for tractors, said W. P. Watson, Ontario Livestock Commissioner at the Clydesdale Club convention in Toronto.

"Soil deterioration in southwestern parts of Ontario parallels the decline in the use of horses for farm work," Mr. Watson said. "When a farmer owns horses, he must grow hay and grass crops. These crops are good for the soil. But when the tractor replaced the horse in that area, farmers planted more sugar beets, corn, tobacco and some other crops which deplete the soil and reduce its humus content."

Modern farm machinery had changed the picture of farming completely in a generation, Mr. Watson said.

"One man on a farm today can do as much work as six men in his grandfather's day. As Canada becomes increasingly industrialized as a nation, its rural population percentage will be reduced."

Decline in horse breeding was shown in the fact that only 68 foals qualified for last year's federal and provincial premiums, Mr. Watson said. These premiums were offered to encourage and improve breeding of heavy draft breeds.

✦ ✦ ✦

HEREFORD MEN FROWN ON A-1

Canadian Hereford Association defeated an artificial insemmination resolution at their convention in Toronto. Members stressed the fact that artificial breeding was not approved by the Hereford Association in the United States. That would eliminate export of breeding stock from this country, if the Canadian association adopted it.

However, the artificial method may be used by Hereford cattle farmers in their own herds if they wish to do so. Only interherd A-1 is banned. It was felt by some breeders that the artificial system might cause loss of markets for beef bulls. Permitting A-1 interherd breeding would, no doubt, reduce to a large extent the demand for good herd sires.

6,094 SHEEP RAVAGED

Victoria county council has obtained information showing that in 40 Ontario counties the total number of sheep killed or injured in 1949 by ravaging dogs and the occasional wolf was 6,094, valued at $94,498. Seventy per cent of this loss occurred in 17 counties, many of them in eastern Ontario. One of the heaviest losers was Renfrew, reporting 818 sheep killed or injured.

This problem of the sheep breeder will be discussed at a special meeting in Toronto, Feb. 20, by representatives of agricultural committees, county federations and others.

Chas. E. Moore of Smith, who recently bought foundation Hampshire sheep, remarked that the damage done by useless, roving dogs was a great discouragement to farmers. He has been without a flock for eight years.

In Eldon township, Victoria, several wolf hunts in 1948 knocked off 1 1wolves and 65 dogs that winter. Killing of sheep was reduced by two-thirds in the following year. Then, in 1949 only two wolves, and not so many dogs were killed. Sheep losses in 1950 rose to close to the 1948 level.

Talk of unwashed Canadian wool going over one dollar a pound this year was heard at the national sheep breeders' convention in Toronto last week. A year ago 50 cents was an average price.

1950 HOG MARKETINGS

Peterborough farmers marketed last year 22,458 hogs, of which 41.1 per cent graded "A," and 42 per cent graded "B1."

In the per cent of "A" hogs, Ontario county is in top place with 42.5 per cent; Halton second, 42.2; Grey third, 42.1; Peterborough is in fourth place; Bruce is next with 40.9 per cent. Waterloo and Durham tied at 40.6 per cent.

Counties of this district are listed for total marketing in 1950 with percentages of A and B1 grades.

	No.	A	B1
Hastings	60,724	35.2	45.6
Ontario	60,722	42.5	40.3
Victoria	38,014	39.6	42.5
Durham	37,278	40.6	42.2
Northum.	31,891	36.7	45.5
Peterboro	22,458	41.1	42.0
P. Edward	18,906	30.3	48.0

In the number of marketings, Perth heads the province with 155,907, of which 39.2 per cent graded A and 45.2 per cent B1.

Waterloo, Huron, Wellington, Grey, Simcoe are all in six figures in the number of pigs sent to market.

Essex, in the corn country, sold 38,494, grading 25.3 "A" and 52.8 B1. Huron, marketing 129,868 pigs, had 35.5 per cent grade "A" and 46 per cent grade B1.

The figures are quoted from the report sent out by W. E. Tummon, secretary of the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board.

✦ ✦ ✦

EXPORTED 2,608 JERSEYS

Export of Jersey cattle last year was 2,608 head. That was 308 more than in 1949, as reported at the convention of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club. Registrations totalled 14,762 as compared with 14,096 in 1949. Total sales were 12,763, up 1,359 from the 11,404 total in 1949.

James Bremmer, club secretary, said the exports went to the USA in the largest number, with others to Mexico, Central America and several South American countries.

"These export markets have replaced Australia and New Zealand whose cattle population is now 85 per cent Jersey."

✦ ✦ ✦

"ARE CATTLE TOO SMALL?"

Farmers of an almost forgotten past developed the present breeds of cattle. All this generation has done is to improve production and type by selection.

Continuing from that assertion, R. H. Graham, Toronto, assistant livestock commissioner of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, says:

"There is a saying that "half the heredity of an animal goes down its throat," and possibly it's true, yet we need to discover just where that halfway mark lies. In all our breeds, size is determined by show ring standards. By that I mean an undersize Holstein or an oversized Jersey would be given the gate at a show, and the point I am trying to make is this,—can breeds become too small to retain their efficiency? A machine's efficiency is controlled by its size or being able to do the job intended. A small horse is not a work horse, a bantam hen is not useful, and a small motor is only capable of a certain efficiency. This brings a thought to my mind regarding cows of all breeds, and it is this. Have we been developing cows that are too small to be efficient, or have we taken time to think about it? Would the selection for a bit more size in both our dairy and beef breeds not produce more milk or meat as economically or even more so than small animals?

According to check work on size, larger animals are heavier producers in our dairy breeds, and in our beef breeds the larger cows are able to swing a larger udder to produce more milk to do their own job without assistance. These statements are made to provoke serious thinking by those who are in the business. So often we hear the remark, "she's a fine beast with plenty of size," and then the opposite remark, "she isn't big enough but oh what quality." When do we get up enough courage to say to ourselves, "I'm going to select my cows to do the job I have planned for my farm, and then think for a minute, did I give them a chance to grow large enough to do the job?" I believe we have many small animals on farms not because of heredity alone but because of partial starvation during their growing years when one combines the hereditary factor of small size with the lack of feed.

WARBLE FLY MEETINGS

Forty Douro farmers attended the warble fly control meeting there last week. In below zero weather Wednesday night this week fifteen Smith men met at Bridgenorth. Dummer is expected to be the next showing control action.

✦ ✦ ✦

'LIQUIDATING' INCOMPETENT

Louis Bromfield told the Farmers' Club of Montreal this week that in spite of price parities the incompetent farmer in the United States was being "liquidated" at the rate of 100,000 to 150,000 annually. He said more had been learned about soil in the last 20 years than in the whole previous history of agriculture.

FOLK SCHOOLS

A folk school for Ontario and Durham is reported in planning. Lambton County has a school in progress. Halton has held a successful school, and Peel and Wellington Counties will soon have schools in action.

WALKS AGAIN—Five years ago, Jean Purdy, of Moose Jaw, Sask., was run over by a train and both her legs were amputated. Today, through a fund raised by Moose Jaw residents, Jean, now 24, has been fitted with artificial limbs and is shown here trying them out. She is one of the two highest amputees ever fitted at Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto, where she received treatment. Miss Purdy now plans taking a stenographic course.

GIFT FROM A QUEEN—The queen of the U.S. National Orange Show, 17-year-old Marcia Barnhard, is shown in this C.P.R. photo presenting Hon. Gaspard Fauteux, Quebec's lieutenant, with California oranges. The occasion was the opening of the Canadian Fruit Wholesalers Association convention in Quebec City. The pretty Upland, Cal., girl flew from California to attend the convention with U.S. delegates.

District Forums Debate Control Of Farm Output

Scotch Line farm forum in the Roseneath area arrived at a unanimously negative position on the broadcast question Monday night: "Should agricultural production be controlled?" Walter Gallagher presided at the meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Down. Progressive euchre in the recreational period resulted in the top prize for women going to Mrs. Clarke Sandercock, and the men's prize was won by Harold George. Dean Adams won the low score award. The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gallagher.

Woodvale Forum, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Arthur, in the same area, reached a divided decision. Thirty-three members attended. Next Monday night the meeting it at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kelly. Euchre and crokinole were played. Prizes for high scores went to Bruce Arthur and Dawson Timlin.

Opinion of Killarney Corners forum, Asphodel, was that agricultural production should not be controlled even in the prospect of farm surpluses.

To give all the people in the world an adequate diet would require vast quantities of food, far more than the farmers of the world now produce. The overriding problem was that of distribution. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Baptie were hosts. The program closed with progressive euchre and lunch. Prizes for high scores were won by Mrs. Alfred McMillan and Ross Legge; and the consolation to Mrs. Maitland Kirk and Mr. Alfred McMillan. Mr. Kirk won the lucky prize.

West Dartford forum, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nelson, felt that weather largely controls crop conditions and production in Ontario, and farm surpluses were not substantial.

In a period of international crisis, price controls should be an advantage. A further view was that price control of manufactured goods should correspond with that of farm products. Thirty-three members were present. Next Monday night the Forum meets at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Atkinson. Lunch and music closed the meeting.

Donegal Forum at Donegal School in Asphodel reported a lively debate particularly on the question of milk pooling. The affirmative was taken by Harold Van Volkenburg and Jack Brown. Their opponents were David Starke and Wilfred Buck.

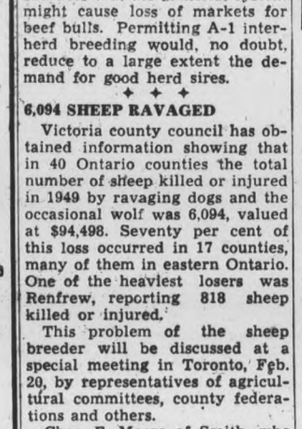
The judges, Mrs. William Barrie and Mrs. Allan Gardner, announced a tie, leaving decision in the air on the point of whether pooling would be successful.

David Starke conducted a discussion period on the control question. Bruce Davidson, program concener, led in singing. Miss Shirley Starke was at the piano. Lunch was served by Mrs. John Starke, Mrs. Arnold Stevenson, Mrs. David Starke and Mrs. H. Van Volkenburg.

Panoramas In Frost

Winter's frosted forestry appeared on window panes this week in swift and mysterious craftsmanship of cold, white beauty that in the moment mitigated the rigor of the weather.

Strange that in such handiwork, Nature resorts to its own original designs as if it had expended its highest art in their conception.



Windows became friezes of fabulous foliage that might have been copied from the roadside growth in May's returning, delicate tracery such as you see in the veins of the ferns, or the outline of their fronds, the grace and sweep of curve luring the eye off beyond the borders of the framing.

Little sketches of rolling landscape and odds and ends of straight lined fencing, so they appeared, were freely drawn with the sureness of a master hand drafting a summer scene of field and hedge. It was all charmingly fantastic in its excess of imagination and flourish or ornament.

Peaks of pines and the feathery fabric of tangled weeds along the byways of the land in its sunny seasons, they seemed so fanciful on the outer pane, as if from some fabled world, and yet so familiar in recognized forms of tapestry of spring and autumn.

Chaste as is this magic workmanship of a February night, it is a chill monotone of white. The panoramas it suggests are bleakly lifeless. No animation stirs in its woods and meadows. But, in the last months of winter it could be accepted as a promise of beauty to come again, the land made lovely by Nature's riches of coloring and all its forms and sounds of life under the warming sun.

The Never-Never land is not in the graceful curved fantasy on the outer glass, but in our own countryside, of which the scenic frost is only a bare outlined plan.

J. D. INNES, Woodstock, Ont., selected as president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada for 1951. Mr. Innes is widely known as one of the outstanding breeders and showmen in the Dominion. He is one of Canada's top judges of Holstein and acted as Chief-Inspector of Selective Registration for several years.

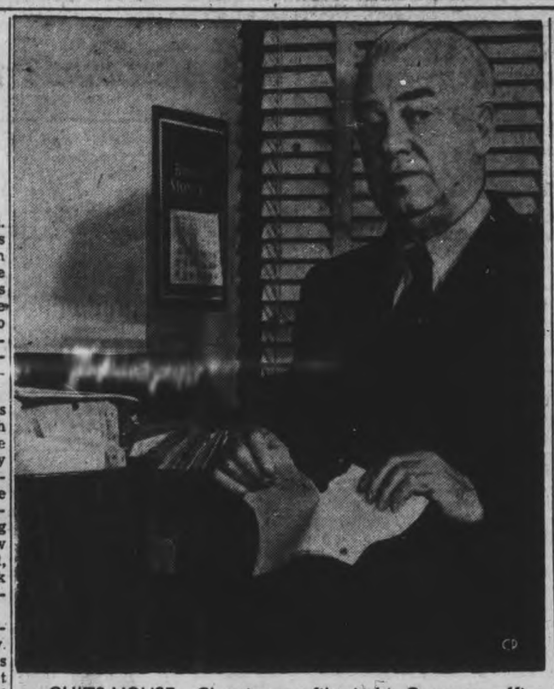
Building Plans Completed At St. George's

•Annual vestry meeting of St. George's Anglican Church was held in the church basement on Monday evening. In the absence of the rector, the meeting was presided over by The Venerable Archdeacon W. P. Robertson, who in opening the meeting with prayer paid tribute to his late colleague, Rev. William Kibblewhite.

Encouraging progress reports were presented by the church wardens as well as each of the organizations. The Penny-a-Day Fund, during its first year of operation in supplementing the building fund, far exceeded expectations. Complete working architectural plans for the new church building are now at hand, and it is hoped that actual work may be started in the not too distant future.



Archdeacon Robertson reviewed the splendid work which Rev. E. C. Moore had done during his seven years in the parish, and it was regrettable that he should have to retire on pension because of ill health. Conscious of a sincere desire to express to Rev. and Mrs. Moore its appreciation and good wishes, the meeting unanimously endorsed a resolution to take the necessary steps to fulfill this desire in a tangeable way.

Clarence Harloff was re-appointed rector's warden temporarily until a new rector is appointed: Walter Bannon was re-elected people's warden; R. G. Shouldice, clerk of the vestry; Clarence Crouter, chairman of sidesmen; Albert Cuff and Joseph Gaskell, lay delegates to synod; Walter White, envelope secretary and the planning board was re-appointed for another year.

The Rev. P. G. Powell, Port Hope, will be in charge of all services until a new rector is appointed.

Nylon Hunt On

GLASGOW, Feb. 9 (Reuters)—Police all over Britain today were seeking 10,000 pairs of nylons, stolen from Renfrew Airport near here Wednesday. The stockings, to have been flown to the United States, have a black market value of $22,400.

QUITS HOUSE—Cleaning out files in his Commons office is A. L. Smith, Progressive Conservative MP for Calgary West. Mr. Smith, 65, retired because of ill health. The Calgary lawyer, first elected in 1945, won many friends on both sides of the House with his home-spun philosophy.

Bethany WA Holds Meeting

BETHANY, Feb. 9 —(ENS)—Mrs. A. H. Ryley and Mrs. Bruce Ryley were joint hostesses for the meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church on Tuesday afternoon. The President, Mrs. A. H. Monk led the devotional exercises with Mrs. Otto Spencer reading the Scripture Lesson and Mrs. Gervin Mulligan giving the explanation. The Roll call was answered by 31 members with a thought on prayer. Mrs. Wellington Fallis reported $227.92 in the treasury. Letters of thanks were read from Mrs. Leonard Driver, Mrs. L. Millson and Mrs. H. L. Challice for gifts and cards sent during recent illness.

Mrs. T. E. Shea donated some cases for silverware. A collection of $6.95 was received. Miss Elsie Richardson gave a reading "The Legend of Bregens". Rev. James Hampson gave a very interesting interpretation of the Parable of the Pharisee and the Publican. "We should pattern our prayers after those of the Publican, in earnestness and sincerity. Too often Church members set themselves apart, or think themselves better than others. Snobbery of any kind is odious, but religious snobbery most of all. The Pharisee was strict about the letter of the law, but ignorant of the spirit. Jesus was sent into the world, not to save the righteous but to call sinners to repentance". Mrs. Clarence Rowan conducted a Bible quiz. A social hour was enjoyed at the close of the meeting. Lunch was served by the hostesses assited by Mrs. C. Page, Mrs. C. Rowan, Mrs. T. Jennings, Mrs. J. McKinnon, Mrs. C. Neals and Miss L. Thompson.

Mrs. James Hampson expressed the thanks of the members to the Ryley family for the use of their home.

Church Plans To Instal Oil Furnace

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 9 —(ENS)—St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held their annual meeting with Rev. A. E. Toombs as chairman and Eldon Carlaw, secretary.

The various reports presented indicated a successful year in all departments and were accepted collectively.

The treasurer's report showed receipts of $6,704.66 and expenditures of $6,132.64. The mission account revealed $450 sent to the church treasurer. Money raised by the WMS was $1,092.33 and the Ladies' Aid $846.76.

The following reports were given: Treasurer's by Eldon Carlaw; WMS, Mrs. W. Stephens; Mission Circle, Muriel Milne; Ladies' Aid, Mrs. J. Cowell; Seymour East Ladies' Aid, Mrs. F. T. Rutherford; Mission Band, Mrs. H. Hogle; YPS, Margaret Carlaw; U.R. Welcome Club, Mrs. A. Wallace; choir, Mrs. Black; Cradle Roll, Mrs. R. J. Locke trustees, J. C. Anderson auditors, Mrs. W. Stephens.

Managers elected were: Francis Long, Jas. McMullen and Harry Burgis. The trustees, J. C. Anderson, J. F. R. Douglas and R. N. Morrison were re-elected, as were the auditors, Mrs Ralphe Locke and Mrs Wesley Stephens.

The Board of Managers were given authority to purchase an oil-burning furnace.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Toombs for their work during the year and a substantial bonus given. The salary of the minister was increased.

WASHABLE WOOL cut into slacks and blouses, has an obvious practicality. A new process that makes wool washable also makes it color-fast.

Washable wool is used for the slacks and blouses that are so typical of California and so right for leisure hours elsewhere, too. Actress Virginia Mayo likes washable wool for ranch life. Miss Mayo wears (left) Carol Caldwell's washable red-and-navy wool sailing suit with boxy middy blouse and knee-length pants. The blouse, which slips over the head, has large, boxy pockets. Neckline is made adjustable by a zipper closing.

Washable gray flannel slacks and gold jersey blouse worn (right) by Miss Mayo are neatly tailored. Slacks nip in at the waist, button sailor-fashion. Blouse buttons from waist to high neck, has sleeves with easy cut.

Provincial Girls Turn Icy Glances On London Styles

By MURIEL NARRAWAY.

LONDON (CP).—North country buyers visiting London spring fashion shows took one look at the new tight skirt-line in woollen suits and predicted it wouldn't go down well back home.

The women in the north of England and Scotland like ease in clothes. They demand pleats in both suits and dresses and the most popular designs are plain, classic styles.

They also favor designs that will not date easily.

"London girls like to look smart and provincial girls prefer to look pretty," one fashion writer summed it up.

Lionel Appleby, sales manager of a London firm selling tailors "dummies," thinks there is a reason for the provincial sales resistance to slim skirts. He blames it on a larger hipline.

Birmingham tailors, for instance, ask for a 36½-inch hipline on a dummy with a 34-inch bust. In London, Brighton and the south of England girls are closer to the North American figure—a 34½-inch hip and a 34-inch bust.

No Insult Intended

"I don't want to insult the ladies," said Appleby, "but the dummies we sell to firms manufacturing for the provinces have to be wider around the hips and bust than those sold to the London trade. There's a bigger trade in outsizes, also."

Manufacturers find a considerable resistance outside London to the new trumpet skirt line. They blame buyers for playing safe and sticking to "bread-and-butter" lines.

In reply, one north country buyer said: "fashion changes in clothes must come gradually. Today's clothes prices are too expensive for any violent fashion revolution. The trumpet line can be difficult to wear unless the flare is placed in exactly the right spot."

Buyers realize, however, that sooner or later, as long as wool prices remain high, the slim skirts must also reach the provinces. They predict that, when this happens, the most popular choice will be the tube look.

Plain straight skirts with a slight cross-over or those with one inverted or a deep knife pleat will get a far warmer reception than the knee-hugging hobble or the godet flare.

CGIT Doings

ST. PAUL'S

The meeting was opened with a prayer, after which the scripture was read by Elizabeth Green. During the business part the girls were reminded to attend the CGIT service Sunday night at Murray St. Church. Delivers Paper For 25 Years

PORT ARTHUR — (CP) — The cry, "here comes the paper girl", has been true for 25 years in Port Arthur.

That record is owned by Doris Fenn, veteran Port Arthur News-Chronicle carrier who started the work usually reserved for boys when she was a high school studnt in 1919. Actually, she tried to get the route for her brother but obtained it herself and had his help in the job.

Illness cut short her start but in 1924, she came back permanently. She was graduated from business school in the depression years and kept the paper route as a result.

Miss Fenn says she has never missed a delivery since 1924 and plans to go on "as long as I can." Most of her customers are "wonderful" but there's the occasional one who thinks she's come on a visit and tries to detain her for small-talk.

Ellis-Pearson

The wedding took place at the George St. United Church parsonage, Saturday, of Lois Muriel, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pearson, North Smith, and James Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ellis, Marmora. The Rev. A. A. Mathews officiated.

The bride wore a light blue wool gabardine suit, navy hat and accessories. The corsage was of red roses and 'mums.

Bridesmaid Miss Myla Pearson, sister of the bride, was attired in a rust wool gabardine suit. Her accessories and gloves were also navy, and she wore a corsage of 'mums.

Mr. Bruce Goodfellow, of Toronto, was groomsman.

The couple left shortly after the ceremony to spend their honeymoon in Toronto and Buffalo, N.Y. On their return they will live at 495 Cross St.

DOROTHY DIX

Useless Arguing So Often Breaks Homes And Hearts

DEAR MISS DIX: Don't you believe that half the trouble in the world comes from talk? Don't you think silence would avert many a tragedy and save many a divorce?

Dorothy Dix

Do you remember the old story of the bride who consulted a wise woman about how to live in peace with her husband and was given a magic pebble to hold in her mouth whenever a quarrel started? The talisman was so successful that the bride returned to the soothsayer begging to buy the pebble, only to be told that it was just an ordinary pebble and its virtue consisted in the fact that she could not talk while she held it in her mouth, and so all arguments between herself and her husband died a natural death. Why talk about unpleasant things which can't be remedied?

PEACE LOVER.

ANSWER: You are quite right in saying that talk stirs up more trouble, brings on more wars, wrecks more homes and breaks more hearts than any other one thing in the world. The tongue is a far more lethal weapon than the sword.

Of course, I know reciting their tales of woe is the chief indoor sport of a lot of people, especially women, who get a kick out of proclaiming their secret sorrows to the world. Why, one wonders, since talk is no remedy for trouble. It only depresses the unhappy listener and makes his or her own burden harder to bear.

First Aid to Divorce

It is also only too true that talk is first aid to divorce, and that what we need more than anything else in the world is a supply of pebbles for the use of arguing husbands and wives. For it is when a married couple start in to debate some subject on which they do not agree that one word leads on to another until they say the things that they cannot forgive and that kill love.

It is literally true that it takes two to make a quarrel, and any husband and any wife could stop a family fight in its first round by a little judicious use of silence. Thousands of homes could be saved from wreckage, thousands of children could be saved the misery of being brought up in turbulent households if only husbands and wives wouldn't give each other backtalk.

Certainly in this restless, noise-ridden age a lot is to be said for silence. No people are more popular than those who are listeners instead of talkers, and no friends are so congenial as those with whom we can spend hours without a word being said.

DEAR MISS DIX: My sister, aged 40, has come to make her home with us. We do not expect her to pay board, but what is driving us to distraction is that day after day she sits at home, so that my husband feels as if he was married to both of us. She won't even go out of the house for an hour or two. She makes no attempt to get work, though she could find some sort of job if she tried. She is just satisfied to let us support her. It is getting so I hate the sight of her, simply because we see too much of one another. We don't mind providing for her as much as having her always under foot. What must we do? A. B. C.

ANSWER: There is nothing you can do except to tell her frankly that two is company and three is a crowd, in a home as elsewhere, and help her to establish herself in some other place. But that is no easy task. For it is difficult to tell one you are fond of and sorry for that she is a nuisance around the house and that you would love her so much better if only you didn't have to see her and listen to her every day.

There is no more difficult problem to solve than that of parasitic relatives, because once they attach themselves to you it is impossible to dislodge them without not only making enemies of them, but causing everybody to think you are heartless and cruel. They can never see why you object to supporting them, because, as they aver, they take up so little space and there was nobody in your spare room, and they eat so little you would never miss it.

And it never occurs to them that you want your house to yourself and that you and your husband enjoy being together.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am in love with and am considering marrying a girl who has had a hectic past. She has had six affairs with that many different men. Three of the men she expected to marry, but they jilted her. She says she has no regrets for her experiences. I am no angel myself, but do you think I will be safe in trusting such a girl for the future? STUMPED

ANSWER: There is nothing to be stumped about in the situation. A woman may, through the stress of passion or circumstances, step off of the strait and narrow road and win her way back with repentance and tears. You may trust her never to sin again, but not the woman who has taken many excursions down the primrose path and who regards them as mere episodes.

Doesn't Like Glamor Boys

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9 (AP) — You can have the handsome Harrys, says starlet Joyce Holden. She'll take the plain Sams.

A comely blonde with better-than-average intelligence, she has been dated by a number of the Hollywood glamor boys and has come to this conclusion:

"I've discovered, though there may be a few exceptions, that the pretty boys never have character and the unattractive ones on the outside are really handsome on the inside." And it's character that counts with Joyce.

She argues that the handsome boys are "spoiled brats" who have been convinced by "a few dumb dames" that all they have to do is "look sexy" and girls will deluge them.

"Women of today are not looking for Frankenstein's monsters, but they consider good looks definitely second string to good sense."

Capsule Reviews

"Call Me Mister" is another of those Betty Grable-Dan Dailey musicals which will delight audiences and baffle critics. Like its predecessors, it is weak on plot and heavy on production numbers. The two principals are as glittering as ever, playing army entertainers in occupied Japan.

"Vengeance Valley" is several cuts above the usual western epic. It is no "Red River" or "Stagecoach," but it offers a strong plot and some excellent scenery and action.

Valentine Party For Fathers

Mothers' Auxiliary of the Baby Band of Trinity United Church held the annual entertainment for the fathers in the form of a Valentine party at the Kawartha Country Club Wednesday evening. About 70 couples enjoyed this event which was co-convened by Mrs. J. T. Stewart and Mrs. H. Gibbons. Their committee workers, Mrs. L. J. Calvert, Mrs. Donald Aitken, Mrs. Donald Clarke, Mrs. Morton Knox, Mrs. Gordon Harrison and Mrs. J. Lillico decorated the room very effectively with hearts and cupids outlined with silver streamers. Prizes for the novelty games were Valentine boxes of home-made candy, won by Mrs. Ross Jamieson, Mrs. Wm. Taylor, Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. G. Thompson and Mrs. D. Aitken. The door prize was a cake, decorated with Valentine symbols and placed in a red container, and this went to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Edmonson. The cake was made by Mrs. Clarke and Mrs. Lillico. A buffet lunch was served by the committee in charge. The Rev. Dr. D. B. Gordon, minister of the church, joined the party and assisted Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Gibbons, Mrs. Clarke and Mrs. Harrison in making everyone welcome.

SPRING FAVORITES—Fashioned for spring, this grey sheer wool dress features a wide fold-panel down the centre of the skirt. The narrow shawl collar is edged with black braid and sleeves are cut in one with bodice. Black gloves and belt add decorative touch.

Canada's Women Behind In Holding Public Office

TORONTO, Feb. 9. — Canada lags behind every other country, even Turkey and India, in the percentage of women holding public office, was one of the facts brought out by a panel of distinguished women discussing the subject, Canadian Women in Public Life, at a University Women's Club dinner.

Reasons given for Canada being at the bottom of the list were varied. Women soothe their consciences as far as public duties are concerned by doing little bits of volunteer work; their thinking in social matters is conventional, stereotyped and mid-Victorian, it was claimed.

A third reason is the antagonism of men who view with alarm women coming into public life to sit on the same boards and public bodies with the men.

It was pointed out that women receive a special training for public office in running women's organizatins, many of which are national in scope and many of which are primarily interested in social and deucational progress.

The exclusion of women from public office, and women hold less than one per cent of such offices in Canada, makes for a needless impoverishment of public life in Canada, the speakers felt. This is a definite loss to the country when there are many capable and trained women available to help carry the responsibilities of social prgress and development.

The panel was made up of women prominent in various fields: Mrs. J. L. Savage, OBE, National President of the YWCA; Mrs. T. Campbell Newman, a member of the Toronto Board of Education; Miss Aileen Noonan, who holds an honorary degree from Western University in recognition of her services in public affairs, and Mrs. W. H. Clarke, partner in the Clarke Irwin Publishing Co.

keep him posted on their whereabouts. None were shot last year despite the open season.

The Thues for the last three years have fed 30 or 40 prairie chickens twice a day as well as Hungarian partridge. There's a pigeon called "Chippy" living with the domestic chickens. He (or she) has been there ever since Mrs. Thue chopped him out of the side of the well one winter day two years ago and thawed him out behind the kitchen stove.

Rural Women Try To Improve Country Fairs

TORONTO, Feb. 9.—Nearly 300 rural women from all parts of the province, members of the women's division of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies, spent a busy day yesterday with reports, craft demonstfations and exhibits at their annual meeting at the King Edward Hotel. Delegates represented 249 societies in 15 districts of the province.

"You are here with one common purpose, the desire to learn somethting with which to improve the various departments of our fairs," said Miss Ina Hodgins, Carp, president.

"We must always keep in mind the objectives of the women's section, to raise standards and teach standards for individual products, to encourage a love for the beoutiful, to establish new and improved practices and to add new classes related to the specific needs of the times," said the president.

Noting that there is a tendency to follow on long established lines Miss Hodgins told the women not to be afraid of trying something new. "What was impossible last year may be all right now," she said. Directors would do well to consider whether or not their fair is a real community organization, whether it reaches directly into every home in the community, whether it utilizes to the full the talents of the community.

Referring to the growth of the women's division, Miss Hodgins said, "From a very small beginning we have advanced in the last 15 years to a point where our influence is without doubt a real factor in the agricultural life of Ontario."

"Fall fairs are the lifeblood of our country, because they stem from Canada's basic industry, agriculture, and were it not for the women, fall fairs would not be worth a hoot," said Mrs. H. M. Aitken.

"You women hald in the hollow of your hand, not only the agriculture, but the culture of this country," said the speaker.

Nature Lover Assists Sick Pheasants

LANGHAM, Sask. (CP). — A kind-hearted nature lover, Mrs. Olive Thue, took in 15 sickly hatchery pheasants last summer and expects to be caring for a flock of healthy young birds this year.

Mrs. Thue got the ring-necked pheasants from the Beaver Creek provincial hatchery when the birds were to be destroyed as unlikely to survive against predators when turned loose.

In her "infirmary," she's nursed the birds to maturity and their chance of reproducing healthy offspring is assured. All were born of sound strain but developed gimpy legs, wings or other physical deformities.

Mr. Thue has given up hunting and is becoming chief assistant in the infimary, a low structure that's provided warmth all winter for the birds. He bought 25 ring-necked pheasants from the hatchery last spring at 50 cents apiece and looked after them until they were old enough to fend for themselves.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Shrimp Curry With Rice Gives Class To A Meal

Fish in almost any form is one of my favorite foods. And when I say almost any form I include periwinkles — for these I ate, poached in sherry, in a famous New York fish house. (P.S. I sort of liked it.)

But there are those who can take it or leave it—many, unfortunately, first leave it. And then mutter vaguely something or other about bones.

There are so many varieties of fish that come in filleted form these days and that were even born without any bones—that you never see a bone in a week of Fridays!

The fish I am thinking of right now comes in a can. It's a fine treat too and may be used all the way from first course to salad course. I refer, of course, to the shrimp—the curly coral little morsel so delicate in flavor and tint that is gives any meal a dash of "class."

✧ ✧ ✧

Shrimp Curry with Rice

(Canned salmon may be used in place of shrimps in this recipe.)

Four tablespoons each flour, butter or margarine and finely chopped onion, 2 cups chicken stock or hot water or consomme, 1 tablespoon curry powder, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 2 cups drained shrimps (or salmon, tuna, chicken or lamb). Saute the onion in the butter until transparent, then stir in the flour until blended, and stir in the liquid. (If hot water is used it should be seasoned with 1 teaspoon MSG or a chicken or bouillion cube.) Add the curry powder, lemon juice and shrimps, and heat through without stirring too vigorously.

At its best this is served in a ring of boiled rice which has been cooked and then moulded in a ring mould. The traditional accompaniment to this is bottled chutney. A good vegetable is canned or frozen baby limas.

✧ ✧ ✧

Shrimp Wiggle

(In some sections of British Columbia and Alberta where shrimps are commonly found "out of cans" fresh from the Pacific this dish is a common favorite.)

Tomato Sauce: Two cups canned or cut up fresh tomatoes, 2 slices onion, ½ clove garlic if desired, 1 bayleaf, 1 clove, 3 tablespoons each flour and butter, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1½ to 3 teaspoons sugar. Cook together the tomatoes, onions, bayleaf and cloves for 15 minutes then rub through sieve. Melt the butter, add the flour and stir until blended, then stir the strained tomato into it stirring. Add the pepper, salt and sugar. To this tomato sauce add 1 cup cut up shrimps, 1 cup cold cooked rice, 1 cup cooked or canned peas (drained), ¾ cup cut celery, 4 slices crisp cooked bacon are optional. This is heated through in top of double boiler for about 15 minutes to soften the celery a little. Serve on puff pastry patties or toast points.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"He sassed a cop who was giving me a traffic ticket!"

What's Right

You know that your child, among others, is making life hard for a child outside his group.

WRONG: Figure that children are just naturally cruel and do nothing about the matter.

RIGHT: Try to make your child see the situation from the point of view of the child who is being "picked on."

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Salad Or Jelly Lovely For ValentineDay

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 — (CP) — Come St. Valentine's Day and the sentimentalist will pepper his sugar with such verses as:

"Among the dearest treasures
Recorded in my heart,
The happiness you've brought to me
Stand precious and apart."

Whereas the prankster will be dishing out such peppery items as this one:

"I'm carrying a torch for you—
Yeah—a blowtorch."

And these, says a greeting card company spokesman, will set the the spirit of Feb. 14, 1951.

While the old-fashioned Valentine has been slipped into modern dress, this year there is a repetitive appearance of lace and flowery backs, all focusing attention on a heart of puffed silk.

Direct Approach

Then there's the sender who believes in the direct approach method. He might send a heart with this verse:

"If you should want a Valentine and haven't one selected?
I thought I'd sorta mention I'm alone and unprotected."

And for sheer corn you can't beat stuff like this, which will be flooding the mails:

"Wish we were on a tropic isle
Because the whole day long
We two could be by ourselves—
Now would that be sarong?"

Anyway Valentine's Day will be fun for both grown-ups and youngsters. Several of the stores this year will have materials and envelopes on hand for the kiddies to make their own cards. Directions are easy to follow and in no time at all attractive juvenile Valentines are ready for mailing.

Party Food

Planning a Valentine party? There are all kinds of place-cards and tallies you can buy for the all-important luncheon-table.

Strawberry jelly and whipped cream, served with small heart-shaped cookies, is an ideal Valentine dessert.

On the other hand frozen salad served with rolls or bread and butter, and coffee, should be ideal for an afternoon bridge or late evening snack.

Frozen Fruit Salad

Ingredients: One cup stiff mayonnaise; three cups stiffly whipped cream; one teaspoon gelatine (dissolved in two tablespoons boiling water); three cups diced pineapple or bananas.

Combine the whipped cream and mayonnaise, add gelatine and fruit. Place in mold and put in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves with mayonnaise or fruit dressing.

Ingredients for fruit dressing: one-quarter cup pineapple; one-quarter cup lemon juice; two eggs; one cup whipped cream; one-quarter cup sugar.

Beat two eggs, add sugar, pineapple and lemon juice. Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly until thickened, then set aside to cool. Whip the cream and fold into the mixture just before serving.

Good Days

writes A.L., of Ottawa. "An egg at one cent has exactly the same food value, no more or less, as one at five cents. So-called private enterprise is providing no competition. All bakers, barbers and other suppliers agree among themselves on the fixed price that will prevail in that area. The only visible competition is that of a cent or two on the small retail level and has no relation to costs as a whole."

Constant Puzzle

"It is a constant puzzle to me who are the people who can make the down payment of hundreds of dollars for automobiles, who buys all the refrigerators, electrical stoves, furniture, furs, jewellery," writes R.B.S., of Vancouver. "Obviously a large public must do so or else the advertising space would be pure waste. When I see properties being bought for $25,000 to $50,000 and more, automobiles at $3,000 and hotel accommodation at $15 to $25 a day, I marvel at who is able to make these expenses. There is evidently a pot of gold at the foot of some rainbow, but it is one that has never appeared to my sight or to that of millions of others. Economics is a great study if you can bear the strain."

"It sounds selfish, but I think the worse effect of today's prices is what it does to take the fun out of life," writes Mrs. W. H. M., of Ottawa. "The zest for living has disappeared from the eyes of many of our friends and they have become resigned to living by routine. Some of us go to ridiculous lengths to find outside interests. My husband, for example, joined the reserve battalion of the unit with which he served overseas. For patriotic reasons? No. For entertainment!"

Assistant Chief

MONTREAL, Feb. 9 (CP) — Edwin P. Stemshorn has been appointed assistant chief of car equipment of the Canadian National Railways system with headquarters at Montreal, it was announced here Thursday night. He succeeds George E. McCoy, who has retired.

Urges Gov't Freeze Of Newsprint Supply

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—A newspaper publisher Thursday proposed a government freeze of newsprint supplies to protect weekly and small daily newspapers from supply diversions and black marketeering.

The proposal was made by Charles E. Moreau, of Bloomfield, N.J., publisher of five New Jersey weeklies and chairman of the National Editorial Association Newsprint Committee. He did not advocate rationing.

Moreau testified that jobbers are advertising scarce newsprint at "black market prices," that mills are cutting shipments to customers between 10 and 40 per cent, and that in one instance an interest has been bought in a big mill by a large daily newspaper requiring larger newsprint supplies.

Drama Adjudicator Praises N.B. Author

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Feb. 9 (CP)—The author of a New Brunswick-written play and its cast received warm praise Thursday night from Adjudicator Robert G. Newton in the New Brunswick regional drama festival.

Presented by the Anglin Players of St. Stephen, the three-act psychological drama, "None So Blind," was written by Donald Murray, formerly of St. Stephen and now a teacher at Sackville. His wife, who won the best actress award in last year's regional festival, had a prominent role in the play.

Mr. Newton termed the presentation "very impressive and very well played."

The festival opened Thursday night with one play and four more will be seen before it ends Saturday night.

Oleo Here To Stay

REGINA, Feb. 9 (CP)—Gordon Loveridge of Grenfall, Sask., president of the Saskatchewan Dairy Association said Thursday in an address that butter substitutes are "here to stay." Mr. Loveridge said that "while my views may be in the minority among dairymen, I believe we should concentrate on selling dairy products instead of trying to have margarine banned."

Teach Leadership

MONTREAL, Feb. 9 (CP)—Vic Obeck, director of athletics at McGill University, Thursday said that health is a secondary aspect of sports. They should teach youth the value of leadership, self-sacrifice and discipline for the good of the team. Obeck was addressing the annual meeting of the Montreal Parks and Playgrounds Association.

Testing Rain

VANCOUVER, Feb. 9 (CP) — The physics department at the University of British Columbia Thursday is testing rain for radioactivity. The tests follow a test Tuesday which showed harmless radioactivity in snow. Dr. Gordon Shrum, physics department head, said the radioactive dust apparently was carried over Vancouver from the Nevada atomic explosions.

Reinforcements Ready-Claxton

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 — (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton said Thursday reinforcements can be flown to Korea in 48 hours and said there are plenty of them available to support Canada's Korean battalion when it goes into action.

He was answering question in the Commons from Howard Green (PC, Vancouver Quadra) and Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (PC, Nanaimo).

Mr. Green drew attention to a Canadian Press report from Korea that the 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Intfantry has been notified it will get 80 reinforcements a month.

Mr. Claxton said ample reinforcements are available among the special force men at Fort Lewis, Wash. Close to Fort Lewis was the RCAF's 426 Transport Squadron which had already flown thousands of American troops to Japan.

There would be no difficulty in getting the men to Korea in 48 hours if necessary. There would be ample reinforcements provided the Patricias.

Defection Spreads

BOLOGNA, Italy, Feb. 9 — (Reuters) — Defection in the Italian Communist party spread today with the resignation of Sarti Vignoli, professor of sculpture at the Bologna Academy of Fine Art, and the mayors of two small towns. Vignoli, who was awarded a gold medal for sculpture at the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin, resigned after a party meeting had criticized him. He had refused to endorse a resolution branding Aldo Cucchi, one of the two Communist members of parliament who broke with the party recently, as a "traitor."

Breaks Down Body

WINNIPEG, Feb. 9 (CP) — There is enough potassium in the human body to fire a toy cannon and only enough sulphur to rid one dog of his fleas. H. H. Adkins of Milwaukee, Wis., estimating the value of the human body for delegates attending the annual meeting of a drug firm, said the body's mineral worth is 98 cents. He said there is enough water to fill a small keg; sufficient fat for six bars of soap; enough iron for seven nails; enough sugar for one shakerful, enough lime to do one chicken coop; and sufficient phosphorus for 1,000 matches.

House Hears New Call Cut Inflation

St. Laurent Promises Constant Review On Home Building

OTTAWA, Feb. 10. (CP) — The Commons ended its second week of Throne-Speech debating Friday and heard a repeat call from Opposition members for action to halting the rising cost of living.

The only reaction on the government side came from Agriculture Minister Gardiner, who told the Chamber the country could not have prosperity without high prices and high wages. A drop in prices and wages would mean only that a depression was on the way.

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC-Hamilton West), the Chamber's only woman member and her party's chief labor specialist, said the government already has contributed to high prices and inflation by its recent action in curtailing the size of loans for individual home-building.

This step, coupled with the approaching abandonment of Federal rent ceilings, would increase rentals.

Other speakers included H. O. White (PC—Middlesex East), Hector Dupuis (Ind.-L-Montreal St. Mary) and Julian Ferguson (PC-Simcoe North).

Won't Revise Law

In the opening stages, Labor Minister Gregg said the government will not revise a recent restriction on the payment of unemployment insurance to married women.

Immigration minister Harris promised to table French documents dealing with a re-trial in France for Count Jacques de Bernonville, French nobleman who has been ordered deported from this country and faces a death sentence in his homeland.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said loans for individual home building, recently reduced, will be kept "constantly under review" on the principle that housing is to receive highest priority next to defence construction.

In the throne-speech debate, Mr. Gardiner took issue with those who suggested the farmer did not get his fair share of the prices the consumer paid for foodstuffs.

That might be so, he said, but the farmer today was getting "a very much larger hunk than he ever got before." It also was true, of course, that he had to pay more for the things that he himself had to buy.

Must Have Higher Wages

"The only way to get greater spending power," he said, "is by having higher prices and higher wages."

Mr. Gardiner also disclosed that the government "probably" would impose controls on the import of butter into Canada, if it should be needed in future years.

Mrs. Fairclough suggested the government's move to reduce housing loans conflicted with proposals for increased defence production since defence work-

Kimpo Airfield Entered Also; Smash Chinese Line

TOKYO, Feb. 10 (AP).—Allied troops captured Kimpo airfield, Inchon port and the industrial city of Yongdungpo on the outskirts of Seoul today without firing a shot.

A South Korean patrol probed into Seoul, the old Korean capital that was given up to Chinese Communist troops Jan. 4. All the conquests were in blackened ruins of previous give-and-take fighting.

Troops of the United States 25th Division led the drive into Seoul's industrial suburb and 15 miles northwest to the big Kimpo airfield.

Then, with American and British tanks supporting the footsloggers, they pushed northwest along the Seoul-Inchon corridor.

Troops of a 25th Division reconnaisance company with light tanks entered destroyed Port Inchon on the Yellow Sea shore after a 25-mile dash from the southeast.

The column rumbled into the port city shortly after 3 a.m. EST.

Big guns of the battleship Missouri protected the task force on its dash into Inchon.

Perimeter Collapses

The Communists' entire western defence perimeter had collapsed under the day-after-day pounding of Allied tank-infantry smashes, air blitzes and naval bombardment.

Allied planes roared back into the fight in clearing weather after a day on the ground Friday. The planes caught 1,000 Reds in a bend of the Han River southeast of Seoul and raked them with machine-gun bullets and fire-bombs.

The Reds were trying to flee across the frozen Han.

With the battleship Missouri, were the U.S. cruiser St. Paul and the British cruiser Belfast in the Yellow Sea bombardment force.

AP correspondent Jim Becker said a small arms fight blazed in the southern outskirts of Seoul as a South Korean patrol attached to the 25th Division entered the southern gate of the old capital at 10:30 a.m. (8:30 p.m., EST, Friday).

A company of Chinese troops tried to stop the South Korean patrol.

From a half-dozen points, howitzer and tank shells crumped into the wrecked Korean capital.

Big Day For Allies

It was a big day for the Allies. The Communists were pulling back in the west toward the old Parallel 38 border, 28 miles north of Seoul.

The Chinese and North Koreans chose the rugged hill country far east of Seoul for their main line of defence.

There was bitter hand-to-hand fighting in this sector with both sides taking a few of the hills.

In the west, Allied artillery plastered Seoul with the heaviest barrage thrown against the enemy since the Allied "limited" offensive began Jan. 25.

Correspondent Becker went into blackened Yongdungpo with the 25th Division. He said the suburb of a normal 30,000 inhabitants was almost deserted as the first American patrols swept in at 9.30 a.m., (7.30 p.m., EST, Friday).

Twenty Chinese fled across the icy marshes. American doughboys captured three.

A regiment commanded by Lt.-Col. Gerald Kelleher pulled up at the snowy banks of the Han river opposite Seoul. An Eighth Army Headquarters source said Kelleher's men found no Red troops in the area.

Go Through Minefields

Advancing troops of the U.S. 25th and 3rd Division and British forces, picked their way ahead through minefields. The absence of enemy troops in this western sector showed the punishment inflicted in 16 days of the allied "limited" offensive. More than 60,000 Reds have been killed, wounded or captured.

East of Seoul, American, Greek, Turkish and South Korean troops slammed into stiffening Red resistance, especially northwest of Ichon and north of Hoensong.

Their hardest fight came on the north side of the road leading into Hongchon, an important road junction believed to be the headquarters of the North Korean fifth corps.

An estimated enemy battalion was attacked by allied forces there and dominating ground was captured.

AP correspondent John Randolph said the attack was a part of a fan-like advance east, north and west of Hoengsong, the pivot point of the American 10th corps front.

Hand-to-Hand Fighting

There was hand-to-hand fighting in some sectors around Hoengsong. All allied columns in the area reported enemy contact but small gains were chalked up by all units.

East of Hoengsong two allied columns moved north and southeast of Saemal, six miles northeast of Hoengsong. The northern column reported light resistance and small gains. In the same area planes spotted about 2,000 enemy

Hoover Asks Sea, Air Power Stressed

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—(AP)—Herbert Hoover, former Republican president, declaring that air and sea might are America's best weapons against aggression, said Friday night that land war against Russia would risk "the loss of all civilization."

He urged a period of watchful waiting for evidence of Europe's unity and military strength before sending more ground troops there.

Hoover said that instead of committing land armies abroad, the United States should build "overwhelming air and naval power" for use against Russia if she attacks Europe.

"A land offensive against the Communists," he said, "could bring no military victory, no political conclusion". It could bring catastrophe to America, he added, "with no salvation to Europe."

Urges Top Production

In his second major foreign policy speech in recent weeks, Hoover urged emphasis on production of planes, ships and munitions and sending of supplies to countries "doing their utmost to defend themselves."

He proposed that Chiang Kai-shek be freed "to do what he wishes to China" and that the United States "furnish him with munitions."

His address carried nationally over the mutual broadcasting system network, seemed to modify somewhat his widely debated "Gibraltar' speech of six weeks ago.

But the 76-year-old Hoover in no way repudiated his basic thesis that the United States should strengthen itself, and its ocean perimeters as the safest means of averting disaster.

He said, however, that "we should be prepared to make heavy sacrifices' to help free countries.

Instead of great armies, he maintained that air and naval power, "if large enough, is Europe's real protection."

"If the Europeans are attacked," he said, "we should be prepared and use such overwhelming air and naval power to the limit and keep it up until they (the Russians) have had enough."

British Ports Crippled By Walkout

152 Ships Left Idle With Vital Cargoes, 20,000 Dockers Off

LONDON, Feb. 10. (Reuters) — A country-wide wildcat strike threatened to cripple Britain's ports today when 20,000 dock workers stayed off the job.

More than 152 ships were idle in London, Liverpool, Birkenhead and Manchester docks, most with vital cargoes waiting to be unloaded.

Ten thousand were on strike in London after seven strike leaders were taken to court Friday and charged with incitement.

The strike, which started in northwestern ports last weekend, drew only 450 supporters in London at first. They had decided to go back to work when the seven leaders were arrested.

The original strike demand—for an extra four shillings (60 cents) a day—was pushed into the background. The Daily Worker, official newspaper of the Communist party, told dockers today the arrests were "a conspiracy of the government, the Tories and the capitalist press against the workers."

Strike leaders were holding meetings in an effort to bring out all London's 25,000 dock workers. But many wharves were still working.

The stoppage was officially denounced by the 1,500,000-strong transport workers union. Its secretary, Arthur Deakin, said Communist "saboteurs" were responsible for a move to create nationwide industrial unrest.

Seventy ships were unmanned in London, 64 in Liverpool and Birkenhead, and 18 in Manchester. Another 43 were understaffed. But 68 ships in all four ports were still being unloaded.

The seven strike leaders were arrested under a wartime regulation which lays down that 21 days' notice must be given before a strike starts. They were remanded on bail until Feb. 20.

The cabinet may consider drafting soldiers into the docks if the stoppage continues.

Charge Controls Interfere With Autonomy

TORONTO, Feb. 10 —(CP)—A charge that municipalities had lost autonomy because of provincial controls over local financial affairs was made in the legislature Friday by Gordon Ellis (CCF—Essex North).

The statement was hotly denied by Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar during debate on a government bill affecting sale of industrial property by municipalities.

The bill, designed to assure that money from such sales should be used to reduce any debts on the land, was approved in principle.

The legislation was ridiculous, Mr. Ellis said. The government was "trying to keep our municipalities from having a windfall."

Take Away Powers

"Municipalities should not be required to pay every nickel for debt reduction," he added. Controls by the municipal affairs department had taken self-governing powers from communities.

Municipalities were as free as they ever were, Mr. Dunbar replied. The bill only attempted to ensure that communities would use money from the sale of industrial sites to repay debentures issued when the land was first purchased, and prevent them from using it to reduce taxes.

He denied that present provincial grants for police and fire departments constituted an invasion of municipal autonomy, as sug-

So Busy Kissing Women Two Bandits Miss $8,000

MONTREAL, Feb. 10. (CP)—Two bandits stole $4,000 from a bank and kisses from two of its female customers here Friday. The armed men with an eye to mixing robbery and romance entered the Rosemount branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale shortly before 10 a.m.

And it turned out, their romantic inclinations were fairly costly, since they were so busy collecting kisses they neglected to search the bank carefully and so missed $8,000.

Today's was the second bank holdup in as many days. The Bank of Nova Scotia branch at Peel and St. Catharine Sts.—one of Montreal's busiest mid-town intersections—was robbed of $1,-474 by a lone gunman Thursday.

At the Banque Canadienne Nationale the bandits entered about 10:20 a.m. with drawn guns. No shots were fired, but they told the staff and customers to line up at the back of the building and then go into the cellar.

Before all the customers reached the basement they were stopped and each of the robbers forced one of the women in line to surrender a kiss at gunpoint.

The bandits then made their getaway in a car in which it was believed a third man was waiting.

The customers and staff remained in the basement for about 15 minutes before calling the police.

Plan To Purge Ghosts On Lists

LONDON, Feb. 10—(Reuters)—Ghosts are worrying Britain's health ministry, which is starting a drive to exorcise them from the National Health Scheme.

The ghosts are patients who never visit their doctors at all.

They never show up at the surgeries because they are dead, moved, enlisted or emigrated.

But the doctors get paid so much a head for them just the same because they have not been struck from the lists—as far as the doctors are concerned, the names are just names.

It is believed now that between five and 10 per cent. of patients on doctor's lists are ghost patients.

The doctors are not to blame. Under the present system they cannot tell which of their patients are just names and which are the real thing.

A new system is being prepared which will "purge" the lists.

15-Year Meat Pact For UK And Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 10—(Reuters)—A 15-year meat agreement between Australia and Britain, to make Australia one of the biggest meat-producing areas in the world, will be signed shortly, Commerce Minister John McEwen, announced today.

McEwen said the main point would be a guarantee by Britain to buy Australia's entire surplus of beef, lamb and mutton.

On this basis, Australian cattle and sheep raising is to be expanded considerably and vast tracts or virgin land are to be opened up for cattle farming with the help of Britsih capital.

McEwen said the agreement will provide a fixed floor price. Selling prices would be reviewed every year.

Frozen Woman Amazes Doctors

CHICAGO, Feb. 10—(AP)—Chicago's "frozen woman" is making an "astounding recovery," a physician said today, in a case that is making medical history.

The woman, Mrs. Dorothy Mae Stevens, 23, appeared gaining today—two days after she was brought to hospital with a temperature of 64 degrees, the lowest in the history of medicine. She was found frozen stiff in a south side passageway. Medical records show no human with a temperature that low ever survived.

Medical authorities had expressed little hope for her recovery and said that if she survived her limbs and arms might have to be amputated.

But Dr. Harold Laufman, staff surgeon, said "it appears now that Mrs. Stevens will keep her limbs. Even now she is able to move all her fingers and toes individually and collectively. She will shed skin, however, but that can be restored through skin graft. She has made an astounding recovery."

Reason For Explosion

ST. PAUL, Feb. 10 — (AP). — The violent butane gas explosion that killed 11 workmen and injured more than 50 others at Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company Thursday was caused by a break in the supply line, the company president said Friday.

Britain-US Have Plan For Kashmir

LONDON, Feb. 10 (CP)—Britain and the United States were near agreement today on a plan they hope will settle the dispute between Indian and Pakistan over Kashmir.

A foreign office spokesman said Friday night a resolution sponsored by the two countries will be submitted to the United Nations security council.

Both India and Pakistan claim the North Indian province in the partition of the Indian sub-continent. Kashmir's ruler is a Hindu and favors joining India; the majority of the population is Moslem, allied by religion to Pakistan.

Attempts by a U.N. mediator to settle the dispute failed.

It was understood that the joint British - American resolution would propose a plebiscite in Kashmir to let the people decide which country they should join.

First Reinforcements Arrive For Patricias

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Feb. 10 (CP). —The first reinforcements for Canada's ground forces in Korea arrived Friday.

A draft of 35 men—approximately one-third the number needed—reached this war theatre. Twenty-two immediately joined their units in the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at the Miryang training base. The remainder is due today.

The battalion now is about 50 men below strength. At the current wastage rate, a reinforcement stream of five officers and 85 other ranks would be just right. However, the battalion has not yet been notified whether more reinforcements are enroute or if the first draft is considered complete.

Say Red Party In Italy Beginning To Fall Apart

ROME, Feb. 10 (AP)—Resignations of two Communist deputies and the widening split in Italy's Red ranks "will have repercussions on the entire Italian democracy," Ignazio Silone, leader of an anti-Red Socialist faction said today.

Silone, secretary of the Independent Unity Socialist party, told the newpaper Il Tempo that the growing Red schism is "of historical importance."

The veteran Socialist leader went to Bologna Friday for talks with the two former Communist deputies—Valdo Magnani and Aldo Cucchi. He was reported to have discussed plans for a new party the two are organizing.

Silone said sections and committees of a new national Communist party will be organized by Magnani and Succhi, in all Italy's major cities.

Meanwhile, the Communist press continued to insist that the resignations of Magnani and Cucchi had increased the number of applications for party membership. The Red organ L'unita said at least 3,000 persons have sent in applications for membership since their resignation.

The Catholic Action newspaper Il Quotidiano declared, however, that "the Communist party in Emilia (Italy's Red stronghold) is falling apart."

The rift was apparently serious enough to send Senator Pietro Secchia, acting co-chief of the Italian Communist party hurrying toward the Iron Curtain Friday night. He presumably is going to Prague, or Moscow with a report on the Italian crisis.

The walkout of 22 regional party executives, led by Magnani and Cucchi, was inspired by a feeling that the party has been subordinating Italian patriotism to the rule of the Kremlin.

See No Relief From Cold Wave

There's no sign of relief for eastern and central Canada, shivering in the most prolonged cold spell of the winter.

At least, if there is any moderation at all during the weekend it will be so slight as to be hardly noticeable.

About the only comfort folks in the cold belt can draw from their chilly plight is the fact that skies are crystal clear over just about all the eastern half of Canada, contrasting sharply with the soggy situation in balmy British Columbia.

Northern Ontario, with temperatures 40 below and colder, is the chilliest part of the country, barring the far north.

In southern Ontario and in Quebec a southeast wind is on the way which might raise temperatures briefly to around the low 20s but it will be quickly followed by another cold wind which will send temperatures down again.

Fit For Eskimos

Peterborough's official night low was 22 degrees below zero—six degrees higher than Friday's three-year record of 28 below. But in the opinion of most Peterburians it's still weather fit for Eskimos only.

Here are the statistics of the last two days: high Friday, three degrees; low Friday, 28 degrees; night low, 22 degrees below; and 9 a.m. today, 11 below. It was 19 below at 9 a.m. Friday. Last year the night low was five below, and the Saturday temperatures were: high 34, and low 20.

Though there has been a slight rise in temperature during the last 24 hours, it's too soon to cheer. The weatherman says that only slight relief from the bitter cold is in sight. So keep the ear muffs and mittens handy and pour on the fuel.

44 Manchurian Plants Turned Back To Mao

MOSCOW, Feb. 10—(AP)—The Russian press today listed 44 factories in Manchuria which it said have been turned over to the Communist Chinese People's Republic by the Soviet Union.

The list included 19 factories in Dairen and 25 elsewhere in Manchuria which were taken over by the Red army from the Japanese in 1945.

Single UN Division Turned Tide Of Korean Defeat

(Editor's Note: Censorship obscured the dramatic story of how the U.S. 2nd Division and its attached French and Dutch battalions broke the Communist attack at Wonju in Central Korea last month. AP correspondent William C. Barnard who covered the division from the first day of resistance to the last now is permitted to tell more of the story of the Wonju bulge.)

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

CENTRAL FRONT, Korea, Feb. 10 (AP) — One brilliant and bloody stand by a single allied division turned the tide of defeat in Korea and restored the morale of the retreating United Nations army.

Probably no American, French or Dutch soldier who fought the long, bitter-cold January battle of the Wonju bulge knew he was helping to change the face of the war. But he was.

In eight days of sub-zero cold, the greatly outnumbered United States 2nd Division doggedly met attacks with counter-attacks and killed an estimated 12,000 North Korean troops—an average of 1,-500 each day.

It broke the back of the Communist drive through Korea's central corridor.

More important still, the 2nd Division at the end of its eight-day battle, had set the pattern of the Eighth Army's new hunt-and-kill offensive with aggressive tank forces spearing the way. After killing as many of the enemy as they could, the tank teams pulled back to the security of their own lines at nightfall.

Had the 2nd Division failed to stand at Wonju, retreat of the entire Eighth Army would have been almost a certainty. For if the Reds had gained control of the central network of roads out of Wonju the surging Communists threatened to trap allied forces on the western side of the peninsula.

Saved Twice

The 2nd Division also was officially credited with saving the Eighth Army from disaster when the Chinese Reds struck suddenly in North Korea in November. It held the line while other divisions escaped south from exposed positions beyond the Chongchon river.

One military observer said: "It took the Wonju bulge to prove the Red drive was not invincible."

When the new year began, the 2nd Division had dropped back to Wonju to make a stand against advancing North Korean forces.

January 2, without any real pressure from the enemy, the 2nd retreated a few miles southward to better defence positions.

Then, with reinforcements of eager French and Dutch units, elements moved up Jan. 8 and formed a perimeter about four miles south of Wonju.

Elements of 10 Communist Korean divisions—possibly 80,000 men—had been identified in the Wonju area.

Beat Off Reds

January 10 the North Koreans hurled six battalions at the perimeter in a furious effort to smash it. Riflemen and artillerymen beat off the Reds and left 2,100 Communist dead or wounded when the attack ended.

While this was in progress, tanks and troops of the U.S. 9th Regiment—the 3rd regimental component of the 2nd Division—moved toward Wonju from the southeast.

They ran into a fierce fight, routed the Reds, and actually reached Wonju before pulling out. This type of operation was to be repeated again and again before January was over.

January 13 the North Koreans came back again in suicidal charges before dawn. Communist dead piled up in front of the perimeter's smoking gun positions, and the lines stood fast.

The temperature that day was 25 degrees below zero. Snow was a foot deep. Next day there was continued fighting. But the Reds evidently had no more strength for another real effort.

At the end of the day, Jan. 14, the battle had been won. January 15, under a protective air and artillery barrage, the 2nd Division straightened its lines and withdrew from the bulge in preparation for new attacks in the same pattern.

Under censorship, that is as much as can be said even now, but the Eighth Army had learned something of value—and the enemy had been forced to pay for the tuition.

ManitobaRefuge For Trappists Fled From China

ST. NORBERT, Man. — (CP). —Ten Trappist monks—9 Chinese and one Belgian—entered the Notre Dame de la Prairie Monastery here a year ago after escaping from the Communists in China.

Granted permission to speak to a reporter — by religious vows they are sworn to silence among themselves — the Rev. Simeon Chang, leader of the Chinese monks, and the Rev. Victor Chu said they ardently desire to return to China.

"But," they said, "it may be two years—it may be 10—before we can return. It may be never."

They served in the Monastery of Our Lady of Joy in Cheng-tey, Hopeh Province, before fleeing after torture and oppression by the Communists.

One of their number, the Rev. Benedict Joseph, is in good health now. A Communist bullet, "fired just for fun," entered his chest and came out of his back while he was standing in the doorway of the Chinese monastery.

The monks here have a self-contained little world of some 50 fathers, lay brothers, and students for the priesthood. The monastery is 10 miles south of Winnipeg.

Versatile Monks

The monks pitch into any job. Father Chu, 40, and Father Chang, 32, for instance, work with electrical equipment in the mechanical shop. The monastery's prize dairy herd of 300 or more Holstein cattle annually wins top awards in shows in Canada and the United States.

Along with other Red River Valley residents, the monks suffered in last spring's flood. The water damaged caves which for years have been the curing place for the monastery's famous Trappist cheese.

The monastery, with its cowled and silent monks, offers a strange contrast between medieval life and the 20th century. Modern methods are used on the 1,600-acre farm where 400 gallons of milk is produced daily for the Wininpeg market.

There are about 75 Trappist monasteries in the world, mostly in Europe. In each, as twilight falls, the monks retire at 8 p.m. —7 p.m. in winter months—and rise at 2 a.m. to pray until 6 a.m. They spend the remainder of the day alternately at work, stndy and prayer.

Rap Release War Criminals

BUCKINGHAM, England, Feb. 10 — (AP). — Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross said Friday it was "an unhappy coincidence" that United States authorities freed a group of German war criminals just when world attention was centred on the question of German rearmament.

Shawcross, considered by many the likely successor to ailing Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, added that Britain has no intention of "taking initiative toward the release of the major criminals sentenced at Nuernberg."

"The money is paid on the basis of services they give," Mr. Dunbar said, "and can be used for any municipal expenses."

The minister also said that the Windsor city council, of which Mr. Ellis is a member, had sought his department's approval for sale of city-owned lots at $1 each to a construction company. He did not name the company.

Approve 10 Bills

The Legislature also gave approval to 10 other pieces of government legislation.

The bills would: amend a law restricting location of township schools, remove the ceiling on civil service contributory pensions, clarify the law dealing with runaway husbands and fathers, allow barristers to become justices of the peace, restrict transfers of land under subdivision control, provide for medical examinations of all school employees, allow older children in day nurseries, reduce by one year the probation period for adoptions; revamp the voting procedures of planning boards, and control commercial quarrying of sand and gravel on crown lands.

Vote on one bill, to do away with a law permitting establishment of vocational schools for two or more municipalities, was delayed following the objection of Cameron Calder (L-London). Mr. Calder took issue with Mr. Porter's statement that the law was obsolete and had never been used.

"The very day for this act may now be approaching," Mr. Calder said. It might be needed in special cases of suburban and rural expansion.

Drop Useless Laws

Mr. Porter told the London member that the bill was part of a continuing program to drop useless and obsolete legislation from Ontario's statute books.

Convictions for drunkenness were registered against 32,911 persons in Ontario in 1950, Premier Frost reported to the Legislature Friday in reply to a query by C. H. Millard (CCF-York West). There were 32,701 convictions for intoxication the previous year.

Home consumption of beer in 1950 totalled 33,965,173 gallons at a cost of $60,888,684, the Premier reported. The amount was 655,950 gallons less than the previous year but total value was greater due to a price increase.

Other home consumption sales totalled $78,130,813 for liquor and $9,906,826 for wine. Sales to licence holders and through public outlets totalled $47,530,419 for beer, $273,824 for wine and $5,-629,889 for liquor.

To Remove Ceiling

A bill to remove the ceiling on contributory pensions of Ontario civil servants was approved in principle by the Legislature despite a question by Harry Nixon (L-Brant.)

"Is the government disturbed by the provincial auditor's report that the fund is not actuarily sound?" Mr. Nixon asked.

"We're not losing any sleep over it," Premier Frost replied.

Provincial Secretary Welsh said the bill at present will affect only 37 persons already retired, but will apply to all other civil servants' pensions as well. The maximum is at present $3,000.

Deserted wives should not have to take responsibility for finding runaway husbands, Williams Dennison (CCF-Toronto St. David) told the Legislature during debate on a government bill dealing with maintenance of deserted wives and children.

The bill, a clarification of present laws on the subject, involved no new principle, Attorney-General Porter said. It was approved in principle.

Mr. Dennison said police and court officials should be obliged to help find the husband. The man shouldn't be brought back to where his wife lives, he added, or more family trouble would be caused.

Plane, 3 Dead Found In Field

EDMONTON, Feb. 10 (CP). — Wreckage of a civilian plane missing since Wednesday night in Central Alberta was found late Friday on a farm 30 miles southwest of Edmonton. The three occupants of the plane were dead.

Aboard was the pilot, Leslie Robinson, 31, and owner Elizee A. Mailloux, 36, both of St. Paul, Alta., and Alvin Bedard, 34, of Edmonton.

The discovery of the plane wreckage was made by two farmers of the Calmar district, Charlie Torrance and Bill Nunn, who had gone out to search their fields following a broadcast by the RCAF search and rescue centre at Edmonton.

"We found the plane pancaked in an open field" Torrance said. "It had not hit any obstruction and it did not burn. All of the occupants were dead."

The plane, a single - engined Cessna, was on a 200-mile flight from Calgary to Edmonton Wednesday night when it vanished in a driving snowstorm after reporting by radio to the radio range station at Penhold, Alta., half way to Edmonton.

RCMP Hardier In Pioneer Days?

REGINA — (CP). —A former member of the RCMP, F. J. Bigg of Meota, Sask., does not think the modern-age Mountie has it when it comes to logevity.

In a letter to the RCMP Quarterly, Mr. Bigg says he has observed from the magazine's obituary columns that average age reached by personnel serving in the last century was 81. For those serving after 1900, it was 61, he claims.

Mr. Bigg says he thinks the lack of "plain, sound food," lack of fresh air that used to come in caring for and riding horses and not enough sleep account for the loss in life span.

Nor does the modern breakfast of juices, cereal, toast and so on appeal to him. He had "dry hash, bred and tea (not butter)."

N.Y. Takes Well To Ti-Coq "Fresh, Moving"—Top Critic

By HERBERT WHITTAKER

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (Special to The Examiner)—As the final curtain rose again and again on the slight, khaki-clad figure of Gratien Gelinas, called Fridolin, at the Broadhurst Theatre here last night, Canadian Theatre finally arrived on Broadway—in the big time.

The curtain calls followed an expert, professional performance of Fridolin's own play, Ti-Coq, a play which has scored in its country of origin, first in French, then in English. Now Fridolin had brought his play to try out on the most hard-boiled audience in the world.

That hard-boiled audience on the first night took to Fridolin and his play about Ti-Coq, "The Little Rooster," in most kindly fashion. It laughed happily at its Habitant humor and grew still and quiet when the play moved from broad humour toward its tragic close. "Fresh, original and moving," was the opinion of Brooks Atkinson, critic of the New York Times, although he found the second half of the play failed to sustain the high qualities of the first.

"Mannered Style"

Fridolin, Mr. Atkinson described as "an interesting, vigorous actor with a sharp and rather mannered style of playing." The New York critic took the Canadian actor to task for some monotonous mannerisms but admired his "grim and tense sense of humour."

"It's one of the most charming plays I've ever seen," said Billy Rose, Mr. Show Business himself.

Billy Rose, with his stunning wife, Eleanor Holm, was one of the crowd of oddly assorted New Yorkers who turned out to the full-scale opening of the first all-Canadian production to reach Broadway.

In addition to the leading critics of the New York press, on whose judgment the local success of the play depends to such an extent, the audience included such personalities as Grover Whalen, Sypros Skouras, the head of Twentieth Century-Fox pictures, J. J. Shubert, top Broadway Theatre owner, who is associated with Fridolin in bringing the play here, Broadway producers Shepherd Traube, Chandler Cowles and Montreal-born Robert Whitehead, Anthony B. Farrell, Broadway angel, Janet Reed, ballerino of the New York City Ballet, Herman Bloomingdale of Bloomingdale's department store and even Mr. Bulova of Bulova watches.

Canadian Contingent

But not all members of the audience were Broadway first-nighters. Canada had sent a strong contingent of native sons to cheer on this theatrical venture which gives Canadians their first bid for Broadway honors.

There was official representation in the presence of Charles Charter, agent general for Quebec provnce, representatives of the Canadian consulate, Merrill Denison, the Canadian writer, many distinguished Montrealers and a healthy turn out of Canadian newspaper men.

Perhaps the strong showing of Canadians was partly responsible but there was no doubt of the warmth of Fridolin's reception. Not only the star, who is also playwright, director and producer of Ti-Cog, for rounds of applause greeted the work of Fred Barry and Juliette Beliveau, veteran Montreal radio players, Amando Alaire, charming Hugette Oligny, Fridolin's leading lady, and Denise Pelletier, also Clement Latour, Jacques Auguer and Mary Barclay, the last named being the one English member of the company.

Contrasting with Miss Barclay's authentic Cockney speech (she plays the brief role of an acquaintance Ti-Coq meets in a British bar) were the strongly French-Canadian accents of the rest of the company which brought an unmistakeable breath of Quebec reality to the Broadway stage.

Illegitimacy Theme

In language and crude and simple as the accents, is told the story of Ti-Coq the pugnacious little soldier who flails his arms in defiance of the world because of his illegitimacy. That illegitimacy is the major theme of the play because it leads him near to his happiness with the gay Marie-Ange, then snatches it from him when he is finally given the choice of marriage with her or the respectability that he honestly craves.

This story is set forth in nine swiftly changing scenes which are a credit to a Canadian designer, Jean Fournier de Bellevale, and are presented with the aid of a colorful and helpful score composed by Maurice Blackburn of Ottawa.

It is a highly professional production that Canada has sent as its first full-scale offering to Broadway. Now it awaits judgment of the town and the critics.

But whatever the outcome of this New York venture, Canada has not lost its brightest theatrical star. Before the curtain went up last night, Fridolin made his future position clear.

"Good or bad", said he seriously about the New York reaction, "my basis of operation is Canada. Whatever I do will always start in Canada."

Cobourg Man Dies In Car

COBOURG, Feb. 10—(ENS)—Stricken with a heart seizure late yesterday afternoon, W. B. Pratt, well-known Cobourg businessman, died at the wheel of his car. Mr. and Mrs. Pratt were driving south on Ontario Street, when Mr. Pratt felt an attack coming on and quickly shut off the ignition. The car ran into a small ditch. Cars Badly Damaged Driver Faces Charge

L. W. Deyell, 32, of 730 Monaghan Rd., was charged with drunk driving today after an accident at the intersection of the Chemong Rd. and Reid St.

Deyell's car and an auto driven by Stewart J. Williamson, 234 Aylmer St., collided at the intersection.

Williamson told police he had been driving south on the Chemong Rd., and as he approached Reid St., saw a car come off Reid without stopping and without lights showing.

Williamson braked and swung left, but hit the Deyell car on the front left fender and bumper. Both cars were damaged fairly heavily.

Later, police were told by Alvin Yelland, 677 Bethune St., that his car had been hit by another car. Mr. Yelland said he received a telephone call from a man who gave the license number of the car that hit the Yelland car. The license number was that of Deyell's car.

N.Z. To Recall Canadian Scots' Historic Voyage

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — (CP) — While Scots in Nova Scotia are preparing this year to commemorate the centenary of the departure of highland settlers for the southern dominions, the people of Waipu here are raising money for a memorial to the settlers who founded the town in 1853.

Waipu, centre of a thriving farming district in the northern peninsula of New Zealand, is still largely inhabited by descendants of the Scottish pioneers who sailed under the Rev. Norman McLeod from Nova Scotia a century ago.

To mark the centenary, the people of Waipu will erect a museum and rest room in the centre of the town. It will be a building of the kind the settlers built during their 30-year sojourn in Nova Scotia. The walls will be of limestone, the roof of grey slates and at one end will be a broad fireplace with the crane, cauldron and firedogs which the housewife of the time knew so well.

In the building will be documents, photographs and chattels brought by the settlers. Under photographs of the six original ships, which the settlers built in Nova Scotia—the Margaret, Highland Lass, Breadalbane, Gertrude, Spray and Ellen Lewis—will be the names of the travellers and their descendants. Also kept in a roll of honor will be the names of those who have died in the wars. Films of the centenary celebrations will bring the museum's record of 100 years up to date.

Doughty Pioneer

The history of the pioneers is largely the history of the Rev. Norman McLeod, who in 1817 disagreed with the Church of Scotland and left with his friends for Nova Scotia. There they lived for 30 years and among them his word was law.

At the age of 71 he led his people on again to Australia and later to New Zealand. In August of this year the Scots who stayed in Nova Scotia will commemorate the departure of the first ship, the Margaret, from St. Ann's harbor. It is expected that representatives of the people of Waipu will attend.

The Scots did not find Australia to their liking and early in 1853 the first 140 landed at Waipu. By 1860, 867 had arrived.

Waipu will thus mark the centenary of the migration at new year, 1953, over a year after the celebrations in Nova Scotia. They plan as part of the commemoration to renew links with their kin who remained in Nova Scotia.

Detroit Crime Hearings End

DETROIT, Feb. 10 (CP).—The senate crime investigating committee completed its hearings in Detroit late Friday after a two-day session.

Committee chairman Senator Herbert O'Connor ended the hearing with a searing blast against the "serious situation" revealed here.

"Criminals with records have muscled into and forced themselves into legitimate enterprises, it has been indicated," O'Connor said.

He said also that perjury charges were being prepared against some witnesses. He declined to name those involved.

The senator said contempt proceedings will be started against witnesses who defied the committee in the past two days.

The festival will conclude with one play this afternoon and two at night.

British Columbia Has Radioactive Rain

VANCOUVER, Feb. 10 (CP). — Now it's radioactive rain.

The University of British Columbia said Friday tests made on rain which fell overnight showed some radioactivity, but not as much as in the snow tested earlier in the week.

There is no cause for worry in either case, said Dr. Gordon Shrut, head of the UBC physics department.

"We don't know where the radioactivity in the rain is coming from," he said, "but if its intensity remains the same for a week, we will know that if definitely doesn't come from Nevada."

At Diefenbaker Funeral

SASKATOON, Feb. 10 (CP)—Members of various political parties Friday attended the funeral of Mrs. Edna May Diefenbaker, wife of John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Lake Centre. Mrs. Diefenbaker died Wednesday. Among the pall bearers were George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, and Mrs. Evelyn Tufts of The Halifax Herald, who represented the Ottawa Press Gallery.

No Army Epidemic

OAKVILLE, Ont. Feb. 10 (CP) —Officials at Central Army Command here said Friday there is no truth to a rumor that a serious type of influenza had broken out at the big Central Ontario army base at Camp Borden. "Medical officers have diagnosed only the ordinary number of seasonal colds," they said. "There is no sign of anything else being wrong."

Vote For Draft

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (AP)—The Senate Preparedness Subcommittee voted 7 to 1 Friday for a limited authority to draft 18-year-olds. Under the plan, local draft boards would be required first to draft all avaflable men in the present 19-to-25-year-old manpower pool, before taking any 18-year-olds.

Urge Fairs Pooled

TORONTO, Feb. 10 — (CP) — A suggestion that Ontario's 250 small community fairs be pooled into 40 or 50 county fairs was put forward Friday at the 51st annual convention of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies. W. B. Warnica, of Barrie, said "there would be more money available for the country fair."

ROUTE STEP—Led by a bazooka man, a line of UN troops moves along the outskirts of a small South Korean village. The soldiers are moving to the front lines.

Magistrate Explains Misunderstanding

WELLAND, Feb. 10 (CP). — Magistrate J. C. Street said Friday there was a misunderstanding last week when he directed Joseph Belanger, 42, a French-speaking Canadian charged with drunken driving, to testify in English.

"While I felt at the time that Belanger could speak English, I have since learned that he can understand English but becomes excited when asked to speak it," he said.

He permitted Belanger to testify through an interpreter at Friday's lengthy hearing. He convicted Belanger and sentenced him to seven days in jail.

U.S. Wholesale Prices Reach Record High

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (AP)—Wholesale prices in the United States reached a record high this week despite the price freeze imposed two weeks ago.

The wholesale price index, announced by the Bureau of Labor Statistics for the week ended Feb. 6, was 182.2, compared with 180.9 Jan. 30. It was the 13th week in a row that a record had been set.

The week's main increases were in prices of food and farm products, up 1.9 and 1.6 percent respectively.

Methods Old Fashioned

MONTREAL, Feb. 10 (CP). — The Canadian Dairy Industry uses too many 19th-century methods, the Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association was told at its annual meeting Friday by Stanley Chagnon, one of its past presidents. What the industry needs, he added, is the application of scientific methods and business principles to dairy farming.

New CNR Appointment

MONTREAL, Feb. 10 (CP). — The appointment of J. J. Campbell to be assistant superintendent, St. Lawrence division, Canadian National Railways, was announced here today by O. A. Boivin, general superintendent. Mr. Campbell was formerly trainmaster here and is succeeded in that position by A. W. Louch, who has been trainmaster at Brantford.

Plasma For Wounded

FORT LEWIS, Wash., Feb. 10 (CP)—Canada's special brigade soldiers are again giving their blood to aid the wounded in Korea. Last November the special brigade training at this American base answered an American Red Cross appeal with 250 gallons of blood. The blood is sent to Berkley, Calif., for processing. Then it is forwarded by air to Korea to be used for any wounded, friend or enemy alike.

Mail Helps Morale

OTTTAWA, Feb. 10 — (CP) — The army Friday quoted Lt.-Col. J. M. Stone as saying an excellent mail service is a major factor in the "high morale" of his 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in Korea. Officials said Col. Stone has found the service good both ways, coming and going.

Neighbors Save Home From Fire

OMEMEE, Feb. 10 —(ENS)—Breaking and entering may be a crime, but Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fisher of Omemee are full of gratitude to their neighbors for that act this week when they saved their home from burning.

While Mrs. Fisher attended a play in the hall and Mr. Fisher was sanding on the highway their pipes and chimney took fire.

Observers say the pipes were red hot while flames shot five feet above the chimney and sparks, driven by a strong wind, showered near by homes.

Robert Graham who was first to notice the fire put in an alarm. Before the brigade arrived Delmor Graham put his elbow through the glass of a door so as to open an inside latch. The fire was extinguished by chemical appliance.

The high wind was thought responsible for the fire as the drafts at the stove were found closed.

Asks Interpretation

TORONTO, Feb. 10 (CP). — Rabbi Judah I. Washer Friday asked the Toronto Police Commission to place an interpretation on a court ruling which would permit sale of bread on Sundays by Jewish bakeries. He said Ontario lower courts had ruled that milk was a necessity of life and therefore could be sold legally on Sunday and asked the commission to place "an interpretation upon bread, which would place it in the same category as milk"

Stocks of creamery butter at Feb. 1 were 25,751,000 pounds, compared with 39,231,000 at Jan. 1 and 46,334,000 a year ago.

A Secret Of Russian Strength

In the current issue of Maclean's Magazine there is an article about the Russian people and their method of making war which is of great interest; it is the work of Nicholas Ignatieff, the Warden of Hart House in the University of Toronto. Mr. Ignatieff is himself a member of a family which was distinguished in Imperial Russia, he is an engineer and a soldier, and held a high post in the intelligence service during the last war; though a Canadian since 1925, Lieut.-Col. Ignatieff has kept up his information about his former homeland, and is certainly one of the best-informed men on Russian affairs in Canada today. In the article to which we have referred he throws much light on Russian strategy and the probable nature of a Russian war effort, and there is one point which he makes which we feel is especially significant.

* * *

It relates to Russian treatment of soldiers; the comfort and survival of private soldiers or any soldiers of lesser rank is a matter of no consequence to Russian commanders. The job of the soldier is to fight until the battle is won or until he is dead. It does not matter under what handicaps or conditions of discomfort he fights; it does not matter how small his chances of survival may be. The Russian soldier is regarded as a piece of expendable machinery.

* * *

It may not be generally realised how much consideration is given to the private soldier in the armies of the democracies. The waste of men's lives is always bitterly resented both in military and civilian circles, and such waste has been known to mean changed commands, and has even overturned governments. The private soldier in the army of a democratic state is considered to have a right to as much comfort as is reasonable in circumstances of war, and a chance to survive. The Russian soldier entertains no dream of such rights.

* * *

This being so, Russian strategy may often surprise Western observers. Russian commanders in the last war did not seek the best circumstances for a fight; they sought the worst. They knew that the fighting would be tough for their men, but they knew that their men expected it, and were themselves tough and enduring peasants. The Russian commanders counted on the fact that what would be tough for their hardy troops would be even tougher for the German troops. Events proved that they were right; their disregard of casualties broke the German spirit. The Blitzkreig was hopeless against armies which were prepared to fight in the most desperate circumstances, apparently for years on end.

* * *

It is a significant thing that a Russian private soldier has no papers; there is no official record of his existence, and no effort is made to establish communication between him and the relatives he has left behind. The Russians are great savers of time and effort, and they do not waste energy in keeping track of anything so readily replaceable as a man.

* * *

This disregard of human life is one secret of Russian strength. It has its disadvantages and its advantages. It is utterly impossible for a democratic army. It is a secret which might greatly reduce the effectiveness of the atom or hydrogen bomb.

Central, Get Me Minnie, Please

It was inevitable that Progress would catch up with the rural telephone lines. The Ontario Government's intention, as announced in the Speech from the Throne February 2nd, is to extend, coordinate and modernize rural telephones, using Hydro lines and facilities where possible. Does this mean the end of the battery phones, the kitchen "Central" who puts the Concession road householders in touch with other concessions and with the outside world of the Bell system? We must wait until the legislation is introduced before knowing the extent of the proposed modernization.

The country phone systems are, we admit, out-of-date, and the dependence on batteries is irritating at times when an important call is coming in. Too often too many other people on the line have their receivers down, listening in, and the juice from the one phone's battery is not enough to feed all the line's phones and yet keep the conversation audible. But the present ways, old-fashioned and lacking in privacy as they may be, have an intimacy and neighbourliness which modern switchboards, dial systems and hydro power do not give.

It is pleasant, for instance, to be able to call friends on your own line without going through Central or any switchboard. Two long and one short, or three long and two short, whatever it may be, cranked out on your own phone, and the bells of every phone on the line jingle, and everybody knows that somebody is calling Mrs. J. — probably somebody within the circuit. Your ring is not as expert as Central's, so it cannot be a call through Central. And if nobody answers at 2-1 or 3-2, maybe somebody at another phone will have the courtesy to chip in and say: 'I just saw Mrs. J. passing the house; it looks as if she's going down to see you anyway.' Of course, neighbours can listen-in, if they want to bother. But why bother with a purely local call?

If it is Central's ring, then that is different. Some very important news may be coming along from outside the township. But really, nobody listens to other people's calls, unless by accident. It may be, for instance, that somebody at 2-2 wants the line and takes off the receiver while 1-3 is having a good jaw with 2-1, and it is hard to resist listening to the end of an overheard tale. But if the story is so good and private that you don't want anybody else in on it, your ear can tell you when to shut up. The power is weaker when there are surreptitious listeners, and Mrs. S.'s babies, or the L.'s clock can be heard if the S. or L. phone is tuned in.

Rural lines are like private communication systems, binding a whole district together with its centre on Central's small switchboard—the ears of the community. They carry the latest news about crops, store prices, the school teacher, babies and the Ladies' Aid of the church around the neighbourhood as fast and as loud as a battery's juice will carry it. Central knows the numbers and names of everybody for miles around. All you have to say is: "Central, get me Minnie, will you?" And Central does not need to ask who you are or which Minnie on what concession road. In fact, Central may already know what you are phoning Minnie about.

If a cousin is calling from Toronto or Montreal or San Francisco, Central will obligingly hold the rural line open, and warn everybody else to stay off it because "X is having an important call from Toronto (or Montreal or San Francisco). Her cousin's house went on fire . . . Which cousin? Oh, you remember the one who was visiting here last summer. I'll let you know when the line is free."

Country phones are companionable things and the instrument itself hanging on the wall with its own attached desk below the mouthpiece, is convenient. What their fate is and of the municipal or private telephone companies throughout the province (there are 21 alone with listings in the Peterborough directory) will, it seems, be determined by legislation enacted in Toronto this month.

Beer In Paper Cups

In the interests of sanitation beer is now being served in paper cups in New Jersey. It is said that the taste of the beer is not affected, and the cup may be thrown away when once it has been used. If the experiment proves successful, beer in paper cups will probably become a commonplace sight on this continent.

As a sanitary move we have no objection to this. We shall, however, continue to drink our beer, whenever possible, from our favourite pewter tankard. We do not think, we know, that beer tastes better from pewter than from glass, or silver or any other substance. There are people who will gladly drink beer from anything at all—from an old golosh, if no other container is at hand—but we are not of their number. We are fussy. And we shall avoid drinking beer out of a paper cup whenever we can. We would rather go without it.

Beer is not a drink to be guzzled. The object of the true beer-drinker is not to throw down as many pints as he can hold in the shortest possible time. Beer is a slow and contemplative drink, and should be accompanied by restful conversation or by reasonably deep thought. With his tankard on the table before him the beer drinker can give himself up to these pleasures; he knows that when he is ready for his next swallow—be it in thirty seconds or in thirty minutes—the beer will be in excellent condition, and even in a hot room it will not have changed its temperature, for the pewter keeps it cool.

But a paper cup——! The object is in itself an invitation to hasty, unconsidered gulping. There will probably be a wax coating on the cup which will give the beer an oily slick if it is allowed to stand. The cups will undoubtedly carry garish advertisements for beer, and thus disturb the mind. Banged down in mirth or argument they will crush and spill the beer. Seized in the hand of a vehement arguer they will collapse. Cheap, nasty, once-usable and remorselessly sanitary, they will be fit symbols of our age.

A Los Angeles woman wants a divorce because her husband threw a plate of mashed potatoes at her, sawed the handle off her croquet mallet and flung a chicken pie at the ceiling. Obviously a discontented soul who would otherwise complain that her husband was colourless.

Diary Of A Thwarted Explorer

by SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Made a hospital visit today, and found my friend improving in health but in very low spirits. This was not altogether surprising, for he had no book, no magazine, no daily paper, no radio—nothing whatever with which to refresh his mind or pass the time. Could I not get him some of these things, I asked. No, he did not want them. Reading hurt his eyes, and the radio was nonsense; besides, he felt too gloomy to be bothered by such things. . . . As I left I reflected upon how much gloom and low spirits is avoidable, and seems to be embraced for its own sake. To lie or sit in a hospital room all day, thinking about the past, would dampen the merriest spirit. Yet how many people there are who, as they journey through life, neglect to acquire those habits of self-entertainment and curiosity about the world which make old age and illness endurable, and perhaps even pleasant in their own way.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: Woke this morning in rather low spirits. However, I remembered my philosophy of yesterday and rebuked myself for this. Good old Monday, I said to myself in a hearty voice; the beginning of a wonderful, productive, adventure-crammed week! So I arose, and found that washing-day at the Towers had used up all the hot water, which was, I suppose, adventure number one. The mail man brought a number of bills, many of which I had forgotten would fall due, so that breakfast was crammed with surprise. It was a nasty, cold day, which I assured myself was envigorating, and when I reached my office I found letters confronting me with several problems to which I had no solution and in which I felt no interest. However, I pretended to myself that I was exulting in this tussle with my environment, and bounced up and down in my chair at intervals, in order to create a sense of effervescent well-being in myself. As the day went from bad to worse I found it increasingly difficult to keep up my pretence of high spirits, and at about four o'clock I came to the conclusion that it would be less exhausting if I simply gave way to gloom and despair, which I did. As a result I passed a nice, relaxed, melancholy evening, and enjoyed not trying to be cheerful. It is hard work, trying to strong-arm oneself into a radiant enjoyment of life.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: Woke this morning feeling like a piece of pemmican; my electric blanket had dried me out during the night. Two years ago a kind friend gave me this luxury, and I owe many a snug night to it, but from time to time I curse its remorseless efficiency. If it is cold when I go to bed I push the controller on the blanket up as high as it will go, and compose myself for slumber with a smile, knowing that nothing short of a new Ice Age can harm me. But sometimes the temperature changes sharply in the night, and after dreams that I am lost in the desert, where my dromedary has dropped dead from thirst, I awaken to find that it is thawing outside, and that I am in danger of bursting into flames. I then drag myself to the bathroom, fill the tub with water, and leap into it. There is a sizzle and a suck, and all the water has disappeared, but I am back to my normal size and wetness, and feel much better. But one of these times I shall not wake, and the cinder which will comprise my mortal remains will be buried in a pillbox.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: Picked up a book today, a classic of fully a hundred years standing, and found that it had been dedicated, not by the author, but by the illustrator, to somebody called Alison. There were the words, "The illustrations in this volume are dedicated to Alison." I consider this impertinent. If one may dedicate the illustrations of a book, why not the binding? Why should not the paper manufacturers insert a note saying "The genuine Old Horsefeather mashed pine parchment upon which this volume is printed is dedicated to Mamie"? . . . The whole business of dedications is interesting. What does a dedication really mean? I have never heard of an author who made over the royalties on a book to the person to whom it was dedicated. The person to whom the dedication is addressed—the dedicatee, I suppose he should be called—has no control over what appears in the book. I shrewdly suspect that dedications are, in nine cases out of ten, attempts on the part of an author to seem generous without incurring any painful outlay of money. The saddest dedications are those which scholars make to their wives, as when the dedication of "A New Exegitical Consideration of Second Thessalonians" reads "To Effie, who read the proofs and prepared the index."

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: Two entries in the new Boswell Journal excite my interest. On December 3, 1762, Boswell ordered a suit of clothes, "A plain suit of a pink colour, with a gold button"; he wore this to a grand party—A rout, as it was genially called then—four days later, one of those days being a Sunday. Does this mean that it was a ready-made suit? Could one of those elaborate eighteenth century gentlemen's suits be made in three days? And if it was bought off the peg, how did it fit? Was eighteenth century elegance more a matter of fabric and colour than of first-rate tailoring?

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: Picked up Gustave Flaubert's "Salambo," a book which I read as a schoolboy and looked upon with wry smiles even then, as it appears to me to be written in Technicolour; however, as I read it in translation I would be wise to keep quiet, for any Frenchman can shout me down. But the tone of the book is exhausting; nobody ever says "Giddap" to a horse, they always "urge it forward with a hoarse cry." Nobody looks at a woman; he devours her with his eyes. I prefer a quieter life. . . . "Salambo" suggests that medical practice in ancient Carthage was on an equally irrational footing with war and the pursuit of love. One remedy which is described is "the blood of a black dog slaughtered by barren women on a winter's night among the ruins of a tomb"; a druggist who had filled a few prescriptions like that in the course of a day might well think of going into some other business. . . . However, "Salambo" is enthralling, in its strange way, and I read it for half an hour after lunch before I realized that I had work to do, and urged myself toward my office with a hoarse cry, devouring several women with my eyes as I trudged through the snow.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: Played my gramophone this afternoon, but it showed a tendency to stick, change its speed, and repeat certain parts of each record. I attribute this to sabotage, undoubtedly the work of subversive elements; if the Reds are eager to rattle Mr. Duplessis by knocking holes in his bridge, I think I am entitled to suppose that they have been monkeying with my gramophone. . . . Later a Professor of Geography came to call; I had never met such a person before and was eager to talk to him. Geography, in my mind, signifies a lot of very dull and improbable stuff which I had to learn in my early schooldays about foreign countries. But this man is a traveller; he has actually dealt with geography on the hoof, so to speak. He regaled me with many fine tales, and anything less like school geography could scarcely be imagined. He fired me with a desire to travel myself. Every February I am fired with this desire to know fresh lands and strange peoples, but he has infected me more powerfully than ever before. But I know how it will end; I shall probably slip up to Toronto for a day.

Reading Without Tears

by MARGHANITA LASKI

"READING Without Tears, or A Pleasant Mode of Learning to Read," by the author of "Peep o' Day," was first published in 1866 and constantly reissued until 1940, when the publisher's stock was destroyed by a bomb. The format never changed; right up to the end PEN-NY was dated 1856 and MEN wore Byronic curls, frock-coats, and shepherd's plaid trousers. Its sales apparently quite unaffected by the otherwise universal escapism of modern children's books, it carried its grim testimony of Victorian realism into many a contemporary home.

And grim it was. No gulf between us and the Victorians is wider than our determination to spare children in their literature any knowledge of the nastiness of life. I know of no modern children's book in which any child dies, but "Reading Without Tears" informs us, as soon as we can string a sentence together, that "God is on high. He can see you, You will die," and later enlarges the subject to explain that "When a per-son dies, his bod-y turns to dust." Nor, if you can draw a simple analogy, is the intermediate stage ignored, for when Rosa finds a dead robin and proposes to keep it in a drawer, her Mamma explains that this is impracticable "be-cause it will soon de-cay and be eat-en by worms."

SINCE, however, death is a desirable state, as little Lizzie found when she "was crushed by the great wheel of the wag-gon go-ing over her lit-tle bod-y," the last word she had spoken on earth being "Je-sus," "Reading Without Tears" is prodigal in describing means to attain it. One can be torn to pieces by wolves, as happened to Martin's sister Fanny while Martin himself was shut in a cupboard: "The wolves tore the flesh off her bones very quick-ly. The floor was cov-er-ed with blood and bones." Or, perhaps more easily attainable, there is the classic instance of Emma, whose schoolfellow pointed a gun at her: "He did not know it was load-ed."

Scarlet fever is invariably a killing disease in Victorian books, and little Letty (having, presumably, passed her third glad year) is no exception: "Nan-ny frets, for the doc-tor says Let-ty will die." No faith could ever after be placed in doctors if you had been brought up on "Reading Without Tears." Their ministrations were invariably ineffectual, and they seem to have existed, like the cashiers in Butler's musical banks, purely as a social formality.

When a nameless lad takes poison, we ask: "Can the doctor cure him?", but are sternly told: "No, He must die." And when Mr. Benson's foolish son throws gunpowder on to the nursery fire and Mr. Benson rushes upstairs to find "his child-ren ly-ing on the floor burn-ing," all the doctor at the hospital can say is: " 'The children are blind and they will soon die.' " "And," adds the narrator laconically, "they died."

In modern children's books, nasty children exist only to be turned into nice ones by the purifying catalyst of the herd. The Victorians had no such illusions. Ned, a rude lad, shot a dart at his sister's eye and squirted dirt on his friend's shirt, and in case you should think this merely youthful high spirits, the author firmly comments, "It is sport to Ned to be cruel." No modern fictional child has ineradicable criminal tendencies like Gilbert, who was the plague of his home, grew up a rogue, and finally "mur-der-ed a man with a gim-let. He was hang-ed up-on a gib-bet."

Social problems are not ignored. "Sal-ly has a sick-ly face. She is weak and thin because Gran-ny could not af-ford to pay the price of meat and milk, and so Sal-ly is half starved." But elsewhere we find the best of all possible precedents for ameliorating Sally's sad lot. "The Queen is a grand la-dy. But she is low-ly. She vis-its the cots and gives a-way loaves and beef and flan-nel." It is reassuring to learn that when the Queen travels by train "she has a quiet par-lour and so-fa to lie up-on."

But we, as opposed to poor Sally, seem to be in comfortable circumstances, and no wonder, when our maid Jane rises at six o'clock and performs seventeen enumerated daily tasks as varied as butter-making, sheet-hemming, baby-tending, and, to make our social position quite clear, "mak-ing tea in the sil-ver tea-pot." Nor do we make her task any easier for, as Nurse later tells Kate and Martha, "You give double trouble"—(u-sound)—"to the maids by throw-ing a-bout the hats." Neither we nor Nurse, evidently, pick up things from the floor ourselves.

UNTIDINESS is one of those vices that, like so many others, are linked throughout the book with the child's duty to God. I have no space to deal with the author's attitude to religion, but it is all-pervading and usually terrifying. We would not make such a children's Bible-story of Jesus in Gethsemane as "Blood came out of his skin and fell in big drops up-on the ground," but whether we are right or wrong to be so squeamish is an open question.

It is strange and interesting that the Victorians, whose middle-classes were probably the most sheltered in history, gave their children such realist reading while we, whose children may have to endure worse horrors than the author of "Reading Without Tears" could dream of, give them only escapist literature that offers no preparation for the possibility that even peacetime life may hold wickedness and mental agony and sudden death.

For the kingdom is the Lords: and he is the governor among the nations. (Ps. 22: 28.)

And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. . . . And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away.

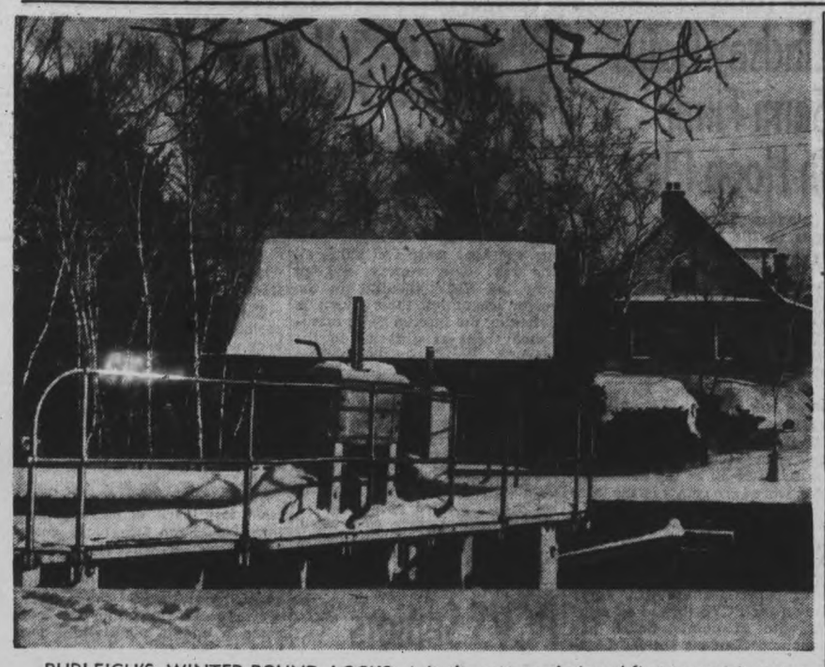
And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. (Rev. 21: 1, 3, 5.)

Negligent Fathers

(Windsor Star)



The Ontario Government has introduced a bill to allow absconding husbands to be brought before courts of justice in any part of the province. And it is an overdue reform.

Efforts to compel husbands, who have deserted their wives and children, to pay toward the support of their families have been hampered because the men often just skip out from their homes and go to another part of the province. If the bill passes the Legislature, any magistrate or juvenile court judge can order enforcement of support charges, regardless of where the man may be, or may be from, in Ontario.

Every effort should be made to catch up with these men, and to make them pay. Their lack of responsibility saddles the taxpayers with costs which the fathers and husbands should bear. They shouldn't be allowed to get away with it, and this legislation will make it more difficult for them to do so.

"This story about a woman pilot in Korea has started something."

BURLEIGH'S WINTER-BOUND LOCKS, one of the more picturesque of the Trent-Severn Waterways System's 43 such structures, is built in three flights. These locks in the system, designed first to permit water traffic, now are vastly important to conserve water-levels and prevent spring floods. (See today's Afield column).

Progress of Peterborough: LVII

Local Finance Tried To Improve Kawarthas Federal Gov't Showed Little Interest

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

Waterways: In improving her water communications, Peterborough was similarly frustrated by indifference in the east and opposition in the west. From the 1860s on, Toronto, lukewarm about the Welland Canal, supported a scheme to build canals from Georgian Bay and Lake Simcoe over the height of land, joining and going down the Humber River to Toronto. Lindsay and Whitby naturally favored a canal from Lake Scugog to Whitby, with branches north to Balsam and Simcoe Lakes. Port Hope liked the Kawartha waterway plan down to Rice Lake, with a canal from Bewdley to Port Hope.

The floods of 1870 which destroyed or damaged most of the timber-slides, dams, watermills and bridges on the Trent, Indian, Otonabee, Scugog, Pigeon, Bobcaygeon, Gull, Burnt and other rivers, added urgency to promotion of unified conservation measures. Superintendent of Trent Works G. W. Ranney reported April 25, 1870, that destruction between Chisholm's Rapids and Little Lake would cost many thousands of dollars to repair, but the Trent Slides Committee was left to shoulder the burden. The provincial government rebuilt the lock and dam at Lindsay (completed 1870) and built a wooden lock at Rosedale between Cameron and Balsam Lakes, and a stone lock at Youngs Point (completed 1873); it also assumed a share of maintenance costs for the dams and slides farther north.

In 1872 the Gull Waters Improvement Company was incorporated by M. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, N. Shaw, of Buckhorn, A. H. Campbell, G. Hilliard, J. Ludgate and A. Smith, of Peterborough, "for the purpose of conveying timber and sawlogs to their mills and markets," by erecting dams and slides to control water levels north of the Kawartha lakes, on condition that they did not impair navigation. After another serious flood in the spring of 1873, a report prepared for the company showed that over $5,000 was required to reconstruct dams and slides between Keneses and Drag Lakes alone. The timber-slide at Fenelon Falls (built by Dennistoun 1860) had been the cause of bitter quarelling between steamboatmen and lumbermen ever since, so that the province took it over in 1873 and marked out a steamer channel along Fenelon River.

Henry Calcutt, Ashburnham brewer, started the Calcutt Navigation Company in 1869 by buying the Enterprise, a propeller boat, which plied up and down the river until 1876; in that year it was sold to Scott and Co., renamed the Clyde, and burned at Harwood dock on Aug. 25. His second ship was the Whistlewing, a sidewheeler built in 1871-2, followed by the Daisy, a propeller tug. In 1876 he built the Golden Eye, a steamer 105 ft. long which would carry 350 passengers; her first season was unfortunate—after her trial trip June 15 under Capt. Dion, she was laid up in September with a broken shaft, and on Oct. 20 was laid up for the season, as there was not enough water to float her over the "Yankee Bonnet" shoals in the Otonabee. The Cobourg and Peterborough Steamship Company ran the Isaac Butts and a couple of others, mostly for towing work, from Harwood to Peterborough and Hastings, on behalf of the CPMRM. Another Rice Lake steamer was the Eclipse, a small propeller boat used for towing and also an occasional excursion. As the Cobourg - Harwood, and Belleville-Hastings trains met the Rice Lake steamers, they still had some passenger business, mostly tourists, since for Peterborough district people the Port Hope-Lakefield's trains were much more convenient. However, the number of excursions in summer months grew year by year.

The federal government showed no interest in improving Kawartha navigation; after the Pacific Scandal led to the fall of the Conservative Government, the Mackenzie Liberal Government 1873-8 ignored growing agitation for Trent Canal construction. When the Lock Bridge just below Little Lake was pushed over by ice and floods in 1873, it went unrepaired until Peterborough town and county erected a new swing bridge in 1874 for $5,941. By that year, the Kawartha waterway was navigable from Hastings to Peterborough, from Lakefield to Burleigh Falls, from Bridgenorth to Fenelon Falls and Port Perry, from Cameron to Balsam Lake. The major remaining obstacles were the Trent River from Chisholm's Rapids to Hastings, the Otonabee from Peterborough to Lakefield, Burleigh and Fenelon Falls, and part of the stretch from Balsam Lake to Lake Simcoe.

"Mossom Boyd of Bobcaygeon accumulated much information, and by his energetic advocacy stimulated renewed discussion in the press." (Trent Canal Guidebook 1911). At a Peterborough meeting chaired by Mr. Boyd, March 24, 1874, it was resolved to form the Huron Trent Valley Canal Company and seek a federal charter. An Act of Parliament, May 26, 1874, chartered the HTVCC with these directors: M. Boyd of Bobcaygeon, D. E. Boulton and Hon. J. Cockburn of Cobourg, Hon. B. Flint of Belleville, Robt. Strickland of Lakefield, S. C. Wood and G. Dormer of Lindsay, H. Calcutt of Ashburnham; Wm. Cluxton, Wm. Scott, G. Cox, Alex Smith, J. F. Dennistoun and G. Hilliard, all of Peterborough.

The Company was "to connect, deepen and render navigable the chain of lakes, rivers and interior waters lying between the Georgian Bay.. and the Bay of Quinte", with power to expropriate land, buil dcanals, sell water-privileges, and levy tolls, if approved by the Dept. of Public Works. Tugs would tow 6 to 10 barges carrying 15,000 bu. grain each at 4c a bus from Lake Superior to Montreal without transshipment. The company was capitalized at $5,000,000 and was forbidden to start operations until $800,000 was subscribed. Unfortunately, it was found impossible to raise enough capital either locally or in the Montreal and Toronto financial houses, and though Boyd made a special trip to Britain to raise money, this worthy project remained only a dream.

Having failed to turn the Trent waterway over to private development, the Mackenzie government, a few days before it fell from power in 1878, by an order-in-council handed over the slides, dams, locks and waterways of the Kawartha system to the Ontario government, although these had been expressly retained for the Dominion at Confederation. This amounted to permanent abandonment of the Trent Canal project, and was strongly opposed in the whole district. In the 1878 election the Conservatives won support in Central Ontario by opposing the transfer; when the Macdonald government came to office it rescinded the transfer, appointed a minister of railways and canals, and promised to proceed with plans for the Trent Canal.

In 1879 Thomas Belcher was appointed Trent Superintending Engineer, and D. Stark was commissioned to survey the Trent Canal route. On Aug. 20 he submitted his report, estimating the cost at $2,500,000 from Trenton to Georgian Bay, in addition to $670,000 already spent. There were 136 miles of navigable waters, 9 miles more needed only dredging, and 59¼ miles of canals must be constructed, including a short canal between Chemong and Katchewannoe Lakes; 70 locks were needed, of which 5 were already built. "With respect to the navigation on the Scugog River to Lindsay, it can hardly be regarded as other than a branch to the main line." He emphasized: "There can be no possible doubt but that the opening up of such an internal highway of waters to the outside world by giving it access to the St. Lawrence, would be conferring an amount of prosperity upon this already flourishing district which could not but make itself felt to a greater or lesser degree throughout the whole Dominion...No number or system of railways can possibly take the place of a navigation which permeates every portion of it, and which needs only an outlet...I cannot but regard the perfecting of this shortest of all possible routes from the far west to the seaboard as a subject well worthy the attention of the Government."

The Bobcaygeon Independent on Oct. 17, 1879, enlarged on the picture of steamers towing lines of barges each carrying 500 tons of grain from Lake Superior to the St. Lawrence and concluding:

Language Mirrors History

By RICHARD F. CHOATE

STEREOSCOPE — Optical instrument through which visitors being entertained in the parlor viewed double photographs (one for each eye) depicting sensational incidents of history, such as the meeting of the Governor of North Carolina and the Governor of South Carolina at which important steps were taken looking to the irrigation of the Sahara without an irrational time-lag.

✦ ✦ ✦

STRAIGHT-FRONT GIRL — Originator of the "New Look" ideology who succeeded the "Gibson Girl," invented by Charles Dana Gibson in the nineties. The S.F. Girl startled the males of the period by a reconditioning of her facade, suddenly achieving a rigid, whalebone perpendicularity, any fullness being, so to speak, a posteriori. Later in the line of evolution there appeared the "Debutante Slouch," a young woman of panatella shape, devoid of muscular tissue, whose movements were as unpredictable as those of a crosscut saw being carried on a street car. Sartorial affairs finally were brought under control with the arrival of the "Hobble Skirt," a sort of upside-down strait-jacket within which the weary might still maintain an appearance of viability in her upper registers.

✦ ✦ ✦

TOLLGATE — Road barrier at which horse and buggy riders "stood and delivered" in the crude fashion which antedated the refinements of the Abbott budget.

✦ ✦ ✦

RED MILLS — Popular name for the mills at Nassau, an objective of intrepid, long-distance marathoners of the high-wheel bicycle era.

"VITTELS" — Food referred to by pedantic dictionary-makers as Victuals. Paterfamilias would have none of such scholastic nonsense, and Little Pestiferus, aged eight, knew full well what was meant when he heard the command: "Eat your vittels or leave the table."

✦ ✦ ✦

LIVERY STABLE — Premises where horses and buggies were kept for hire which served also as a gathering place for local Sons of Rest, who engaged in philosophic discussions of questions such as those usually dealt with in "railroad talk," which was described in one courtoon as "Jest talk about women, and likker and chewin' tabacco—and women."

✦ ✦ ✦

PENNY READING — A selection from "Routledge's Penny Readings" certain to produce paroxsyms of laughter when read by the local grocer at box-socials or concerts.

✦ ✦ ✦

PETTICOAT — A voluminous mysterious undergarment worn by ladies of earlier days which was never mentioned save on critical occasions when it became necessary for woman to whisper to woman: "Your petticoat is showing." The garment was once an invisible symbol of authority in the world, as expressed in the terms, "Petticoat Government." With Mrs. Pankhurst came the "equality of the sexes" and the depersonalization of woman and no realist of today who looks at the modernized home ever bothers to inquire: "Who wears the petticoats?" Hence the modern masculine toast: "Here's to the ladies; once our superiors, now our equals."

(To be continued)

We Peterburians take our Trent Canal system far too casually and in our ignorance of its intricate workings, lambaste the whole thing as a white elephant. The most casual observer during the past week has noticed water rushing down the open stretches of the Otonabee at almost spring flood levels. We, the taxpayers, immediately wonder if the boys in the Trent Canal office have gone into hibernation with the bears and are letting Nature run wild. Far from it. A visit with the engineers might reveal a lot of amazing things we have not taken the trouble to find out. First and foremost, the Trent-Severn waterway system is THE greatest naturally-controlled system of waterways in the world.

The watershed is 7,200 square miles in area. There are 66 reservoir dams, 79 control and navigation dams, two hydraulic lift locks—Peterborough's is the world's largest — and two marine railways. Three and one-half million dollars worth of hydro electric power is generated on the Trent system annually in comparison to the Ottawa's giant Des Joachims plant which turns out four times as much.

An examination of the Trent's watershed boundaries on engineering charts shows that they extend from Belleville on the east to north-western York County and Georgian Bay on the west. Algonquin Park is its northern rim and the Moira River watershed its eastern perimeter.

Trent canal, they call it? It is, rather, an intricately controlled maze of brooks, creeks, streams and rivers utilizing hundreds of large and small Kawarthas lakes as vast water storage basins. There are only 35 miles of actual canal in the whole system.

• • • •

Celery Growing Is Their Concern

Trent engineers hold the fate of Holland Marsh's million-dollar market-gardening enterprise at their flood gates. On Toronto's extension of Yonge St., Highway 11, they own and maintain three of their 50-odd highway bridges. These are only two of hundreds of interesting highlights that are not generally known.

On the Department of Transport books, the Trent System is valued at a cold 20 million dollars. Let us do away with all this, yell the taxpayers. Blast out the dams. Lay off the civil servants. Let the country revert to the natural control of Champlain's day. This could be done if, in a few short years, you want the Heartland of Ontario to look like the ghastly Ganaraska where even twitch grass is unable to take root.

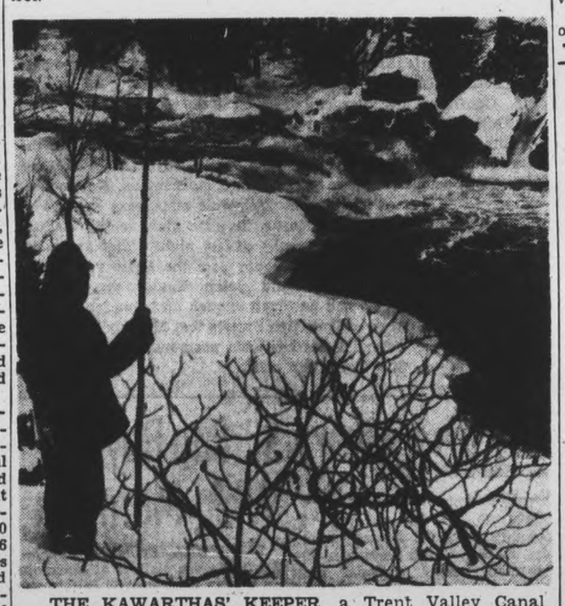
You forget that in Samuel's heyday, the green forest covered our Heartland, that millions of beaver were the conservation engineers, that the uncontrolled rivers carried off the excess in devastating flood conditions. Or can you give any other logical reason for our deep-cut river valleys?

• • • •

. . . . Following Redcoats, Lumber, Grain

White fur traders set the Indians to exterminating the beaver. Settlers cleared their sections. Lumbermen bared the forests but engineers unwittingly started corrective measures by erecting a few dams to assist settlers in the problem of goods transportation. That was in 1833. By 1907 the system had been joined up from Lake Ontario to Georgian Bay, a water highway to handle heavy freight cheaply, a quick route for transporting troops to the troubled West.

Railways and motor transport killed this dream but the system they built was, and is, being used to a far greater end, the natural water control of Ontario's Heartland.



"If you want to develop a country," say the engineers of the Trent, "you must have controlled water." They pointed to last summer's water drought in New York City as an example, showing that the world's largest city had reached its maximum population peak. Its water sources could cater to no more. Water controls communities.

Flood Control Saves the Kawarthas

So, the winter flood waters that the Trent engineers are drawing off at the present time is a safety measure. Daily reports received at the Peterborough office from hundreds of Heartland checkpoints, showing ten inches of snow, are warning of a spring flood in the making. The Otonabee is a lusty rushing river these days because, to prevent such a disaster, some of the system's 825,000 acre-feet of winter water storage are being dumped into Lake Ontario.

Our Bright Lands and Shining Water, the Kawarthas, were Godgiven. White men almost did a thorough job of destroying them in pioneering days for this generation but at the same time they gradually built a water transportation system, now commercially defunct, into the world's greatest engineering scheme of natural water control.

THE KAWARTHAS' KEEPER, a Trent Valley Canal lockmaster, operates numerous control dams the year 'round to prevent both floods and drought over a 7,200-square mile area.—(Staff Photo, Nickels.)

10 Million Tons Of Iron Ore From Labrador To Make Deepsea Waterway More Urgent

Development of the vast deposits of Quebec-Labrador iron ore and the vital importance of steel in the event of a third world war, give the construction of the St. Lawrence Deepsea Waterway greater urgency than ever before, according to Dr. J. A. Retty, Montreal geologist.

Dr. Retty, who has prepared a paper for the Canadian Geographical Society on these important deposits, says that production plans call for the movement by 1956 of 10,000,000 tons of ore annually to point of trans-shipment. He says production might eventually reach 20 million tons yearly.

Other than the deposits in the Lake Superior area, the only substantial source of iron ore in North America is in Quebec and Labrador, Dr. Retty reports. These supplies, if war occurs, would be of vital importance but movement of them to steel mills of eastern Canada and the United States at present would be mainly by way of vulnerable ocean routes. The direct line up the St. Lawrence to the Great Lakes would provide cheaper, safer and more rapid transportation. Dr. Retty claims that plans for early production of the iron ore, plus compelling demands for national defence "put new force into the overwhelming mass of convincing evidence in favor of the seaway."

This iron ore field lies astride the boundaries of Quebec and Labrador some 300 miles north of a small Gulf of St. Lawrence community known as Seven Islands.

Development Boom

Already the area is enjoying the development boom. At Seven Islands itself, which boasts a deep-water harbor open nine months of the year, work is progressing rapidly on the construction of a railway to run inland 358 miles to Knob Lake, a point 10 miles east of Burnt Creek, the present base camp. The line will be known as the "Quebec North Shore and Labrador Railway" and will be operated by diesel locomotives.

Both bridges and tunnels will be necessary to complete the road. One tunnel about 11 miles from Seven Islands will be nearly half a mile long, while of the two major bridges required, one, spanning the Moisie River, will be 680 feet long.

When completed, the railway is expected to allow transportation from the mine fields to Seven Islands of 60,000 to 70,000 long tons of ore per day during a five to six month season. Ships at Seven Islands, where a large permanent dock will replace the present temporary structure, will be loaded at the rate of 6,000 to 8,000 tons of ore per hour.

Tremendous Power

Dr. Retty, whose report is published in the current issue of the Canadian Geographical Journal, says that already 150 miles of truck and auto road have been constructed at and around Burnt Creek, the base camp. In addition, good airport facilities have been installed to provide for the fleet of 10 aircraft presently servicing the area. All landing strips are completely radio-equipped. Tremendous power could be developed in the region, Eaton Canyon on the Kaniapiskau, 70 miles northwest of Burnt Creek having 500,000 potential horsepower and Grand Falls on the Hamilton River, about 140 miles southeast of Burnt Creek, is one of the largest undeveloped power sites in the world.

To date, Dr. Retty says, about $10,000,000 has been spent on all phases of the operation. The minimum additional expenditures required to attain production, he believes, will amount to about $160,000,000.

Dr. Retty, who is a former lecturer and professor for the federal government, is enthusiastic about the Quebec-Labrador development. He believes it will have "endless ramifications on the national economy."

"Not only will it add materially to the revenue of US dollars, but it will mean a great variety of new jobs and business ventures for our people and new markets for an endless list of products," he states.

Teacher, Bride Made Atlantic Trip, 1856

By MRS. GERALD MARRYAT

"The worthy principal of the Union School, Mr. Gordon, arrived home on Tuesday morning by the first train from Cobourg, being three hours less than thirteen days from Liverpool. He came out by the Anglo-Saxon, a Canadian steamer. It is probable, just probable, did the counsels of our new political school-master, Mr. Sawers, prevail, so far as to prevent the erection of light-houses on the Lower St. Lawrence, Mr. Gordon would not have been here quite so speedily. . . ."

The winter of the Liberals' discontent had been intensified by the proposed move to Quebec of the seat of government, and, at a bitter public meeting, Augustus Sawers, editor and founder of the Examiner, had objected to so much public spending in Lower Canada generally. For all we know to the contrary, the Review had been waiting for just such an opportunity as this to make Mr. Sawers eat his words. No doubt he replied with a comparable amount of fire and brimstone. The whole story may be read in the Review of August 15th, 1856.

Elsewhere the Review carried the notice of Mr. Gordon's marriage to Sarah, eldest daughter of William Gallagher, Esq., of Everton village near Liverpool.

The steamship, Anglo-Saxon, an Allan Liner, was a brand new vessel, and the Gordons may have been passengers on her maiden voyage. Long a favourite with Peterborough travellers, the Anglo-Saxon was lost off Cape Race on April 27th, 1863 with two local men among the 237 passengers lost.

There was an even better chance to remark on the poor policy advocated by the Examiner editor, of curtailing the expenditure on light-houses on the lower St. Lawrence, but poor Augustus Sawers had died in 1861, lamented by Dr. Poole, who admired his "happy facility in expressing his views."

When they arrived at Quebec on August 10th, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon may have taken the train to Montreal, since my great aunt who "was provoked to pay three dollars to Montreal on the carrs" also travelled from Quebec in September of that year; but there was no passenger train to Toronto from Montreal until 27th October, so the Gordons' time was even more remarkable since they must have travelled to Cobourg either by stage or boat.

From Cobourg to Peterborough, a journey of two and a half hours, cost 7s. 6d. And Mr. Gordon may very probably have told his bride, as they skimmed over Rice lake in twenty minutes, how the pioneers had struggled across that water barrier twenty-five eyars before. He possibly told her where the Indian reserve was situated as they entered Otonabee and when they finally reached the station in Ashburnham, at 10 a.m. they had the opportunity of entering the omnibus, provided by Caisse's Hotel, corner of Hunter and Water Streets, "to convey passengers to and from the cars."

If old timers had been prophesying and young people had been hoping that the return of their worthy principal would be delayed until after the opening day of school, August 19th, in those days, they were all doomed to disappointment. The Review announced his return in three hours less than thirteen days from Liverpool!

Dr. Poole regretted on page 113 that there was so little information to be had about early teachers. But until the division into four sections of the Colborne district in January, 1852, the superintendents, Elias Burnham, 1844-1850 and Thomas Benson, 1851, had little time for bookwork with such a vast territory to oversee. In 1850 Mr. Burnham, reported that "There are in the town, besides the two common schools, three private female schools in which instruction in the elementary and higher branches of female education is imparted, also one private male school and the County Grammar School in which the Classics and higher mathematics are taught."

In 1853 the Rev. John Gilmour, superintendent, sent in the following return.

Daniel Sullivan was the separate school teacher. While Mr. Gordon was headmaster of the other common school at a salary of £125; Mr. Daunt was second master at £37 10. This may have been for one term only as William Daunt was principal of the Norwood school in 1854. Mrs. Greene and Mrs. Pope, female teachers each were paid £55. Thomas Gordon was a trained teacher and B. Boys an assistant teacher. He was possibly Bernard Boyd, a separate school teacher who was listed as Bernard Boyce when he taught in No. 6 Asphodel in 1853. John Curtin taught in No. 1 Monaghan.

In 1854 John Gordon, Thomas Gordon, George P. Frise, Margt. Greene and Fanny Higgins were teaching in the school with two monitors, J. Borrowman and Eliza Ford. This seems to indicate that certificates could be given after a two years' course, since both of these monitors had schools of their own in the following year. Eliza (Elizabeth) Ford succeeded William Duant in Norwood in 1857.

Dr. Poole states that John Gordon was the first principal of the grammar and union school, succeeding Bolton W. O'Grady, A.B., T.C.D. On his staff in 1855 were: John G. Malcolm, George P. Frise, Margt. C. Greene and Fanny Higgins with monitors James Borrowman and Eliza Ford.

In 1856 salaries were higher and Ivan O'Beirne, secretary of the board of trustees, was offering £70 for a second female teacher for the grammar and union school, and later for a new headmaster for next year at £200.

No matter what happened, nor how long Mr. Gordon remained in his post, it is likely he was remembered by more people for a longer time because of his record trip across the Atlantic to his home in three hours less than 13 days.

When Lilacs Last

When lilacs last in the dooryard bloom'd
And the great star early droop'd in the western sky in the night,
I mourn'd and yet shall mourn with ever-returning spring.

O ever-returning spring! trinity sure to me you bring;
Lilac blooming perennial, and drooping star in the west,
And thought of him I love.

O powerful, western, fallen star!

In the Winter of Life, Will You Be Asked:

"What were you doing all summer?"

Winter comes to each of us — the winter of our lives; the time of life when rest and pleasant ease should be our due. When that time comes, will you be asked, "What were you doing all summer?"

Our customers are planning and working now, in the Summer of Life, for the time when they wish to retire. They are saving a share of the income which they earn during these productive years; they are investing these savings conservatively and they are reinvesting the income from these investments. In this practical manner they prepare for the time of Winter. Their retirement will have been earned and, therefore, more fully enjoyed.

Eagles Trim Queen's, 10-5 In Speedy Senior "B" Fray

The Eagles roared in the second period of their OHA Senior B game here last night for a 7-1 margin on scoring after being down 2-1 in the first frame, defeating Queen's Combines of Kingston by a 10-5 count. Each side hit the twine twice in the heated third chukker. The win put Eagles three and a half games up on the third-place Nylons and dropped the Combines further into fifth place.

It was Children's Night, and a good-sized noisy crowd of them was on hand. They saw a fast, rather scrambly but clean puck tussle, with Queen's battling hard to hold their own in all but the disastrous— for them — middle stanza. Bert Hill got a knee to the groin in the third period and had to retire. Hill, Crowley, and Rochetta had two goals each for Eagles, with singles scored by Vitarelli, Montgomery, Milne and Coombs. Two assists each were garnered by Milne, Vitarelli, Lalonde, Rochetta, and Montgomery, with Hill, Crowley, and Munroe having one each. Don Murray was in on four for the Queen's, Wagar and Dunn two each, and Battochio and Latimer one apiece.

Queen's Lead

Hill got the first marker from Milne and Munroe, but with the latter off for interference, Queen's poured in to notch two, Wager from Don Murray on a pass-back and then Don Murray in close from Dunn. It was fast, even hockey then till the period closed, with Eagles pressing at times, but Ross Nicholls good, too, in the home cage to kick out some hot ones. The frame saw but one penalty.

Burns went off early in the second and Latimer made it 3-1 for Queen's on a close-in pass from Don Murray and hard, angle shot. Battochio got it for tripping and Eagles tore in to tally twice. Vitarelli got a neat one from Crowley and Lalonde, and Coombs slapped home Milne's rebound. With all back, Hill scored the tie-breaker in a scramble. Crowley followed in fine combination with Rochetta and Vitarelli to outguess Boivin. Rochetta added another from Lalonde and Crowley on a forward pass. Lalonde went over for interference and Hay followed for holding. Then Doug Mortimer got it for slashing. The sides were even when Eagles got two more, Milne first from Montgomery and then Monty from Hill. White got the nod for elbowing as the inning ended.

Fast Stepping

At 3:38 of the third, White shot a screened one into the hemp, Battochio and Dunn setting up the play in fast-stepping. Milne missed on a breakaway and Nicholls drew an elbowing penalty, Coombs sitting it out. Hill went off hurt and, with all back Wagar whittled the count down some from Don Murray with a sizzling angle drive into a corner of the net. Eagles fought back to put it on ice with another pair of markers. Rochetta scored in close from Montgomery, and then Vitarelli slipped through with Rochetta's pass to beat Boivin at point-blank range just before the gong sounded. Teams:

Queen's: Goal, Boivin; defence, Battochio and Wagar; centre, D. Murray; wings, Dunn and White; alternates, Bender, Latimer, Shepherd, R. Murray, Ohlke, Hay, Klym and St. Pierre.

Neill's-Grads Get Wins In Girls' Loop

Neill's continued to stretch their unbeaten streak Friday night in the girls' city league basketball at the YWCA by trimming the CGE lasses 32-11. In the other game of the weekly double-header the Lindsay Grads crept closer to the Nurses who are in second place, edging the Normals 28-24.

Dorothy Callan, Polly Stewart, Wilma Byers and Joan Dunk combined for seven Neill's points in the first quarter as the CGE team tied them seven-all. Pat Nixon, Fern Carveth, Marg Hodson and Dot Jackson netted the CGE points. In the second Joan Dunk sank two baskets and Dot Callan a basket and a foul shot, to make the half score 14-7 for Neill's.

Neill's slipped in 12 points in the third quarter by Wilma Byers, Polly Stewart, Bernice Callan, and Dot Callan to CGE's one point, a foul shot by Barbara Luther. Polly Stewart added two baskets and a four shot point to Joan Dunk's foul shot point for Neill's in the last quarter. Pat Nixon scored a basket and Fern Carveth a foul shot for CGE.

Polly Stewart totalled 11 points while teammates Dot Callan had seven, Joan Dunk and Wilma Byers six each.

Grads jumped to a 9-3 first quarter score in the second game on points by Shirley Meath, Audrey Craine, and Marj Owens. Joan Krogh a basket and Manney Hollingsworth a foul shot added three for Normals. Carol Raper with four, Doris Reynolds and Nancy Butlin each two points brought the Normals to within two points of the Grads at the half 13-11. Baskets by Marj Owen and Shirley Meath kept Lindsay up.

Marj Owen combined a field attempt and three foul shots for five points in the third quarter as the Grads totalled 11 points to work well ahead of the Normals again 24-15 at the three-quarter. Normals rallied in the fourth with baskets by Joan Krogh, Mildred Peters, Doris Reynolds and Carol Raper, but fell short of time. Shirley Meath's two field baskets were enough to give the Grads the win.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The tall, handsome grappler from over 'ome, Lord Athol Layton, is in for a rough evening of it Tuesday next along the Rue Brock. He is taking on two villainous matmen in the main bout, scowling Lee Henning and huge Wee Willie Davis, the Hollywood mat and picture bad man. It's a lead-pipe cinch that there isn't a nasty ring tactic this pair doesn't know (and use) between them. It'll take all the speed, savvy, strength and judo at his ludship's command to offset this combination. George Scott will try to unhood the Mask in the semi-final, whilst flying Pat Flanagan faces Kaye Bell in the prelim of what sounds like a lively wrestling card which should draw real well.

* * * * * *

The recent Cobourg-Bowmanville intermediate puck tilt was tossed out by the OHA. Seems Cobourg used some Port Hope juniors and the boys of Bowman Villa protested. But their skirts—if we may put it that way—weren't too clean, either. They used a guy who hadn't been signed. Hence, the heave-ho to the double protest. However, the game won't be replayed because Cobourg are assured of top spot (not the group title as one paper had it) as the schedule winds up. An early meeting will arrange the playoffs in their OHA intermediate grouping, which may commence next week.

* * * * * *

Regarding The Playoffs

Their schedule is actually over now but a few postponed games had to be rung in and 'twas thought that some four-pointers would clean it up. First and third teams, second and fourth, are due to tangle in best-of-five semi-finals to be over by Feb. 21—and that's a week from next Wednesday. Finals are four-in-seven, to be through by March 10. It's been a pretty fair grouping, and we've been rather interested in the Port Hope and Lakefield entries which have some Peterborough puck talent aboard. Lakefield had rough luck in the first part of the season, having no artificial ice for drills or home games. And we do have odd winters in this country, huh?

* * * * * *

Quite a hockey attraction at Civic Arena along about 8.30 Monday night. In fact a bit before, as the famous Ottawa RCAF 60-piece band will perform before the game and during the intermissions. Then the Ottawa Flyers will tangle with the Petes in an exhibition game that should prove quite interesting. The Flyers (who have Bob Greenlaw aboard) are senior "A" and stand second in their six-club group. The Petes are senior "B" and lead the race up this way. Yes, it should be a swell puck scrap and give fans an idea of the comparative strength of teams in these categories. No doubt, a big crowd will take in the game and music.

* * * * * *

Eagles Climbing Fast

Eagles looked okay here last eve in trouncing a battling Queen's crew 10-5 to tighten their grip on second slot in the senior "B" race. The big second stanza did it, with all the Magee men turning in a good chore. Bert Hill returned but got another bang, and Bill Crowley is back in action again. Looks like their replacement for Bob Parnall—who was at the game in a walking cast—will be Jerry Scott of Oshawa, a husky centre. The kids were out in force and noisy as at a "Hopalong" matinee, Don McGillis Sr. paying their shot. He also donated two fine sets of boots and skates for a kids' draw, with a hockey stick and puck, too, for the lucky boy. He was Fred Chambo, the girl winner being Catharine Carroll. Nice going. A fair crowd on deck, including the Catawba Kid (objectionable as ever) who must have slipped by the arena ushers.

* * * * * *

The surprising Redmen of Bella Villa upset the leading Petes 8-5 on Quinte ice last night in their senior "B" fixture. The Reds will still finish in fourth place, but they seem to be sharpening their axes for group playoffs. Slipped Nylons the slim side of the score a few nights earlier, and then did it to the Petes—apparently playing no favorites. Wally Bent's bunch will have to be considered when the dough blows commence. Play was fast and clean, with the homesters generally having a little margin on play. Tompkins was hurt and his absence didn't help the cause for the Jopling gents. Petes now have 41 points, Eagles 38, Nylons 31, Belleville 24 and Queen's 10. Eagles are at Queen's on Monday.

Lindsay Gains Semi-Final In Hoop Play

Lindsay Collegiate's three entries in the lakeshore grouping with St. Peter's High and PCVS "B" teams won the right to enter the lakeshore semi-finals Friday night. They won three games from the Garnet and Grey teams at the PCVS gym 28-27 in the senior, 28-19 in the junior and 30-19 in the bantam.

A slow start may have cost PCVS the senior game. Lindsay went up 9-3 in the quarter play. PCVS's Terry Brown led the attack in the second and PCVS tied the score 14-all at the half. Maidens scored six points in the third as Lindsay outscored PCVS 11-9 to again take the lead. Two foul shots and a field basket were the best for PCVS in the fourth as Lindsay squeezed through three points for the win. Terry Brown for PCVS topped all scorers with 11 points. Smith had eight and Maidens six for Lindsay.

Started Strong

Strong first and third quarters for Lindsay decided the junior game. Acheson tipped in four points in the first quarter for Lindsay as they went up 8-2 at the quarter. Griffin led the way for PCVS in the second when PCVS pulled within a point of Lindsay, 14-13. The locals slumped to an 8-2 score again in the third and failed to match Lindsay's six points in the last quarter, ending 28-19 for Lindsay. Graham edged teammate Acheson in the scoring by one point with 10 points for Lindsay. Dan Griffin notched six for PCVS.

A second-half slump turned the verdict in favor of Lindsay in the bantam game. Heffernan scored five points for PCVS in the first quarter when Lindsay went up 6-5. He added four more in the second half as PCVS totalled 10 points to take the lead at the half 15-13. A. Truax brought the axe down on PCVS in the third with six points and Lindsay took the lead at three-quarter time, 24-18. Lindsay added six more to PCVS's single in the final session. A. Truax swept the scoring honors with 12 points and Blackwell had 10 for Lindsay. Heffernan matched Blackwell's effort to lead PCVS.

Toronto Cagers Get Win Over St. Peter's

DelaSalle Oaklands of Toronto handed St. Peter's High seniors their second straight setback in OCA conference basketball Friday night in Toronto 59-27. Last week St. Jerome's defeated SPS in the league opener.

The local cagers failed to cope with two tall Toronto pivot men, Tranzack and Fitzpatrick, who each dropped in 23 points. The remainder of the Toronto team carried too much height and experience for the small St. Peter's squad.

DelaSalle went up easily in the first quarter 17-8 and lengthened their lead to 28-16 at the half. St. Peter's held momentarily in the third which ended 36-20. Then in the fourth quarter St. Peter's lost the first line with five personal fouls, O'Neill, Jones, Cavanagh, Armstrong and O'Leary. DelaSalle then went to town scoring 23 points in comparison to St. Peter's seven.

Galvin topped St. Peter's cagers with nine points while teammate Richardson had eight. Tranzack and Fitzpatrick easily led the scoring with their 23 points each.

Lineups:

SPS (27)—O'Neill 5, Richardson 8, Galvin 9, Jones 4, Cavanagh 1, Fitzgerald, Holme, Crowley, Armstrong, O'Leary.

DelaSalle (59)—Tranzack 23, Fitzpatrick 23, Quinn 8, Baxter 3, Sabol 2, O'Leary, Niosi, Orlando, Malidohi, Fior, Nickol.

Redmen Pull Hockey Upset To Down Petes In 8-5 Tilt

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 10 — The surprising Redmen established another upset here last night when they defeated the league-leading Petes by an 8-5 score. It was the first defeat the Redmen had tacked on the league leaders and they were full value all the way. The victory did not help the Reds' standing in the senior league but their efforts in defeating the fancied Petes established them as a factor in the playoffs. Previously they had set back the Kingston Nylons 5-4 in another so-called upset game.

They held the league leaders to a two-all tie in the first period then went on to score four more in the second while the desperate Petes, outchecked, outskated and outplayed, bowed to a couple of goals in the third period.

The Redmen were well worth the victory. It was clean hockey all the way. Both teams checked hard with Referee Stan Scrutton of Kingston handing out only five penalties.

Belleville playing a close-checking game all the way through, had the Petes stymied. They went good both ways checking hard and therein lay their winning ways.

Had An Edge

They scored two in the first period and while the Petes roared back with another couple to even the period count they had an edge of play.

In the second heat it was nip and tuck until the striving efforts of the Reds paid off. They bowed to a 4-3 score for a moment then surged through to ram home three goals.

The third period saw a Redmen team lash back defensively but they tacked on two more goals on the well-beaten Petes' team.

The first line of Wardaugh, Mulvihill and Green paid off again. Wardhaugh the starry centre of the new line rammed home a couple. Mulvihill, the hero of the Nylon piece, got in for two goals and two assists. Keith MacDonald shone like a star and banged home a couple and an assist.

Garvey and Fryia were tops for the Petes in a lost cause while Tompkins was lost after being hurt.

PCVS Seniors Edge Out Oshawa Boys

Al Northcotts field basket during the las minute of play enabled Coach Bev Goulding's PCVS senior "A" cage team to edge Oshawa CVI Friday night 43-41. In a low-scoring junior game PCVS' team defeated OCVI 24-14 and the PCVS "A" bantams lost their first game in league play to OCVI 23-20. All the tilts were played at the OCVI gym.

Northcott's two-pointer not only won the game but forced the strong Oshawa Central five to meet the Garnet and Grey next Friday in a sudden-death game at Trinity College for group honors, each team winning three and losing one. The victor will move into lakeshore semi-finals against Lindsay collegiate seniors.

At one time the PCVS seniors were down eight points on the team which they humbled here earlier this year. OCVI were up 15-14 at the quarter, 28-25 at the half and 36-31 at the three-quarter. PCVS caught the Motor City cagers in the fourth and passed them. Northcott dropped in 22 points to keep PCVS' hopes for a COSSA final in March alive. Sutherland topped OCVI scorers with 12 points.

Stewart Shone

Bill Stewart's 11-point scoring in the junior game allowed PCVS to edge OCVI in an unusual, low-scoring game. Oshawa led briefly, up 4-3 at the quarter, but gave way to PCVS in the second to drop down to a 9-4 score. PCVS held the lead at the three-quarter 16-6 and kept Oshawa at even terms in the fourth, eight-all. PCVS "A" juniors now meet Lindsay in the lakeshore semi-finals, not losing a game in league play.

Although they lost 23-20, the PCVS "A" bantam team won the group by placing first with three wins and a loss. The OCVI students held the slim lead throughout the game and were up at the half 11-9. Burgess and Knight each had six points for Oshawa while Ash and Foote each had five for PCVS.

Line-ups:

Mel Akers Rolls 976 For High Of Season

Mel Akers hit high triple for the year in the City Bowling League with a fine 976 count to replace Roy Suddards who had the previous top score of 897. Phil Pryde's 387 led in singles and he also rolled a neat 817 three. The tail-end Clapper's came to life to lead in pinnage with a hefty 3569 total as Moore's managed a smashing 1345 single to lead in that department. Shockey's took over first place by blanking Campbell & Best, as 2-1 wins were racked up by Clapper's, Esquires, Swartz, Sunocos, and Moore's over Cavanagh's, Dunn's, McGillis, Fashion-Craft, and Bond's in that order.

Some swell singles were rolled after Pryde's big count, including Mel Akers with 375 and 321, Jack Playford 353, Jack Murray 334, Tony Mattucci 325, Alf Mattucci 325, Harold Killen 314, Ross Jordan 322, and Bill Harris 303.

Discard Idea Of Reducing NHL Schedule

By MEL SUFRIN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The suggestion that the National Hockey League 70-game schedule might be shortened next year appears to have been a short-lived one.

There's considerable doubt, in fact, about whether the idea ever had any official foundation.

NHL president Clarence Campbell said in Chicago Friday night that the league is not immediately considering reduction of its schedule.

He added that the suggestion he had said in an interview that the reduction was being considered by the league's board of governors was not accurate.

No Reduction Proposed

"Some words were put in my mouth," said Campbell. "I had said that the schedule had been mentioned by some critics as being 120 games too long. A reduction has not been proposed by the board. It's a thought that may be brought up when all phases of the slipping attendance problem are considered at our annual meeting in May."

Campbell said that he personally doesn't believe a 60-game schedule would be the solution to anything. It wouldn't for instance, help meet player salaries and other costs which are up and will stay that way.

Even before Campbell clarified his remarks there appeared to be little chance that the idea of reducing the number of games would be approved by the league.

Fight Move

Conn Smythe, Toronto Maple Leafs general manager, left no doubt that he would fight any such move. Montreal Canadiens, another team that is enjoying sell-out attendance, would also oppose it, and there's no reason why league-leading Detroit Red Wings should want to lose the extra money the lengthened season produces.

That leaves the three teams which are slumping at the box office—Chicago Black Hawks, Boston Bruins and New York Rangers. The Norris interests which own Detroit and Chicago would have a difficult choice with teams on both sides of the attendance ledger.

As far as the present season is concerned, a team such as Chicago might even feel there aren't enough games. Not because of the attendance but because, with only 17 games left in the regular schedule, it will be a tough job to catch one of the four playoff berths. The team is nine points behind fifth-place New York and 11 behind fourth-place Boston.

Jesus Fulfilled His Mission As Savior Of Men, Redeemer

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

It was as the Savior of men, the Redeemer, that Jesus fulfilled His earthly mission, but the Gospels reveal on almost every page how the Savior of Men was also teacher, healer, and friend.

It was Paul who admonished his fellow-Christians to "rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep," but this was among the many things that Paul had learned from his Master.

For Jesus was the great Sympathizer, entering into the joys and sorrows of life, weeping with those who wept, but sharing the joys of of a wedding feast. He freely accepted hospitality and mingled with men, especially with the common people "who heard Him gladly." In innumerable ways He revealed His true humanity.

We call Him "the Man of Sorrows," and it befits one who bore the world's sins, and invited the heavily laden to come to Him for rest. But back of the sorrow, and the tragedy of the sin that crucified Him, was One who was neither recluse, nor ascetic.

If we would see Jesus as He was, let us read into the nicknames that He gave to some of His followers — the wavering Simon, who he called Peter, a Rock, and the flaming and ambitious zealots, James and John, who He called the "Sons of Thunder."

It is this humanity of the divine Christ that must be experienced, if we would know in its fulness the continuing Presence of the Master.

He is not only our Saviour, but also our Friend. He called His disciples "friends," and He is the friend of all who would be His disciples.

This continuing Presence and Friendship of Jesus is not a myth, nor an imagination, nor an emotional illusion. Nothing is more sure than that thousands have felt, and feel, the reality of that spiritual Presence.

It brings into daily life and experience the warmth and tenderness, the faith and hope, the uplifting word, that helped and inspired and blessed those who met the Master in His earthly life.

But if one would have that experience of the present Christ today, he must know that Master in His earthly life. We cannot have spiritual communion with those whom we do not know. To those who would know and feel the presence of the Christ, as Friend, Inspirer, and Helper, I commend the reading of the New Testament, and especially of the four Gospels.

It is not enough to read a chapter, or an incident, here and there. One should read it as one would read a book that he wished to know in its heart and in every part.

To one who thus reads the Gospels the New Testament will, I believe, undoubtedly reveal its message, and make the Christ not only a great Savior in an ancient Holy Land, but a Living Presence, a Companion, and Friend in life's daily way.

Social Prejudices Rapped In United Church Booklet

TORONTO (CP)— The dangers of social discrimination and the need for sustained aid to the underprivileged are emphasized in a booklet published recently by the United Church of Canada.

The publication, "Living Witness to the Living Faith," is put out jointly by the Board of Christian Education and the Board of Evangelism and Social Service. It was written by Rev. W. G. Berry, associate secretary of the latter board.

Members of the United Church are warned against social discrimination which would "deny some people the right to travel in certain conveyances, still others the privilege of holidaying in certain pleasure resorts, solely on the basis that they do not belong to the right class or race."

Christians must stand also for economic justice to peoples of all races, Mr. Berry writes.

"Some nationalities in Canada cannot find employment except in certain despised occupations which are scorned by white people. Others cannot find housing accommodation except in certain specified quarters where Jewish, Chinese, Negro or other people are herded together in undesirable areas. In French Canada a cheap labor market has been exploited to the detriment of Canadian citizens."

Withholding from native Indians the right to vote is justified on the basis neither of race and education nor on political status, he says. There is no Christian reason for discrimination against people on account of the color of their skin or their race. United Church members must stand for justice to all.

Montgomeryshire in Wales was a thriving centre of wool production and manufacture in the middle ages.

Missions Need Aid From Canadians

TORONTO —(CP)— Canadian Anglicans must contribute both money and missionaries if the three Anglican missions in Canada's far north are to continue, the Bishop of the Arctic said recently.

Preaching in St. Clement's Church, the Rt. Rev. D. B. Marsh said that due to exchange difficulties the Bible Churchmen's Missionary Society of England was no longer able to maintain the missions located in northern Baffin Island. If missionary work among the Eskimos were to continue, the Church of England in Canada would have to finance it.

The bishop said that missionaries were vital to the Eskimo to help him adjust himself to the white man's ways. The Eskimo was a stone age man, who became discontented and deteriorated when he abandoned his native mode of life.

Bishop Marsh referred to 10-year-old Anna, Eskimo girl who assisted in the opening decently of the new hospital for sick children in Toronto. While the general public thought it wonderful that the child had been flown here for treatment, actually her case was a tragedy, for she was assuming white man's ways and could never be happy when she returned to the Arctic.

"When you turn people like Anna back, they are unhappy because they have become accustomed to better living," Bishop Marsh said. Today there were few missionaries to help the Eskimo who had come into contact with civilization readjust himself.

Police Court Charges Total 3,639

City Is Almost Free Serious Crime In 1950 Chief Reports

Crime is on the increase in Peterborough according to the annual report of Chief Constable John Thompson.

But the increase is not nearly so great as the total number of charges indicated. In 1950 there were 3,639 charges laid in court. In 1949 the number was 2,398, an increase of 1,241 or roughly 50 per cent.

However increases in the number of parking, highway traffic act and radio act violations totalled 1,248.

In the introduction to his report Chief Constable Thompson said, "with the exception of (the fatal shooting of Mrs. Helen Kendry in February 1950) the city has been free of any serious crime, which speaks highly for the citizens of the ctiy."

Fewer LCA Charges

Charges under the Liquor Control Act were down from 450 in 1949 to 333 in 1950.

Of 46 sections under the Criminal Code and more serious charges under other acts, 24 categories showed an increase over 1949 and two were the same.

In 12 of the sections of the Criminal Code concerning crimes such as murder, drunk driving, assault occasioning actual bodily harm, breaking and entry, gross indecency, indecent assault and carnal knowledge, seven categories showed an increase.

However in the most common of the more serious crimes, theft there was a drop of from 77 in 1949 to 43 in 1950. Receiving stolen goods was down from 19 to nine.

There were no robberies with violence in 1950 although there were four in 1949.

One Charge of Murder

The year 1950 saw one charge of murder — against Joseph Byrnes — and one charge of arson — against Harvey Silvester. The charge of murder was reduced to manslaughter by the police court and dismissed by a Supreme Court jury.

There were also two charges of attempted arson in 1950, but none the year before. Common assaults increased from 20 in 1949 to 23 in 1950. Drunk driving increased from 11 charges to 16 charges.

In both years two people attempted suicide and were charged in court. None were successful in committing suicide.

As usual more vagrants were charged in court than any other criminal law breaker, but the total was down to 71 in 1950 from 83.

Three search warrants were executed in the city in 1950 a drop of six from the year before. Three inquests were held, two less than 1949. The number of summonses sent out nearly doubled from 1,674 in 1949 to 2,918 in 1950. A large percentage of these were sent out in connection with traffic violations.

Fast Firetruck Run

The Smith township volunteer fire brigade covered three miles within seven minutes of the first alarm late Friday night to extinguish a truck fire in the woodshed of Arthur Eagleson, 1st line of Smith. A short circuit in the motor wiring started a fire that got into the upholstery and eventually did $150 damage. Firemen snuffed out the smouldering fire before it broke into flames and threatened the woodshed.

Break-ins Show Big Increase In Past Year

More than five times as many offices and stores were broken into in Peterborough during 1950 than in 1949, records of the detective department showed in Chief Constable John Thompson's annual report to the police commission.

In 1949 a total of 22 offices and stores were broken into. In 1950 the number skyrocketed to 120. Of these, 21 resulted in the persons responsible being prosecuted in police court and the property taken recovered. In 1949 the number prosecuted was 11.

54 Houses Broken Into

During 1950 exactly three times as many houses were broken into as in 1949. The 1950 total was 54; the 1949 total 18. Twenty-one of the 54 were solved by the detectives, Sergeant-Detectives John Stevenson and W. A. Clarke.

Fifty-five cars were broken into and reported to the police station. In 22 cases the persons responsible were prosecuted and the goods recovered. In 1949, 53 cars were reported broken into. Ten of these were solved. The detective department was 90 per cent. successful in helping police departments in other towns and villages in 142 calls for aid.

A miscellaneous group of 316 cases were investigated and 65 per cent. of these were successfully concluded.

The amount of property stolen in 1950 amounted to $21,725.70 in comparison with $32,900.55 the previous year. An additional $4,795.60 in property and money was also stolen in 1950 a decrease from $7,170.70 in 1949.

Mostly All Recovered

Of the more than $21,000 stolen property $18,383.95 was recovered. Of the more than $4,000 property and money stolen, $1,516.46. The amount recovered was a slightly lower percentage than in the previous year.

During 1950 fewer cars (21) were stolen than in 1949 when 25 were taken. In both years all the stolen cars were recovered.

Two hundred and fifty-four bicycles were stolen during 1950, considerably more than the 187 taken in 1949. Of 1950's total, 182 were recovered. In 1949, 177 were recovered.

RCAF Covers Triangle Of Industry

Ontario's Heartland Gets Priority In Air Defence Plan

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Everybody wants a fighter squadron in their backyard—and says so—but the RCAF is going ahead with plans to locate them mainly in Eastern Canada and on Pacific Coast.

The triangle Ottawa-Toronto-Montreal, among the heaviest industrial areas and most thickly populated in the country, needs air cover, and has top priority. And this triangle includes Peterborough. But Peterborough will not have a fighter squadron based on it; there are not enough to go around. Montreal and Toronto, with the Ottawa offshoot, are the prime centres.

The pattern for the geographical location of the 40-squadron force the RCAF will build in the next three years has been drawn by a group of experts who have appraised the temptation Canada offers to Russia.

The result, broadly, is that Canada will be roughly divided into two areas for the joint job ahead—the east and the Pacific Coast for operational purposes, the Prairies for training.

The fighter squadrons—about three-quarters of the 40 will be regular and reserve fighter squadrons — will be grouped around the target the experts consider Canada's choicest.

That means, the authorities say, that communities which don't have fighter squadrons near them should be thankful—they're not considered No. 1 targets.

That means, the authorities say, that communities which don't have fighter squadrons near them should be thankful—they're not considered No. 1 targets.

So far, however, people haven't been thinking that way. In various ways, by letter, by political or other approaches, the RCAF gets bombarded with requests for fighter protection

Virtually every sizeable community in the country feels it needs protection. Their pride is hurt, and they feel neglected, officials say, if they don't get it.

The simple answer is there can never be enough fighter squadrons to defend all Canada—11 are going to Europe—and the best use must be made of what is available.

Course In Canoemanship In YMCA Pool Part of So-Ed Activities

With an instructor, 12 enthusiastic pupils, two canoes, four paddles and a swimming pool, the class in canoemanship was underway at the YMCA Wednesday night. "If you can handle a canoe in a swimming pool you can handle one anywhere," stated instructor Fraser Wade, as he pointed out the fundamentals of canoeing to this class which is one of the eight interest groups of the So-Ed weekly programs. Canoeing in a swimming pool is not a general form of recreation at the Y pool. "As far as I know," Mr. Wade explained, "this is the first time in the history of this institution that canoes have ever been introduced to the pool."

While canoes were paddled around the swimming pool another outdoor sport was receiving attention in the handball court. Approximately 20 beginners were learning the art of swinging a golf club with grace and ease under the tutorship of Joe Watson.

Practice Drives

But, the more advanced golfers were actually driving balls. An open tarpaulin tent had been rigged up in one of the basement rooms and its padded interior was stopping all the hardest drives by the experts.

"No, they haven't broken any windows or lights yet," commented Ossie Anderson, instructor.

The gymnasium was taken over by 24 square dancers. Mrs. J. W. Freestone, while guiding her pupils through the intricate steps of one dance took time out to explain that before the course ended she hoped to teach the class a total of 10 different square dances.

From here to the dining room, where the music changed to a waltz tempo and 15 couples were being instructed in waltzing by Ian Clarke.

The interest groups came to an end at 10.30 p.m., but the evening's activities continued. For the next hour, there was a choice of swimming, bowling, billiards, ping pong, bridge checkers and badminton.

SO-EDERS SQUARE DANCED in the YMCA gymnasium this week to lively tunes. Though there was ample dancing space, a maximum of 24 people, or three "sets," comprised the largest group at any time. "It's fun," they said. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Small Boy Injured When Struck By Car

A five-and-a-half year old boy was slightly injured Friday when he was struck by a car on George St. at Ware St.

Douglas Barnard, 124 Lock St., was taken to his home after the accident, with a tooth knocked out, a cut lip and a bump on his forehead.

Driver of the car, Frank Graystock, 1211 Clonsilla Ave., told police he was driving north on George St. and slowed after blowing his horn at two childern on the east curb.

When Graystock's car was almost across Ware St., the Barnard boy walked out in front, and was struck by the right front of the auto. PC Claire McGillen took him to his home.

Hit By An Owl

A Haliburton man, James Holmes, believes there is little difference between being hit by an owl and a car.

Holmes was crossing a railroad track near his home when he was hit by an owl.

The blow drove Holmes to his knees and he was clawed and scratched before he subdued the bird. Examined, it proved to have a wing spread of four feet.

Holmes said for a while he didn't know whether he'd been hit by a car or what it was.

CARS DAMAGED

Cars driven by William Thompson, 125 Hazlitt St., and Albert Selkirk, 88 Dufferin St., collided Friday afternoon on the Nichols Oval road. Thompson was driving south and turning east and Selkirk was west-bound when the accident occurred.

PENNY-A-DAY DRIVE

This year's penny-a-day drive in public schools has been approved by the Board of Education for the week beginning Feb. 23. The drive, held a week before the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign, is primarily for publicity value.

"ASPIRING GOLFERS must have good stance," advised instructor-expert Joe Watson to Jack Pruner and 24 young ladies at the So-Ed golf class in the YMCA handball court. —Examiner Staff Photo

Mingles Comedy, Romance

The production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" which the Peterborough Little Theatre will present on February 15, 16 and 17th is the fourth annual presentation of the club. Founded in the autumn of 1947 as a branch of the Peterborough Teachers' Association, it gave its first public performance in 1948. This was a group of three one-act plays. In 1949 Shakespeare's farce "The Taming of the Shrew" was done, and was highly praised by Mr. Robert Speaight, the adjudicator at the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival of that year. "The Shrew" was seen again in the Dominion Drama Festival, where it carried off the Louis Jouvet award.

This year the Little Theatre turns again to Shakespeare. The reasons for this choice are quickly explained. Amateur theatres exist not to make money, but to enable people to see plays which they could not otherwise see in places where the professional theatre is non-existent. Canadians who are not residents of Toronto or Montreal rarely have a chance to see a Shakespearean play performed, and it is part of the job of the Little Theatres to supply this want.

Too often it is forgotten that Shakespeare was a playwright who wrote to amuse large groups of people, not an author who worked in seclusion to concoct puzzles for schoolchildren. Much that seems obscure in Shakespeare's plays is made plain when they are presented on the stage.

The Little Theatre has spent a great deal of time and effort to make its production of "Twelfth Night" as beautiful and appropriate as is possible with the resources at its command. The play itself is one of the most lighthearted of Shakespeare's comedies and provides a rich evening of comedy and romance. The sale of seats is being handled by the Public Library.

Question Assessment On Park St. Drain

The Board of Education is now assessed $66.47 annually for the Park St. drain. As this is a precedent the Board is consulting its solicitor to see if it is legally obliged to pay the tax.

"I understand this tax is setting a precedent," said Murray Irwin, "and I suggest we write to Mr. Outram, in the nature of a complaint pointing out that this hasn't been done before."

He suggested that if the Board wasn't satisfied an appeal could be made to the court of revision.

"It's certainly worth our while to protest," said Mr. Irwin.

After some discussion it was referred to the solicitor.

Auxiliary Unit For Lighting Police Station

The city police force is going to buy an auxiliary lighting unit for emergencies such as the hydro sub-station explosion last November.

The decision was made by the police commission when it adopted the list of recommendations made by Chief Constable John Thompson in his annual report Thursday.

The unit will be a generator driven by a small gasoline motor.

Only one recommendation of the chief's was not adopted. He asked that a maximum of $1,000 be set aside to buy equipment such as filing cabinets for the department when it moved into the new city hall.

The commission members decided that such equipment would be obtained through the city building committee along with all the other equipment for the city hall.

Tape Recorder

The chief also asked that a magnetic tape recording machine be bought for the detective department to be used in questioning prisoners and taking statements from arrested persons and witnesses. The machine will cost $266.

Another of the chief's recommendations was that stop signs be put up at Romaine and Lock Sts. making Romaine a through street. Chief Thompson said it was a dangerous corner. Complaints were also made that funeral processions were often interrupted here. The commissioners said the matter might be more properly considered by the traffic committee.

The chief also suggested that an ammunition loading machine be bought to manufacture target practice ammunition. The machine would cost about $125. Shells could then be loaded for about one cent each. Shells cost 8.3 cents each to buy.

A side wheel and attachments for one of the force's motorcycles was also recommended by the chief. This would make it possible for the motorcycles to be used more in winter when it is not too cold. Slippery streets made it very dangerous for drivers of motorcycles if there is no sidewheel. The chief said a sidewheel could be bought for $255.

Chairman of the police commission, Judge S. L. Smoke, said the department had prepared an excellent report and it indicated that the chief and his men had operated efficiently throughout he year. He said the chief was to be congratulated on the report and the record of his men.

Takes Full Year Of Troubles To Finish Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 10 (AP)—You think you've got troubles? Listen to James Kern's.

After a full year of assorted difficulties, Kern has just finished directing "Two Tickets to Broadway." At least he thinks he has finished it. With this picture, you can't be sure.

So much has been printed about the travails of this movie, that I went to the director for a first-hand report. He said the problems were due to a couple of factors: bad luck and television.

"It all started with the original story about a year ago," Kern related. "The idea came from the success of Kay Thompson and the Williams Brothers. Reversing it, writer Sammy Cahn thought it would be the basis of a good story if a man were teamed in an act with four girls. Howard Hughes liked the story and bought it."

No Soap

Kern was hired as director and went to work trying to find a top male comedian for the film.

Meanwhile, Janet Leigh was signed for the leading female role. The budget was ticking off, with still no prospect of a leading man.

Sid Silvers, who was writing on the picture, came up with the solution: Split the leading role into two parts, a singer and a comedian. After much finagling, Tony Martin and Eddie Bracken were signed for the roles.

"But although Tony sings like an angel, he is a non-line-reading actor," explained Kern. "So the talking had to be done by someone else. Because we didn't have a top-star name, we had to bolster the cast with names, and added Ann Miller, Gloria De Haven and Barbara Lawrence."

Also, Jimmy Durante, who had been written into the picture, was snatched away by television. Two different producers had come and gone and Wald-Krasna inherited the chore.

The budget was hitting the ceiling and so was Hughes. The script? "Every morning, Sid Silvers and I would arrive at eight and go into a corner of the stage and write the day's work," said Kern.

"This," he sighed, "is how to make a picture the hard way!"

MAJOR S. G. MACKNESS

Named RCR Major At Fort Lewis

From a family steeped in military tradition for two generations, Capt. Samuel G. Mackness, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mackness, 738 Lock St., was recently promoted to the rank of major and appointed to commander of "B" Company, 3rd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment. Announcements were made by the headquarters of the Canadian Army Special Force at Fort Lewis, Wash.

Major Mackness, 36, has 20 years of service in the Canadian Army, including five years overseas during the Second World War with the Royal Canadian Regiment. His wife, Mrs. Olive Mackness lives in Port Stanley.

The Macknesses from Peterborough should be well known in the Royal Canadian Regiment. Major Mackness' father, R.S.M. Joseph Mackness, is a veteran of the Boer War and of the First Great War, where he was mentioned in despatches. At that time he was a member of the Royal Canadian Regiment.

Since then his two sons have served the regiment. Major Mackness served with it throughout the last war and his brother, R.S.M. William F. Mackness, who was made a Member of the British Empire in a King's New Year's honor list during the war, enlisted with the regiment, later transferring to the Dufferin and Haldimand Rifles.

56.6 p.c. City Residents

Of the 4,341 patients admitted to the hospital during the year 56.6 per cent of the total were residents of Peterborough, 26.2 per cent residents of Peterborough county, 16.8 per cent residents of other parts of Ontario and .4 per cent residents of other provinces and the USA.

Live births during the year totalled 809 as compared with last year's total of 781. There were 18 stillbirths in 1950.

The 1949 total of 184 deaths was brought down to 161 in 1950. There were 787 major operations performed and 996 minor operations.

The average per patient day net revenue for all patients from all sources on basis of one infant day equals one patient day was $7.79. The average per patient day cost on basis of one infant equals one patient day was $9.12.

The average cost to hospital per patient treated during the year was $130.20 as compared to the 1949 average of $99.89 and $62.35 in 1946.

Brinton And Textile Union Ask For Conciliation Board

Local 822, Textile Workers Union (CIO-CCL), and the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. have made a joint application to the Labor Relations Board for conciliation in their present contract dispute.

The local, representing about 200 production workers, is asking for a general increase of 15 cents an hour, a union shop, and a five-day work week amounting to 47½ hours. Work over that 47½ hours would be paid time and a half.

Negotiations between the company and the union have been dragging on since March, 1950. The 1949 contract is still in effect. It was extended by mutual consent during the year.

The new Labor Act that came in during September caught the two parties ready for conciliation. The changes in the act made it necessary to start negotiations afresh.

Guaranteed Earnings

Other union demands include:

Guaranteed average hourly earnings for "down time", (i.e., when the flow of production is stopped because of machine breakdowns or similar stoppages.

The escalator clause for cost of living to be converted into a one-way escalator clause, (i.e., the worker receives a bonus if the cost of living rises, but not a decrease in pay if it falls.)

If there is a statutory holiday in the week, the work week is reduced to 36 hours. And if work is done, time and a half to be paid.

Three weeks vacation and six per cent of the worker's annual wage after he has been employed 15 years. Two weeks and four per cent of his wages after one year.

Social Program

Piece workers to be paid their average hourly earnings on statutory holidays; not the base rate.

A social program paid for entirely by the company. This includes $1,000 life insurance, $25 weekly sick benefit, $6 a day for hospital care, hospital extras $60, surgical $150, and medical $200.

Charles H. Wishart, vice-president, has led the company's negotiating team. John Low, president of Local 822, has led union negotiations, assisted by A. E. Johnston, TWUA director for the Trent Valley area.

Of Another Feather

DURBAN, South Africa (CP)—There was a stir in magistrate's court when Joe Stalin was called on a charge of being drunk. The magistrate chided the offender with his frivolity only to get the dignified retort: "No, Your Worship, I told the police my real name—Joe Starling."

Lad, 5, Loses Tooth When Struck By Car

Douglas Barnard, five and a half years old, was knocked down by a car at George and Ware Sts. about 9 a.m. Friday, but escaped with only a tooth knocked out and a bump on the forehead.

Driver of the car was Frank Graystock, 1211 Clonsilla Ave. He said he was driving north on George St. Approaching Ware St. he saw two small children on the east side of George St. and blew his horn and slowed down.

He was nearly across Ware St. when the Barnard youngster walked out into the road and was hit by the right front fender and bumper and knocked down.

Traffic Officer Claire McGillen took the youngster to his home at 154 Lock St.

Skiing Conditions Said Excellent

Another busy week-end is expected at the Bethany and Kemp's hill slopes as skiing conditions in the Peterborough area are described as excellent. Besides the local ski enthusiasts the Peterborough club expects visitors from Toronto, Oshawa, Lindsay and Cobourg.

A ski club official said that there is a slight crust on 10 inches of snow on the slopes. These conditions indicate fast skiing. Bush skiing is also described as excellent throughout the area.

The tow at Kemp's hill will be operating Saturday and Sunday afternoons. At Bethany the club will operate the small tow on Saturday afternoon and both tows on Sunday.

Only a half-dozen skiers braved the below zero temperatures Thursday night at Kemp's hill under the floodlights.

PRAISE FOR DON MILBURN

"Don Milburn of Smith made a really fine speech at the Class A Fairs convention Thursday," G. A. Gillespie remarked to the Examiner today. "He was one of three young men speaking from the Junior Farmer standpoint, and we were quite proud of him as our Peterborough representative."

John Kitney and Clarence Bacon also made the Toronto trip.

"It was a big meeting," Mr. Gillespie said, "and the enthusiasm for our agricultural fairs was just as strong as ever, and that applies to both the Ontario and Canadian Departments of Agriculture."—H.

GIRL TEACHER BRAVES THIN ICE TO RESCUE SMALL BOY

Miss Jeanne-Mance Bérubé, of Vassan, Abitibi, Que., crawls over treacherous Lacorne River.

1. Playing alone on the ice, 5-year-old Jules Boutin found himself well out towards the middle of the river before he heard an ominous cracking sound. Sensing the danger, he began to retrace his steps — but it was too late! The ice gave away under him . . . and he plunged into the frigid water. Bobbing to the surface, he grabbed the edge of the ice and cried for help with all his might.

2. Miss Bérubé, an 18-year-old school teacher, was leaving her home and heard the child's cries. In the distance she could see his small head above the water. She cried out "Hold on . . . I'm coming to get you!" . . . and then ran out to his rescue. But as she crossed the thin ice, water began to seep through to the surface. Frantically she called to her mother to bring her a rake.

3. After her mother had done this, the gallant young teacher got down on her hands and knees and crawled the rest of the way over the water-covered, treacherous surface. Finally she managed to reach the boy, who grasped the other end of the rake. Soon both were safe on shore. We proudly pay tribute to this brave Canadian girl through the presentation of The Dow Award.

Plumbing Must Be Planned For Efficiency In Home

In planning your new or remodelled kitchen, it is desirable to consider it carefuly from the standpoint of your requirements. The first essential is, of course, a practical, step-saving arrangement—one that takes into consideration the two basic kitchen functions of food storage and meal preparation.

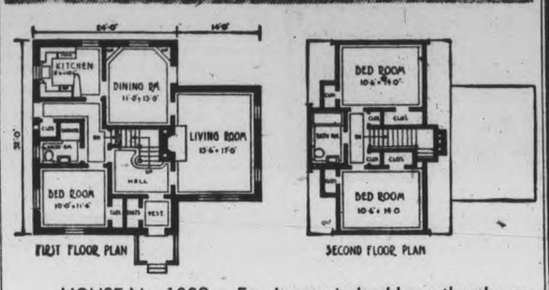
Since most Canadian housewives like to serve at least one meal a day in the kitchen, you may want your plan to include a dining alcove, breakfast nook or breakfast bar. Other ideas you might want to consider are: a sewing corner, a place for the children to play, a planning desk with a telephone and radio. There are many ways in which your kitchen can serve you better, and by giving them careful consideration, you will be assured of a well-planned, step-saving kitchen.

You will find it wise—in planning your new bathroom facilities—to give careful consideration to the needs of your family and thus assure the maximum convenience.

Prefer Convention

Many home owners prefer the conventional arrangements, including the wash basin; toilet and combination bathtub and shower. However, you may like a shower stall and a bathtub—the time-saving advantages of twin basins—or the sanitary convenience of a small dental basin. Also, for the convenience of guests and your own comfort, you'll want to plan for a powder room or downstairs lavatory.

The trend toward colorful, charming bathrooms and kitchens, so noticeable before, will continue in the house of tomorrow.



A bright, cheery kitchen—where many hours of each day are spent—not only means a pleasant place to work, but it is mentally stimulating and lightens the task of meal preparation. In the bathroom, too, beauty and charm can contribute immeasurably. New fabrics, plastic paints, linoleums, waterproof papers promise a wide selection of materails that will add interest, colour and efficiency to these important rooms. In addition, makers of structural glass, ceramic tiles and modern plastics are preparing now to meet home owners' demands for colorful bathrooms and kitchens of tomorrow.

Good Service

You expect the plumbing fixtures of your bathroom and kitchen to give constant, efficient and uninterrupted service year after year with minimum attention. And rightly so. That is why it is so important to choose the basins, toilets and bathtubs and sinks for your new home with care. When you select your beautiful new fixtures, specify a well-known brand—for behind every piece of equipment are years of experience in design and manufacture that are your guarantee of inherent quality and satisfaction.

But the fixtures are only half the installation. Behind the walls and beneath the floor is hidden piping upon whose quality and proper installation proper operation largely depends. Good fixtures plus good piping, purchased from and installed by a practical plumbing contractor, are your assurance of practical, trouble-free installations.

HOUSE No. 1009.—Few homes indeed have the charm and refinement that this one possesses in such liberal measure. Inside and out it reflects good taste. The owners deserve all the credit — for the house is their idea from beginning to end! With the exception of the living room no room could be called large — but each is a good shape. Notice that there are three bedrooms. Both upstairs rooms are equal in size and have two closets. It will be noticed that there are two built-in corner cupboards in the dining room, and a fold-away ironing board provided in the efficient "U"-shaped kitchen. For working drawing, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Up Toronto Haircuts

TORONTO, Feb. 10 (CP). — The Ontario Barbers' Association Friday night decided to boost the price of haircuts from 75 cents to $1 beginning next Thursday. The association ordered an increase for children's haircuts to a minimum of 65 cents during the week and allowed individual barbers to set their own prices over that for Saturdays. The price now is 50 cents. They also decided that shaves would cost 50 cents instead of 40.

Cotton Exports

NEW DELHI (CP). — The largest buyer of Indian cotton in the year ending last Aug. 31 was Belgium, which took 81,000 bales. Next in order were the United States, Japan and Germany. Total production in that period was 29,971,000 bales.

POPULATION MARK

The total population of the United States was 150,697,361 as of April, 1950.

Band Leader Eddie Duchin Dies

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—(AP)—Band leader Eddie Duchin, 41, whose nimble-fingered piano playing delighted millions of dancers, radio listeners and movie fans, died Friday night of cancer.

Only a few hours earlier, the United States Navy cited him for his Second World War service. He enlisted in the navy at the age of 33 and served in some of the toughest engagements both in the Atlantic and Pacific.

Duchin studied to be a druggist and worked at a soda fountain as a youth before his piano playing got him started on a musical career.

His first wife was a sugar heiress, Marjorie Oelrichs, who died two years after their marriage and six days after the birth of his only son. He later married again.

Duchin had been in and out of the hospital several times in recent months. His full name was Edwin Frank Duchin.

Studied Pharmacy

He played the piano as a youth but planned to be a pharmacist and studied for that profession at Massachusetts College of Pharmacy.

But Duchin played with bands in college and in 1928 auditioned for Leo Reisman's orchestra, then playing at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York. Reisman engaged him as pianist.

In 1931, Duchin formed his own band at the request of the old Central Park Casino, a night club of wide fame in those days.

Duchin rose to fame in the entertainment world at the Casino where he often teamed with singer Morton Downey in the days when Jimmy Walker was the gay night-clubbing mayor of New York.

Duchin's band featured so-called society music of a restrained nature, but also excelled at blues.

The orchestra was disbanded in 1942 when Duchin enlisted in the navy. He refused to be typed as a musician in the services and demanded combat duty instead.

Duchin was assigned to destroyer escort duty, took part with the navy in the D-Day operations of Normandy and the invasions in the Pacific at Okinawa and Iwo Jima. He was discharged in 1945 as lieutenant-commander.

Vanier Observer

PARIS, Feb. 10 (CP). — The Canadian government has delegated Maj. Gen. The United States and British ambassadors here are also attending the conference as observers.

Meat Ration Last Straw For Disgusted British Housewives

By VALLERY GIBSON

LONDON, Feb. 10 —(AP) — Housekeeping is dreary in Britain today. The meat ration is down to eight pence (about 10 cents) worth a week a person.

That eight pence will buy about six ounces of lamb chops, eight ounces of ground or roasting beef, 4½ ounces ounces of beefsteak or nine ounces of roasting lamb.

In most cases that's a little more than a bite or so a week.

Eggs are rationed, except during the laying season, to roughly one each week. Bacon is rationed to four rashers a week,

Sausages were welcomed back with joy when the government announced recently they were to regain their full pork content. But there aren't enough to go around.

There are plenty of canned meats about, but these are beyond the pocket of the average household more than about once a week. There is plenty of fish.

Cheese is rationed to two ounces a week.

Got To Pay

"You've got to have food, so you've got to pay the prices," said Mrs. Bradshaw of Bromley, southwest of London.

"Why can't we have more meat? Every other country in Europe does," asked Mrs. John Thompson, wife of a London janitor. Her cry is echoed by many housewives who'd rather have the chance to spend more on meat and less on the things to make up for it.

(The situation is tied to a long controversy over the price Britain is willing to pay for Argentine meat. The British government does the buying, and recently has refused to pay the prices demanded at Buenos Aires).

Rice, macaroni, spaghetti, herbs, sauerkraut, as well as nearly every kind of vegetable, are available.

Most meals of the average family are made-up dishes, with vegetables or bread as a base. Meat pies, stews, risottos, curries, fish chowders are the most usual for the main meal of the day, with toasted sardines, cheese and so on for the light meal.

Investigate Cannibalism

STANLEYVILLE, Belgian Congo, Feb. 10 (Reuters).—Police Friday were investigating reports of cannibalism from the nearby village of Opala. Africans who disappeared from the village recently are said to have been killed and their flesh sold on a local meat market.

Your Children's Feet

By NANCY CLEAVER

During Health Week public attention is focused on physical well-being and this is the time to give serious thought to the care of your child's feet. Children love to scamper around on a rug in bare feet. Walking and running is a joy to them. What happens that so many of the very same children are handicapped when they come to middle age by foot trouble? There are few sadder sights than a man or woman hobbling along the street as if every step was painful.

Poor posture, even when standing, and pains in the legs often have their origin in the feet. How many grownups, even if they do not suffer acutely from their feet, get less enjoyment in their working hours and find they cannot participate in active sports in their leisure time because of weak feet?

Most children come into the world with perfect feet. You don't find them groaning over corns or bunions or calluses. Nor do you discover them complaining of fallen arches or that their feet hurt. Why is it that children's feet are usually able to do the work for which they were made, while almost ninety per cent of men and women suffer from foot afflictions of one kind or another? Why were there so many men rejected for service in the armed forces on account of flat feet or other foot deformities?

There are many minor reasons. The pavements in cities and towns and hard floors of modern houses are not kind to feet. Overweight grown-ups place too great a pressure on their feet. Instead of walking or standing with toes pointing forward, Indian style, a great many grown-ups point their toes outward, and some toe inward. These unnatural positions place too much strain on the muscles, tendons, and arches of the feet.

After a bath or a shower, grown-ups are often hurried and pre-occupied and they fail to dry the skin thoroughly between their toes—then they are chagrined to find, later, that athlete's foot or some other skin ailment irritates them. The correct way to cut a toe nail is straight across, leaving it slightly longer than the flesh. The corners should be smoothed with a file, and not left sharp or they might cause ingrown nails.

But the one great cause for foot trouble is improperly fitted shoes—and too short or too large stockings or socks can cause discomfort and dificulty too. In many modern shoe stores an X-ray machine gives a picture of the 26 bones of the foot within the new shoe. The fitter and also the parent and child can see at a glance whether the shoes are a good fit or not, but X-ray equipment should only be used by a qualified clerk.

Another method of checking on a shoe is to draw the outline, with a pencil held upright, not slanting, of both feet when standing. Then draw the outline of the proposed new shoes. Compare the two outlines and see if the shoe seems to be a good choice. In no place should the foot outline extend beyond the ouline of the shoe. Sometimes one foot is larger than the other, so both left and right feet must be drawn.

A baby's little shoes in which he takes his first steps should be comfortable and also flexible and soft so that he can rise on tiptoes. Don't forget that up to three years a little child's foot is growing so rapidly that new shoes must be purchased every two to three months. Older children's feet grow quickly too and they may have to have new shoes two or three times a year.

Boys and girls should be taught these guides for the correct buying of footwear. Shoes should be longer (about a half inch) than the foot with rounded caps, which give the toes room to lie straight and slightly separated. They should be wide enough, and yet fit the arch and heel snugly but not too tightly. The shank should be strong and flexible and the heel low and broad. Rubbers and overshoes should be fitted carefully too, and should not be kept on indoors.

Shoes deserve proper care. A boy or girl will find a visit to a shoe repair shop interesting. Take your child with his shoes to be mended whenever they need it. Encourage him to clean and shine his own shoes when he is old enough. Have a shoe shine kit in a handy place and keep it well stocked.

Weak feet may be strengthened by exercise such as picking up marbles or a clothes peg with the toes, walking on tip toe, and walking along a straight line on the floor. If the feet of any member of the family are giving pain or discomfort, do seek the cause and if necessary consult expert medical advice without delay. Where there is no danger of a child cutting his feet, in the warm weather, going without shoes and stockings is good for feet. The care of the feet is an essential part of good health—do not neglect your own or your children's feet.

Recreation Said One Of Great Needs Of Blind

To the blind, recreation means as much as to those people who can see. If a blind person has worked all day he wants fun in the evening. These are two of the opinions of Miss Norma Hughes, formerly of Peterborough.

Miss Hughes, who operates a Canadian Institute for the Blind stand in Toronto, says that blind people need and want much the same things that sighted people need and want.

Starting Sunday, next week is announced by officials of the Canadian Council of the Blind and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind as White Cane Week. During this period they ask the community to give a little thought to its blind members—to inform themselves that the sightless citizen is a normal Canadian—with an inconvenient handicap.

This year the effort to develop a closer understanding between blind and sighted centres around recreation. Asked what the attitude of the blind is to recreation, Miss Norma Hughes, of Peterborough, operator of CNIB stand, replied, "Much the same as that of the sighted. They like fun."

Individual In Like

"But what kind of fun can they enjoy?" we asked Miss Hughes. "That depends on the man or the woman," she replied. The blind are just as individual in their likings and needs as the sighted.

One blind man may like music—or he may not know one note from another. He may enjoy reading, or he may want to bowl, or he may wish to play a game of bridge with his sighted friend.

"And," laughed Miss Hughes, "he may be just as bad or as good at any one of these as any of his sighted friends."

"Strange as it may seem," Miss Hughes went on, "the entertainments of blind people are quite diversified—one may like to take long walks and have definite ideas as to where he wants to go—along country roads or city streets, or he may want to go to a movie. In short, said Miss Hughes, he wants and needs what you want and need. And his efforts to have fun must blend with yours, if both of you are to accomplish your purpose.

"You don't take your blind friend to a theatre," Miss Hughes concluded, "if you want the outing to be successful. You and he go together. That is the only way for blind and sighted Canadians to get along. They must work, live and play together."

Cold For Sweden

STOCKHOLM —(CP)—A low temperature of 58 degrees below zero was recorded in Lapland in the recent cold wave that swept over northern Europe. Sweden's record low, registered in 1941, stands at 62 below zero.

LAST MINUTE SHARPENING is done by Bert Jones, who sold his Hunter St. east butcher shop after a quarter century of business in Ashburnham. Bert, who is 58, says he isn't going to retire yet, but will take things "a little easier." Above, he is getting in a few final strokes of the iron before taking a few months holidays.

25 Years In Ashburnham, Bert Jones Sells Meat Shop

A. W. (Bert) Jones has sold his meat business at 97 Hunter St., east. Wednesday was his last day after more than 25 years building up trade at his one-man shop in Ashburnham.

His successor is Cliff Hurl, who gained a knowledge of the business through employment with the E. F. Mason and Braund stores.

"I'm not retiring," says Bert who is an active 58 years. "I'm just going to take it a little easier now. And I won't be so tied down."

For the next two or three months he intends to just loaf and travel. He will make one trip out west to visit relative—a standing invitation he has had to postpone until now because of business responsibilities.

Rise of Chain Stores

During his quarter century as a butcher he has seen the rise of chain stores and the near elimination of the one-man butcher shop. But he doesn't think this trend will go to its logical conclusion.

"There'll always be a place for the family butcher," he says.

"People like to come into the friendly atmosphere of a neighborhood meat store. They exchange a few pleasantries and then select their own meat and see it cut up before their eyes. They know what they're getting and they also know that the proprietor takes a personal interest in seeing them satisfied."

Bert is no believer in the proverbial "big thumb" of the butcher when weighing the customers' meat. "You've got to be fair and honest with folks," he says, "and if you are, they'll treat you the same."

No Regrets

"I've never had any regrets going into the meat business. I've had to work hard, but I've also made a lot of friends."

A lot of people in Ashburnham, particularly when times were tough, remember Bert letting them have their Sunday roast "on tick." And on the side he's helped out a good number of people when they got into money troubles.

People don't forget that sort of thing. It's one reason for his popularity in Ashburnham.

Bert is also well known because of his ability as a "caller off." He has attended dances in that capacity throughout the Peterborough district, and he's still in demand. At Legion festivities the "gang" expect him to "call off" when they start square dancing.

Heel and Toe Man

Bert is himself a good dancer, and when the spirit moves him will splurge with a fast "heel and toe" that makes the youngsters gape with envy.

He doesn't intend to give up his local connections. As a veteran of the First World War (59th Batt., and later the 46th) he is an enthusiastic booster of the Legion. And he is a member of the sergeant's mess.

He is also a senior member of the YMCA where he now lives in residence.

"Don't count me out. I haven't retired," he assures friends. "After I've taken it easy for a while I'll look around and see about getting back into business. But not as a butcher."

Political Parties In Agreement On Immigration

By LOUIS LECK.

SYDNEY, Australia, — (CP). —Immigration is almost the only question on which the official policies of both the government and the Australian Labor Party are in complete agreement.

Immigration Minister Harold E. Holt has publicly praised the policy and administration of his Labor predecessor, Arthur A. Calwell. In turn Calwell has defended Holt's policy in Parliament against attacks by a Labor colleague.

The policy broadly is the introduction of as many immigrants of European stock as can be obtained and transported to Australia. It has shown great results.

Began In 1947

It came into operation in 1947 under a Labor Government with full support of the Liberal-Country Party Opposition, and continues under the present government with Opposition Labor support.

By the end of 1950 there were 400,000 people hod arrived to settle. Of these some 260,000 had been given assisted or free passages. About 225,000 have been British migrants. About 100,000 have been displaced persons brought to Australia under the auspices of the International Refugee Organization.

Last year between 180,000 and 190,000 migrants arrived, 75,000 of whom were British.

This year 200,000 are expected —50,000 free and assisted-passage migrants from Britain, 30,000 full-fare British migrants, 10,000 DP's, 30,000 landing permit holders, and 80,000 Europeans.

Foreign Agreements

Agreements have been made with Italy and Holland.

That with Italy will be for five years. Each government will contribute to the cost of passages for selected migrants. At first the immigration rate will be at the rate of 15,000 a year.

That with Holland will also be for five years and each government will contribute towards passage costs. This year 25,000 Netherlanders will be brought to Australia and because of the shipping shortage about 5,000 of them will be flown here.

Australia is also negotiating with West German authorities for an assisted migrant agreement under which 25,000 West Germans will arrive in Australia each year.

But there are difficulties and problems in the way of the 200,000 target for 1951.

Have To Slow Down

There is a growing belief that Australia has outrun its capabilities in aiming at the admission of 600,000 migrants in five years. Homes are scarce, the supply of some food items is dwindling, many essential items are hard to buy and prices are rising.

Some economists believe the nation cannot carry the strain of immigration, defence and national development simultaneously without creaks and groans and mounting inflation.

So far there has been no difficulty in securing British migrants. The trouble has been to provide shipping. More than a third of the British people who have come to Australia have paid their own fares rather than wait for transport under the assisted passage scheme.

But although individual British people are anxious to come here the British Government is raising objections to Australia selecting skilled workmen—engineers, building tradesmen, farmers. Britain wants these experts as much as Australia does.

Officially, however, the view is that Australia will reach its 1951 target for British migrants.

So far as European migrants are concerned Australia's difficulty is not to secure candidates but to screen them for security, age, health and physique. European migrants who receive passage assistance are under bond to work where directed for two years.

They receive full wages in their jobs and are given accommodation at little more than a nominal rate. However, direction to essential work frequently involves the separation of families and some hardship is involved.

After the two-year period the migrant is free to accept whatever work he wishes and is eligible for citizenship.

No such restrictions are placed on British migrants, even those who receive free passages.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Syrup, at Home

You'll be surprised how quickly a bad winter cough can be relieved, when you try this well known recipe universally used throughout Canada. It's no trouble to mix, and costs but a trifle.

Into a 16 ounce bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. This makes four times as much cough medicine for your money. Never spoils and tastes fine.

Quickly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the phlegm, helps to clear the air passages, and soothes the irritated membranes. This explains why it brings such quick relief.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

Paris Style Front Shows No War Or Revolution

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS —(NEA)— The great Parisian style houses have decided against any radical changes for spring.

That's the definite impression gained by unprecedented hundreds who crowded the first few days of fashion collections. The world of high style apparently prefers to concentrate on details, beautiful fabrics and new colors for 1951.

The "war influence" is nonexistent, unless it can be considered traceable in hats of masculine or Chinese inspiration. And there seems to be a complete disregard of any eventual fabric shortages.

The prevailing influence is Eighteenth Century. This is apparent in basqued jackets of varying lengths shown by Paquin, whose letter "X" line broadens shoulders and hips, accentuating an hourglass waistline. Suit skirts in this collection are pencil slim, often striped and topped with a monotone jacket. Paquin's dresses show wide folded or pleated hip panels, or else are flaring wraparounds with molded bodices. Evening gowns here are slim sheaths with flowing scarves or are extravagantly romantic.

Paquin makes wide use of cut steel buttons and belts, the latter appearing throughout the collection, while "Indian Chief" earrings are important accessories. Spreading hats vie with feminized Homburgs for attention.

Beige, pink (often combined with black), peach, apricot, whites and grays are Paquin's favored colors; exotic silks the most popular fabrics.

Suits are highlighted throughout the Manguin collection. For daytime, they have slightly longer jackets showing wide open fronts with folded lapels projected forward, completed by high-collared, starched dickeys or blouses finished with soft bows, all evocative of the romantic dandy of the Eighteenth Century. Aubusson and Beauvais tapestry are new touches on dark velvet collars.

Manguin shows a lot of long-haired wool coats of varying lengths in sun red, dawn yellow and off whites, worn over suits and sports dresses. Afternoon dresses almost entirely have sunray accordion pleated skirts fanning out from short hip yokes, with a tendency to concentrate fullness in front. Necklines are draped high, decollete, bateau or scooped. Pointed Breton coif hats of varying sizes share honors with canebottom straws.

Desses' entire collection is based on the apron theme, offering 12 variations ranging from narrow oval-shaped to wide spreading pleated aprons. Many of the aprons are detachable, and do double duty as capes.

Only executions to the apron rule shown by Desses are entirely shirred, bell-skirted models for beach, cocktail and evening wear, and spear-slim sheaths edged with a wide band of self-ruching and completed by giant sleeve muffs. Colorful beachwear includes coolie pants buttoning below the knee under swirling skirts, with sunback tops.

Desses' suit jackets have nipped-in waists, stiffened basques, raglan sleeves continuing into a rolled collar, or wide olive-shaped revers, topping apron-fronted, slender skirts. Predominant colors in this collection are honey, clove, mignonette, grays, navy and white.

High, moon-shaped bust lines, molded midriffs, natural shoulders and waistlines and strong emphasis on curves sum up the "New Moon silhouette" featured by Jacques Heim.

Heim's afternoon dresses have scooped necklines and low bloused backs. The skirts are flounced and backdraped, with some fanshaped and others wraparound.

Sheer, exotic silks, wool, taffetas, poplin and alpaca are Heim's outstanding fabrics, with apricot, lemon, grays and brilliant flower shades leading, plus navy and whites. Checks and stripes supersede prints.

Maggy Rouff plays with the apron and panel theme throughout her collection. Mid calf, bell-shaped skirts alternate with pencil slim skirts, the latter often featuring outsize double saddle pockets.

She introduces long, rectangular necklines on suits and coats, and oval-shaped necklines on her afternoon dress bodices which are easy fitting. Rippling basque jackets at this house have fullness projected from the sides, front or back. Wide raglan kimona sleeves fold into cuffs at the elbow. Belts, buttons and horsehair braid are highlighted as accessories and trimmings.

For cocktail dresses and evening gowns, Mme. Rouff favors satins and taffetas, veiled with contrasting tulle or organza, with much stress on embroidery. Ribbon frequently fashions entire dresses, and is also used extensively for trimming.

Pupils Present Operetta In Marmora

MARMORA, Feb. 10 —(ENS)— Marmora high school commencement exercises took place in the town hall on Tuesday evening before a large audience. The feature of the evening was a three-act operetta "Green Cheese". Eldon Killian, Kenneth Wright, Anne Clairmont, Bernard Hughes, Betty Nobes, John Clemens and Bob Walker were the cast, supported by a chorus of pupils of the school. Day of Prayer Collections One Third Higher

Prayers for peace went up from tens of thousands of women Friday, on the annual Women's Day of Prayer, in 2,500 services across Canada.

In Peterborough there were united services in the afternoon and evening at George St. United Church and an evening service was held at the Anson House.

Mrs. G. M. Rutherford, local secretary-treasurer, reports the financial returns are one-third higher than last year. Attendance at the services was considered good. Mrs. Rutherford, representing St. George's Anglican Church, took part in the afternoon meeting and the service at Anson House, as well as keeping records of all those taking part and the cash donations.

The theme, "Perfect love casteth out fear," was enlarged upon by Mrs. C. M. Scott of St. Andrew's United Church, at the afternoon meeting, and by Miss Grace Woodcock, returned missionary from Bolivia, in the evening.

Mrs. Ross Williamson of Knox United Church sang the solo "Pray for peace" at the afternoon service and Mrs. James Goldie sang "God Alone is Love" in the evening, both accompanied by organist Mr. Charles Allen. Mrs. Reginald Chandler was the soloist at Anson House and Mrs. Percy Hooper her accompanist.

Leaders for the three services were Mrs. A. A. Mathews, and Mrs. W. H. Frise, George St. United, and Mrs. Cecil Thackeray of All Saints' at Anson House with seven others from her church assisting.

The same order of service was used in all these services and all over the world. Ladies taking part and the churches they represented were:

Afternoon: Mrs. E. H. Brown, George St.; Mrs. G. White, St. Lukes; Mrs. F. Hooper, St. John's; Mrs. D. Moore, St. Alban's; Mrs. F. W. Craik, St. James; Mrs. H. Eastwood, St. Paul's; Mrs. H. Selton, Murray St.; Mrs. G. Seely, Park St. and Open Bible; Mrs. A. A. McIntyre, WCTU; Salvation Army, Mrs. Cyril Everitt; Mrs. R. Y. Kenny, returned missionary to India, St. Andrew's.

Evening: Mrs. J. Browne, St. Paul's WA; Miss Mary Lackey, St. Andrew's PMA; Miss Margaret Dainton, St. John's Evening WA; Mrs. J. Rogers, St. Luke's Evening WA; Mrs. J. McLeod, St. Paul's WA; Mrs. J. Howard, All Saints' WA; Miss Marilyn Gimblett, Park St. YPU; Miss Edna Genge, Murray St. YPU; Mrs. Eric Edmondson, Trinity MA; Mrs. Col. H. C. Ritchie, Salvation Army; Mrs. W. White, St. George's Evening WA; Miss Mary Morton, Knox Mission Circle; Mrs. S. Gilmore, George St. MA.

Ushering and taking up the collection was by ladies of the various churches also.

Crown Jewels Tough Target For Criminals

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)— An ordinary crowbar could probably pry up the metal bars which guard the fabulous crown jewels in the tower of London. But the custodians are not noticeably worried.

Ever since the audacious theft of the historic stone of Scone from Westminster Abbey, nervous Britons wondered if the crown itself was safe.

The Tower of London however is a lot harder to crack than Westminster Abbey. The precautions against burglary are elaborate, some visible and some highly secret.

Actually there are several crowns of priceless value behind the bars in the ancient tower, and bushels of gems which could be counted a magnificent haul by any master burglar. One conservative estimate places the total value around $60,000,000.

The royal crown itself was stolen once, but that was in 1671, when precautions weren't so scientific as they are now. The thief, the daring Col. Thomas Blood, was caught with St. Edward's crown, the one used in the coronation ceremonial, tucked into a bag just as he was about to mount his horse. He had sawed the royal sceptre in two for more convenient carriage, and has scooped up a rich assortment of jewels.

Received Pardon

Blood was remarkably lucky. Stealing crowns was certainly a hanging offence in those days, but King Charles II was so impressed with Blood's audacity that he gave him a pardon, appointed him to the royal bodybuard and later gave him a pension.

But blood couldn't do it today, say the red-coated beefeaters who guard the tower. The man responsible for general security is the governor of the tower, Col. E. H. Karkeet James, who does not talk of all the measures taken to see that the crown and jewels stay where they are.

The tower swarms with beefeaters, the yeomen of the guard. Then there are soldiers stationed inside. The tower walls are up to 20 feet thick. There is an elaborate system of burglar alarms and doors swing shut and gates close on the sounding of an alert.

Nor would it be easy for insiders to steal the Royal jewels. Each night at the tower there is a new password, known only to authorized persons going in. Those leaving duty never hear it. Once past the outer guard, the night staff encounters sentries every few yards. Each must have the password to get along and they cannot leave at night.

Great Secrecy

The password is communicated to only two persons outside the tower each day. One is the King, the other is the Lord Mayor of London.

In addition to the alarm system, the jewels are watched by six armed guards, whose short beats are floodlit and so arranged that one pacing sentry is always in sight of at least one other. The chances that the crown will be where it should be in the morning are considered pretty good.

Tower authorities are not giving any details about the electronic system which it was announced recently is being or has been installed. It was hoped that the system of rays and sound detectors would be so foolproof that it would be possible to discard the bars around the jewels. But the bars, about three inches apart, which surround the 15-foot octagonal glass case, are still in place.

Mrs. Fred Bell Hostess To WA

FAIRVIEW, Feb. 10—(ENS)—Mrs. Fred Bell was hostess for the February meeting of the Fairview Women's Association. Mrs. W. D. Wilson led in devotions. The lesson thoughts and topic were taken by Mrs. Carmen Bell. Mrs. Everett Cockburn read the scripture and the Rev. D. P. Morris led in prayer. Mrs. Wilson conducted a Valentine contest.

Mrs. Walter Heard was appointed responsible for the birthday kettle. The ladies voted to give donations as in the past to the Fred Victor Mission and the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto, and also to the March of Dimes. Two quilts are to be pieced for missionary work. A pot luck dinner and a quilting is to be held shortly at the home of the president.

Life Underwriters Told Have Home Front Job Now

Possibly very few citizens who hold insurance policies on their lives, homes, valued possessions, have though that this fact is a striking blow against the Communist enemy the democratic world is now preparing to fight.

It was stated that it is by the guest speaker to the Life Underwriters Association, Mr. Gordon Nairn, a man of wide experience who has proved himself of outstanding ability. Mr. Nairn said:

"Our job is one of the most profound on the home front. We are causing people to do things for themselves — not to depend on the "state" for support; to keep democracy alive by their independence of spirit.

"We can lose our freedom through the back door of not doing enough for ourselves," he cautioned. "Freedom goes in tiny bits but the fight to bring it back is tremendous."

The speaker lived in Germany when Hitler was coming into power and heard him speaking, reiterating the promise "The state will provide—". "That was the price of freedom of the German people," he pointed out. "Russia today is doing the same—crushing independence of the people, dignity of the person."

Mr. Nairn, executive representative of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, pointed out that Canadians average only about $1,000 life insurance per individual so there is plenty of opportunity in this field. "This business has changed from a peddler's business to that of a councillor of security," he remarked, and he urged intensive study to become a "professional adviser on the subject."

"Life insurance is merely money for future delivery of all the things people are going to need", he defined.

The address was made Friday night to city and district members of the Life Underwriters Association and their wives and guests at the annual dinner dance which was held this year at Club Aragon.

Association president Jerry Norris remarked it was the largest attendance in some time. He said "Membership has many benefits of practical and helpful nature, but the greatest is the investment in fellowship as seen here."

Chairman Dave Schellenberg had devised a novel way of introducing the crowd. He read out slogans which are continually used in advertising and the representatives of the company using each were asked to stand. It was indeed a good test of alertness that caught several managers napping.

The incoming president Mr. Ed. Henwood made the introduction of the speaker and the vote of thanks was voiced by Mr. Reg. Crouch.

A toast to the ladies, proposed by Mr. Jack Allen, described them as partners in a "together-kind-of-job". Mrs. Roy Irwin responded to the toast and lady luck rewarded her for the effort when she won the door prize, a set of coloured glass tumblers.

The salesmen and their ladies and guests attending were:

Mr. and Mrs. D. Schellenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Meagher, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Driscoll, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Faux, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mortlock, Mr. and Mrs. A. Many Belgians Anxious Live In Canada

BRUSSELS, —(CP)—Canadian immigration officers, installed in a new office building in the heart of Brussels, are wrestling daily with an average backlog of 2,000 applications from Belgian residents anxious to settle in Canada.

Jack Robillard, chief of the Canadian Immigration Bureau here, said prospective settlers had been streaming in since regulations were relaxed on the entry into the Dominion of European settlers.

"We were forced to take new offices, increase our staff, and that is still not enough for the joo," he said.

Mr. Robillard estimated that 8,000 emigrants would be sent from Belgium to Canada during the next 12 months. During January alone his office issued 5,000 application forms with an average of 150 completed inquiries returned daily. Roughly half of the applications were ultimately approved with a percentage of the remainder held over for possible changes in Canada's labor requirements.

DP Requests

Many of the applications come from displaced persons as well as Italian subjects working in Belgian coal mines.

Mr. Robillard said the majority seeking a new home in Canada were agricultural workers. The list, however, included artisans, technicians, tradesmen and domestic servants.

Applicants from Wallonia, the highly-industrialized provinces in Southern Belgium, invariably express a preference to settle in the French-speaking communities of Canada. Those from the Flemish areas in the north mainly favor the Prairie provinces where they hope to establish themselves on their own farms.

FRENCH AREA

France, most westerly country in Central Europe, has an area of 212,659 square miles.

US Women's Groups Exert Potent Influence At Capital

WASHINGTON, — (A P) — Millions of United States women belong to clubs that use them as often formidable pressure groups on bills coming before Congress.

They campaign for and against specific legislation, for the most part, bills they support are on general subjects, such as world trade and taxes. Only a few worry about action that is purely on behalf of women.

Ten National Women's organizations with offices in Washington are listed in the official register of lobbyists. But ask an experienced Washington club woman how many women's clubs take action on legislation at one time or another and she asks "can you count the fleas on a dag?"

The National Club organizations follow pretty much the same pattern. They mail "Washington News Letters" to educate their members on what is happening in Congress.

Various Ways of Pressure.

Sometimes they ask members to notify their Congressmen how they want them to vote, but this is usually done only when the organization has taken a vote in a national convention. Often officers of the organizations testify before Congressional Committees.

Then there are the so-called Washington "social lobbies." These are mostly society women who invite guests to dinner, fill them with good food and expensive liquor and then suggest that this or that bill would be good or bad. Generally these women are aiding only their husband's interests.

On the serious side here is what the different organized American club women are backing:

The General Federation of Women's Clubs has probably the largest membership —over 750,000 paid members in this country and about 5,500,000 affiliates in various foreign countries.

Main Platforms.

The Federation is now supporting the reciprocal trade agreements, universal military training, the North Atlantic pact, the Marshall Plan, the Voice of America the International Genocide convention, and draft of 18-year-olds if it is necessary and provided the young men get as much education as possible. The Federation has also approved the Women's Equal Rights Amendment and Statehood for Alaska.

The Federation takes the Marshall Plan so seriously that a large committee spent last summer in Europe checking on the use of U. S. help.

The National Woman's Party has just one plank: The Equal Rights Amendment, which it has supported since 1923. Curiously, it has already gotten the bill past the United Nations. The U. S. Congress is still debating.

The National Business and Professional Women's Clubs have only 150,000 members, but they are counted powerful in Washington because the members include outstanding working women in small American communities, like women judges and business women.

"B. and P." puts some emphasis on legislation for women. They support the Equal Rights Amendment. They were successful in getting women a permanent status in the military services. They are demanding equal treatment for women under the Social Security program. They fought the bill that would have prevented both husband and wife from working for the government at the same time. They approve the Genocide Convention, which would make it an international crime to massacre whole peoples.

Other major groups include the American Association of University Women, whose prime interest of course is education; the Women's Christian Temperance Union which is interested in many things besides temperance; and the League of Women voters.

Havelock Women Join In Day of Prayer

HAVELOCK, Feb. 10 (ENS)— The World's Day of Prayer was observed in Knox Presbyterian Church on Friday when a good representation of women from the various churches attended.

The theme of the service was "Perfect Love Casteth Out Fear, with Mrs. F. R. Vanderburgh giving the address on that subject. The best way to obtain a knowledge of that perfect love she said was through service and the letters WMS could stand for "Who Must Serve". She mentioned the mission work in the various foreign fields noting that there were only 10 missionaries left in China where the church will carry on even if it has to go underground.

Mrs. Vanderburgh said she thought the workers on the home front were taking their job too lightly.

Mrs. Fred Bennett presided for the opening part of the service, which included a prayer for peace written by German Christian women and offered in unison, the call to worship and the portion under the heading "adoration". Mrs. Frank McKay led the service under the heading of penitence while Mrs. A. Anderson and Miss Mary Buchanan led the portions under "Assurance" and "Dedication of Self" respectively.

Mrs. G. W. Chiles presided for the intercession period when prayers were offered by Mrs. W. Woodbeck, Miss Edith Sanders, Mrs. J. Longmuir, Mrs. F. Rogers, Mrs. G. Jones, and Mrs. Ralph Bullock.

Mrs. L. Bigelow was the soloist and Mrs. Donald Kirk officiated at the organ. Mrs. Bennett presided for the dedication of the offering and closed the service with the benediction.

Nerves and Temperament Pet Excuses for Weakness

What is your favorite alibi? We all have them, you know. None of us has the courage of our sins nor the honesty to admit our shortcomings, so we hide behind a smoke screen and lay our weakness upon circumstances or heredity or luck or other people or what have you.

Dorothy Dix

Women's favorite alibi is nerves. They are a blanket excuse that covers temper and selfishness, self indulgence, indolence and all of their by-products. What the feminine sex would do without their "poor nerves," no one has imagination enough even to guess.

You never heard a woman admit she was a virago. When one flies into rages and rails like a fishwife, it is because something has upset her "delicate nerves." When a woman rears her children on the street and at her neighbors' it isn't because she is too trifling and no-account to shoulder her responsibilities. It is because her "poor nerves" cannot stand the racket that children make. When a woman has her husband so terrorized that he dare not open his mouth in his own house for fear of starting something, it isn't because she is mean and overbearing and tyrannical. It's just because she is "nervous." You have her own word for it.

Poor Health a Good Out

The universal alibi for laziness is poor health with women, and temperament with men. Did you ever see either a woman or a man who acknowledged to being lazy, and confessed that the reason they sat down on the do-nothing stool and let other people support them was because they simply loathed to work? You never did. But on the contrary you know plenty of strong husky loafers who will tell you how they envy your energy, and how they wish they had the vigor and strength to toil as you do, or that they had not been born so finely attuned that they cannot adjust themselves to a sordid commercial world.

A woman will say she knows that she looks strong, but looks are very deceptive and she finds she simply cannot get up in the morning and get her husband's breakfast and start the children off to school, so she just has to lock her door so they won't disturb her morning rest, without which she wouldn't be able to play bridge all afternoon. And, of course, it is never selfishness. It's their poor health that sends myriads of wives off to the mountains in the summer, and south in the winter, while poor husbands slave to pay hotel bills.

It's not aversion to work. It's temperament that keeps thousands of men sponging on their friends and relatives. They will tell you with tears in their eyes that they long for work, but they simply cannot do everyday tasks. They must have work for which they are temperamentally fitted. Something spiritual that can be done when they are in the mood for it, and with big pay checks attached, and as there are no such jobs, they let Mother support them until some fool girl with a good job takes over the contract.

The alibi of the philanderer is that his wife does not understand him. It's never his fault that he is a petticoat chaser. He never admits that he is a poor weak creature who is totally lacking in loyalty and a sense of duty and self-control. No, he is a poor misunderstood lonely soul, married to a woman who does not sympathise with him or who is cold, and so he is driven to seek solace elsewhere.

The Other Woman

The alibi of the forsaken wife is The Other Woman. Nobody ever heard of a deserted wife who admitted to losing her husband through her own carelssness. The reason that her husband strayed away from his own fireside was never because she slumped and got slovenly or because she was a bad housekeeper or because she got peevish or fretful and nagging or because she got so dull she bored him to death. No. It is always because The Other Woman possessed mysterious powers of attraction with which no wife could contend.

The alibi of the divorced is the Other One. It's never the husband's fault when the marriage goes on the rocks. The wife is never to blame when the marriage goes blooey. Each will tell you that with elaborations. The husband won't say a word about his drinking too much or spending his money on Other Women or being as grumpy or grouchy as a sore-headed bear, but he will tell you all about his wife's extravagance and her fault-finding and how she kept the house cluttered up with her people.

The wife won't mention her extravagance, or the kind of dinners she set before her husband, but she will hold forth at length how her husband neglected her and the row he made over the bills and how he simply drove her to Reno.

And the alibi for all the unsuccessful is that they never had any luck. The reason they haven't got along is because they didn't get the breaks. Their never having the grit to stick to a hard job or put their backs and their brains into their work is never the reason that they are failures. It's just that they were unlucky.

We've all got our alibis for our faults and weaknesses. What is yours?

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION: I lost my recipe for chocolate icing. All of the ingredients were put in a bowl together and this bowl set in another bowl with ice or snow in it, and the ingredients all beaten together with a dover beater until thick enough for spreading. If you have the recipe I would appreciate it being printed in your column as soon as possible. Also I would like any other simple icing.

Mrs. W. S. E.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: For some years my friends and I have called this

Elsie's Fluffy Frosting

You must follow the instructions re chilling the butter and chocolate or it will not work.

In the bowl in which your beater fits best put 2 tablespoons butter and 2 squares cooking chocolate. Melt these enough to mix them smoothly over steaming water. Remove from heat and cool to room temperature—so that you feel no warmth at all on the bowl when you feel it with your hand. Now add ¼ cup whole milk, 1 cup unsifted icing sugar plus 2 tablespoons, and 1 slightly beaten egg. Stand in larger bowl containing ice water and beat with rotary beater until stiff and fluffy.

✧ ✧ ✧

Coffee Frosting

Mix together ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup brown sugar, and ¼ cup strong coffee (boiled down from leftover breakfast coffee), and boil until it will spin a thread 12 inches long when spoon is dipped in syrup and lifted high above it. Pour gradually while constantly beating, on 1 egg white beaten stiff and continue beating until stiff. Then add ¼ cup broken nuts and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Delicious on chocolate or gold cake.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Enclosed you will find a recipe for the party who is allergic to eggs. We have used it many times especially when eggs were scarce.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mrs. Fred R's Two-Way Eggless Devil's Food

Measure 2 cups sifted cake flour and sift it 3 times with 2/3 teaspoon baking soda and ¾ teaspoon salt. Combine 1½ cups brown sugar with ⅓ cup cocoa. Cream until very soft 6 tablespoons butter or shortening, and gradually blend the cocoa and sugar into it. Beat until light. Add dry ingredients to cocoa mixture alternately with 2/3 cup thick sour milk. Stir in ½ cup boiling water. Turn into greased and floured muffin pans, or into paper cups placed in muffin pans. Bake in moderate oven about 20 to 25 minutes. OR bake as loaf or in 8 inch square pan at 325 deg. Fahr. for 50 to 60 minutes. Cover with white icing or chocolate butter icing.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I will thank you for the reader who asked for it, and certainly hope she sees this. Let me help you sometime.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Would you please print in the paper a recipe called Brandy Snaps. There is no brandy in them and they are made like a real thin cookie. I had this recipe some years ago. A person from England gave it to me but I just can't find it. So maybe some of your readers might know something about them. They are very good.

Mrs. Wm. A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Brandy Snaps (brandyless)

Heat one-half cup of molasses to boiling point and add ½ cup butter, then slowly stirring constantly, add 1 cup of sifted flour, sifted with 2/3 cup sugar and 1 tablespoon ginger. Drop small portions from tip of spoon onto a buttered cookie sheet 2 inches apart. Bake in slow oven of 325 deg. F. and as you take them from oven roll each one over handle of wooden spoon to make it into a roll. If they become too crisp to roll return them to oven for a moment.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Would you please send me a calorie chart? I am trying to reduce and imagine a chart would help me out some. I have been a faithful reader of your column, and find some very interesting items, real good recipes. Would also love to have a few pointers and advice if you could send me any. Thanking you, Mrs. A. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I have sent the chart by mail.

Do like General "Ike" Eisenhower does—cut out the butter entirely. That goes for margarine too or any other fat that could be spread on bread. Change from white to whole wheat bread and eat only three slives of it per day. Eat unsugared or unsweetened fruit for dessert instead of pie, cake, cookies or puddings. Do not put sugar in your tea and coffee and use whole milk instead of cream. Drink one pint of skim milk per day. Walk outside one hour per day. Eat two different vegetables every day that are not potatoes. They may be in salad form. If you like salad dressing on your salads substitute for it with cottage cheese.

Try those ideas and let my know how you make out. I have lots more up my sleeve.

BulkyCrowns More Trims InSpringHats

NEW YORK —(NEA)— Generally speaking, the woman buying a new hat this spring will get more hat for her money. She'll get a bulkier crown, a wider brim, more important trimming — in short, more hat.

The reason for this, of course, is that hair is slightly longer. Not much, but enough to make a difference in hats. Few of the top designers care strongly for the chignon but most do like a cluster of curls at the nape of the neck.

While there's much talk of the "forward movement" in hats, the name designers are skeptical about it. They include the forward hat in their collections but they don't believe that women will snap at it. The reason for this, they say, is plain. The forward hat makes a woman look older and what woman past 21 wants to look older?

Erik Braagaard, whose hats are always flattering and in excellent taste, does a small suit hat in a head-hugging horn of plenty silhouette. He makes it of wheat braid in a scallop shell pattern and gives it, as trim, a narrow black velvet ribbon. Face veiling is both sheer and fine.

Sally Victor's pumpkin beret appears several ways in her collection. It's extremely wearable in gray felt edged in white pique. The crown is ridged pumpkin-fashion and the sides of the hat are smoothly rounded.

A small, youthful sailor in aqua-marine balibuntl by Walter Florell is called appropriately enough. "Bicycle Built for Two." It's banded in garnet velvet ribbon and has a white feather duster plume jutting out at one side.

This same designer does a mushroom cloche in navy-and-white straw braid and tops it with white straw pom-poms. This is a universally youthful and becoming silhouette and, as done by Florell, is pert.

But he was mine and I loved him so.

With one I loved with all my heart

Many a visit in silence is paid,
To lay down a flower in remembrance of thee,
Never forgotten nor never shall be.

Teepees Edge Generals 5-4 In Overtime

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 10 — (CP) — St. Catharines Teepees moved into a solid position in fifth place in the OHA junior "A" here Friday night when they defeated Oshawa Generals 5-4 in overtime, to lead the losers by four points.

A smartly - executed play clinched the verdict, as rugged Jim Robertson faked two Oshawa defencemen aside, then laid a perfect pass for Frank Toyota, who snapped a backhander past Dick Piatkowski, that broke a 4-4 deadlock.

It was a triumph for general manager Art Chapman of the parent Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League who handled the Teepees in the absence of coach Rudy Pilous. It was the first and only junior OHA game he had ever coached.

Rival coach Larry Aurie had his ace line on for fully three-quarters of the game, using them on every Teepee penalty, and Lou Jankowski and Alec Delvecchio did not disappoint.

Get Bad Break

Generals got a bad break midway in the opener when centre Stan Mills was kayoed on a body check and taken to city hospital with a possible internal injury. Aurie then had to fill in with Harve Dejordy, Bob Attersley and Ted O'Connor, in the centre spot.

Teepees romped to a 2-0 lead on goals by Robertson, both set up by Billy Young, which Delvecchio cut back on a star solo effort to make it 2-1 at the end of the period.

Dejordy evened it in 23 seconds of the middle heat, then, after Wayne Brown sent Teepees ahead again, Dejordy notched his second tally to again tie it at 3-3.

Generals forged in front in the fir., minute of play in the third, on Delvecchio's second score and it took Orrin Gould 12 minutes to fire a healthy screened shot past Piatkowski, to gain the third deadlock of the game.

Teepees had to kill off twin penalties on Pierre Pilote and Bibber O'Hearn in the overtime, as Generals drove hard to get the equalizer and but for brilliant work of goalie Don Simmons, would have taken the verdict.

Local Finance Tried

"The public movement in favour of the construction of the Trent Canal now in progress, may have the most important influence on the future of the Northwest, inasmuch as it will provide a cheap means of transporting the breadstuffs of the great wheat belt of the west to the hungering workmen of the industrial nations of Europe." In 1880 hopes were raised when Sir Charles Tupper, Minister of Railways and Canals, made a voyage through the Kawartha Lakes, and promised a renewal of construction immediately.

On the navigable sections, traffic was increasing yearly, although the Scugog and some other rivers were too shallow for navigation in dry seasons. Lumbering made this condition worse, blocking the rivers with logs and pouring hundreds of thousands of tons of sawdust into the streams yearly; for example, the Otonabee above Little Lake required constant dredging to permit steamers to get up to Peterborough wharf, because of sawdust and sedimentation. It is not surprising, therefore, that two early navigation ventures failed to thrive: the Fenelon Falls, Minden, Haliburton and Northern Lakes Steam Navigation Company, chartered 1866 by S. Smith, F. W. Haultain, Jas. Dunsford etc. with headquarters at Peterborough, capitalized at $100,000; and the Inland Water Transportation Company, chartered 1869 by Geo. Crandell, J. H. Perry, Wm. Sexton, J. B. Knowlson, S.C. Wood etc, with headquarters at Lindsay, capitalized at $50,000. There were 8 steamers on the Kawarthas in 1871, and 11 in 1881, according to the census. Capt. Crandell at Lindsay built the Mary Ellen, the Vanderbilt, and the Eva in this decade. Others built were the Victoria (later the Historian), the Coboconk (at Coboconk), and the Sampson No. 1 and Sampson No. 2 at Ball Lake (the first of these was hauled down over Fenelon Falls).

When his steamer Novelty wore out, M. Boyd built the Beaubocage, launched at Bobcaygeon April 5, 1878. The Boyd office diaries 1875-9 mention other steamers operating from Port Perry to Fenelon, Bobcaygeon and Bridgenorth, sometimes carrying passengers but mostly towing scows and rafts: Vanderbilt, Ontario, Sampson, Victoria, Anglo-Saxon, Lady Ida, Whistle, and Maple Leaf; their usual season was from May 1 to November 30. This entry occurred July 1, 1878: "Dominion Day was celebrated in gala manner and the attraction offered in boat and canoe rides and the PHYSIOG procession drew a large crowd. Vanderbilt and Ontario brought large excursions to Bobcaygeon from Lindsay and Bridgenorth."

Three or four steamers operated on northwestern lakes and rivers, including the Coboconk and the Sampson No. 2. There was another on Kushog Lake. W. H. Pearce of Minden ran a small steamer from Minden to the falls below Gull Lake, but ceased when the railway reached Kinmount. On the eastern lakes, the Chippewa met the Lakefield trains and ran three times weekly to Mount Julian, Burleigh and intermediate points.

Mount Pleasant Wins

The Mount Pleasant midgets defeated Millbrook midgets 5 to 3 on Mount Pleasant ice Thursday night in a fast and cleanly played hockey game. The refrees were Don Kent, of Millbrook, and Mark Lowes, of Mount Pleasant.

Robinson Demur About Victory

CHICAGO, Feb. 10 (AP)—For a guy who has beaten Jake Lamotta four out of five times, Sugar Ray Robinson is being surprisingly demur about his sixth chance at the Bronx Bull.

Welterweight champion Robinson, hailed by many as one of the trimmest fighting machines in history, will try to bag Lamotta's 160-pound title in a 15-rounder at Chicago Stadium Wednesday.

"So I'm a 4-1 or 3-1 favorite?" asks Robinson—"I've never heard of a welterweight challenging for the middleweight title as such a favorite. My only hope is that at the end of 15 rounds my arm will be raised as the winner."

Robinson is convinced there will be no knockout—maybe not even a knockdown—and that it will take the full route to determine the issue.

Robinson has scored 78 knockout in winning 120 bouts. Now he is talking about a decision. This can be construed as about the best tribute ever paid to Lamotta's ruggedness.

"I'll go against Lamotta to win, but I don't think I can chill him unless I happen to get lucky," he admits. "I'll be very happy to settle for a decision."

Three More Players Back In Chicago Fold

CHICAGO, Feb. 10—(AP)—Chicabo Cubs had three more players in the fold today, bringing to 30 the number under contract for 1951.

Agreeing to terms Friday were pitcher Bob Rush, veteran catcher Mickey Owen and outfielder Carmen Mauro.

Mauro, a 24-year-old six-footer, hammered .296 with the Cubs' farm at Springfield, Mass., early last season. In 62 games with the Cubs he had a .227 batting average. Rush compiled a 13-20 record and pitched 19 complete games.

Red Wings Call Up Defenceman Ben Woit

DETROIT, Feb. 10 (AP). — Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League called up defenceman Ben Woit from its Indianaoplis farm club in the American Hockey League Friday to replace injured Bob Goldham, who suffered a 17-stitch skate cut across the forehead in Chicago Thursday night.

The Red Wings said they would use Wolt, a former Toronto St. Michael's College junior, against Toronto there tonight and against Boston there Sunday.

Russ Meyer Signs Contract For Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 10 (AP) —Russ Meyer, firebrand pitcher of the Philadelphia Phillies, sent in his signed contract Friday.

The "screwball" artist, who has had trouble controlling his temper, hurled brilliantly for the Phils in 1949, winning 17 games and losing eight. But in spring training last year he sufered an elbow injury, and was unable in the regular season to hit his old stride. He wound up with a record of nine victories and 11 defeats.

Manager Eddie Sawyer says he looks to Meyer to fill the big gap left by the departure of ace Curt Simmons for army service.

Tigers Drop Dull Game 6-2 To Toronto Marlies

By The Canadian Press

A Hamilton Tigers team as cold on the ice as the temperature was outside dropped a dull Ontario Hockey Association major series match 6-2 to Toronto Marlboros before fewer than 1,000 fans Friday night.

Jack McKenzie and Frank Davis with a pair each, Ed Stankiewicz and Don Rope accounted for the Marlies, while Harvey Fraser kept his mates awake with a pair of tallies.

Elsewhere, Barrie Flyers clung to the lead of the OHA junior "A" series by taking Toronto's St. Michael's Majors 5-2. Doug Towers with a pair of goals, and Jerry Toppazzini, Real Chevrefils and Don Emms with sigles kept the Flyers on top against the Irishmen's Jack Weldrake and Willie Marshall.

In Windsor, Spitfires clinched second place in the big ten by thumping Toronto Marlboros 5-2, but it wasn't enough to overcome Barrie Flyers' one-point lead. Earl Joss with two goals, and Willie Hass, Earl Johnson and Elmer Skov connected for the Flyers, Eric Nesterenko and Dan Windley for Marlies.

Shellack Hawks

Guelph Biltmores shellacked Galt Black Hawks 7-2, thereby moving within two points of third place in the OHA junior "A" bracket. Ron Murphy with two, and Andy Bathgate, Eddy Kulik, Dean Prentice, Ken Laufman and Chuck Henderson registered for the fast-stepping Hatters, Pete Conacher and Dan Hogan for the Hawks.

In Stratford, Kroehlers chalked up their third straight Friday win by defeating Waterloo Hurricanes 5-2 in another listless event.

Guy Henri, Ray Ross, George Aitken, Bob Armstrong and Roy Leckie scrambled for Kroehlers' counts, while Bud Evans and Warren Godfrey scored for Hurricanes.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

By The Canadian Press.

Three members of the Lethbridge Maple Leafs, Canada's representatives in the world hockey championships in Paris next month, will return home Feb. 14.

This was learned here Friday in a letter from the club's playing coach Dick Gray who said the move was being made to make room for two replacements for the world tournament.

Doug Grimston, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said recently that two Montreal players will be flown to Paris to bolster the Leafs in their bid to retain the title won for Canada last year Edmonton Waterloo-Mercurys.

The three players who are returning home were identified as Rob McGreagor, Ken Branch and Jack Summer.

Leafs, currently on a pre-tournament exhibition tour of Europe have won 18 games, lost six and tied one.

Lee Savold, the British-recognized heavyweight champion from Englewood, N. J., will embark on an exhibition tour late this month while his manager dickers for a shot at Ezzard Charles.

Bill Daly, Savold's manager, said Friday he still hoped to get Savold a title shot at Charles in New York this June.

Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio appeared to be emerging Friday as one of the top candidates for commissioner of baseball.

Ellis Ryan, president of the Cleveland Indians and member of the four-man screening committee charged with finding a successor to A. B. (Happy) Chandler, said Thursday night that Ohio's three-time governor was definitely one of the candidates.

Lausche, asked about the affair, said he had "no comment."

A rink skipped by Gordon Campbell of the Toronto Granite Club Friday won the right to compete at Kingston Feb. 23 in a competition to decide southern Ontario's representative in the dominion curling championships.

At Kingston Campbell's curlers will oppose the winners of seven other divisions. Whoever emerges from that will represent the area in competition with other provinces at Halifax March 5.

Two Schools Cost $49,580 Ontario Grant Total $30,003

HAVELOCK, Feb. 10 (ENS)—The finance committee of the Norwood Area High School Board presented the budget for 1951 to the board at their February meeting, which showed a maintenance cost of $49,580 for Havelock and Norwood schools. The grants, etc., amount to $30,003.50. The levy on the district will be $12,000, the balance in the bank and the grants from Peterborough County and Hastings and Northumberland Counties making up the difference.

Vote Denied

A communication was read from the Ontario Municipal Board regarding the debenture liability of the municipalities within the district informing the board that as a majority of the municipalities had not disallowed liability for the debentures, therefore Havelock and Belmont and Methuen would not be entitled o place the matter before the electorate and would be liable for their proportion of the debentures. Public School Inspector Birkin, of Peterborough, gave a talk on grant regulations for which he was thanked by chairman E. T. Buck.

Adopts Plans For School

H. H. Roberts, the architect for the new high school, presented the plans and drawings of the building to the board and outlined the various items, heating, lighting, ventilation and septic tank situation, the disposal of excess rain to a pit of gravel and stone.

The plans were adopted by the board, which will be forwarded to the Department of Education for their approval.

Trustee C. Copp gave notice that at the next regular meeting of the board in March, he would move that the motion of January 15 appointing a new high school building committee be rescinded and that D. H. Walsh, E. Hamblyn and E. T. Buck be the new high school building committee with Mr. Walsh as chairman.

Application for salary adjustments was received from R. L. Mercer, staff representative, requesting a bonus of $150 for each teacher retroactive to January 1, 1951, and that also a schedule of salaries effective September 1, 1951, be arranged specifying minimum salary $4,000, an annual increment of $200 or $150 for each year of experience.

The board dealt with the request by granting a bonus of $15 per month from January 1 to June 30, 1951. The second part of the request regarding the salary schedule was placed with the management committee to investigate and report at the March regular meeting.

Accounts amounting to approximately $4,000 for January were passed.

Members of the board present were: chairman, E. T. Buck; C. A. Copp, E. Hamblyn, D. H. Walsh, E. J Leeson, R. Doan, C. Scriver, B. Haryett, P. Davidson, F. Richardson.

Wins Craig Trophy

TORONTO, Feb. 10 (CP). — Mildred Grosse, the pretty 17-year-old who burned up Ontario's cinder tracks last summer, has been awarded the Norman Craig Trophy as the province's top woman athlete in 1950. The Toronto Malvernette sprinter, a star junior since 1947, won 13 of the 14 events she entered during 1950. Member of Toronto's team in the Cleveland junior olympics for the last two years, she set a record in both appearances at the youth games.

Alex F. Fraser To Head Marmora C of C

MARMORA, Feb. 10 (ENS)—New officers for 1951 were announced at the monthly dinner meeting of the Marmora district Chamber of Commerce, held on Thursday evening. They are: president, Alex F. Fraser (re-elected); vice-president, Vaughan Glover; treasurer, Floyd R. Loveless; secretary, Ralph E. Neal. In the absence of the president, the Rev. G. D. Young assumed the duties of chairman. F. R. Loveless presented the completed treasurer's report for 1950. The secretary was authorized to fill in the application for fish fry for local waters correspondingly to last year. Some of the problems of the recreational centre were introduced by Reeve V. M. Lynch.

Guest speaker of the evening, introduced by W. J. Cottrell, was Donald Ian Mackinnon, of Hastings county and Belleville. His tal was on juvenile and family courts. He reminded them that the first juvenile court, opened in Toronto several years ago, is still functioning under Judge Mott.

There are, he said, 38 juvenile or family courts in the province. He briefly outlined the duties of probation officers. Causes of juvenile delinquency he stated to be lack of parental control or interest, broken homes, lack of outside interest or the money necessary to engage in outside interests, poor reading habits, poor movies and mental dullness.

The family court, dealing with marital troubles, finds the causes of such to be lack of funds, housing difficulties, liquor, in-law trouble, abuse or mental trouble, other women, incompatibility, mixed marriages, mental incompetency, lack of mutual respect and confidence, foolish spending on part of either party. The speaker was thanked by Doug Sanderson.

The Chamber was asked by Mr. McKinnon to consider the holding of a campaign for the Canadian Red Cross.

Failure To Admit Turkey To Atlantic Group Inviting Red Aggression

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — With the return of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower from his European survey, Turkey has renewed its pressure for admission into the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Numerous well-informed persons here believe failure to enroll Turkey in the NATO against Communism is a wide-open invitation to aggression by Russia. They point out that the announced disinclination to defend Korea invited Communist aggression there in June, 1950.

June of 1951 may be a month of crisis in the Mediterranean. US intelligence reports highlight the Balkans as the next likely target in Stalin's creeping global war. As in the Orient, the attack is expected to come from Russia's captive allies.

Yugoslavia and Greece probably would receive the first blows. Turkish leaders realize that if the Red tide should roll over the Balkans they would be isolated in the eastern Mediterranean — standing virtually alone between Russia and the oil-rich Middle East.

Stand off the Satellites

On balance, the anti-Russian nations seem equipped with enough manpower to stand off any onslaught from Russia's satellites, if they fight together and receive sufficient equipment from the United States.

A survey shows this lineup of men under arms, based on best recent estimates:

Our side: Turkey, 1,000,000 (M); Yugoslavia, 500,000; Spain, 400,000; Greece, 200,000. Total, 2,100,000.

Their side: In the Russian Caucasus, 200,000; Bulgaria, 130,000; Romania, 250,000; Hungary, 140,000. Total 720,000.

Actually, both sides bring about the same forces to bear at the most likely line of impact—where Yugoslavia and Greece border the Russian satellites.

Yugoslavia and Greece field approximately 700,000 men against the 720,000 of Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania, backed up by the Russian forces in the Caucasus. Forces of both sides are subject, naturally, to sudden expansion in the event of full mobilization, but the presence of a million Turks astride the Bosporus would pin down some Bulgarian and many Russian divisions in the Caucasus even if they should not fire a shot.

A decision thus might depend upon the relative amount of military aid given the token contestants by the United States and Russia.

US ability to furnish modern arms to Balkan allies would be greatly limited by commitments to the Far East and Western Europe. There is no question Russia stands to gain by striking in the Balkans while the US is heavily engaged elsewhere and while the United Nations is weakened by the defection of India's Nehru.

Allied reluctance to include Spain in the NATO is due mainly to political expediency. But even opponents of Franco's dictatorship concede the impossibility of defending Europe's vital Pyrenees line without Spain.

With only the narrow Gibraltar Straits as a water-crossing, Spain is invaluable as an overland route between France and Africa. She can offer the Atlantic Allies strategic naval bases at El Ferrol, Cadiz, Cartagena and modern airfields at Madrid, Barcelona and Seville.

More baffling to experts on Russia is the West's failure to include Turkey in the NATO. Perched at the crossroads of Europe and Asia, Turkey is not only the key to the Eastern Mediterranean but also the strongest Eurasian power next to Soviet Russia.

Through her command of the Dardanelles Straits, long coveted by Communist as well as Czarist Russia, Turkey controls Moscow's only direct water route from the Black Sea into the Mediterranean. With Iran rapidly succumbing to Soviet pressure, she is also the West's first line of defense in the Middle East.

At the same time, Turkey is within a stone's throw from Russia's precious oil fields in Baku.

Bound by Treaties

Turkey is bound by treaties to Britain, France and Italy. She also maintains friendly relations with Israel. But Ankara's efforts to create an Eastern Mediterranean alliance fell through largely because of the chaotic state of political affairs in the Arab states. Syria, for one, took a negative attitude toward the Turkish suggestions because, allegedly, Turkey also intended to include Israel in the alliance.

Ankara's request for admission to the NATO recently was turned down by the Allies and she was accorded merely consultative status. The British reportedly were reluctant to "extend the area of conflict."

Turkish statesmen are not convinced by this geographic argument, especially since pro-Soviet guerrillas have already been fighting in Greece. They argue that exclusion of Turkey might well produce the reverse effect.

Ankara seeks to impress the Allies that the Mediterranean is a room with two doors. One door is locked through the participation of France and Italy in the NATO. The other is wide open to invasion.

LINEUP IN THE MEDITERRANEAN: Shaded countries are anti-Red nations which have not been admitted to the North Atlantic Treaty organization; figures are estimates of their manpower under arms available to battle Russian aggresion. Countries in black, with armed manpower also indicated, are Soviet satellites (and the Russian Caucasus) which constitute a spring threat to the Balkans and the rest of the Mediterranean.

Reserve Army Devises New Training

OTTAWA, Feb. 10—(CP)—The army said Friday it is going to try a new system for training reserve force soldiers this summer, one that will put an estimated 650 of them into uniform for a full two months.

Headquarters said the plan is to give that many recruits between the ages of 17 and 20 the same eight-week basic training an active force recruit would get. The training would be given at special schools at summer camps across the country.

The big question mark, an official said, is whether enough men can be found who can get away from home and work for that length of time. Normally, reserve force soldiers train in their home towns two nights a week and go to summer camp for two weeks.

The tentative figure for the first test of the new system has been set at 650. In addition, it is estimated that another 16,000 reservists will go to summer camps for the usual two week period.

58 Years Wed Son 13 Years On Same Day

A white-haired couple who look to be in their middle 60s, celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary Friday.

At the same time, with a family supper and get-together, they celebrated their son's 13th wedding anniversary.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Forsyth, who live at 546 Wolfe St. with their daughter, Mrs. Lillian Faulkner. The son celebrating his anniversary is Gladstone Forsyth, of Lakefield.

Mr. Forsyth is 81, and his wife is 76.

Family of Nine Children

Their family is a large one—nine children living, and one son died recently. There are 30 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth were married Feb. 9, 1893, in Three Rivers, Que., and moved to Peterborough 45 years ago. Mr. Forsyth was in the painting and decorating business at the time, later working with the De Laval Co. as a painter.

"It was a hard job raising 10 children on $18 a week in those days," Mrs. Forsyth said.

In 1916, Mr. Forsyth went to work for the DeLaval, and he stayed with them until 1945, when he retired. He didn't want to retire then, he said, but his arthritis was "pretty bad."

Mrs. Forsyth was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to Canada when she was 10 months old. Her parents settled in Montreal, where she lived until she was married. Mr. Forsyth's home was in Three Rivers.

"We've had our ups and downs," he said. "But it's been a good life."

For the past five weeks, the Forsyths have been visiting their daughter Gertrude, Mrs. William C. Robinson, in Montreal. They came home the first of this week.

Their children are: Mrs. E. V. Ward (Ethel), 52 Murray St.; Mrs. Claude Bradley (Maude), of Chicago; Ellen, of Tweed, Mrs. Joseph Bolton (Ada), 294 Dalhousie St.; Gladstone of Lakefield; Harold Victor, 112 Bennett St.; Mrs. Richard King (Dorothea), 409 Aylmer St., and the others mentioned.

One son, Douglas, died recently, and the husband of their daughter, Mrs. Lillian Faulkner, with whom they live, died a year ago last month.

They celebrated the double wedding anniversary quietly with their children.

Gas Department Revenue Increase Six p.c.

The Public Utilities Commission gas department announced an increase of six per cent in its revenue in a financial statement today. But because of increased operating costs, its net porfit for the year dropped from $2,458.68 in 1949 to $692.83 in 1950.

Sales to householders amounted to six per cent less than in 1949. Revenue from commercial gas buyers increased 27 per cent and from industrial buyers 34 per cent more.

Operating costs increased $7,800 over 1949. Costs were jumped by an increase of $10,750 in the cost of liquid propane. But labor and maintenance were down $2,750.

The total amount of gas sales increased from 48,000,000 cubic feet in 1949 to 53,000,000 cubic feet in 1950, an increase of nearly 12 per cent.

Domestic Sales Down

Domestic sales were down from 27 million cubic feet to 24 million cubic feet, while commercial and industrial jumped 1 million and 5 million cubic feet respectively.

Propane used in gas manufacture increased from 398,000 to 498,000 imperial gallons. Part of this increase can be attributed to the use of gas instead of coal for heating at the gas plant.

The average cost of propane in 1950 was 11.8 cents as against 12.1 cents in 1949.

2,934 Consumers

The number of consumers remained the same in the commercial and industrial divisions as in 1949. The domestic, however, decreased from 2,895 to 2,705, leaving the total consumers at the end of 1950 as 2,934.

The average domestic bill per month was $2.28, and consumption 750 cubic feet. The average revenue per 1,000 cubic feet of gas was $2.30. The average revenue per thousand was, for domestic $3.06, commercial $2.00, industrial $1.46.

Six new gas services were laid during the year. No new mains were laid.

Preliminary investigation was done on the installation of a propane bottle filling plant to serve the district and to enable the gas department to supply gas service in the new areas beyond the existing gas mains.
